"Looks mean nothing. My next husband will be good and wholesome. I know that type usually is pretty dull but someday I'll find someone who is good and sophisticated, too."

Terry, the granddaughter of a Mormon bishop, avers she takes her religion seriously. Then, she adds:

"You know my navy lieutenant is a Mormon, too."

MAN DIES IN COLLISION NEAR LAKEFIELD

Two Stores Robbed In Warsaw

Experts Unable To Determine How Safes Cracked

A total of approximately $225 was stolen early Sunday morning when two safes were rifled of their contents at Warsaw.

About $10 in change was taken from the post office safe at the rear of Postmaster Frank Sidey's general store at the main intersection and another $10 or so from the cash register. Another sum, approximately $200 in cash, was taken from the safe in Hilliard Darling's general store, about 50 feet west of the other store.

A number of blank money orders, with a total face value of about $2,000, were left on the post office floor among other scattered papers from the safe and from Mr. Sidey's desk. A number of cheques which Mr. Darling had cashed for customers were also left on the floor in front of the other safe.

How the safes were opened is a mystery.

Professor Jocelyn Rogers, provincial pathologist, was called in Monday to investigate. It was at first feared the safes might have been blown open with nitroglycerine and that some of the highly explosive substance might have been left in the area.

Special Constable Mark Lonsberry, of Warsaw, stayed on watch for more than 24 hours from Sunday noon to make sure no one entered the premises for fear of an explosion.

NO SOLUTION

A painstaking two-hour search was made by Prof. Rogers and Inspector John Craig of the OPP Criminal Investigation Branch in Toronto. After the search, Prof. Rogers announced that he did not know, at the moment, how

TWO STORES

Top-Secret Atomic Parley

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Initial discussions on the development of atomic power plants for commercial use will open here Wednesday at a top-secret, three-day symposium.

The meeting will bring together representatives of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., and four power utilities. They are the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Quebec Hydro Electric Commission, the Shawinigan Water and Power Company and Calgary Power Ltd.

The conference will be the first since Trade Minister Howe announced early this year that development of atomic energy for power would be left to Canadian power companies.

"There are now several attractive-looking approaches to the design of an atomic power-producing station," said Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the Crown - owned atomic energy company, in announcing the meeting. "The conference will allow power companies to become better acquainted with the research results obtained at Chalk River and the AECL staff in turn will become more familiar with the many problems of power production and distribution."

Dr. Mackenzie said scientists at Chalk River will present papers on various types of reactors and associated processing plants, on effects of radiation on the structural properties of a number of materials and reactor fuels.

Representatives of the power companies will present papers on the problems of production and distribution of power, trends in market requirements and general cost considerations.

Cheese Conference Opens In Belleville

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Ontario's first cheese industry conference opened here today under sponsorship of the Ontario department of agriculture. Some 75 men representing all phases of the industry were on hand for the two-day conference.

The general chairman was Everett Biggs, Ontario dairy commissioner. Delegates discussed marketing and other problems of the industry.

Recommendations of committees discussing 21 topics on the agenda today will be considered in general discussions Wednesday.

Adenauer Sweeps Election Pledges Western Alliance

BONN, Germany—(AP)—Germany's victorious Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today began welding a new German government dedicated to the "liberation" of East Germany and close armed alliance with the West. The 77-year-old Christian Democrat chief opened talks with political leaders on the shape of his new administration after thanking West Germans Monday night for the votes that put him firmly in the saddle for another four years.

Speaking to a huge victory rally gathered in the Bonn town square, Adenauer called on his people for a mighty, united effort to release the 18,000,000 East Germans from the "yoke of Soviet oppression and slavery".

The chancellor's consultations on his new government were expected to be short. He is scheduled to present plans for the new line-up Thursday to a committee of his party.

The new government must be approved by the incoming Bundestag (lower house of parliament), expected to meet here for the first time Oct. 2.

COALITION EXPECTED

Some sort of coalition seemed inevitable. The big question today was how many parties would be represented.

The voting Sunday gave 48 Bundestag seats to the Free Democrats and 15 to the German party, both members of Adenauer's government bloc since 1949, three to the Centrist party, which henceforth said it would vote along with the chancellor, and 27 to the new Refugee party formed by the millions of fugitives from Communist-occupied Germany.

Flagship Of French Liners Aground Off Le Havre No Passengers Injured

LE HAVRE, France—(CP)—The French liner Liberte, which caught fire during its construction in 1929 and has been sunk twice since, ran aground today half a mile from here with 1,075 passengers aboard, mainly homeward-bound American tourists. The harbor master here said there was no danger to those aboard and the liner would be refloated in an hour or two on the next tide. It was the second time she had gone aground since being relaunched Aug. 1, 1950, as flagship of the French Trans-Atlantic fleet after France took her from Germany as reparations. Last time was just three years ago, off Southampton.

Built by the Germans as the Europa, she won the blue riband as the fastest ship on the Atlantic in 1931 from her sister ship, the Bremen. The 51,800-ton Europa was bombed by the RAF in Bremerhaven in 1945 and sunk. In 1948 a tidal wave sent her to the bottom in Bremerhaven again. She was raised and refloated each time.

TUGS STAND BY

She grounded today half an hour after leaving the dock. She was headed for Southampton to pick up more passengers before steaming for New York.

The harbor master said: "Tugs are standing by to go out when the tide ebbs to try to get the liner afloat again."

He added: "From the harbor we cannot see what is going on, because of fog."

A spokesman for the transatlantic line gave an assurance that the passengers were in no danger and the ship had suffered no damage.

He said that the ship was in charge of the harbor pilot when it went aground in the fog. The ship was expected to reach Southampton after midnight, if refloating operations were successful.

Storm Rains Frogs On Town In U.S.

LEICESTER, Mass. (AP)—The rains came—and frogs too.

A downpour soaked this central Massachusetts community west of Worcester Monday and afterwards thousands of frogs were found scattered for a mile on Paxton avenue.

There were almost as many explanations as frogs.

One popular guess was that they were carried aloft by 50-mile winds accompanying an offshore hurricane. But weather bureau men scoff. And townsfolk laughed at another popular theory that a pond had overflowed in the rain and washed the frogs onto the road.

Climbs Wall Saves 3 In Fire

AURORA, Ont. (CP)—A man climbed up the side of a flaming brick building here early today to rescue a mother and her two young children trapped on the second storey.

Richard Punshon of Toronto helped the three jump from a window into the arms of a companion, John Howes, also of Toronto.

Rescued were Mrs. Ralph Stickwood, her daughter, Donna, 3, and son, Douglas, 7. The two Toronto men were hunting gasoline for their car in this town 20 miles north of Toronto when they saw flames and went to the family's aid.

Howes caught the children safely but Mrs. Stickwood bowled him over and sprained her ankle, after Punshon had helped her jump from the window.

Too Friendly With Russians

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Security officers have warned Australian officials to break off private associations with Soviet diplomats after a security check on people seen "fraternizing" with the Russian embassy staff in Canberra, the Melbourne Herald's Canberra correspondent reported today.

The paper said the check had caused a "stir" in the external affairs department, as one of the officials questioned was an Australian diplomat.

"This check, it is understood, did not disclose any sinister connections," the paper said. "But the security officers told the officials concerned that they were running a risk in associating too closely with Russian diplomats.

"Security officers claimed that the Canadian spy trials showed the danger that officials, especially those with access to classified information, might be compromised by such friendships."

The Herald said that members of the Soviet embassy staff are fraternizing more freely than at any time since the cold war began.

Family Picnic Marred By Tragedy

Two Others Injured In Accident, Both In Hospital

About three years after his son was killed by a car, John Faiers, 37, 829 Lansdowne St., was killed Monday afternoon when his car in which he was a passenger collided with a dump truck on Highway 28 one mile north of Lakefield

He was dead on arrival at Civic hospital.

Injured in the car-truck collision were Pte. Robert Faiers, 19, of 832 Lansdowne St., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Faiers, and Mrs. Harold Ralph, of 771 Lock St. Both Mrs. Ralph and Pte. Faiers are in Civic Hospital.

Mrs. Ralph is suffering from shock and cuts on the face and is reported to be in good condition. Pte. Faiers is also suffering from shocks and severe cuts and lacerations on his left arm. His condition is reported to be fair. Mrs Ralph's husband, also a passenger in the car, escaped injury.

Driver of the four-and-a-half ton dump truck was George LaBarr, 22, of 370 St. John's Rd., Toronto. He also escaped unhurt.

NEPHEW DRIVING

Pte. Faiers, nephew of John Faiers was driving the victim's car. They were driving to Pte. Faiers - father's hunting lodge north of Cedar lake for a picnic lunch, with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph.

Police said Faiers was passing another car on a curve a mile north of Lakefield when he met a dump truck coming south. The car and the truck collided shearing the left side of the car from the front to the back.

The car slid 180 feet after the impact and came to standstill on the east shoulder of the highway. The truck was turned over on its side by the impact.

JOHN FAIERS

Pte. Faiers has been home on a 15-day leave from Val Cartier, Quebec, and was scheduled to return next Sunday.

Surviving John Faiers are his wife, the former Reta Collison, one son Dariyl, his father, William Faiers, of Peterborough and six brothers: William of Peterborough, Ernest of Aurora, Harry of Fowlers Corners, Thomas of Bradford, Ont., Fred of Sudbury and George of Peterborough and one sister, Mrs. Sid West (Florence) of Lindsay.

Funeral service will be held Thursday at the Nesbitt funeral home.

20,000 Visit Ships

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent and the cruiser Quebec left New York today after a four-day, informal visit during which more than 20,000 visitors stepped aboard for a look at them.

The Magnificent is bound for Norfolk, Va., the Quebec for Halifax.

Hurricane Causes Million Dollar Damage In N.S.

HALIFAX—(CP)—A weakening Atlantic hurricane moved in on western Newfoundland and southern Labrador today after lashing the Maritimes and leaving damage estimated at more than $1,000,000. Most of the loss was borne by Annapolis valley apple growers. Almost half of an estimated 1,500,000-bushel crop was on the ground.

Weather officials said the storm centre was expected to pass into the ocean toward Iceland by mid - afternoon. Southeastern Newfoundland, including the city of St. John's, was not likely to suffer the pounding Nova Scotia took Monday but winds of gale force were forecast for the west coast.

Communication troubles caused by the storm left Halifax weather office without late reports on the hurricane's effect in Newfoundland.

DON'T KNOW TOTAL DAMAGE

In the Maritimes it will take days to estimate the damage to coastal breakwaters, wharves and small boats. Wires to many outlying points were down.

Some roads were blocked by trees and power service knocked out in some districts. Only one storm death was reported.

Apart from damage to orchard crops and waterfront structures winds reaching 80 miles an hour tore roofs from dozens of buildings, ripped down signs and fences and uprooted hundreds of trees.

Hurricane Carol hit hardest in Nova Scotia, but New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island had the heavy wind and rains. Power and communication breaks were general throughout the eastern provinces.

Lt. Cmdr. L. C. Bishop of Halifax fell overboard from the bouncing pleasure yacht Vagrant and drowned despite the heroic rescue attempt of his wife. Mrs. Bishop, a life preserver round her waist, jumped into the churning sea after her husband but couldn't reach him. She herself had a tough time reaching shore and was taken to hospital suffering shock.

BOAT MISSING

Early today, hours after the full fury had hit the coast after whipping up the eastern seaboard at 35 miles an hour, one fishing craft was still missing and another was reported in sinking condition off the coast.

The 75-foot Joyce Marie was reported sinking off the western end of the province and a coast guard cutter was racing to her side to take aboard the crew.

Off the south shore, there still was no report on the 57-foot Sister M. Antonia, missing after a trip to the Lahave banks off the coast.

On land, the full strength of the hurricane swept the lush apple orchards of the Annapolis valley and grain fields of the central section of the province.

World Series Tickets Hit New Price High

NEW YORK (AP)—A new high for prices of World Series tickets was announced today. Representatives of contending clubs met to make plans for the fall classic. The series will open Wednesday, Sept. 30, in the American League park.

The new ticket scale is $10 for box seats, $7 for reserved seats, $4 for standing room and $2 for bleachers. Last year the scale was $8,$6, $4 and $1.

The series, as in recent years, will see the first two games in the American League park, the next three if it goes to five games, in the National League park, and a return to the American League park for the final two games, also if necessary.

Games will start at 12:05 CST, except Sunday in New York and Brooklyn when the starting time will be 1:05.

Representatives of New York Yankees, Brooklyn, Cleveland and Milwaukee were present at the meeting with commissioner Ford Frick and National League president Warren Giles.

Prime Minister To Visit Asiatic Lands

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today he plans to visit a number of Asian countries next January.

The prime minister, returning from a post-election vacation, said he likely will visit India, Pakistan and other Asian countries in a two-week tour during the next session of Parliament.

He declined to elaborate on his planned trip, other than to say that they would be "courtesy" visits, to return visits to Canada made by government heads in these countries.

Mr. St. Laurent, walking down the Union station concourse with reporters, said he is hopeful that President Eisenhower will visit Ottawa "before too long." But he did not know just when the president might make his first official visit to this capital.

VISITED WASHINGTON

The prime minister visited Mr. Eisenhower in Washington last May to discuss joint defence problems and work out ways of overcoming American trade restrictions.

Turning to other world developments. Mr. St. Laurent hailed the return to power of Konrad Adenauer's government in West Germany's elections.

He said the chancellor's victory is "very satisfactory." It lent weight to the statement by Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme commander of North Atlantic forces, that if sufficient strength is built up, aggression may become impossible before long.

Gen. Gruenther said in an American magazine interview that if the nations of the North Atlantic Alliance stand firmly together "we are going to reach a position of strength which will make aggression so unprofitable that it will never take place."

Expect Canada To Do Battle

LONDON (CP)—The forthcoming trade conference at Geneva, opening Sept. 17, was billed Monday as portending a "clash of titans" between Canada's C. D. Howe and Australia's Robert Menzies.

The Evening Standard said in an editorial that Geneva will become a battleground for the Canadian trade minister, who will go there prepared to resist any increase in imperial preferences, and the Australian prime minister, who will seek new preferences.

"A battle between two giants of the Empire is made certain by the news that Canada is sending the formidable . . . Mr. Howe," said the editorial. "There can be no doubting the significance of Mr. Howe's mission. The man who in Canada ranks second in power and prestige only to his own prime minister comes to fight. . . against any move toward the increasing of imperial preference."

The Evening Standard, published by Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, has long campaigned for increased imperial preferences. It said that in the "struggle between Canada and Australia, Britain has no choice but to support Mr. Menzies."

U.S. Tourist Attacked

Police Seek Missing Guide, Taxi Driver

ST. MICHAEL DES SAINTS, Que. (CP)—The search for a Quebec City fishing guide, wanted for questioning in connection with the stabbing and robbery of an American fisherman late Saturday night, has spread to Montreal, 100 miles south of this Laurentian lumbering and fishing village.

A St. Michel des Saints taxi driver, who may have driven the guide to Montreal Sunday morning, also is being sought. The cabbie was not identified.

Quebec provincial police said the guide, Donat Bernard, 23, allegedly stabbed Louis Lefebvre, 59, of Castletown, Vt., threatened him with a gun and robbed him of more than $320.

LEAVE FOR VERMONT

After spending Sunday night in a hotel here, Lefebvre and his two companions on the fishing expedition that ended into a "night of terror" for the three, left by automobile Sunday for Castletown.

The wounded American, his neck and back of his head swathed in bandages which covered painful but not serious knife wounds, was accompanied by his brother-in-law, Dominque McMahon, 44, and Jerome Lamoria, 42, also of Castletown.

The Americans told police this is what happened:

Lefebvre was attacked and robbed by Bernard in a fishing camp at Lake Tibele, 30 miles away, while McMahon and Lamoria were fishing.

Bernard fled when he heard McMahon and Lamoria returning. The three Americans, fearing another attack, fled across the lake in a boat and hid in dense bush all night.

They trekked out of the woods to safety Sunday morning.

16 Canadians Unaccounted For In Red Exchange

OTTAWA (CP)—The Reds returned 30 Canadians in the prisoner-of-war exchange at Panmunjom which started four weeks ago and ended Sunday. But there are still 16 Canadians unaccounted for in the Korean war.

Of these, 15 are listed by the army as missing, believed captured. The 16th is an RCAF squadron leader, Andrew MacKenzie of Montreal. He is listed as missing in action, but some repatriated prisoners have indicated he may have been taken prisoner.

The army went into the exchanges with two lists. Eighteen Canadians were listed as prisoners of war. Twenty-seven were listed as missing, believed captured. The Reds returned all 18 of the former—the last six Sept. 2 but only 12 of the latter.

The Reds also approached the exchanges with a list. It held 14 names. As the weeks went by they turned over 16 more Canadians than they said they were holding.

Originally, the Reds admitted holding only one Canadian prisoner. His name was contained in a list handed to United States officials in November, 1951.

LIST PROVES CORRECT

But in April, 1953, a Quebec lance corporal, Paul Dugal, was released in an exchange of wounded prisoners. In a pocket of his quilted blue prisoner's uniform he smuggled out a black notebook.

The notebook contained the names of 15 Canadians who were Korean prisoners. Later Dugal remembered having seen a 16th—Capt. Joseph Liston of Ottawa.

The army checked Dugal's story closely. They confronted him with bundles of pictures including those of the 16 men. The lance corporal was able to pick out all of them.

On the strength of Dugal's evidence, the army listed the 16—previously listed as missing in action—as prisoners of war. From other sources they brought the list up to 18.

The army acknowledged after the last six were returned Sept. 2 that Dugal was right on all counts.

Meanwhile, spokesmen for other United Nations countries claim that the Reds still are holding sizeable numbers of their servicemen. The numbers have not yet been disclosed. There have been reports that the Communists are planning war crimes trials, especially for U.S. officer prisoners.

CCF Convention November 27-28

TORONTO (CP)—The provincial council of the Ontario CCF Saturday set Nov. 27 and 28 as the dates for a party convention to pick a new leader.

The Ontario CCF had been without a leader since Aug. 15 when E. B. Jolliffe resigned after leading the organization since April, 1942. The CCF has two members on the Ontario legislature, W. J. Grummett, House leader and member for Cochrane South, and T. D. Thomas, member for Ontario riding, which includes the Oshawa area.

Among persons mentioned as possible candidates for the leadership are Charles Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), Mr. Grummett and J. W. Noseworthy, member for the federal riding of South York.

N. McConkey Top Breeder In Black And White Show

Entries were down to 83 head at the Peterborough Holstein Club's county Black and White Day at Ennis Saturday afternoon, although the four exhibiting breeders were about the usual number. Roy Ormiston of Brooklin, judge of the show, said the quality of the cattle was up to district standards. As to the decline in the number, he said the long siege of heat might have been a factor. The total has been up to 110 and higher, generally over the hundred mark, but the recent high temperatures may have taken a toll of breeder interest.

The Durham Black and White Day is at Orono Fair next Saturday afternoon.

Spectator attendance was encouraging, and the classes were run off smoothly. G. E. Nelson, Port Perry, Holstein fieldman, was in charge of the arrangements.

The Premier Breeder's banner was awarded to N. W. McConkey of Little Farm, Peterborough, who was strongly represented in the female section. Runner-up was Stanley Wood Farm. Entries were well distributed.

Senior and grand female championships were won by Mr. McConkey, and the junior championship was from Stewart Nelson's Keendale herd.

Slot Machine Leads To Fine

The second of two local resort operators alleged by OPP anti-gambling squad members to have run gaming houses appeared in Magistrate's Court today to plead guilty to a charge of having a slot machine.

Willis P. Rerick, proprietor of the Forest Hill Lodge, Lovesick Lake, was fined $50 and costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp. Chief crown exhibit was a gold colored [illegible] nickel-penny.

PC Frank Armstrong, testifying against Rerick, described how he and Constable J. M. Anderson entered the lodge premises about [illegible] on August 27th and, in the absence of the building's proprietor, found the slot machine in the [illegible] room. He said he only got one nickel and one penny from the machine. The two officers were accompanied by Leslie [illegible], in charge of the Provincial [illegible] Squad, who identified the machine as being the property of Rerick.

The following members were fined: James Bishop; Fred J. Bolton; Stanley Boyce; George W. Craft; R. S. Davidson; Reginald & Allan Davis; Earl Doris; N. W. McConkey; Stewart Nelson; W. J. Rollins & Son; Ira Robson & Son; Stanley Wood; Matchett Brothers; Don McCall.

The opposition Socialists garnered the other 150 seats.

Another certainty again will increase the Free Democrats in the coalition, giving him a safe majority of 97 votes.

The full official count, including parliamentary deputies chosen through application of West Germany's proportional representation law, gave Adenauer's Christian Democrats 244 seats in the new 487-member Bundestag. Adding the 48 Free Democrat seats, the government will control 292 votes in comparison with 195 for the other parties, thereby accounting for the [illegible] majority of 97. The Socialists [illegible] seats [illegible] Communists 15 for the Germany party and 3 for the Centrist party.

The Christian Democrats claimed Monday that the Centrists also would support the government coalition while retaining their identity as a party. This might give Adenauer a majority of 103 or more seats.

He hinted to reporters Monday that he might also continue [illegible] with the German people, judging from the election which shown the people's faith in the old grouping and that would be borne in mind in the building of the new government.

There was also speculation Adenauer might try to bring in the Refugee faction. Its 27 deputies would give the chancellor the two-thirds majority necessary to change the constitution and authorize German rearmament if the West German Supreme Court decides the proposed German participation in the European army is unconstitutional.

The refugees are interested chiefly in one day getting back to their homes in Soviet-occupied East Germany and in the German territories Poland and Russia have held since the Potsdam conference.

Adenauer urged his hearers Monday night to "close ranks and work together for the liberation of the eastern territories," a possibly telling argument to gain the support of Refugee deputies.

The elections, which went off in comparative calm, left the extreme right, the neo-Nazi German Reich party, and the extreme left, the Communists, without a seat in the [illegible].

[illegible] than 86 per cent of the [illegible] voters went to the polls.

The West hailed the triumph of Adenauer's forces with obvious relief and pleasure. Official statements from Washington, London and Paris expressed great satisfaction.

The Russians, who had asserted that Adenauer's re-election would embitter [illegible], had little initial comment except to claim via Moscow radio that the voting was held in an atmosphere of constant terror by the Adenauer police.

The chancellor's victory was an obvious setback to Soviet aims in Germany.

Three R's For Lunches Off To School Today

That old song "Schooldays" still reminds many of us of our very first lessons in the three R's "Readin', 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic."

Today as your Patsy and Billy or Mary and Dick anxiously check the calendar not the least of your planning concerns the lunch boxes your children will carry with them to school.

So we have a new set of three R's especially for lunchers. They won't teach you to write or spell but they will help your children to a healthier, happier lunch-time.

The first R is Real. Nutritious food. Plan the contents of each lunch for school just as you'd plan [illegible] meal at home. Your child's body can be built only once. Now is the time to supply foods that will build it well. Plenty of protein, minerals and vitamins are necessities if growing bodies are to develop properly.

Your child needs a well packed nutritious lunch but he needs time to enjoy it in the proper atmosphere if that lunch is going to do the job it's intended to do. Just hum a few lines of the old song and those three R's of long ago can teach you a new lesson in lunch-time learning.

Try to include fruits and vegetables, milk and cheese, whole grain cereals, while grain breads or enriched breads, meat, eggs and fish. Every lunch you pack should contain some of these health-giving foods.

The second R is a Regular Lunch Hour. Find out what your child's lunch-time routine is. Train him to eat at the same time each day. If he leaves home with a good breakfast inside him, he won't need to "steal" part of his lunch as recess to tide him over. Nor will he bolt his lunch, one minute after the dinner bell rings, and then dash to the playground, still munching the last crumb.

The third R is a Relaxing Lunch-time atmosphere. This rule follows closely our second R—Train your child to sit comfortably and quietly while he eats—in as pleasant an environment as possible. Perhaps you'll need to visit the school to see what lunch-room facilities are provided—show an interest in them by talking to the [illegible] and teacher.

the job was done. Although he did not rule out the possibility of the use of an explosive, he said that no container had been discovered containing any explosive substance.

"There's something a little unusual about this," he said. "As a rule, there is gross evidence of how the job was done. Sometimes there are crowbars lying about, or tool marks on the safe. But there are none here."

A few shallow nicks had been gouged in the handle of the safe in the Darling store.

Entrance to the Sidey store was made through a 12 by 14-inch section of the window at the rear of the post office after a pane of glass had been broken. The Darling store was entered via a basement window where a slightly larger pane was broken.

Both proprietors had intended to go away for the Labor Day weekend. Mr. Darling motored to Stony lake after closing his store at 11.00 p.m. Saturday. Mr. Sidey, planned to go away Sunday morning. He closed his store shortly before midnight Saturday.

Mr. Sidey, who lives across the street from his store, went over to lower the blinds about 9:00 a.m. Sunday. He noticed nothing amiss and was about to go away when 12-year-old Alice McMillan, who lives immediately north of the store, brought him a bundle of church papers which he recognized as having come in the mail Saturday.

Alice told Mr. Sidey that her brother Teddy had found the papers lying behind the post office. Teddy had taken them home and Mrs. McMillan told Alice to return them to the postmaster.

Mr. Sidey became alarmed and went to the rear of the store and looked behind the post office wicket. He saw that the safe door was open about two inches and a number of papers were scattered about the floor.

He called the OPP and Constable John Cawood was dispatched to the scene. Constable William Baluk, of Cobourg, photography and fingerprint expert, was also called in.

The broken basement window in the other store was noted and Mr. Darling was summoned to return from Stony lake. When the Darling store was investigated, it was discovered that the storeroom door, separating the front part of the store from the basement stairway, had been forced open. The safe door was shut but a number of papers were scattered about on the floor.

A small green oil can was discovered on the window sill in the Sidey store and a small bottle and a two-gallon oil can with some liquid in the bottom were found in the Darling store. Prof. Rogers said that the containers in the Darling store appeared to have no connection with the crime but the small oil can was taken away for laboratory study.

Before Prof. Rogers arrival, however, the presence of the containers could not be explained by either proprietor and it was feared they might contain nitroglycerine or some other explosive substance. Hence, a close guard was kept until they could be examined and the Darling safe was not opened until he arrived.

It was the first time Mr. Sidey had been robbed during the 15 years he has been in business in Warsaw. For seven years he conducted business a few doors north in the building which now serves as a telephone office. He was appointed postmaster eight years ago and moved to the store at the main intersection.

An attempt to rob the post office safe at Warsaw was made 53 years ago in 1900. A drill hole in the upper corner was later plugged with metal which can still be seen.

Sunday morning's robbery marked the fourth time that Mr. Darling's store has been broken into. The first time was 16 years ago. He bought the safe shortly after that but it had not been rifled prior to Sunday morning.

Dr. H. J. Keith Was First Knox Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—The Rev. Henry James Keith, prominent cleric, writer and welfare leader, died here Monday. He was 77.

Born in Smiths Falls, Ont., he graduated from McGill University. He studied theology at Princeton and the Montreal Presbyterian College.

He spent two years in India and on his return to Canada was called to churches in Peterborough, Edmonton and Winnipeg.

He was awarded an honorary doctorate of divinity by the University of Manitoba.

Dr. Keith was a member of the foreign mission board of the United Church of Canada and served as its secretary from 1920 to 1930. He was also secretary of the Canadian branch of the Education Research Society.

In 1940 he was named national secretary of the League of Nations Society of Canada.

FIRST MINISTER

Dr. Keith was the first inducted minister of Knox United Church, Peterborough.

Previously a mission of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, the congregation of Knox was established independently on January 1, 1907. The following March, Dr. Keith was called by the congregation and was inducted on April 11 of that year.

At that time Knox Church was the building on Reid St. which has long been used mostly for activities apart from religious services.

Dr. Keith was also the first minister of the new church at Rubidge and, Wolfe Sts., when it was opened and dedicated in 1910. He remained with Knox until 1915, having received a calll in October 1914 to Erskine Church in Edmonton. After two years in that charge he transferred to Winnipeg.

Dr. Keith is remembered by older members of Knox Church for the foundation work he did here. It was largely through his personal efforts that the organ for the new church on Rubidge St. was financed.

His death will be deeply regretted by his many friends of that time in Peterborough.

Cheese, Produce And Livestock

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains opened with scattered gains and losses on the board of trade today. Dealings were slow in all pits. Wheat displayed strength on hopes of an increased domestic flour demand.

Bermuda Liner Has Rough Time In Storm

HAMILTON, Bermuda (Reuters) The liner Queen of Bermuda reached heere Monday night 24 hours late after a hammering in an Atlantic hurricane.

One man was killed in the storm. Seaman Ernest Edser died in a fall during the heavy lurch.

The 22,500-ton liner had to heave to for more than seven hours at the height of the hurricane. The trip from New York normally takes 40 hours.

None of the 381 passengers was injured.

Anna Russel Hits Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—After years of hinterland wanderings and occasional concert hall visits to Gotham, English-born comedienne Anna Russel has happily answered the call of Broadway.

She opened at the Vanderbilt theatre Monday night in a revue called "Anna Russell and Her Little Show." It's pleasant to report that Anna's done right to listen to that siren call.

A sort of distaff Danny Kaye with a lantern jaw and a bagful of facial tricks plus tremendous energy, Miss Russell, who lives in Toronto, is a satirist of musicianly skill and perceptive ear who manages to pinpoint in tight compass the funny things that other musicians say and do.

She kids the Russians, dissects a set of bagpipes, slides her facial muscles around the foibles of the crying crooner, snickers at Shubert operettas and twangs a non-existent harp.

She does it all in a family parlor way that disarms and softens her parody. For others she leaves the knife-keen edge of sophisticated jibing.

Report Action Dull On Stock Market

TORONTO (CP) — Action was dull and prices mixed in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Industrials and golds drew selective support in the relatively narrow list of issues trading. Base metals and western oils posted a majority of losses, although strength in leading oils gave the group a minor index gain at 1 p. m.

In industrials, utilities showed a solid front of fractional gains while refining oils edged higher. On the downside were steels and foods.

Western oils made a feeble effort to follow up Friday's mild rally but bogged down.

Higher in base metals were International Nickel and Waite Amulet but Falconbridge, Consolidated Smelters and Steep Rock posted losses to 25 cents.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals were mostly lower, led by Rix, New Larder U and Headway. Kerr Addison and Macassa firmed in golds but Broulan Reef and Malartic edged lower.

Three Airmen Killed In Transport Crash

AYLMER, Ont. (CP) — Three airmen from the RCAF station here were killed near Trois-Rivieres, Que., Saturday when their car collided with a transport.

Dead are Aircraftmen J. R. Brouillette of Grand-Mere, Que., and F. A. Grimard of Shawinigan Falls, Que. The name of the third airman was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

The men were on their way to spend the week-end at Shawinigan Falls.

Vessel Aground Off Cape Cod

BOSTON (AP)—The 3,500-ton Panamanian freighter Evgenia, driven aground in hurricane-lashed seas, rode a sand bar at the tip of Cape Cod today while her captain and six seamen waited for rescue tugs to pull her free.

Seventeen others were rescued by coast guardsmen — 13 by breeches buoy over 20-foot combers and four more by an amphibious duck—after the 225-foot vessel piled up on dreaded Peaked Hill bar Monday in gale winds and boiling seas.

Tugs were expected to reach the scene from Boston in time to attempt pulling the Evgenia off on the noon high tide.

The Evgenia, en route without cargo from Baltimore to St. John's, Nfld., was driven ashore when a screw broke.

Most of the rescued men were Greek and only one could speak English with fluency. He was the cook, Michael Moskouris, first man brought ashore by breeches buoy.

Twice the breeches buoy broke. The second time was when the 13th man was being hauled ashore. He was dumped into the water 400 feet out. A coast guardsman and six civilians risked their lives swimming out to aid him.

Tenement Fire Claims 18 Lives

CHICAGO— (AP) — A tenement fire took at least 18 lives and left approximately 100 person homeless early Monday.

Nine persons in one family, including six children, were among the dead.

The blaze destroyed a four-story building at 3616 S. State St. and damaged two similar structures which flanked it.

Most of the Negro children were asleep when the flames started in the rear of the building, the first floor of which housed a tavern. The fire spread up a stairway and through halls.

Eight of the bodies recovered were those of children. Identification of the victims was hindered because, in most cases, they were charred.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 9-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon, today. Friday's noon rate was 98 3-16 cents. Pound sterling $2.77¼, against $2.77 7-16.

Slow But Sure

GLENBORO, Man. (CP)—"Better late than never" is the policy of a cow owned by George Wayte. Bossy gave birth to a little heifer calf. A full week later, a second calf was born, without any ill-effects.

Orson Welles Tries Hand At Ballet

LONDON (AP)—Orson Welles has blossomed out as the creator of a ballet, and Britain's critics of the dance wavered today between all-out enthusiasm and plain puzzlement.

The ballet, for which the one-time boy wonder of the U. S. stage and screen supplied the story and designed the scenery and costumes, is "The Lady in the ice."

It had its first performance here Monday night at the Stoll Theatre by Roland Petit's Ballets de Paris troupe.

The story is that of a girl frozen in a block of ice during a new glacial age who is thawed out by the love of a youth. But at the end of the ballet she has lost interest in her lover and he winds up frozen solid in her ice prison.

SOMETHING EXCITING

"Terrific," wrote John Barber of The Daily Express. "Ballet is so often namby-pamby. Welles shows how exciting it can be—given a first-class idea."

The anonymous critic of The Daily Herald said "Orson Welles turned last night to ballet. And it is very good."

But reviewer "G. D." of The News Chronicle declared, "The denouement is inane, the chorus work second rate and the music by Michael Damase very poor after a promising start."

All the critics were pleased, however, with the dancing of George Reich and Colette Marchand, the sexy street girl of the film "Moulin Rouge," in the leading roles.

Ask Full Report On Whitby Death

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature's select committee on reform institutions has asked Reforms Minister Foote to make a full report on the death of Joe Dudziec, 20, who died in the Ontario Hospital at Whitby and was buried before his parents were notified.

The report is to be ready for the committee after members return from a visit, this week to institutions in northern Ontario.

Dudziec was arrested in Maple Leaf Stadium Aug. 19 after tearing off his clothes. He appeared in court and was remanded for a mental examination. He was committed to Whitby where he died the next day and was buried three days later.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Dudziec, were notified of his arrest and were in court when he was remanded. They claim they knew nothing of his whereabouts after that until they traced him to Whitby and found he had died.

Apple growers said the winds knocked down enough apples to fill more than 250,000 barrels and said the damage might be as high as $1,000,000. One grower said his loss was 60 per cent and the average about 45.

DUCK FOR PORT

All along the coast small and large craft alike, warned in plenty of time as the hurricane approached from its Caribbean spawning ground, had ducked into port for shelter.

But even with the precautions, some were in trouble. A 40-foot pleasure schooner ripped away from her anchor and was pounded ashore at Dartmouth and another yacht was sunk at her mooring at Chester. At least four were reported aground at the south shore summer resort and another had rammed a rock.

Further south, where communication breaks made it impossible to get details, three large ships were reported to have dragged their anchors in Shelburne harbor.

CABINET TO MEET

Mr. St. Laurent arrived here to prepare for Wednesday's cabinet meeting, the second since the Liberal government was returned to power in Canada's Aug. 10 general election.

He declined to discuss any possible cabinet switches or announcements that may result from the meeting.

However he said it is almost certain that the first session of the 22nd Parliament will be called either Nov. 12 or Nov. 19.

5 Cars Damaged, Horse Hurt In Three Crashes

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Two accidents were investigated by the Campbellford detachment of the OPP on Saturday night.

The first occurred at Russell's Service Station on Highway 7 a few miles east of Havelock. A car driven by Howard A. Cain, 40, of Oshawa was travelling east on Highway 7 when a car driven by George Alford of RR 1, Havelock, said to be without lights, pulled out of the service station, directly into the path of the eastbound Cain auto. Cain's car plowed into the rear of the Alford vehicle, doing about $150 damage to the Cain car and about $10 damage to the one driven by Alford. Alford drove away according to police, and he was picked up on the highway, still driving his damaged car.

Provincial Constable Archie Eady, who investigated, said Alford would be charged with drunk driving, and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

The second accident occurred about a mile and a half north of the town on Highway 30. A car driven by Douglas A. Ford, 21, of Fraserville was travelling north behind a car driven by 20-year-old Gordon E. Banks of Lampton Ave., Toronto. Ford attempted to pass the Banks car, just as Banks proceeded to make a left hand turn. Ford's car struck the rear of the Banks vehicle, spinning it completely around on the highway causing it to go out of control. It headed for the ditch where it rolled over and came to rest on its roof, with the four wheels in the air. Damage to Ford's car amounted to about $125 while the Banks auto suffered about $250 damage. Provincial Constable Archie Eady investigated.

A horse was injured and had to be destroyed as the result of an earlier accident investigated by OPP Constable George Rose.

The accident happened on the Hastings Road about three miles west of Campbellford. A car driven by 21 year old William Moore of Toronto was travelling east and had just come over a hill. The driver dimmed his lights for an oncoming car, and after passing the car, flipped his headlights back to the high beam, only to discover two horses standing in the centre of the roadway. Moore's only choice was as to which of the two horses he would hit. He struck one, a 12-year-old mare, breaking its hip, and doing about $250 damage to the front of his late model car.

The horse, owned by Ross McComb of RR 1 Campbellford, was shot following the accident.

Curve Lake Indians Hold Annual Labor Day Regatta

Among many of the Labor Day celebrations held around Peterborough Monday was the sixth annual regatta and dance at Curve Lake put on by the Curve Lake Homemakers Club.

This was the second regatta this summer at the Curve Lake Indian Reserve. The first one was sponsored by the Curve Lake Athletic Club to raise funds to build an outdoor skating rink.

Special buses brought representatives from six other Indian Homemakers clubs from around the Peterboruogh area to compete in the varied events. They were from Georgina Island, Alderville, Scugog, Burleigh Falls, Crowe's Landing and Lakefield.

IDEAL WEATHER

The weather was idea for the regatta and there wasn't a cloud in the sky compared to the rainy and cloudy weather that hampered Labor Day celebrations during most of the afternoon around Peterborough.

Biggest attraction of the regatta was the canoe races which drew some of the district's best canoeists. Other items on the program were the women's and men's paper bag races and the outboard races.

Following the regatta there were several races held for the children and there was a baseball game between Harold Legrow ball club and the Curve Lake Athletic Club. Curve Lake won 11-8. Following the ball game there was a dance held in the new meeting hall.

Men's double canoe race—Nelson and Johnny Pot, Leslie Crowe and Willie Knott, Austin Taylor and George McCue.

Ladies Crab race—Stella Johnston, Lottie Knott, Mamie Campbell.

Men's Gunwale race—Clayburn Taylor, Austin Taylor, Stanley Taylor.

Mixed Tandem—Leslie Crowe and Joyce Campbell, Austin Taylor and Mamie Campbell, Aileen Irons and Victor Johnson.

5 hp outboard motorboat race—Clayburn Taylor, Cliff Whetung, Chief Taylor.

Ladies Single Canoe Race—Lottie Knott, Joyce Jones, Mamie Campbell.

Ladies Double Canoe Race—Lottie Knott and Mamie Campbell, Joyce Jones and Stella Johnson.

Men's Amateur Single Canoe—John Taylor, Leslie Crowe, Bert King.

Ladies Gunwale Race—Lottie Knott, Mamie Campbell, Joyce Jones.

10 hp outboard motorboat—Cliff Whetung, Clayburn Taylor, Jake Jacobs.

Men's professional canoe race—Clayburn Taylor, Dow Taylor, Leslie Crowe.

Men's Crab Race—Willie Knott, Clayburn Taylor, Jake Jacobs.

Ladies Paper Bag Race—Stella Johnson, Lottie Knott, Mamie Campbell.

Men's Hand Paddling race—Leslie Crowe, Wendell McCue, Willie Knott, and Wang Williams; Donnie Taylor, Stanley Taylor, Maxie Taylor and Perry Taylor; Lacey brothers.

Boys' double canoe race—Bing Jacobs and Mackey Jacobs; Morris Taylor and Dennis Williams; Clarence Coppaway and Dave Jacobs.

25 hp boats—Reg Stevenson, Clayburn Taylor, Roger Shoup.

New Zealand Seeking Ways Of Building Homes More Cheaply

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — The New Zealand government is making a major bid to find ways of building homes more cheaply.

Its aim is to make it possible for every family in the country to own its own home. Its campaign extends to every aspect of house building and it is using some novel methods in the search for low-priced homes in line with modern needs.

The previous Labor government put the emphasis on building government houses for rental. It built whole suburbs of attractive, well-equipped houses and the government became the largest landlord in the country.

REVERSES POLICY

The present National party government has reversed this policy. Its housing slogan is "own your own." It has continued to build houses for rental, but it has made them available to tenants to purchase at attractive prices.

Throughout its four years in office the government has also encouraged private home building, chiefly by offering finance on easy terms. But the continued rise in prices has put homes beyond the reach of many young families.

Recently the government called a national housing conference attended by all interests concerned in the building industry. This conference examined every branch of the industry's price structure.

To show what could be done in eliminating wasteful aspects of the traditional house, the government architect and the director of housing construction each designed a sample three-bedroom home, cutting out non-essentials.

NOTABLE SAVING

Specimens of these houses were built in each of the main cities. The houses were built at prices ranging from $5,700 to $6,900, the rates estimated to be from $690 to $1,200 cheaper than the normal cost in New Zealand of conventional houses of the same size. They included an installed washing machine.

The government then invited the public to submit designs for complete houses and also individual ideas for reducing costs. Many entries were received for prizes offered in each section of the national contest.

The winning designs for a three-bedroom house were estimated to cost from $5,600 to $6,200 to build, but it was pointed out that these prices could be considerably reduced if the owners undertook part of the work themselves.

The construction ideas section also produced many new proposals. Reinforced concrete floors covered with insulating material were a feature of several entries. The winning entry had exterior walls fixed to a concrete floor with tongue and groove boarding used vertically for the walls.

500 Fatalities Across U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—More than 500 persons lost their lives in violent accidents during the U. S. Labor Day holiday but traffic fatalities were under the pre-holiday estimate of 440.

A survey showed that at least 541 persons were killed in violent accidents from 6 p. m. Friday during the 78-hour period. Sixty-seven persons drowned and 95 others lost their lives in other accidents, including fires, plane crashes, falls, etc.

The 1952 Labor Day holiday violent death toll was 558, including 432 in traffic and the record toll in 1951 was 658.

The biggest single traffic toll this year was at Tampa, Fla., with seven women and girls killed in a train-auto collision. In Chicago, 18 persons lost their lives in a fire.

Two Student Groups Sail For Canada

LIVERPOOL (CP)—Two student groups sailed today for Canada and universities across the country.

A party of 11 Britons will enter eastern colleges under the auspices of the Canadian-British education committee, formed in 1932 as an inter-Commonwealth link. A party of 12 Canadian students is returning from summer service with the 27th infantry brigade in Germany to resume classes. Three are students at Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., and the remainder are in the Canadian Officers' Training Corps.

Heavy Rains Aid Firefighters

TORONTO (CP)—Northern Ontario's forest fire situation improved during the week-end when heavy rain fell in the Sudbury and North Bay districts. The department of lands and forests reported 72 fires burning. Eight new ones were reported during the week-end.

More than half an inch of rain fell in North Bay and Sudbury where the worst forest fires were destroying valuable timber and much game. Officials said many are not out yet and will need attention, but they now will be confined to the sections in which they have been burning.

The department has started tabulating the burned acreage. Early estimates place it at 50,000 acres.

AJAX, Ont. (CP)—Joyce Evans, 30, of Toronto, was drowned Monday when she slipped from an air-inflated raft into eight feet of water in Lake Ontario.

She and friends from Toronto were picnicking at this community eight miles west of Oshawa when the accident happened.

Ace Test Pilot Gives Crowds Thrill

FARNBOROUGH, Eng. (Reuters Ace test pilot Neville Duke zoomed his record-breaking Hawker Hunter jet fighter through the sound barrier twice this morning to open the second day of a national air show here.

Duke, 31, streaked across the vast field crowded with planes and spectators in the same flame-red-swept-wing plane with which he set a new world speed record of 727.6 m.p.h. Monday.

Shortly after Duke opened the show here today, this year's first mishap was reported. An ambulance helicopter tipped over as it landed in a remote corner of the airfield, slightly injuring two passengers.

Last year an experimental twin-engined DH-110 jet fighter exploded in mid-air after crashing the sound barrier, killing pilot John Derry, his observer and 28 spectators.

Specially invited guests, including buyers from all parts of the Western world, studied the pattern of Britain's powerful new air arsenal.

A variety of machines ranging from twin-engined helicopters, travelling gracefully backwards, to supersonic fighter prototypes earmarked for priority production for the RAF were on show.

The public will be admitted Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Hollywood Invasion Gives Rocky Residents Thrills

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Hollywood's recent invasion of the Canadian Rockies is providing thrills and jobs for many Canadians.

A retired RCMP inspector, Robert E. Mercer, is hobnobbing with celebrities like Shelley Winters and Alan Ladd while helping director Raoul Walsh as a technical advisor in the film "Saskatchewan," being filmed at Banff.

Mr. Mercer, who now lives quietly in Victoria, took the movie job just for the thrills and "to see how movies are made."

Another local citizen who is a valuable man to the film company is George Pocaterra, a colorful rancher and prospector.

He supplied Walsh with the 100 Indians that the script calls for. An old friend of the Stoneys around Banff, he probably knows more about Indian folklore than almost any "paleface" alive.

A Cinderella story also was brought into "Saskatchewan's" filming when a pert 18-year-old girl from Blackfalds, Alta., who grew up on a farm caring more about horses than anything else, went to Banff to see the Rockies. She wound up as a stand-in for Shelley Winters.

She stands about the same height as Shelley and has honey-blonde hair, and since she was "found," is seeing much more of the mountains than she ever expected and getting paid for it, too.

Campbellford Rink Tows To Cornwall

OTTAWA (CP)—The Cornwall Lawn Bowling Club captured the Governor-General's Trophy Saturday night with a 47-37 victory over a Campbellford team.

In the semi-finals, Cornwall defeated Ottawa Highland Park 37-36 and Campbellford eliminated the Montreal CPR Club 36-35. Winning skips on the Cornwall teams were J. E. U. Rouleau and L. C. Dalgleish.

Teachers Go Back To School

School's in. Which means that the pupils are in. It also means that the teachers are in. We are not overly concerned about the pupils. They are the best fed, best clothed and best housed lot of pupils ever to enter the doors of Canadian schools at nine o'clock of a new September term. They will have a good time in their school houses, and never have as cheerful classrooms and good buildings been provided them, or as much equipment. On this first school week of the year we wonder about the teachers. Will they have a good time, too, back at school? How have they been provided for?

* * *

The pupil-teacher relationship is in pretty close quarters. The well-being of the teachers, their happiness in their work, depends greatly on what kind of pupils they have, and conversely, the pupils' welfare is dependent primarily on the quality of the teacher, his or her character, skill, patience and whether he is sympathique. But this is a large question of human relationships and the condition of society and the home. We shall not discuss it here and now. We shall limit our enquiry narrowly to the teacher, per se.

* * *

Financially our teachers are better off —in dollar terms—than ever before. Even in rural schools they are being paid a good living wage. In some cities the salaries of experienced teachers seem munificent, much larger than lowly scholars of other days and other countries (even today) ever dreamed of getting. But that is beside the point; scholars do not dream of salaries, and our teachers, by and large, do not pretend to be scholars, lowly or exalted; they profess to be experts, specialists in pedagogy and they expect the pay of technicians, engineers in education. Most of them are getting it. So we may, in this brief consideration, set pay aside. The teachers themselves, through their unions, will bring it forward quickly enough if they feel that their professional remuneration is skidding.

* * *

Financial consideration aside, then, how does the teacher return to his desk? Full of beans and vinegar after a two-month holiday? The chances are he or she is full of another professional course, and not of holidays. Young teachers have just begun the long summer grind, others may be nearing one of the goals, reached after six, eight or ten annual summer courses. These are professional courses for special teachers' certificates, for degrees called B.Ed. or M.Ed., courses in school management, physical education, post-graduate courses on administering audio-visual aids.

* * *

Why do teachers subject themselves to such a wearisome round of courses, summer after summer? Because it is rewarding, financially. School boards, teachers' colleges, the College of Education and the Department of Education of Ontario combine to offer the lure of more pay and promotion if the teachers get more certificates.

* * *

The system is wrong. The first summer requirement should be that teachers [illegible] spirit and, one hopes, adding wisdom not pedagogy to it.

* * *

Here we come back to the specialist. As long as the Department of Education and Boards of Education hoodwink teachers—through the lure of promotion and pay increments—into taking pedagogical courses when they should be sampling life and drinking at cultural fonts as far removed from schools as the Folies Bergeres; and as long as teachers hoodwink themselves and the public that the art of teaching is the science of pedagogy, our teachers will return to their classrooms impregnated with the mumbo-jumbo of Education, taut in their teaching, and tired technicians rather than lively persons of culture and wit.

* * *

The time has come to encourage the education of teachers rather than the training of teachers, to cultivate the leisure of teachers rather than harry it. How? Make quite clear to all taxpaying citizens and parents that the science of pedagogy is hokum unless taken with discretion by teachers who are already persons of cultivated minds and tastes. Reward the scholar and declare a moratorium on all Professors of Education. Let the teacher's mind and personality be salaried, not the paper certificates he holds. Teachers need this protection from their own professional disease, now epidemic.

Punishment At the Prince George

According to a report in a Toronto newspaper, the Ontario Liquor License Board has ordered suspension of the beer and liquor licenses of the Prince George Hotel in that city for two weeks. The board also ordered the dismissal of the entire staff of the men's beverage room and the maitre d'hotel. This punishment was ordered, it was said, because inspectors of the board found waiters serving two glasses of beer at a time, instead of the one required by regulations. Three of the discharged waiters are over sixty years of age, and at least two have been employed by the hotel for thirty years.

We find it difficult to believe that so severe a penalty was imposed for the trifling offence of serving two glasses of beer instead of one. It is more reasonable to assume that the OLLB, or other authorities, were convinced that far more serious offences were being committed by members of the beverage room staff, but were unable to obtain proof of this. If that actually was the case, the board may have decided that it would order dismissal of the staff whenever an opportunity occurred.

Since the board obviously has the power to impose so severe a penalty for so minor an offence, there can be little argument against the severity if it were actually due to other offences. However, if the offence was simply and solely that of serving two beers instead of one, another hearty blow has been struck for the pin-headed prohibitionism that is responsible for many of the liquor laws and regulations of this Province. A penalty for serving two glasses of beer at once to a man who knows he is going to drink two glasses is on a par with a penalty imposed on tourists who buy beer or liquor without first acquiring domicile in Ontario. Such regulations are the law, but they do not make sense.

Press Freedom And The Right To A Fair Trial

Newspapers in the United States are allowed considerable latitude in reporting and commenting on court trials. As a consequence, as The New York Times points out, there is occasional conflict between two basic Amercan rights, a fair trial and a free press. The Times declares that court cases in the United States are too often affected by the manner in which they are presented in certain newspapers, before the trial and while it is in progress.

The Times goes on to say that responsibility for this state of affairs is shared by police, lawyers and even judges. However, it accepts the primary responsibility of the newspaper for what it prints, and its obligation to protect "good taste and fair play" in its reports, adding the following:

> Freedom of the press implies an obligation of responsibility on the part of the press. It is the individual newspaper and not the judiciary that ought to shoulder the responsibility of deciding, within the limits of national security, what it will or will not publish in court cases, and no newspaper can dodge its individual responsibility for good taste and fair play. The clash between free press and free trial is not inevitable if a sense of fairness and of restraint is coupled with recognition both of the public's right to factual information and of the individual's right to impartial justice.

It is interesting to note that a voluntary code of conduct has been drawn up by a special committee of the New York County Lawyers' Association. Concerned about the situation, the association would like to see this code obeyed by both interests—by the newspapers, and by police, lawyers and judges. The code has been summarized as follows:

> The press should refrain from trying to persuade a judge and jury how a case should be decided; sh[illegible] and law-enforcers should not give out advance statements concerning confessions until proof of the latter has been received in evidence.

The proposed code is altogether commendable and compliance with it would bring about desirable conditions. It is gratifying to reflect that there is no need for such a code in Canada, for the conditions sought in the code are commonplace throughout the country. That is one of the great advantages conferred by Canadian laws and by the system of appointment of the judiciary and other legal officers. It is only natural that law officers and judges who rely upon election for the retention of office should seek to attract favourable public notice. And when there is all-out competition, it is natural that abuses of the nature noted above should develop.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A matronly lady was having a mid-morning cup of coffee at a down-town lunch counter. Instead of dumping sugar into her cup from the jar which sometimes does not measure a spoonful accurately, she poured the sugar carefully into her spoon first—three rounded spoonfuls. Reducing—the risk of too little.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

ONCE AGAIN I welcome my faithful band of readers to my column after the summer recess; at the same time I would like to welcome new readers with a word of explanation. My object is to entertain and possibly to instruct that growing number of people who take an intelligent interest in music. I feel at liberty to comment on any aspect of music that I think will interest my readers. As a rule I avoid technicalities, though these are of course bound to creep in from time to time. Every art or craft has its own private language. If I were a ballet critic nobody would blame me if I were to allude occasionally to arabesques and entrechats without further explanation, but if I were to interlard every sentence with abstruse technicalities I would be understood only by a tiny minority. Technical terms are very useful so long as the reader understands them and interprets them in the same way as the writer. "It all depends on what you mean", as the late Professor Joad used to say when somebody mentioned a word like democracy. But we must sometimes take the risk of being misunderstood and assume a certain amount of knowledge in our readers. Nothing is more irritating than being "talked down to", and I am not inclined to explain the meaning of C sharp minor in words of one syllable every time that I allude to it.

✧ ✧ ✧

TECHNICAL DETAILS need not be dull, and the reader has the great advantage over the listener in that he can skip, though the process of skipping may possibly result in the reader missing something of interest. One of the most fascinating books in the world is Isaak Walton's The Compleat Angler. I have never succeeded in catching a fish in my life, but Walton's immortal work breathes such a spirit of mellow wisdom and tolerance and contains such delightful pictures of the English countryside three centuries ago that one can almost see the dewdrops in the lush hedgerows and smell the fragrance of the flowers by the quiet stream. What was Walton's secret? In the first place he knew how to write—a more difficult task than is commonly supposed. He could fall back on a rich store of reading without parading his knowledge. He had a rare feeling for language, and almost instinctively couched his thoughts in sentences of deceptively simple beauty. He does not shirk techicalities, but he makes them readable. Even the operation of putting the worm on the hook, which repels many sensitive souls, is clothed in gentle and lovely language: put him on, he says, as though you loved him. Another secret of Walton's charm to the general reader is his love of digression. He meanders along through various topics like one of the streams that he loved so much, pausing now and then to observe and comment, but all the time he advances towards the sea. If I may at times appear to digress I can at least claim an excellent precedent.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THE DAYS when I was young the mere fact of being able to hear something coming from fifty miles away was still regarded as something of a miracle—which it is—but the quality of the sound was unbelievably unpleasant. I mention this because of the number of younger people who have never heard the quacks and squeaks that used to issue from the earliest loud-speakers. Since those early days great improvements have been made, but in the main we are a long way off from perfection. Dissatisfaction with present standards has prompted a group of music-loving technicians to band together in an effort to acquaint the general public with the fact that better sound reproduction is possible. Their views are to be found in the magazine "High Fidelity", a tastefully and luxuriously produced periodical. I must confess that not being electrically minded put me at a disadvantage when scanning its pages, but even though I am abysmally ignorant of the methods I am wholly in sympathy with the aims. There is also a "Society of Music Enthusiasts", which in spite of its name is devoted to the same objects. I do not wish to imply that members of this organization are not music enthusiasts—but listening to records and radio are not the only means of expressing one's enthusiasm. Singing and playing in the home are still of greater importance even though they are less in evidence than they were fifty years ago. Perhaps this very young society might think fit to change its name in favour of something more precise.

✧ ✧ ✧

SPEAKING OF RECORDINGS there is a comparative dearth of records of unaccompanied choral music. I have little doubt, however, that this gap will soon be adequately filled. The tremendous boom in long-playing records has tempted companies to venture further and further afield. A vast new public has been created, and special tastes are being more and more catered for. In the earlier days it was only natural that the [illegible] should, as far as serious music their own. Vive[illegible] Webern are being added to the lists. One of the most interesting recordings of late is that of the "Triumphes of Oriana", the famous collection of madrigals in praise of Queen Elizabeth I which appeared in 1603. It is peculiarly appropriate that this recording should appear in this Coronation year. Incidentally the madrigals are sung by an American group, the Randolph Singers, and they give a good account of themselves apart from a certain lack of crispness in the consonants: a defect which is bound to make the words almost unintelligible. Try and read this sentence aloud to anyone with the consonants omitted and see whether they understand what you are saying—then read the consonants aloud with the vowel sounds suppressed, and you will find that some words are quite intelligible.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND SO, good music-making to all of you throughout this coming season. May knowledge increase your enjoyment and enjoyment whet your appetite for fresh knowledge.

BETTER NEXT TIME

Supper had been ready for a long time when Mr. Henpeck stole into the house and hung up his hat.

"Henry," called his wife from the dining-room, "what do you mean by being two hours late?"

"But, darling, I've been run over," he protested from the hall.

"Well, what of it?" she demanded, coldly. "It doesn't take two hours to get run over."

Letters To The Editor

VIEW OF STORE CLERK'S WIFE

Sir: I am the wife of a store clerk. I am happy to say my husband is not employed in one of the stores that intend to stay open. We only hope the rest don't follow suit.

Why should the stores have to stay open Friday nights to cater to those that have Saturday off and could just as easily do their shopping then? Most store clerks have only Wednesday afternoon and have to dash around like mad at noon hour if they have any shopping to do.

The day of a store clerk's wife is mighty long. I am up at six every morning with our youngest child and by the time those last-minute shoppers putter around, the store is tidied up and my husband gets home it's well past the time when most people like to have supper. He only sees the children a few minutes before they go to bed and the dishes are rarely ever finished before 8.30.

What time does a store clerk have to spend with his family? Sundays only. On his half-day off the children are at school, with the exception of the two summer months.

I am not suggesting that the stores should start closing on Saturdays, far from it, but I don't think clerks should be treated as though they were mere servants to the rest of the people. Underpaid servants at that.

I for one do not intend to patronize, even in the daytime, any store that stays open at night and I am sure there are others who feel the same.

All men are created equal, why aren't they treated that way?

REGARDING ARTICLE "HOLLANDER FINDS HAPPINESS IN CANADA"

Sir: May I compliment you on your timely in order to try to clear some misunderstanding. For this favour my thanks in advance.

Reading your particular above-mentioned article, I can state that its contents were definitely unknown to me. I thought, however, while reading it, that this article might give rise to some difference of opinion not willed by your good selves. It could also create a wrong impression with other Netherlands immigrants who unjustifiedly took offence of this article, noticing my so-called intention to distinguish between groups, which was neither my nor your idea.

As a matter of fact, intellectually-bred immigrants do particularly find their entry into this beautiful land much more difficult, this in contrast to farmers and factory workers. Personally I have come across various academically brought-ups who, after different fruitless efforts, did not see their actions favoured to enter Canada, which I regret very much as I am convinced that Canada could use them as well.

Mr. Editor, I would stress the point again, that I have the greatest respect for all immigrants who notwithstanding many difficulties in their way, while starting, do not mind all these setbacks, and continue striving to reach the aim set. My appreciation for these sturdy men, among whom I count many friends, is sincere and profound.

I trust these few lines may contribute to correct the real meani[illegible] will we end up with a 30 mile speed zone to Lindsay?

Our good J.P. who comments on this in the Sept. 3rd issue, points out that a reduced speed never hurt anyone. Fine—he's right, in most cases, but let's put the 30 mile zones on cheap, oil treated roads, and not clutter up a $100,000.00 a mile traffic artery, that was designed for higher speeds. See what happened to West Hill, near Toronto,—now, to overcome that bottleneck will take another four lane restricted entrance highway, and several million dollars of the taxpayers money.

Care, Courtesy, and Common Sense, underline that last one, Mr. Editor, regarding speed limits, will certainly help us all. Oh yes, by the way, the people who erected those same signs were so interested, they show the population of our fair City on the first sign at 40,000, but didn't bother to change the figure 35,000 on the second, older, sign.

I thank you, and am,

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM D. JOHNSTON

LACROSSE CLUB REPLIES

Sir: With reference to letter to the editor on Wednesday, September 2nd, 1953, from "Exasperated Main Streeter". It, in one way, seems ridiculous to us to have to reply to a person who, evidently, has not got the courage to sign his/her true name to this letter. On the other hand, in fairness to our loyal lacrosse followers plus hundreds of others who wish to keep Peterborough a sports-minded city, we feel we should answer some of the points contained in that letter.

However, before doing so, we should point out that the Lacrosse Club holds an annual meeting to which the public is invited through the press. At that time an audited financial statement is presented. If "Exasperated Main Streeter" was honestly interested in fostering true sportsmanship and citizenship he could offer his suggestions at the annual meeting and if he were to offer his services to help lacrosse we feel certain they would be accepted. Now to his letter!

1. It is agreed that the Peterborough Senior Lacrosse Club is mildly professional. What major sport is not? What major sport has not been for years? The very fact that some clubs such as Mimico are not has meant that lacrosse has reached its lowest ebb in years —in an area that has raised lacrosse players for generations. Furthermore, the players earn every cent of their expenses in a gruelling 30 game schedule, not including play-offs.

2. The statement that "approximately" 20,000 attended the play-off series with Orillia and St. Catharines is definitely not true. Figures, audited and verified on the night of each game by the Treasurer of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, shows 14,022 attending and the fifth game was a "split" in the St. Catharines series.

3. The statement that the average attendance of each game during the regular playing season was 2,000 is also not true. This was 1430.

4. Re sale of programmes—"Main Streeter" still continues to make untrue statements.

[illegible] the extended 30 mile speed limit.

My own thoughts were voiced explicitly in this matter. With only one exception, you covered the situation perfectly. That one point, I feel, is this: a good law tends to earn the co-operation of the public—a bad law drives the same people to infraction of it. History has many examples of this fact.

Throughout a recent trip through the New England States, I noticed varying speed limits, from 25 to 60 m.p.h. In some places this was overdone, as in New York where in places there was a different speed limit in 200 yard stretches; but I must commend Vermont for good common sense. In a small settlement, such as Fowler's Corners, a posted speed limit was 45, with the open highway nearby at 50 m.p.h. This made sense, and consequently, the motoring public obeyed the law quite closely. I know there is no reduced speed limit for Fowler's Corners, save a slow sign, which is generally ignored, but I do believe a speed limit of 35 for Omemee, for instance, would get better results than the present 30.

The speed limit on Highway No. 7 north of the city, is allegedly for the protection of those living on the highway. With all due consideration for them, and without the slightest intention of slighting them, I must say they knew they were building on a highway when they built there. There are ample Township and County roads leading off this highway not yet built on, and as near to the City. One good reason they build on a highway, is for the use of that fine artery itself, and its maintainance, especially in the winter. Tell me, where is this going to stop, or [illegible] concessio[illegible] [illegible] booth fro[illegible] the Lacrosse Club.

6. Re taxes—Once again "Exasperated" evades the truth. Taxes paid to the city in 1952 amounted to well over $100.00.

7. Re professional players—This is answered in part one but it may be of interest to know that 5 per cent. of all gross gate receipts are used to foster minor lacrosse.

8. Re local players not receiving a fair "shake"—It would appear that "Exasperated" knows something of this situation that the players, executive and loyal lacrosse supporters are not aware. Two of the players mentioned are playing in Western Canada and we understand that they are not doing so for health reasons only. The third asked for his release from our club.

9. Re players leaving town after playing season—"Exasperated" once again does not tell the truth. One player attends McGill University. One player (single), teaches at Scarbord Collegiate. Three are professional hockey players. Of these, two own homes in Peterborough and Chemong and pay taxes. The third rents a home. Other married players have purchased homes and pay taxes in this city. Some players and executives participate in winter and other sports. If "Main Streeter" wished to help sports generally, he should know that several have given a lot of time in the developing of hockey players.

10. Re reference to Conny Smythe, the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Bay St. brokers! How stupid can "Exasperated" get? There is not the remotest similarity in the operation of the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Peterborough Senior Lacrosse Club. The Toronto Maple Leafs organization is a purely professional one operating for profit so that players, employees, and executive will be financially rewarded. The Peterborough Lacrosse Club has 12 men on its executive who have not and do not receive one red cent for their time, effort, concern, posting of bonds and financial outlay in transportation for Seniors and a general operation of what we like to think is a well organized minor set-up.

As a result of seeing this letter, it causes [illegible] should do this if his [illegible] services in providing free [illegible] and transportation not only for senior trips but for juniors, juvenile, midgets, bantam and pee-wee.

11. Re Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club—These girls have done a better than excellent job in promoting Peterborough. In this connection possibly there was not a public canvass but we do know of six people who were asked to and did contribute! Did "Main Streeter" contribute?

12. Why is money required for the Club to go west?

(a) Should it not be considered an honour for Peterborough to win the Mann Cup.

(b) If so, expenses follow. These are broken down into wages, hotel accommodations, meals, transportation to practices and games, equipment costs and sundry costs including medical. Our 1951 audited figures are available to "Exasperated" if he has the common courtesy to ask for them.

In conclusion, unless "Exasperated Main Streeter" wishes to see lacrosse and other games go the way of local senior baseball, it is suggested that he should be more public spirited and wider in his views.

We thank you, Mr. Editor, for your consideration in providing space for this letter and trust that if "Exasperated Main Streeter" again becomes "Exasperated" he will at least have the courage to be honest. There is an old saying that the Peterborough Lacrosse players and executive have always heeded: "Never get in a perfume contest with a skunk."

Cordially Yours,
The Executive, Peterborough Lacrosse Club.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord thy God will raise up unto thee a Prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto him ye shall hearken. (Deut. 18: 15.)

In my father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you . . .

Philip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us.

Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father?

Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works . . .

These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you. But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you. (John 14: 3, 8-10, 25, 26.)

Beloved, let us love one another: for love my servants whom I have chosen is born of God, and knoweth God . . .Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit . . Herein is our love made perfect, that we may may have boldness in the day of judgement; because as he is, so are we in this world. (I. John 4: 7, 13, 17.)

Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out . . .

Then said Jesus unto them again, Verily, verily, I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep . . . I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine. (John 10: 1-3, 7, 14.)

Sir Winston's Code

(New York Times)

Sir Winston Churchill dictates his memoirs into a specially devised Transcriber, a complicated bit of gadgetry built into a study wall at Chartwell in Westerham. It can take 48 hours' dictation without record changes, keep six secretaries continually flailing at word mills.

A gentleman in the Collister Corporation, New York distributor of the machine, says the Prime Minister was granted full choice of code signals for setting the monster in motion. One word that activates the recorder, Collister's man cautiously said, 'is a mild Churchillian expletive." Another pretty much the Prime Minister's favorite, is the term "bow-bow." Two handclaps also will start the recorder.

The machine man said he wouldn't dream of naming the mild expletive. He thinks it might not look quite different in cold print.

Rainfall Fails To Dampen CNE Enthusiasm

TORONTO (CP)—Sunny and cool weather is predicted for today, International Day and National Health Day at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Dr. G. F. Gilmour, president of Hamilton's McMaster University, is scheduled to address the daily directors' luncheon. Special features at the fair will emphasize the day's theme of health and world friendship.

Heavy rain, which broke over the fairgrounds suddenly in mid-afternoon after several hours of sunshine, did little to dampen the enthusiasm of Labor Day crowds. Attendance at the judging of cattle and horses in the Coliseum received an extra boost when many city folk scurried to the shelter of the agricultural buildings and stayed to see the champions selected.

Earlier, 6,000 trade unionists, 4,000 affiliates of the American Federation of Labor and 2,000 from Congress of Industrial Organization unions, paraded to the grounds.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

Two banners carried in the parade by the AFL section pledged support of the Toronto District Labor Council (AFL-TLC) to striking Timmins miners, members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

Earlier, Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto suggested at the Directors' luncheon that a representative of Labor he appointed to the Exhibition directorate.

Other speakers included Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada; Alfred Barnes, formerly minister of Transport in Britain's Attlee government; and the Rev. Harold Young, secretary of the United Church Council on Colleges and Schools.

Jimmy Primeau was chosen grand champion baby for 1953 from among more than 1,000 competitors at the Exhibition's baby show. Fair-haired, blue-eyed Jimmy is the 16-month, 26½-pound son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Primeau of Toronto.

The Rev. Alan Calder of Wolfe Island near Kingston entered his twin boys, Terry and Carrie, in the contest and won first prize in the section for twins under 12 months.

Attendance Monday was 275,500, up from last year's ninth-day mark of 272,000.

Oppose Cadet Corps In Quebec Schools

ST. GEORGES DE BEAUCE, Que. (CP) — Quebec's Union of Electors, a group adhering to Social Credit policies, went on record Monday as being opposed to cadet corps in schools.

Some 3,000 men and women at the Union of Electors annual convention in this small town 40 miles south of Quebec unanimously adopted a resolution against "militarism in schools." The delegates decided to send a letter of protest to Omer Jules Desaulniers, superintendent of education in Quebec province.

Consul's Order Speeded Breach

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Polish consul's order forbidding his Winnipeg staff to take part in a save-the-Rosenbergs demonstration may have speeded an open breach with his Communist masters.

Michael Krycyn, 42, who announced Saturday he had quit his consular post here, said he got orders to return home soon after the Rosenberg incident. Winnipeg Communists paraded in front of the American consulate seeking clemency for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atom spies, who were later executed.

"I told my employees that if they took part in the demonstration they would be fired," said Mr. Krycyn.

He said he had planned ever since leaving Poland to pick an opportune time to quit.

Huggins Named President Of Federation

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Bluff, 70-year-old Sir Godfrey Huggins was sworn in Monday as prime minister of the temporary government which will administer the new-born Central African Federation.

He also assumes the cabinet portfolios of defence, finance and external affairs.

To take the help of the new federation which unites the African territories of Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland into one state, Huggins gave up his job as prime minister of Southern Rhodesia.

Garfield Todd, president of the United Party, replaces Huggins in the latter's old post.

ONE OF ARCHITECTS

Huggins was one of the architects of the Central African Federation, which cover 500,000 square miles and has a population of 6,000,000 Africans, 250,000 Europeans and 14,000 Asians.

When the federation's administration is fully established, it will have a governor-general, a federal government, a federal legislature and a federal supreme court. An African affairs board — half its members will be white and half African—will look after African citizens' rights.

War Correspondents Attack Severe Army Censorship

PORTES DE L'ENFER, Que. (CP)—The Canadian War Correspondents Association Monday labelled as a "serious threat to the public interest" attempts by senior military officers to discourage or prevent publication of information about Canadian military activities.

The association spoke out in support of three of its members whose criticisms of the morale and personnel standard of the 27th Canadian Brigade in Germany were attacked by military authorities.

Also before it was a report on severe new restrictions imposed by the Canadian Army on correspondents with the 25th Brigade in Korea.

The association's resolution, adopted unanimously at its weekend annual meeting in Laurentide Park, said:

"The CWCA regards as a serious threat to the public interest the repeated attempts of senior military officers to discourage and in some cases to prevent free discussion of and information concerning Canadian military activities at home and abroad.

"The association affirms the responsibility of the correspondent and his publication to keep the public advised on the quality and morale of the forces and the conditions and environment in which they operate, and to accept only the restraints of military security in publishing news and comment."

Three association members—Bill Boss of the Canadian Press, Ross Munro of the Vancouver Province and Lionel Shapiro of Maclean's Magazine—wrote critical articles after visits to the 27th Brigade in Germany.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery in a Toronto interview attacked the idea that any published criticism of the Canadian forces under his NATO command should have been made by Canadians. He called it "fouling one's own nest."

Field Marshal Sir John Harding, chief of the Imperial general staff, and Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the Canadian general staff, denied the accuracy of a story by Mr. Shapiro.

Mr. Boss, CP correspondent with the Canadian forces in Korea, said Canadian restrictions imposed on war correspondents covering the 25th Brigade are intolerable. He said they make it impossible for any newspaperman to provide the information on Canadian activities to which the Canadian reading public is entitled.

The association elected 46 new members, all uniformed war correspondents overseas in the Second World War and Korean war. Membership now is 89.

The association was formed in 1945 by CP staff members as the Canadian Press War Correspondents Association. This year's meeting voted to change the name to Canadian War Correspondents Association because it now includes men who did war reporting for almost every Canadian publication and radio station which has had a war correspondent in the field.

Ralph Allen, Toronto, and William Stewart, Montreal, were re-elected to two-year terms as members of the executive. J. F. Sanderson, Montreal, is president; C. A. Day, Toronto, treasurer, and John Dauphinee, Toronto, secretary.

Orfuns Begin Grid Season With A 12-5 Victory Over Oshawa Red Raiders

Dominating play in the first half at Oshawa on Saturday, the Peterborough Orfuns opened their ORFU intermediate "A" schedule with a 12-5 victory. Ron Hodson's kick for a point was the only score in the first quarter, but Orfuns drove hard next stanza for 11 points on two touchdown plunges by Bill Huntley and a convert by Don Bark. After a scoreless third chukker, Jimmy Loreno went over in the fourth for an unconverted major for the Red Raiders.

Cobourg Ghosts come Wednesday night in Morrow Park to open the season in Peterborough against Orfuns, and the Toronto Marauders may switch a home game to Riverside Park next Saturday as they are unable to get grounds at present in Toronto.

STRONG SQUAD

Coach Tony Kotowski had a full Orfuns' squad on deck, but for Roy Armstrong— who isn't playing this season —and it included the McGillis' brothers, who had been doubtful starters during training. The Conlin boys made another local brother combination. Jim Milligan wasn't feeling good, though he played, and the Petes didn't go in for much passing in this encounter. Jack Matthews was unable to attend the opening game, but Don Bark did a neat chore of hoofing. Ken Newark was chased in the fourth period after a brief fistic mixup with Duffy.

As the quarter scores indicate, Orfuns had a good margin on play in the first half, but Oshawa pressed in the last part. Loreno and Hood were their big ground-gainers, and Halsall clicked for quite a few passes. It was a good game for an opener, though timing was off in spots, and they hit each other hard. The winners' line showed up well and the speedy backfield, with good quartering, gave promise of a potent punch.

SET ONE UP

The first point was set up by Don McGillis taking a long pass from Milligan, an end run for 15 by Groves and a kick by Hodson, three of his mates tackling Loreno back of the line. Huntley intercepted a pass and Jerry McGillis moved it up well on an end run but a kick was run out. Jensen then intercepted a pass but they lost on a fumble.

A quick kick by Halsall in the second sent it right to the Petes' two-yard strip but Huntley, Thomson and Jerry McGillis moved it up and Bark kicked it away down. Hodson knocked down a pass and Bartley threw Burkhard for a hefty loss. Russelle and Huntley moved the pigskin right up and Huntley went over for a try, Bark converting. Orfuns recovered a fumbled and Groves skirted the end for eight. Later a Hodson-Fowler runback took it to Oshawa's 35 and Thomson and Fowler kept it advancing. Jensen took Milligan's pass to the two and Huntley bucked over, the convert missing. The headlinesman blew his whistle instead of the horn, and, with most of the Orfuns stopping play, Hood raced with a kick-off to the Petes' two before being hauled down. The confused officials let the play stand, but Ouelette threw Loreno for a loss and then Howe intercepted a pass.

EVEN IN THIRD

It was up and down evenly in the third with penalties hurting each side as they started to roll on ground attacks. Thompson intercepted a pass after Lorene plunged for 20 to the mid-strip. The latter tried again but Jensen nailed him, and Beatty got Halsall after a bad snap. Hodson had a good runback and Fowler bucked 14. Later, Hope downed Halsall and Ouellette recovered a bumble. Naismith took a pass but they lost on downs, and Randle pulled in a long pass as Raiders began to drive.

Tackles by Don McGillis and John Conlin slowed them down in the fourth but a penalty hurt Orfuns. Jensen knocked down a pass but Krawek took another and Hood made yards. Loreno snatched Halsall's pass to go over, the convert being blocked. Russelle had a long runback and Thomson ripped through for six. They kicked then and Hodson stopped Loreno, but Hood on a Liberty play got to Petes' 27 before Huntley tackled him. They were chased back then on a roughing penalty and Jim Conlin knocked a pass awry. Jensen ran out their kick and Huntley plunged for 15. Simon went off hurt, and Jensen and Thomson made it yards, with Huntley adding six. Duffy and Newark mixed it, the latter getting the gate and Orfuns being penalized 25 to their 20. Beatty and Naismith downed Barrett, and Jensen intercepted near the close.

Shamrocks Clip Pilseners 12-5 To Enter Finals

VICTORIA (CP)—Victoria Shamrocks trampled Vancouver Pilseners 12-5 Monday night to advance into the finals of the Canadian lacrosse championships.

The win gave the Shamrocks the best-of-seven series for the Inter-City Lacrosse League title and the British Columbia senior championship, four games to one.

The powerful Victoria aggregation now meets the defending Mann Cup champions, Peterborough Trailermen, in a best-of-seven series opening at Vancouver Sept. 14.

Leading the Irish to victory were Archie Browning and Alan Gill with three goals apiece.

CANADIAN CHAMPION — Jacqueline Gauthier, of Ottawa, set a Canadian record for jumping on water skis at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. She jumped 43 feet, five more than the previous mark. World championship events in water skiing are being held at the CNE.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

That was a good football game in Oshawa on Saturday, when Orfuns opened their ORFU season with a 12-5 win o'er the Red Raiders. Looked like a romp for the Kotowski club at the halfway mark with a 12-0 scored racked up, but Oshawa got the only touchdown of the last half. They'll be tough enough ere the schedule ends, but Orfuns will be better, too. Their timing wasn't just right on some plays, Jim Milligan wasn't feeling well and didn't see too much passing action, and Jack Matthews had to miss the opener. Though Don Bark did a fine job in kicking and quarter-backing, a real asset to the squad. Lou Nickle will be out later. The McGillis boys, who have returned to action help a lot.

Starry Bill Huntley turned in another brilliant backfield effort, plunging over for two majors as well as being a big ground-gainer all afternoon. He is strictly senior material. Bus Jensen, Blair Thomson, Don Hodson, Fowler, Hank Russelle and Bev Groves caught the eye with some offensive work. The line (an early question mark) came up with a right solid performance, blocking and tackling well, and opening up sizeable gaps. Spin Hope, Gord Beatty, the Conlins, Naismith, Ouellette, Howe, Berthelot, Bariley and the rest indicate that the Orfuns should be at least as good as the 1952 team which took Eastern Canada honors. They'll do okay.

Ghosts And The Orfuns

Grid fans have a chance to see this hard-hitting and colorful crew in action here tomorrow night. They have an 8.30 Wednesday eve fixture with their old rivals, Cobourg Galloping Ghosts, in Morrow Park. That should be a dandy as Cobourg-Orfuns' football frays in the past have always been classics. Closerthanthis in practically every meeting here or in Cobourg. We barely edged em last autumn, remember? Fred Dufton & Co. would sooner beat Orfuns than get stock in the Cobourg tannery! Well, almost. Marauders of Toronto can't get home grounds just yet, so may switch their home game this weekend to Riverside Park, as the southened gridiron isn't available late this week, owing to the Exhibition next week.

At this writing (over the weekend) it looked like Victoria was going to upset Vancouver to take the Western Canada senior lacrosse title. They may have accomplished it by now. In any case, the sports editor of the Victoria paper wired up asking for a rundown on the Peterborough players who would perform in the Mann Cup finals starting out there next Monday night. In '51, Vancouver Combines barely nudged out Victoria after trailing 'em all season, and again last year Vics felt the better team didn't come east. They have a grand arena in Victoria and the island city is a real lacrosse hotbed. The Petes, who fly west on Saturday, don't care which club they meet— they think they can annex their third straight cup title.

A's Take Peewee Title

Westend Athletics are city peewee baseball champs, after ousting East City Cardinals. Our congrats to Manager Joe Gatfield and his gallant young diamondeers who had a good season in their first start. It's nice to see some baseball interest again in the west end of the city, which had lagged behind other sections in recent years where minor ball was concerned. Tough Luck on Wimp Borland's good bantam "A" team in losing to Oshawa in the second OBA playdown round. Motor Citizens came up with an excellent hurler to fan 21 in the game here Saturday. Local midgets, under Ray Clifford were erased in OBA playdowns a week ago by Belleville. But the PMBA is doing a good job in building for the future

Only Foresters are left in OASA playdowns for Peterborough, and they go later in the week in the intermediate "AA" class. In Belleville on Saturday, Seabrooke's lost out to Kingston 9-1 in the third tilt of their senior "B" playdown series. Why it was staged there we don't know, as the game didn't draw beans and neither side cleared expenses. They should have tossed for it in

Kingston Beats Seabrooke's In Third Game

Kingston defeated Peterborough 9-1 Saturday at Belleville in the final game of a best-of-three OASA Senior "B" softball playdown series. It was a twilight fixture played on a wet, soggy field before a meagre crowd of rabid team supporters.

Al Leonard twirled for the Limestone lads and, despite conditions, hurled effective ball over the route, to limit the Seabrooke Motor men to three safe hits. He struck out five batters and walked the same number. Using a rather deceptive style, Leonard proved tough in the pinches and, aided by fine infield support, was never in serious difficulty.

Jimmy Driscoll started for Seabrooke's but yielded to Doris in the fifth, who in turn gave way to veteran Terry Woods. Terry was most effective of all in what proved an off-night for Seabrooke's. Loud disputes arising out of so-called poor decisions by Umpire Ethier led to banishment of Red Sullivan in the fifth inning.

TIMELY HITTING

Eric Rank, Clayt Simonett, Lyons and (Moon) Flanagan led Kingston's offensive with a total of 10 safe bingles. Rank smote three for four including a double, triple and a homer to lead; Simonett three for five, one a triple; while Lyons and Flanagan garnered two for five apiece, the latter a double, as the eastern boys hit consistently to tally doubles in the second, fourth and fifth, and single tallies in each of the third, eighth and ninth frames.

Peterborough's lone tally came in the final when Spinner Spencer scored Mark Donoghue with an infield single after the latter had drawn a base on balls. Kingston earned the win despite adverse conditions that seemed to bother the losers and throw the team off stride.

Local "A" Cricketers Finally Lose Match

The P-W cricket "A" club lost out 139 to 132 in an exciting council match in Toronto on Saturday, it being Peterborough's last game of the schedule. They had won 12 till then and drawn one, this being the first loss. This record should assure the club's promotion next year to higher ranking.

Batting first Saturday, T. Whitmore amassed 43, F. Worthington 41, and J. Hunt 17 to take the score to 102 for three wickets, later batsmen failing to do much, the total being 139, including 14 extras. Of six bowlers tried, G. Smith in 12 overs took five wickets for 14 runs, F. Booth had two for 29, and E. Cotton two for 25.

With Petes batting, good all-around form was shown with six double figure scorers, led by Roberts with 28, F. Booth 21, and B. Roberts 21. Others helped, too, but they couldn't quite reach their opponents' figure. F. Worthington showed fine bowling to take nine wickets for 53. He took all the wickets a bowler could.

The scores:

DOVERCOURT

Batting — T. Whitmore 43, F. Worthington 41, J. Hunt 17, J. Hatt 4, T. Dean 3, H. Travers 4, R. McNeilly 6, A. White 5, A. Hunt 2, J. Keeling 0, T. Goodman 0; extras 14—total 139.

Fall of wickets — 1 for 91, 2 for 99, 3 for 102, 4 for 108, 5 for 108, 6 for 125, 7 for 128, 8 for 131, 9 for 131, 10 for 139.

Bowling — C. Broadman 1 for 18, F. Booth 2 for 29, T. Clark 0 for 23, G. Smith 5 for 14, E. Cotton 2 for 25, W. Wright.

PETERBOROUGH A

Batting — F. Booth 21, E. Bedford 21, B. Roberts 20, G. Smith 0, Worthington 9 for 53, J. Hatt 0 for 25, W. Travers 0 for 12, J. Whitmore 0 for 14.

Local cricketers wound up their council schedule Saturday, the "B" team drawing here and the "A" club dropping a close one in Toronto .... Our thanks to Stew Evans for his nice letter .... PCVS, SPS and Kenner prospective gridders hit into regular drills this week; their schedules won't open till about the end of the month .... A district COSA meeting may be held late this week to arrange grid groupings .... Mt. Pleasant and Marines stage their fourth fastball final playoff at six tonight in Quaker Park; a fifth, if necessary, is there Thursday e'en .... Mounts lead the set 2-1 at the moment in a good series .... Bowlers are lining up schedules now at Duffus', Playfair and K. of C. alleys .... Senior lacrossers stage their drive for funds on the morrow .... The way the series is going out west—with Victoria the probable winner now — it's been a problem getting hotel reservations lined up, only tentative arrangements being possible to date .... Lots of Labor Day sports around and about in the way of softball, boxing and regattas .... An open meeting of all soccer fans and players will be held Wednesday eve in the Y at 8 p.m. .... And happy parents can now ship junior off to school once more.

Toronto Cyclist Wins Six Races At Oshawa

OSHAWA (CP)—Fred Henry of the Queen City Cycle Club, Toronto, Monday won six races and placed second in a seventh to take the Canadian dirt-track bicycling championship here. Henry amassed a total of 45 points in the seven races.

Henry won the Victor Cycle Club Trophy for the all-round championship and took the O'Keefe Trophy for the one-mile race. He also won the one-third mile, half mile, five mile, 1,000 metre time trial and the 1,000 metre sprint events.

Hot Brooklyn Dodgers Dust Off Philadelphia In 2 Weekend Triumphs

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Too bad the National League season has only three more weeks to go. Otherwise the runaway Brooklyn Dodgers almost certainly would challenge Pittsburgh's record 27½-game bulge of 51 years ago. With the pennant in sight, the Dodgers have been getting hotter by the minute. Since Aug. 7, the power-packed Brooks have won 28 of 33 games to boost their lead over Milwaukee from 7½ to 13 games. Monday's two Brooklyn triumphs over Philadelphia while the Braves were knocked off twice by Chicago Cubs gave the Dodgers their longest lead of the year.

The Dodgers would have to win all their remaining 16 games while the Braves were dropping their 16 to better the 1902 pennant-winning Pirates' record. That, of course, is practically an impossibility.

However, the Dodgers are almost certain to win their seventh flag, second in succession, by one of the largest margins in modern times.

IDENTICAL SCORES

Brooklyn gained its 95th and 96th victories Monday, knocking off Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons by identical 6-2 scores.

The Dodgers can clinch the flag this week. They need only a combination of four victories or four Milwaukee defeats to eliminate the Braves mathematically.

Roy Campanella ruined Simmons in the nightcap with a three-run homer in the sixth inning that erased a 2-1 deficit. His three RBIs on his 39th homer enabled him to break Bill Dickey's RBI mark for a catcher. Campy now has 136, three more than Dickey drove in with the 1937 Yankees.

Hank Sauer was the chief Milwaukee tormentor, leading the Cubs to 4-3 and 6-4 triumphs. The big outfielder drove in a run and scored twice with a double and single in the first game and accounted for two runs with a triple in the second.

SHAVE YANKEE LEAD

Cleveland Indians shaved New York Yankees' American League lead to nine games, winning a pair from St. Louis Browns while the Yankees were held to a split in a doubleheader in Boston. Home runs by Al Rosen, Larry Doby and Dale Mitchell gave the Indians a 10-7 victory after Bob Lemon had blanked the Browns 3-0 in the opener.

Ted Williams hit his ninth homer with a man on base and singled in another run in the Red Sox 7-4 opening triumph over the Yankees. Mel Parnell won his 19th, but needed help from Ellis Kinder who equalled Joe Heving's American League relief record by appearing in his 63rd game. Joe Collins paced the Yankees to a 5-3 second game victory with four hits including a home run.

Detroit Tigers climbed into sixth place for the first time this season, whipping the third-place Chicago White Sox twice 6-2 and 4-2.

Washington trampled Philadelphia Athletics 13-2 and 6-3 as Jimmy Dykes' crew plunged into seventh place. Third baseman Eddie Yost drove in three runs and scored seven—five in the first game—with three doubles, a homer and a single.

DOUBLE WIN

Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial led the Cardinals to a double victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs 4-3 and 1-0. Schoendienst singled in the winning run in the ninth inning of the opener. He had homered with a man on base earlier. Musial doubled in pitcher Harvey Haddix with the game's only run in the nightcap. Haddix permitted six hits for his 17th triumph and fifth shutout. The twin triumphs moved the Cardinals into third place.

Pittsburgh's last-place Pirates won their first doubleheader of the year at the expense of the Giants 9-7 and 5-3.

Wings Sweep Twin Bill From Chiefs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The pennant-bound Rochester Red Wings ran their winning streak to 14 Monday by sweeping an International League doubleheader from Syracuse Chiefs, 12-5 and 9-4.

This lengthened Rochester's lead over the second-place Montreal Royals—whose scheduled doubleheader with Buffalo Bisons was rained out—to six games. The Herd is in third position, a game behind the Royals.

Floyd Wooldridge, making his first start for the Wings since coming up from Houston, pitched a masterful five-hitter for the opening triumph. Playing-manager Harry (the Hat) Walker powered the Wings to the nightcap win with two home runs, good for five tallies.

EDGE OUT ATHLETICS

Toronto Maple Leafs kept their hopes of making the playoffs mathematically alive Monday night by squeezing a double bill from Ottawa Athletics, 6-5 and 4-3.

The twin triumph still left the Leafs 3½ games behind the fourth-place Baltimore Orioles, who took a doubleheader from Springfield Cubs 7-4 and 6-5.

At Toronto, the scheduled seven-inning first game, tied 5-5 at the end of regulation time, was broken up by Bobby Addis' single in the eighth, scoring Kal Segrist. In the nine-inning nightcap, the Leafs came through in the last inning when Lew Morton's infield single scored a runner from third base. Ottawa had tied it up with three runs in the top of the ninth.

In Baltimore, the Orioles rapped Mike Mellis and two reliefers for 17 hits in the opener, while Howie Fox and Tom Herrin gave up nine safe blows to the Cubs. In the nightcap, the Birds reached Darius Hillman and Gene Tarabilda for 11 safeties, while Jocko Thompson and Herrin allowed but six to the losers.

Strikes Out 20 Batters In Women's Tilt

TORONTO (CP) — Strike-out pitching, home-run hitting, and rain all had a big hand in Monday's opening round of the world women's softball championships at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Pitcher Bertha Ragan of Orange, Calif., Lionettes struck out 20 batters, believed a tournament strike-out record. Twirler Margie Law of Phoenix Ramblers whiffed 19.

Lionette third-sacker Bobbie Jordan slammed two home runs to drive in six runs and catcher Peg Fowler clouted for the circuit for a ninth-inning Toronto Gartens victory.

Rain showers forced postponement of three of the scheduled eight games.

EASY VICTORY

Orange Lionettes, defending champions, scored an easy 7-0 victory over Des Moines, Iowa, behind the pitching of Ragan and the hitting of Jordan. Phoenix nipped Detroit 1-0 on Ann Potter's seventh-inning error.

Regina Legions, western Canada winners, trimmed Linden, N.J. 6-0.

Toronto Gartens defeated Toronto Caylyx 5-4 on home runs by Fowler and Gladie Smith.

West Allis, Wis., dropped Bremerton, Wash., 4-1 in a rain-interrupted contest.

Sickle's Image Wins Handicap

CHICAGO (AP)—Sickle's Image, a five-year-old light brown mare, pulled down the richest mile payoff of the horse racing season Monday by winning the $165,200 Washington Park Handicap as a 24-1 shot.

As surprising as her victory was the contrasting disappointment to the 38,366 customers in Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well.

With veteran Eddie Arcaro aboard, the colt finished a well-beaten last in a field of 13 after being backed down to a 6-5 wagering choice. It was Mark-Ye-Well's third straight and worst loss at Washington Park in a comeback attempt following a six months' layoff with a quartered hoof.

The "miracle mile" victory was the most choice of Sickle's Image's career. It was her fourth triumph in nine starts for the season and the $108,500 first prize boosted her winnings to a total $484,560 since she began racing.

Ruhe was second, a half length back, and Indian Hemp, owned by Alberta Ranches, Ltd., was third, another 3¼ lengths behind.

Athletics Capture Peewee Ball Title

Westend Athletics won the city peewee baseball championship by defeating East City Cardinals in two straight games. In the semi-finals, Athletics won two in a row over southend Leafs. In the finals against Cardinals, Joe Gatfield's bunch won by scores of 21-4 and 10-7.

The A's had good hurling throughout playoffs by Bobby Gatfield, who won four frays, allowing but 20 hits in that time and fanning 51 batters. The catching and fielding were sound and the boys hit in timely fashion.

Calvin Ratz, Larry Minicola, Brian Reid, Bob Johnson, Brian Donaldson, and Vern Passmore were the main hitters, though Bill Dorrington, Grant Nicholls, Bill White, Peter Chimenti, Jeff Andrews, Clare Fitzgerald and David Perks went good, too.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Chain Reaction, owned by Mrs. J. Tomlinson of Toronto and ridden by Bud Giacomelli, captured the 24th running of the $10,000 added Canadian Derby Saturday by striding in seven lengths ahead of her nearest rival over the heavy 1¼ miles track. Light Dust was second, seven lengths back, and Food for Thought third.

Richards was one of a number of coaches imported under the Canadian Olympic Training Plan to help Canadian athletes competing at the two-day Canadian inter-provincial track and field championships at the Canadian National Exhibition, Tornoto. Miller, who competed in the 1952 Olympics, won the pole vault with a leap of 12 feet, six inches, a foot off his own Canadian mark.

Trabert Attack Upsets Seixas, Wins U.S. Title

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Tony Trabert of Cincinnati unleashed a rocket-like service and a slashing net attack Monday to upset Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 and win the U.S. men's singles tennis title.

Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly of San Diego, Calif., won her third straight women's crown by humbling Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-2, 6-4.

The decisiveness of Trabert's victory over the top-seeded and heavily-favored Philadelphian stunned a crowd of 12,000 at the Westside Tennis Club.

TEARS GAME TO SHREDS

The 23-year-old Cincinnati youngster tore his Davis Cup teammate's brilliant all-around game to shreds with a relentless volleying offensive backed up by an almost unbreakable service.

Seixas had beaten Australia's Lewis Hoad in Sunday's semi-finals 7-5, 6-4, 6-4. Trabert had downed Ken Rosewall of Australia in the other semi-final 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.

Doris Hart later teamed with Seixas to win the mixed doubles title with a 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 victory over Rex Hartwig of Australia and Julia Sampson of San Marino, Cal.

Barrie Man Wins Skeet Tournament

NORTH BAY (CP)—Ted Twiss of Barrie, a class A shooter in the Ontario Skeet Shooting Association, Sunday was top gunman in the eighth annual Northern Ontario invitation skeet championship tournament held at Ferris Sunday.

Former Dominion champion and a member of the Ontario All-Star Skeet Shooting Club, he posted a score of 98 of a possible 100 as he led competing marksmen from Toronto, Oshawa, Barrie, Sudbury, Espanola and Ferris.

Second top award went to B. Robinson of the Sudbury club, who scored 92 of a possible 100.

A. Brock of Oshawa won the class B event with a score of 82.

TORONTO (CP) — Teddy's Sister, the consistent Canadian-bred mare owned by J. J. Fleming of Oshawa, won a tremendous stretch duel and the $5,000 Seagram Cup Handicap Monday as she nipped Bennington in a photo finish at Woodbine race track.

Teddy's Sister came from far out of it to catch the pace setting Bennington.

Track-Field Championships

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's first country-wide track and field championships in nearly 20 years ended here Saturday and, as expected, Ontario and British Columbia dominated the two-day meet. They took 22 of the 26 titles at stake.

The interprovincial meet, sponsored by the Canadian National Exhibition in an effort to improve the standard of Canadian athletes in future Olympic Games and to gives the sport a much-needed boost, was hailed as a success by officials across the country.

More than 150 athletes and coaches from nine provinces made the transportation-paid trip to Toronto for the week-long tournament —a four-day coaching clinic followed by the meet.

Ontario's 57-athlete team captured 13 first-place trophies and B.C. won nine. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan each placed a winner in competition confined to homebred athletes.

WIN INVITATION EVENT

In addition, Nova Scotia and Quebec each won one invitation event open to a small American contingent and to Canadians. Newfoundland and Alberta were the only provinces to draw a blank and Prince Edward Island wasn't represented.

Ron and Eleanor Miller, the husband-wife combination from Toronto, both with B.E. Games and Olympic competition behind them, won most of the individual glory. The 22-year-old Ron won the pole vault with a leap of 12 feet six inches at the start of the meet and followed it Saturday by smashing his own Canadian native record of 13 feet 6¼ inches with a height of 13 feet 7¾ inches—the only native record broken.

His wife, the former Eleanor MacKenzie of Vancouver, was extended to the limit by 17-year-old Dorothy Kozak of Winnipeg to take the women's 100-yard sprint Saturday and an hour later made it another close one over the tall Winnipegger in the open 100-yard sprint.

Doug Clement of Vancouver was the only other double winner in individual events. He won the 880-yards Saturday in 1:57.3 and the 440 on Friday in 49.8 seconds.

Tuna Tournament To Open On Wednesday

By KINGSLEY BROWN Jr

WEDGEPORT, N. S. (CP) — Some of the world's best anglers get in their final practice today for the international tuna tournament, hoping Monday's hurricane doesn't pull a three-year-old trick.

The battling bluefins were scattered from turbulent Soldier's Rip, a mile-wide stretch of white-capped waters about 12 miles from here, when a 1950 hurricane drove seaward schools of herring and mackerel, their main diet.

If Monday's hurricane and storms don't scatter the herring and mackerel, the prospects for the match opening Wednesday are good. More than 100 of the fish have been caught on the Rip in the last two months.

ANGLERS FROM 13 LANDS

Anglers from 13 countries are represented on the competing teams from Brazil, the British Commonwealth, Cuba, Mexico, the United States, Venezuela, Chile, Holland, France and Argentina.

The Netherlands and France are newcomers to the matches. A Scandinavian team had planned to come but withdrew when one of its members met with an accident.

Cmdr. Duncan M. Hodgson of Montreal, who holds the world's tuna record with the 977-pounder he landed at St. Ann's bay in Cape Breton three years ago, is again on the Commonwealth team, which has members from England, Bermuda and South Africa.

TROPHY AT STAKE

At stake in the three-day contest will be the Sharp Trophy, emblematic of supremacy in big game angling's top international competition. Cuba, three-time winner, is defending champion. It won last year with a catch in the dying minutes of the tournament.

The matches start at 7 a. m. Wednesday and end at 4 p. m. If weather intervenes, Saturday will be an alternate fishing day. An angler is allowed to use any size rod but he is limited to 39-thread line.

In scoring points are allowed for the weight of fish landed, the team with the most fish of the day and the largest of the meet.

Grace Church Draws In Local Cricket Tilt

By C. H. IRESON

Peterborough "B" Cricketers had a drawn game with Grace Church "B" of Toronto here Saturday. The score was Grace Church 117 and Peterborough 100 for nine wickets. Grace Church had won handily earlier in the season.

With A. Gamble getting 40, the visitors made the score 117 in their inning, the best bowling being Frank Dyer 3 for 39 and R. Rollwagon 4 for 46. The locals made a fair response at bat, mainly due to 48 by W. Holroyd. F. Roberts had 17 and D. Dyer 11 not out. Time was called at 100 for nine wickets, the game being drawn but in favor of Grace Church.

SCORE

Grace Church "B"; Batting — McCormie 13, Cox 1, Bartlett 13, Fleming 0, Gamble 40, Loblaw 16, Banks 12, Layton 0, Webb 9, Gaywood 5 (not out). Lost 4. Extras 4. Total 117.

Springfield Franchise Now Up For Sale to make the statement after a telephone conversation with James T. Gallagher, business manager of the Cubs.

No asking price for the franchise was announced, but Sheehan said Chicago Cubs will "give preference to any group interested in keeping International League baseball in Springfield."

Maintains Lead

WINNIPEG (CP)—Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg Monday maintained his half-point lead in the Canadian chess championships as he won a tight victory over Gerald Fielding of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan champion.

It was Yanofsky's third win in three rounds. He recently won the British championship.

Tiger-Cats Down Argos 14-12, Fumbles Costly

By WALTER GRAY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Argonauts suffered a sudden case of dropsy and lost a game. Billy Vessels got itchy feet and high-tailed it all over the field to give his Edmonton Eskimos twin victories. The 1953 Canadian football season got the highball sign during the Labor Day weekend and thousands of fans cheered. Nine games were played in the three major leagues: Big Four —Ottawa Rugh Riders defeated Montreal Alouettes 26-6 in Ottawa Saturday and Hamilton Tiger-Cats downed Toronto 14-12 in Hamilton Monday.

Western Interprovincial Football Union — Edmonton Eskimos defeated Calgary Stampeders 18-6 in Calgary Saturday and again, 19-5, in Edmonton Monday night. Saskatchewan Roughriders downed Winnipeg Blue Bombers 23-19 in Regina Monday.

Ontario Rugby Football Union—Sarnia Imperials turned back Brantford Redskins 9-8 in Brantford Saturday night, Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen trounced Toronto Balmy Beach 24-14 in Toronto Saturday and the Beach squeezed out a 9-8 win over the Imperials in Sarnia Monday.

LAST-MINUTE SCORE

Only minutes remained in the Toronto-Hamilton game Monday when the Argos developed butter fingers deep in the Tiger-Cat zone. With the score 14-12, Hamilton's Ray Truant fumbled the ball and Sculler Joe Scudero pounced on it only to lose it. Three other Argos made a bee-line for the ball, but it took another bounce and landed back in Truant's arms on the Hamilton 13-yard line. The Argos had to call it a day.

It wasn't spectacular ball for the 17,000 fans. The Cats lacked offensive power and won only by taking advantage of Argo mistakes. Nobby Wirkowski paced a strong Toronto passing attack.

Bernie Custis, whom coach Carl Voyles used at quarterback after firing import star Bob Celeri last week, scored Hamilton's first major after a bad Toronto snap on third down gave Tiger-Cats possession on the Argo 15. Quincy Armstrong counted the second when he blocked a kick and picked up the ball to score. Tip Logan converted both majors and Cam Fraser booted two singles, one a 70-yard punt.

SNARES TOSS

Ed Al Pfeifer snared a Wirkowski toss for Toronto's first touchdown after an 85-yard drive and Don Moomaw, all-America linebacker from the University of California at Los Angeles blocked a quick kick at the Hamilton five-yard line which end Bud Fowler snared for the second major. Moomaw booted the convert after Red Ettinger missed on the first. Steve Karrys scored the other point on a kick.

The win put the Tiger-Cats on top of the league with two wins and no losses. The Argos are tied for second place with the Rough Riders and the Alouettes with one win each.

In Ottawa Saturday the Rough Riders shattered a powerful Alouette passing attack and broke through for four converted touchdowns and a single before 12,000 fans.

The Roughie assault was led by Tom O'Malley, who quarterbacked Ottawa to its 1951 Grey Cup win in his first season of Canadian football.

BIG FACTOR IN WIN

Avatus Stone, triple-threat backfielder alleged by Chicago Cardinals to have jumped a Chicago contract, was the big factor in Ottawa's victory with his two touchdowns and a single. Flying wing Bob Simpson and Paul Salata scored the other majors. O'Malley got the other single.

Chuck Hunsinger gave Alouettes their touchdown. Ray Poole converted.

In the western conference Billy Vessels, import halfback from Oklahoma Sooners, gave the fans their money's worth with his sparkling running plays.

Saturday night, the fans in Calgary's Mewata Stadium hardly had a chance to look over the line-up before Vessels scooted 95 yards for a touchdown from the opening kick-off. Edmonton end Tom Stolhandske caught a touchdown pass and Wilbur Snyder converted for a healthy lead.

In the final quarter Steve Mendryk snared a Vessels' pass from the six-yard line and Snyder converted. On the kickoff, Calgary's Pete Thodos was rouged on Snider's long boot. Stampeders' touchdown came when John Henry Johnson plunged over the line. Pete Thodos got the convert.

Monday in Edmonton, only the thrilling end runs by Vessels and Rollie Miles, plus the sharp passing of Claude Arnold gave the 15,500 fans a glimpse of good ball.

ESKIMO TOUCHDOWNS

Eskimo touchdowns were by Arnold, Miles and Mendryk. Linebacker Ted Tully kicked three converts and Eskimos added a rouge.

Elusive half Pete Thodos gave the Stamps their major.

The double win put the Eskimos in a first-place tie with the Blue Bombers with three wins each. Calgary is tied for third place with Saskatchewan.

Former Dallas Texans quarterback Frank Tripucka gave Saskatchewan the incentive to defeat Winnipeg—its first win of the young season and bombers' first loss.

Rider majors were scored by Nellie Greene, Stan Williams, Mac Speedie and Herb Johnson. Reg Whitehouse booted three converts.

Lorne Benson crossed over for two Winnipeg touchdowns and Neil Armstrong got the other.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Howie Morenz, nearing the end of his great hockey career, returned to his beloved Montreal Canadiens 17 years ago today after two years with Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers. He started his 14th NHL season and was in good form until he suffered a broken leg in Montreal. Months later, in March, 1937, the sports world was shocked when the "Stratford Streak" died in hospital.

Discipline Three Racing Figures

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan racing commission Monday disciplined three harness racing figures in connection with the doping of the horse Abbasong which won its Aug. 18 race after getting "the medicine."

Wayne Smart, one of the leading U.S. drivers and head trainer of Castleton Farms, was set down for a year, as was his assistant, Carl Larsen. Richard Lane, a groom, was ruled off Michigan tracks for 60 days.

State racing commissioner James Inglis lifted his temporary suspension of the Castleton Farms Stable, imposed last week during preliminary hearings on the doping case.

Kingston Takes One-Goal Lead In Cup Play

The UE soccer eleven had to admit defeat 4-3 to an opportunist eleven — Kingston— in Ontario soccer cup, second round, in King Edward Park, Saturday afternoon, before a large crowd. Petes travel to Kingston next Saturday in the return match with goals to count. The locals are one-goal down now.

Before the kick-off, both teams lined up in the centre of the field to remember James G. Daly, who was accidently drownded during the week, in two minute silence. He and his brother John played with the local Scots.

Right from the kick-off, Kingston settled down to constructive combination that had the Petes in a quandry in an effort to nullify their versatile plays, in fact, the local half-back division was negligent in tackling thereby allowing the visiting forwards to test local custodians repeatedly from close range.

Eventually Ryan trapped the ball from mid-air to send his centre-forward in between the two full-backs. He trapped the sphere with one foot and gently diverted the ball into goal to give the locals the lead. Quickly Kingston penetrated the UE defence as their left-wing demonstrated two quick-passing plays that found the German, Dakmen get the equalliser in a neat play.

Within a minute, UE forced the issue to the Kingston citadel where Hoyle rattled a hot drive in below the crossbar, Pollard, visitors' custodian diverting the ball over the bar for an unsuccessful flag kick. But Hoyle was rewarded on the next visit, as the goalie saved his first attempt, he go the rebound to make it 2-1. Encouraged by their success UE added pressure again, amidst beautiful soccer by both elevens, as Ryan slipped the ball out to Smith, outside left, who sent a lightning shot into goal 3-1. Just before the interval, Munday conceded a penalty kick that Gray, of Kingston, failed to convert from the spot, the local custodian being brilliant. Half time: Petes 3, Kingston 1.

PETES WILTED

Kingston re-organized their attack to combat the local aggressive tackling. This was evident after 10 minutes of play, when Cooper and Mallon, Kingston, harassed the local goalie to witness Munday, Petes, put the ball in the net for Kingston. At this point, Munday was brilliant in offence and defensive tactics to off-set Kingston repeatedly as they drove hard on goal. A surprise was created when McGregor, Kingston, now at outside right beat the local goalie wtih an oblique shot to make it 3-3. Thereafter keen tactics prevailed in an exhibition of combination and systematic attacks with Petes gaining only fruitless flag-kicks. In the remaining minutes, Kingston gained the break when Mallon, Kingston, placed a perfect flag-kick into goal at the far corner and just as the goalie saved the ball, Dakmen, Kingston, headed the sphere into the corner of the rigging. Kingston 4. Petes 3.

Petes: — J. Kyenston, goal; R. Croll and J. Davies full backs; J. Murray, F. Munday and J. Smith half-backs; J. Holt, R. Strong, P. Hoyle, J. Ryan and R. Byron forwards. Subs: Holyroyd, Steel, Allan.

Kingston: — H. Pollard, goal; G. Grunday and A. McGregor full backs; T. Barnardo, R. Coe and D. Gray half backs; J. Gillespie, R. Maclan, P. Dakmen, H. Cooper and J. Mallon forwards. Sub:—J. Stafford.

Referee: — A. Downer. Linesmen: R. Davies and D. Folger.

Detroit Hydroplane Wins Silver Cup

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit hydroplane Gale II won the Silver Cup speedboat trophy Monday by making the best showing in five 12-mile heats on the Detroit river.

Speed honors, however, went to another Detroit craft, Jack Schafer's Such Crust III which won the fifth and final heat with a speed that reached 100.887 miles an hour in the first lap.

Both Miss Supertest, formerly Miss Canada, now owned by J. Gordon Thompson and James G. Thompson of London, Ont., and Stanley Sayres' favored Slo-Mo-Shun V of Seattle were forced out after the second heat with engine troubl[illegible]

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Oh, to be back at the old swimmin' hole,
Back with my dog and slick fishin'-pole!
But school has begun, and it's back to my books.
No use repinin'; it's not as bad as it looks!

Today thousands of children marched back to school after two months' holidays. It means just this: The summer is on the way out—the holiday season is over, and our lawn bowling days for 1953 are numbered. But we have a lot of bowling to do yet: The men have to complete their schedule, pick up postponed games, play the novice single competition sponsored by the Peterborough Examiner, play the Review trebles tournament; the ladies have to finish their schedule, complete their singles competition, and also their doubles tournament. Besides we have two open tournaments coming up.

Saturday, September 12, 1:30 o'clock—Men's open trebles for the Empress Hotel Shield.

Tuesday, September 15, 10 a.m. —Ladies' open trebles.

And as this is September 8, we will have to keep moving right along.

TOURNAMENT WINNERS

At Peterborough, Labor Day:

First and Peterborough Canoe Co. Trophy—Mrs. H. Darling and E. Pritchard.

Second—Mrs. C. Renaud and C. Renaud.

Third—Mrs. H. Northrop and H. Northrop.

Fourth—Mrs. F. Staunton and E. Wall.

Fifth—Mrs. C. Jay and C. Jay.

Sixth—Mrs. G. Gimblett and Mrs. H. Harris.

At Campbellford, Saturday:

High for two wins—H. Staunton and J. Cullen.

George Park Scores Double Swim Win

TORONTO (CP)—George Park of Hamilton was the only double winner Monday in the Canadian National Exhibition Labor Day swimming competitions.

Park stroked his way to victory in the 100-yard senior men's free style, covering the distance in 55.5 seconds, and swam to another win in the senior men's 100-yard backstroke, in 1:08.8.

Doreen Howatt of Fergus won the senior women's 100-yard freestyle in 1:07.

Back To School

VICTORIA (CP)—For the new school term in British Columbia there will be 10,000 new pupils, bringing the total to about 202,000. Provincial authorities said 7,350 teachers are necessary now, an increase of 250 over the last term.

Port Perry Wins Second Game Over Bethany

BETHANY (ENS)—In the North Durham baseball series, Port Perry took their second win over Bethany Friday night by a score of 4-3.

Both teams were scoreless for the first two frames with the locals counting one in the third, the Port's two in the fourth, Bethany tied it up with another in the fifth; the visitors adding two in the sixth and the locals one in the seventh.

Wallace was on the mound for the visitors, relieved by McTaggert in the seventh with Griffin receiving. Batting honors to Owen and Griffin.

For Bethany, Edmunds hurled good ball all the way with Reynolds receiving. It should have been their game but two costly errors giving the Port's two runs in the sixth. The Rowan brothers, Will and Cameron, were the long distance hitters with Harry Ryley and Bob Reynolds for singles that counted. Summary:

Port Perry ..... 000 202 0—4
Bethany ..... 001 010 1—3

Teams:

Port Perry: Gibson, Lawrence, Hayes, Mark, Owen, Wallace, Williams, Griffin, McLean, McTaggert.

Bethany: R. Reynolds, H. Ryley, C. Rowan, Edmunds, W. Reynolds, Jackson, McGill, B. Ryley, W. Rowan, Pomeroy.

Umpires—Brown and Tamblyn of Orono.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Hollywood backed into the Pacific Coast League pennant Monday. Although the Stars lost their first game 5-0 to Oakland, they clinched the PCL flag when Sacramento defeated second-place Seattle 7-3. The Stars bounced back to win the nightcap 3-1.

Oshawa Takes First One From Revoy's

Oshawa opened their best-of-three OBA bantam "A" playdown series here Saturday with a 6-1 victory over Peterborough Revoy's. They fashioned a run each in the first, fourth, eighth and ninth innings, with two in the sixth, while Wimp Borland's boys were held to one run in the fourth.

McMahon hurled grand ball for the visitors to scatter five hits and strike out 21, walking three. Al Wade twirled good ball, also, fanning 12 as he allowed six hits, but he walked five and had a wild pitch. Each side booted one, and the losers had a passed ball. Oshawa bunched blows better and hit longer ones, Jeffs belting a homer and triple in three trips, and Melnick a triple and single in four. For Petes, Whitehill hit safely three times in four, Griffin got a triple and Wade a single. W. Rowe and Bun Dorrington fielded well. Teams:

Oshawa—Fry, cf; Minacs, ss; Jeffs, rf; Melnick, c; Simcoe, 2b; McMahon, p; Newey, 3b; Boddy, 1b; Pearson, rf.

Sinclair Decides To Quit Red Wings

DETROIT (AP)—Veteran wingman Reggie Sinclair notified Detroit Red Wings Saturday that he is quitting hockey to devote his time to his job with a Canadian soft drink firm.

Sinclair, 28-year-old native of Lachine, Que., came to Detroit from New York Rangers last year in a trade for defenceman Leo Reise. He wound up the season with 11 goals, nine less than in his last campaign with the Rangers.

Kesselring Captures Willie Park Trophy

TORONTO (CP) — Kitchener's Gerry Kesselring won the Willie Park Trophy in the annual 18-hole medal play tournament at the suburban Weston Club Saturday.

Kesselring came from behind to post a one-under par 70 and tie Doug McKeller of Scarboro, last year's winner. In an extra-hole playoff, Kesselring took four strokes, McKeller, five.

W. R. Parkes of Woodstock tallied 76 and Johnny Koval of Sarnia 77.

BONUS PLAYER—For an undisclosed sum, variously estimated from $25,000 to $50,000, Reno Bertoia (left), 18, of Windsor, signed a contract with Detroit Tigers of the American League. He was sought by all 16 major league teams. He shakes hands with manager Fred Hutchinson of the Tigers at a pre-game workout in Detroit. Bertoia is an infielder.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

I got a chuckle the other days over a story which said the new pin-up boy in Ireland, a country that not merely loves Life of Tulyar' is the rage of the Sunday supplements.

This, we think, could happen only in Ireland ,a country that not merely loves its horses, but breeds some magnificent animals, and in fact, owns one in the person of Tulyar.

For Tulyar is the nation's horse. A few months ago, the Irish Parliament, or Dail, approved the expenditure of $700,000 for the purchase of a stallion named Tulyar from the fabulous Indian sportsman, the Aga Khan. Tulyar is reputed to be the horse of the century. He was undefeated as a 3-year-old in the British Isles, where a racer has to run more than six furlongs and with as much as 150 pounds on his back.

The purchase of Tulyar didn't pass the Dail without an argument. After all, it happened in Ireland. The Conservative members of Parliament contended $700,000 was a "luxury price" for an animal in a country facing an economic crisis. But the more liberal members won their point, 60 to 23, that Tulyar was a good investment in the national horse breeding industry.

So Tulyar became a property of the government, belongs to the Irish National Stud Farm in Tully, County Kildare. The Irish are individualistic, if any race is, and they see nothing inconsistent in nationalizing the noble horse.

Imagine the consternation on Ottawa's Parliament Hill if some sporting member advocated the purchase of Native Dancer for a million or so, for the purpose of improving the breed of racing animals in Canada. But, of course, race-horses don't mean so much to Canada as they do to Ireland. In Ireland, the horse is big business. Export of horses is to Ireland almost what General Motors is to the United States or the gold, silver, lead and zince products to Canada. Tulyar, the people's horse, will bring many a pound into Ireland. Not so many as the Irish sweepstakes net, of course, but quite a tidy sum, you may be sure.

An American syndicate headed by Jack Dempsey, Los Angeles insurance man (not the ex-pugilist) bid more than a million for Tulyar. The Moslem Aga Khan may have felt in conscience that the steed belonged to Ireland and took a cut in price.

The Aga Khan was criticized in London for allowing Noor to get away from him. Hence he was sensitive about Tulyar. Noor was Irish-bred, and beat Citation every time out. Tulyar is held to be an Irish horse, because he was trained on the emerald green grass of the Ould Sod for his English victories.

Lorne White Wins CNE Marathon

By PETER REILLY

TORONTO (CP) — Sloshing through a heavy downpour, 24-year-old Lorne White of Guelph Monday [illegible]d well in front of the field in the 10-mile marathon at the 65th annual Canadian National Exhibition track and field day. His time was 58 minutes, 10 4-5 seconds.

White, an unattached youngster, said the rain "sure didn't help."

"If it hadn't been for all those puddles around the inside of the track I might have done better."

Behind White was George Hillier of St. John's, Nfld. J. van Plew, Gladstone A.C., Toronto, placed third.

FINISHES SECOND

The University of Kansas' great miler, Wes Santee, finished second in the open handicap mile after giving the rest of the field a lap head start. Santee, who clocked 4:15.3, said he could have done "much better" but for the heavy track.

The crowd of 23,000 loudly applauded Rev. Bob Richards of Long Beach, Calif., Olympic pole vault champion.

Richards, vaulting in competition with two Torontonians—Ron Miller of Toronto Track Club and Ed Bretta of East York Track Club—set a Canadian open record, clearing the bar at 15 feet, ¼ inch.

In the 100-yards event for boys under 20, Jack Bell of Shamrock A.C., Oshawa, finished second to Jim Warner of Halifax.

Authorities Free Deserter

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ivor Hughes gambled and won.

Saturday the 35-year-old wartime deserter was released from HMCS Discovery, on orders from the Royal Navy he deserted at Capetown, South Africa, in 1941.

A swift interview with immigration officials followed—he is in Canada illegally—and the native of Dolgelly, Wales was turned loose.

Hughes must report back to immigration Sept. 16, but an official source said: "It looks as if he is going to be allowed to stay."

Signalman Hughes deserted in South Africa 12 years ago. Subsequently, under the name Alan Medd, he served with the South African Army, in mines in South Africa and with the Canadian forces in Korea. He was discharged last May in Vancouver.

After working on the aluminum project at Kemano, B. C., he came back to Vancouver and took up the name Ivor Hughes once more.

He assumed his rightful name by giving himself up to police as "Ivor Hughes, deserter." Hughes said: "All I want is my own name back."

Coloreds of South Africa Said To Number 1,171,000

BY HUGH LATIMER

CAPE TOWN — For the first time in the two-year-old constitutional crisis in South Africa over Colored (mixed blood) voters' rights, the views of the Coloreds themselves are in the limelight. The argument at present is about the question of which of two men —both moderates and both school teachers — has the better right to represent the Cape Colored people. George Golding has been undertaking negotiations with Dr. Malan, the Prime Minister; Dr. Robert van der Ross has protested against his doing so.

It is impossible to understand the dualism of Colored politics, the alternate tendencies towards revolution and an ultrarespectable conservatism without knowing something of the background of the people.

They number 1,171,000, and are probably the largest mixed race in the world to remain unmingled with the surrounding peoples. The desire to merge, however, is strong —traditionally with the whites, but of late with the African natives. Colored people are about three-quarters European-African and one-quarter Eurasian. A fair skin (European) has the highest social prestige; next to that comes straight hair (Asian). The people tend to be darker in the countryside and lighter in Cape Town and Port Elizabeth.

DATE FROM 17th CENTURY

Dutch settlers who entered what is now Cape Western Province in the 17th century found only Hottentots and Bushmen. The Dutch brought in slaves from West Africa and Madagascar, Java and Ceylon. In the first twenty years of settlement, 75 per cent of children born to slave women had European fathers. Mixing with slaves was soon forbidden, but both mixing and marriage with freed Eurasians continued down the centuries and was not forbidden until the Nationalists came to power in 1948. Meanwhile, the Bushmen were exterminated or disappeared into the Kalahari Desert; but the Hottentots soon began to hire themselves out as laborers to the white farmers, inter-married with the Cape Colored and have disappeared as a separate raec in this way.

BROUGHT BY SLAVES

Islam was brought to the Cape by Indonesian slaves and political prisoners. The Cape Malays, about 80,000 strong, still practice it. The amount of Malay blood is now very small. Malay ancestry is mainly European.

Dutch and Malay cultures borrowed from one another at the Cape so that most of the Afrikaner dishes today are Malay, while many of the Cape's Malay songs still sung at weddings derive from 17th century Holland. The men wear the tarboush and the women the half-veil, generally in pastel shades of pink and mauve. Attempts are being made by the Nationalists, following the nobled side of Aparthier (racial segregation) philosophy, to rescue the distinctive Cape Malay traditions from the threats of submersion by both Mecca and the West; unfortunately the political aims of these efforts are discrediting them.

Except for a small group from the British colony of St. Helena, the spoken language of both Christians and Malays is Afrikaans. Their written language is English perhaps for political reasons, for I have never yet seen a colored man reading an Afrikaans newspaper. Similarly the Dutch Reformed Church now claims only one in three of the colored Christian population.

When the British settlers came about 1820 they engendered a fresh racial mixture, this time with the Bantu, the Africans of today. Their descendants are to be found in the Eastern Cape. The Bantu admixture is also to be found in Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland; whether because the Bantu stock is healthier than the Hottentot, the people have a much better-fed look about them than in the Western Cape.

In the Western Cape undernourishment, tuberculosis, the system of part-payment in tots of wine, and the effect of tin-shack housing have had a deleterious effect on the coloreds. A colored man's expectation of life in South Africa is only 41 years, and a woman's 44 years, against 63 and 68 for Europeans. The birthrate in 1952 was 48 per thousand (26 for whites and 36 for Asiatics) but the death rate was 20 against eight and a half and 11. Europeans with a population of two and a half times larger than the coloreds lost 2,420 children under one year of age in 1952 against 7,655 for the coloreds. This is 140.6 per thousand for the whites. Comparable figures for full-blooded Africans are not published.

CONDITIONS IMPROVED

The lot of the common laborer has probably improved since before the war. Cape Town has the highest average wages of any African town. But the Apartheid philosophy has hit the ambitious colored man more heavily than anyone else.

Once he attended the same school, worshipped at the same church and lived in the same street as the white man. Now the Colored printers and Malay tailors are being pushed out of their occupation by the whites, while the African, at lower wages, takes over chauffeurs' and building workers' jobs. African farm workers immigrating annually into the Western Cape, intermarry with Coloreds to produce a fresh racial mixture. The Colored man is widely employed, where his physique will stand it, in manufacturing industry; efficiency experts say that he makes a more conscientious factory worker than the African, Indian or poor White. If unfit, he becomes a doorman, or liftman in offices—rarely a clerk. One still finds occasionally a Colored plumber with a European mate, but the thing offends white ideas of propriety, and the pair have to pretend to have reversed roles in many houses.

The Colored women are preferred to all others as domestics and the whiter ones "pass" as European shopgirls for a few years before marriage. There are an increasing number of typists. Altogether the Colored family is better-off financially than ever before; but it has suffered a distinct drop in status, and knows it.

Why do they not complain more loudly? The diverse strands in their origin explain much of the fatal internecine feuds in Colored politics, but personality exp[illegible] more. The Colored man is [illegible]tural individualist, and o[illegible]ist, and optimist. Confron[illegible] a color bar, he likes [illegible] round or under it, not de[illegible] has a strongly developed sense of ridicule, and his wit is as rich and cynical as a London Cockney's, though he lacks the latter's self-assurance. Serious political movements do not appeal to him, but he has a high opinion of Harry Lawrence, now an Opposition front-bencher, because in his early days that politician used to stand on a soap box outside the market, dodging the tomatoes day after day and always coming back for more.

What the visitor to South Africa may well hear is that the Colored man is besotted with drink, irresponsible, feckless and that he has a slave mentality. Some of these things (but not the last) were said with equal justice, or otherwise, about the poor in Europe a century ago: for it is difficult to obtain a sense of responsibility if it is only rarely offered you.

1,800 Stagger To Homes After $100,000 Party

By JEAN FLOUS

BIARRITZ, France (Reuters)—Eighteen hundred bewigged, champagned guests staggered through the Biarritz dawn this morning after seven hours of 18th century bliss.

A weary, 69-year-old Marquis de Cuevas, host of the most glamorous party thrown in the atomic age, slumped onto a satin-covered bench, sipped a glass of champagne and said, "it was worth it. I am very pleased."

As the costumed noblemen and their ladies and the movie stars and the lace-festooned reporters and photographers went out into the cold light of day in this Atlantic coast resort they mulled over the great memories—and the surprises—of the marquis' $100,000 spree.

First and foremost in the male ranks were thoughts of a vision—not a bit in the 18th century motif—when French Dancer Renee "Zizi" Jeanmaire rode into the party scantily dressed, astride a camel.

Miss Jeanmaire, who played in the movie, "Hans Christian Andersen", created a sensation as they watched her ride a camel in to present herself to her ballet-loving host.

Her concept of the 18th century differed from that of most of the guests, in their cumbrous velvet outfits topped with powdered wigs.

Miss Jeanmaire wore only brief patches of sequins and here and there a spot of jewelry. Later, for the dancing, she sported a frilly gauze dress.

Throughout the party, which began at 10 p. m. and came to a dead stop just before 5 a. m., Miss Jeanmaire's performance brought admiring "ohs" and "ahs" from the champagne-drinking guests.

The marquis' guests had one surprise: Ex-king Peter of Yugoslavia turned up after all, at 3 a. m. Soon thereafter he somehow got into a spat with a Spanish army officer, who was asked to leave. Nobody knew exactly what brought on the argument.

As the sun rose this morning the athletic marquis, with a huge crimson cape flung over his gold-embroidered suit, said he was happy about this fling despite the fact that his wife, formerly Margaret Strong Rockefeller, did not show up.

The rest of the Rockefellers also boycotted the party.

The marquis said he staged the affair to put Biarritz and the Basque coast back into the social swim.

"Kings, princes and millionaires used to visit this coast," he said. "Now everyone is complaining of hard times. I wanted to bring everyone down here—so I had to play something really great."

The marquis got ex-king Peter to come, but two other ex-monarchs who were invited did not show up—Umberto of Italy and Farouk of Egypt.

While the marquis purred with satisfaction squads of workers fanned out through the grounds of the swank Chiberta Country Club and began systematically to put it back into the 20th century.

They began to round up the dozens of pedigree cattle and sheep which had been installed on the club lawns to give them an aura of Hayden-like pastorality.

They collected the papier-mache swans from the club lake, and began to rip apart the floating temples of love, remove the satin-covered benches, dismantle the two green wooden dance floors and the 12 caviar-and-champagne buffets, from which 2,000 bottles of choicest champagne had been piped to the guests—a little better than one bottle per guest.

It had taken 200 skilled workers 10 months to put the party together, at a cost of about $100,000.

There were a good many celebrities and noblemen who declined to dream and dwell in marble halls Tuesday night. Among the invited, but missing, were Clark Gable, Orson Wells, Gene Tierney, the Aga Khan Prince Ali Khan, Gary Cooper, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Marlene Dietrich and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

But the marquis had plenty o big names. Among those on hand were movie star Annabella, Movie director William Wyler, the Duchess of Argyll, Baron Phillipe de Rothschild, and The Duke o Alba and other Spanish, French and British aristocrats.

A popular favorite, both of his costume and his elegant manner, was Luis Miguel Dominguin, once the highest-paid bullf[illegible]n in the world.

When Dominguin made his bow to the Marquis de Cuevas on his throne, he flashed a bullfighter's cape movement and the 1,800 guests shouted "olle" and showered him with roses.

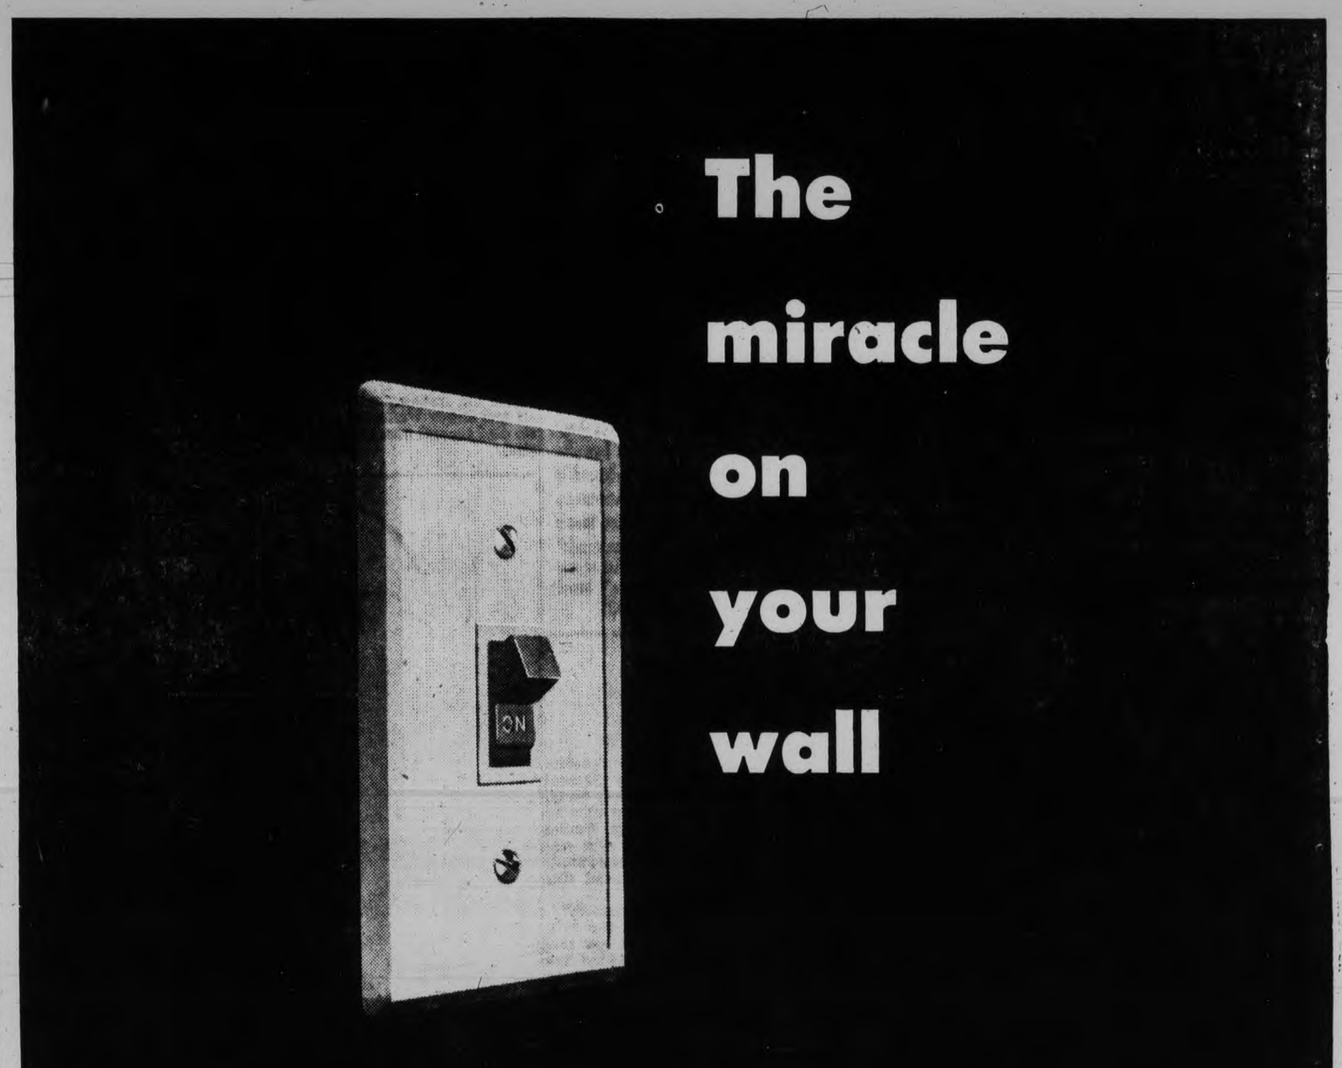
STRATHMORE, Alta. (CP)—Mrs. Martha Downey, a 70-year-old widow, estimates she won a total of $1,350 by capturing the honors in several radio quiz programs during August.



Behind the familiar wall switch lies the far-sighted planning and ingenuity of Canada's electrical industry that provides the low-cost power and efficient equipment which is helping to raise our standard of living.

When you want light in a room, you just flick a switch. It's as simple as that. And, if that minor miracle is taken for granted, consider a few of the other tasks electricity performs in the home.

It cooks complete meals while you are out—takes the labour out of cleaning, polishing, washing and ironing—keeps perishable foods in perfect condition, for months if necessary—supplies constant hot water—brings you radio and television entertainment—and helps to keep your home cosily warm in winter and delightfully cool in summer. This is fast becoming pulp and paper, mining and manufacturing industries to their present position—which, indirectly, adds to the prosperity of all Canadians.

When you flip that familiar switch on the wall, have you ever given a thought to the amazingly intricate system of power equipment that lies behind it?

From the start, the story of Canada's electric utilities has been one of phenomenal increases in demand for power being constantly met, with the result that Canada has become one of the most highly electrified nations in the world. And, as always with this enlightened industry, tomorrow's needs are being taken care of by today's planning.

This Company engineers, manufactures and supplies a complete line of electrical equipment including generators, transformers, switchgear, wire and cable for the generation, trans-

Toronto Driver Pays $146 On Five Counts

BANCROFT (ENS)—Fines totalling $146 were levied on John Wood of Trenton, who appeared before Magistrate R. C. Jackson on three charges of careless driving, driving while his licence was suspended and having liquor.

The charges arose from a traffic accident on Highway 62, about 10 miles north of Bancroft, on August 22, when Wood's car was in collision with one driven by Wallis Sutherland of Maynooth.

A fracas at the home of Gordon C. Murray, of Bay Lake, on August 5, led to the appearance in court of Wilfred Bowers of Bancroft, who was fined $10 and costs for common assault.

Six persons charged with having liquor at a place other than their residence were fined amounts ranging from $10 and costs. They were Kenneth Sullivan of Barry's Bay, Hurson Card of Bancroft, Morris Davidson of Millbridge, William Hale of Toronto, Archie Keyhoe of Ormsby, and Robert Sanders of Lake St. Peter.

Charged as a minor obtaining liquor, Lorne Kuno of New Carlow, paid $10 and costs.

William McCaw of Coe Hill and William Brendson of Toronto, were each fined $10 and costs when convicted respectively of driving without licence plates and with faulty brakes.

Report Quadruplets Born

OSLO (AP) — The newspaper Aftenposten reported today that a 19-year-old Norwegian girl gave birth to quadruplets last week-end and that two of the babies—siamese twins—died shortly after birth. The paper said the young mother, Mrs. Anna L. Totsaas of Nordli, and the other two babies were getting along well.

Mr. Baker has delivered the mail on this route for the past eight years.

Decoration Day On Church Lawn At Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — The annual decoration service of the Congregational Church cemetery was held Sunday afternoon in the open air on the church lawn. There was a large attendance.

The Rev. V.M. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul's United Church, conducted the service. His son, Ronald Gilbert, from Windsor Arms, Quebec, assisted, and read the scripture lesson. The choir led in the singing of the hymns, with Mrs. C. Timlin organist. Mrs. R. Timlin sang a solo. Mr. Gilbert gave an address on "Memories."

Preceding and following the service, the chimes and bell pealed forth with familiar hymn tunes. Mr. C. Willis was responsible for the arrangement.

The service was atended by friends from Toronto, Peterborough, Port Hope, Oshawa, Rosgneath, Fenella, Dartford, Lakefield, Brooklin, Belleville, Cobourg, Baltimore, Centenary, Bethesda South and Plainville.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Delayed reports from the flood area of Durango state said a teacher and 10 children were drowned Friday when a suspension bridge collapsed as they were returning to their homes. The bridge connected two parts of the town of Penon Blanco.

58 Fatalities Reported Over Weekend Holiday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fifty-eight persons died violently across Canada during the Labor Day holiday weekend, the last big holiday from work this summer. Highway accidents claimed 34 lives, drownings 11 and miscellaneous accidents 13, a Canadian Press compilation showed.

Total for the same period—from midnight Friday to midnight Monday—last year was 72, which included 34 traffic deaths and 17 drownings.

Ontario had the highest figure with 25—13 due to traffic, five drownings and seven from miscellaneous causes. Quebec had 11, including nine traffic; Alberta six traffic and one drowning for a total of seven and British Columbia three traffic and two drownings for a toll of five.

New Brunswick had four deaths, three of them traffic; Nova Scotia and Newfoundland two each and Saskatchewan and Manitoba one each.

ONTARIO DEATHS

Deaths in Ontario included:

Traffic—Clare Hunsberry, about 60, Vineland, when a loaded truck overturned near Ashton; Gregory Dupuis, Quadeville, pinned beneath an overturned truck near Rolphton; an unidentified man who was hit by a car near Barrie; Alexander Gordan, 52, Port Arthur, in a car-truck collision; Rocko Matarazza, 24, Port Arthur, struck by a car; John Faiers, 37, Peterborough, in a car-truck collision; John Bonneau, 67, Essex, when his car crashed into a ditch; Charles Baker, 33, Hespeler, of injuries suffered when his car collided with another; Nelson Carson, 63, and Mrs. Eleanor Quillman, 53, both of Guelph, when the car in which they were riding skidded and crashed; William Stanton, and Lana Campbell, both of Toronto, in a two-car collision; Mrs. Velma Schlegel, 41, Vienna, when her car crashed into an army bus.

Drownings—Albert Duguay, 20, St. Catharines, while swimming off-shore at Fifteen Mile Beach; David Antone, 3, Oneida Indian Reserve, who fell down a 20-foot well at Muncey; Donna Marie Belaire, 11, Hamilton, when she slipped off a rock into the water at Little Current; Clarke Harper, 32, Birmingham, Mich., when he tried to swim ashore from a moored sailboat at Inverhuron; Murray Black, 28, Belwood, when his punt overturned.

Miscellaneous—Edward Stewart, 8, Cameron Falls, struck by a half-ton steel rod while playing on a mound of piling; Mrs. Ralph Palmer, 38, Etobicoke, hit by a train while walking between two sets of tracks; Thomas Edward Kirby, 76, Brockville, who fell from a tree branch he was sawing through; John Mackie, 46, Erin, whom police say was shot to death during a family quarrel; Howard Ferguson, 27, Sudbury, when a tunnel collapsed in a nickel mine; Carl Richard Barrett, about 29 Beeton, when he fell from a moving train near Barrie; Willard Fretwall, 79, Prescott, when he fell 20 feet from a scaffold.

A few minutes later, Fletcher got a radio order that sent him tearing after the ambulance. He found its driver having a drink in a bar six blocks away and took him to jail for stealing the vehicle.

British Guiana First Red-Led In West, Shows Early Signs Of Panic, Chaos

By DANIEL JAMES
NEA Special Correspondent

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (NEA)—The first Communist-led government in the Western Hemisphere has been in office for three and a half months in this British colony, and already there are signs of panic and chaos.

It is not a government, like Guatemala's, in which Communists exert influence through others. Its leading ministers are themselves Communists.

Why Communism selected as its first hemisphere victim this colony of 83,000 miles and 450,000 people is not clear. But a few facts about British Guiana may be enlightening.

British Guiana is the world's second largest producer of bauxite, an aluminum ore with numerous peacetime and wartime uses. It also mines gold and diamonds, and is believed to cantain uranium and oil.

The colony is politically part of the British West Indies, which are about to unite in a Caribbean Federation. Communist-run British Guiana could, as part of that federation, create plenty of trouble in an area that touches U.S. interests at many points. The Caribbean, in fact, contains the so-called outer rim of our hemispheric defense bases.

Though English-speaking, British Guiana is geographically located in northern South America. From that position, it could have an influence on a continent wide open to nationalist and Communist agitation.

The leader of the British Guianese government, Dr. Cheddi B. Jagan, a dentist of East Indian origin who was educated at Northwestern University, frankly admitted his Communist sympathies to me in the first interview he has granted a U.S. newsman since assuming office.

"The Communist movement champions the underdog, and I consider myself part of it," he said.

In a radio talk he frankly asserted:

"I am a great admirer of the Soviet Union, Peoples China and the Peoples Democracies."

With views like these broadcast throughout British Guiana, no wonder many people are expressing concern.

There is, first, something of an exodus of people out of the colony. Emigration to North America has increased 20 per cent in the past few months, according to Pan American World Airways, chief carrier of the passenger traffic.

British Guiana lost $500,000 in new revenue, between January and May, because foreign exporters hesitate to ship to the colony. This will take a good slice out of a normal $18 million budget.

Schools operated jointly for generations by church and government are being taken over. Along with it there is intensive indoctrination of youth by the government Peoples Progressive Party, the disguise under which the Communists operate.

Worst of all is the fear of imminent nationalization, which is causing business concerns to be wary of making new outlays and would-be investors to think twice before putting capital into British Guiana. I asked Dr. Jagan if he intended to nationalize, and he replied:

"Certainly. I'm a socialist, aren't I?"

Jagan would not admit that bauxite is high on his nationalization list. But the Demerara Bauxite Co. Ltd., a subsidiary of Aluminum Co. of Canada which has a virtual monopoly, is reputed to be "sitting on the hottest seat in British Guiana."

An American girl born in Chicago is greatly responsible for introducing Communism into British Guiana. She is the former Janet Rosenberg, who was a member of the Young Communist League when she married Dr. Jagan in 1943. Jagan was then studying dentistry in Chicago. Soon after, she left with him for his country and helped found the Peoples Progressive Party.

The PPP holds 18 out of 24 seats in the House of Assembly, which it won in an election last April 27. Under the constitution, it was entitled to and got 6 out of 10 ministries. The rest are held by men appointed by Gov. Sir Alfred Savage.

Mrs. Jagan is Deputy Speaker of the House and PPP General Secretary. As an old party hand, she devotes most of her time to organizing and speaking. Unlike her husband, however, she answered my question about whether or not she is a Communist this way:

"That point I never answer."

She does admit that she is a Soviet sympathizer and has just returned from a trip behind the Iron Curtain. No one I met in British Guiana doubts for one moment that she is a thorough-going Communist.

An unusual proportion of the PPP's leaders have made trips to Iron Curtain countries within the past two years. At least a half dozen have gone, and two are there now. Apart from the mystery of how so many trips are financed, there is the question why. Is the Cominform grooming these British Guianese Communists for special jobs elsewhere in the hemisphere?

The Peoples Progressive Party is not strictly a Communist organization. It is made up of non-Communists in the main, including some small businessmen. It calls itself "socialist" but is essentially a nationalst party led by Communists. Its main point is "national independence," meaning that it wants to break away from the Crown.

Since the people of British Guiana, like people everywhere, are ignorant of or dislike Communism, they would not have voted for the PPP had they known its leaders' true beliefs. The PPP acquired power because, first, it was the only real party in existence. Second, it had money. Third, it had excellent speakers and excellent propaganta.

The big explosuion will come in British Guiana, say most observers, not over nationalization directly but over independence. Britain has the armed forces to put down any uprising. But independence is a slogan which could inflame the whole Caribbean. Not British Guiana alone, but all the West Indies, are at stake in the shaping struggle with Communism in a single colony.

MAP OF BRITISH- GUIANA shows nearness of first Communist-governed land in Western Hemisphere to parts of U.S., the Panama Canal zone. Signs of panic and chaos are already appearing in the three-months-old government.

How do they drill an oil well, Dad?

You've seen me drill a hole in a piece of iron. Drilling down through rock is somewhat the same but the drill points have to be extremely hard and tough. The cutting parts of the drill are made of nickel alloy steel because it lasts longer and cuts quicker than most other materials.

"Do they drill very deep?"
Yes, sometimes oil wells are drilled two miles deep. Pieces of pipe are joined to each other and the rock bit is screwed on the bottom end. To keep this great length of pipe from breaking it is sometimes made of nickel alloy steel which is strong and tough. It is also less subject to the corroding influence of salt, sulphur and chlorides often found in oil wells.

Americans Take Korea To Their Hearts Will Spend Thousand Million Dollars To Rebuild It In Next Three Years

BY PATRICK O'DONOVAN

SEOUL, Korea — It is clear that Korea is to have that place in American hearts which was once occupied by China. China chose to quit that place, and American patronage was turned to bitterness and recrimination. Now all America's enthusiasm for education, for medicine and modernization and evangelism in China, all the uncritical enthusiasm for a less fortunate but apparently grateful country that was once lavished on that country, is now to be turned on this small half of a ruined peninsula.

It is only just in time. South Korea is at the end of her tether. It is not merely that such things as a million houses represent a minimum requirement, or that something like 354 million dollars worth of industrial equipment have been destroyed. Korea is now importing nearly twice what she exports. In her budget, expenditure (valuing her currency at the free or black market rate in Seoul) is estimated at 420 million dollars; from her revenue, the most she can possibly expect is 168 million dollars.

The deficit is blamed on military expenditure, which amounts to two-thirds of the budget. The South Koreans believe that their existence depends on armed forces and, since the county's troops are already grossly underpaid, it is hard to see how she can economize. The average burden on the Korean taxpayer amounts to 48.9 per cent of his income. There is little more that the South Koreans can do for themselves.

FINANCIAL AID

The help that is coming to Korea is from three sources, and positive results should be visible in four months. There is first the thousand million dollars which, subject to annual appropriations by America's Congress, is to be paid to Korea over three years. It is the most concentrated and generous attempt at rehabilitation ever tried in the Far East. The sum is half of what, directly and indirectly, was channeled into Japan, which ris more than four times the population, in the seven years since the war. And the Koreans are to have a major say in this spending.

It is to be controlled by a joint Economic Board which consists of an American general and the Korean Premier.

The Premier, Paik Too Chin, is a stubby, tough little man who avoids the more squalid side of Korean politics. He has so far succeeded in retaining the confidence of Syngman Rhee, his President, which is not an easy thing for an outstanding Korean to achieve. Paik who a few years ago was a provincial bank manager, is probably the best man available for the job.

The money is to be spent under a five-year plan drawn up by the Koreans. Under some American pressure, it has been carefully designed to minimize the inflation inherent in the spending of so much money. It will balance the budget, import grains, restore harbors and inland transport, rebuild the sources of hydro-electric power, restart mines and improve Korea's somewhat hit-or-miss agriculture.

UN RECONSTRUCTION

The second source of Korean aid is the United Nations Korean Reconstruction Agency, which this year is scheduled to spend 70 million dollars on scattered and carefully chosen projects, on research into such things as housing an dagriculture, and on certain industrial projects.

The lats source is the private pockets of American citizens; and this may in the long run prove to be the most significant of the three. Recently a private committee called the RUSK Commission visited Korea. While it was here it distributed 500,000 dollars to dozens of separate organizations. It has five times that sum still to spend. The money was privately collected and there will be more. This is the evidence of the affection, mixed with guilt for not having won the war outright, with which America promises to treat Korea.

The Commission did not consist of vague well-wishers, but of leaders of such American industries as industrial chemicals, pharmaceutical products, housing and mining. They included General Van Fleet, who was responsible for the creation of the Korean Army. The members promised continued interest, and it is possible that American industry, previously somewhat shy of investment risks outside the American continent, may try and repeat here what British industry once did in China and Hong Kong.

POLITICAL DANGERS

Of course there are political dangers in all this. These moneys must first of all produce results that affect the humblest and poorest consumer, otherwise it will all appear the most vulgar exploitation.

The sense of powerlessness to change their own destinies, a feeling of humiliation in the face of so much foreign aid and investment, gave fuel to the present Chinese hatred of the West.

But Korea is not likely to be a subservient friend, and it seems that the Koreans are being given a healthy say in the disposal of the money, even where this decreases its effectiveness. A start, a massive start, has been made in the right direction. To anyone who cares about Korea, it is the best news to come out of this sad place in the last two years.

RCAF Officer Highly Valued

FONTAINEBLEAU, France (CP)—The top brass comes and goes in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but Air Vice-Marshal John L. Plant of the RCAF stays on as the "prime mover."

The Welsh-born Canadian, one of the RCAF's nine air vice-marshals, is the senior citizen in point of service at this headquarters of Allied Air Forces Central Europe, main NATO air arm.

Since July, he's been temporary assistant senior citizen in rank, as well.

The University of British Columbia graduate was elevated to acting chief of staff when Air Chief Marshal Sir Basil Embry of the RAF took over AAFCE's command from U. S. General Lauris Norstad.

SERVICES VALUED

At 43, his worth as a planner, go-getter and elder statesman is indicated by his position as the highest-ranking Canadian officer on the continent and one of the most respected voices in NATO council.

It's a position that fits in well with Canada's NATO contribution of four Sabre jet fighter wings, now nearly completed and providing a big portion of the modern fighter power available.

Plant has earned his position by hard slugging as head of the logistics or supply planning department, where he's faced the difficulties of supplying NATO airbases of six nations.

He took the job two years ago as one of six assistant chiefs of staff. Since then, he's risen further and faster than any other high-ranking NATO officer.

GRASP OF PROBLEM

His grasp of NATO's all-important integration problem was illustrated at the conference on logistics he called early in the game. High staff officers from the nations concerned had barely settled in their chairs when Plant told them abruptly that the time had come to consider "whether we are going to have a truly Allied airforce or six little ones with all the separate logistics complications that implies."

When Norstad reorganized AAFCE, he made Plant one of his three deputies, impressed by his drive and potential. New emphasis was laid on the importance of the logistics department.

The veteran RCAF officer comes well by his administrative ability, much of which was groomed in the years prior to 1939 in a variety of flying, training and administrative posts.

Government Business Policy Attacked By Truman

DETROIT (CP)—Harry Truman in his first major speech on domestic issues since leaving the White House, attacked the Eisenhower administration Monday and said "there are signs of a return to the old philosophy that the object of government is to help big business."

Addressing a Labor Day joint CIO-AFL rally, the former president criticized the Republican administration's policies on interest rates, public housing, power and plans to balance the national budget by cutting defence spending.

"There are signs that the government is no longer so concerned for the welfare of us all," he said. "Our great public housing program, which was helping clear America's slums, has been condemned to death and the farmer, who lives with greater economic hazards than perhaps any of us, is being told that he ought to go it alone again—as he did during the long farm depression that began after World War I."

STRIKES AT OIL BILL

Truman lashed out at the tideland oil bill which gave state governments the right to off-shore oil.

"Look what they have done with your immense off-shore oil interests: They have given away billions of your dollars to pay a political debt to the 'shivercrats' and Dixiecrats," he said, "by comparison, the Tea-Pot Dome scandal was petty larceny."

A NUMBER of ancient English churches are replacing their equally ancient roofs with aluminum. One of these is the Chapel of St. James in the village of Nether Warton, Oxfordshire. Its lead roof, originally laid in 1665, brought £478 as scrap — enough to pay the whole cost of installing the new roof.

It is a neat example of how, while most metals have been getting more expensive through the centuries, the cost of aluminum has been going down. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan)

Evidence Of Yuma Culture Found In Georgian Bay Area

KILLARNEY, Ont. (CP) — A grey-haired American anthropologist, who has been looking into the way of life of Canada's pre-ice-age people for 16 years, plans to seek the relationship between these early Canadians and the ancient people of northern Europe.

Dr. E. F. Greenman of the University of Michigan, digging again this summer at the site of one of the most ancient cultures of the new world, says he will soon go to Scandinavia to continue his investigation.

The anthropologist has unearthed near this Georgian Bay community evidence of the Yuma culture which existed before the ice sheets covered the northern part of the continent.

SHORE UPHEAVAL

He made his discoveries about 2½ miles inland from Georgian Bay. Once, said Dr. Greenman, the site was a beach but when the last ice sheet disappeared from the northern Great Lakes area there was an upheaval of the shoreline pushing the ancient campsite far inland.

The site of the Yuma culture was once a workshop where weapons and utensils were manufactured. So far the anthropologist and his staff have found broken pieces apparently thrown away by their makers. He believes that unbroken implements are lying buried in the hills near Killarney.

Four years ago the scientist discovered weapons which have distinctive features common to others found in Europe and North Africa. These were single-shouldered arrowheads such as other anthropologists have dug up in Hungary and France.

There is a belief among archaeologists that the culture represented by these arrowheads travelled eastward across Asia and entered the North American continent by way of the Bering Straits. Evidence of the same culture has been found in Mexico.

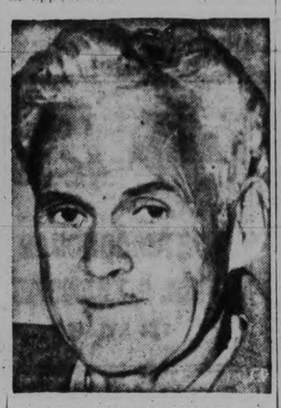
17,000 YEARS OLD

The ancient campsite being explored by Dr. reenman is estimated to be 17,000 years old and is the oldest site of human habitation east of the Rockies.

Although the artifacts he has collected give him an idea of how these ancient Canadians lived, no evidence has been turned up to indicate what they looked like.

Just across the bay from Killarney on Manitoulin Island other scientists have also discovered artifacts but no skeletons.

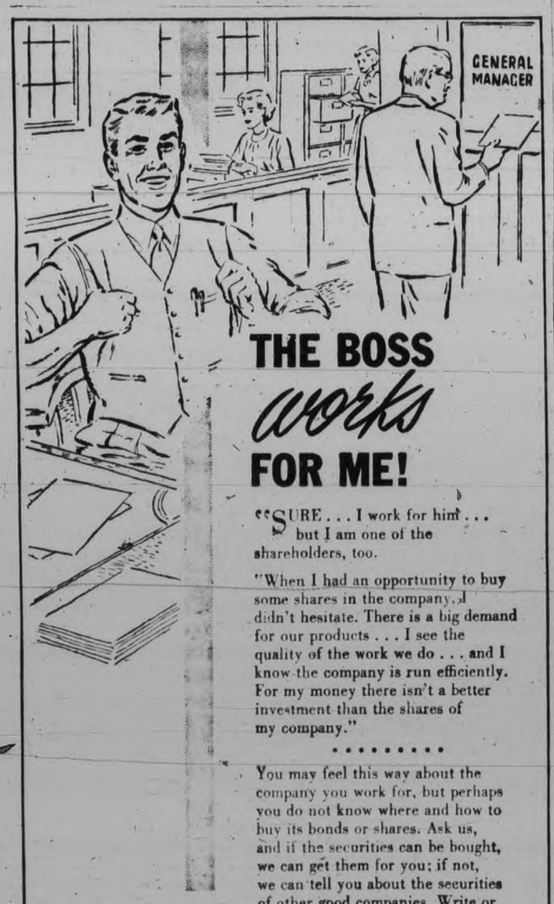
However, scientists say that anyone expecting that these early Canadians were ape-like in appearance is likely to be disappointed. The anthropologists say that by the time man entered North America he was essentially like modern man in appearance.



ANTHROPOLOGIST—Dr. B. F. Greenman, of University of Meihigan, is digging again this summer near Killarney, Ont., at the site of one of the most ancient cultures in the New World. The anthropologist has unearthed near this Georgian Bay community evidence of the Yuma culture which existed before the ice sheets covered the northern part of the continent.

Depicts History

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—One display at the Central Nova Scotia Exhibition is a "walmural," a large weaving in homespun wool depicting the history of sheep in Nova Scotia. It was designed by Mrs. Douglas Murray of Jollimore and executed under her direction at the handcraft centre.



THE BOSS works FOR ME!

"SURE . . . I work for him . . . but I am one of the shareholders, too.

"When I had an opportunity to buy some shares in the company, I didn't hesitate. There is a big demand for our products . . . I see the quality of the work we do . . . and I know the company is run efficiently. For my money there isn't a better investment than the shares of my company."

. . . . . .

You may feel this way about the company you work for, but perhaps you do not know where and how to buy its bonds or shares. Ask us, and if the securities can be bought, we can get them for you; if not, we can tell you about the securities of other good companies. Write or 'phone . . . you will not be obligated in any way.

AT THE C.N.E. on Labour Day, by actual count, there were 48.2% MORE GOODYEAR TIRES THAN THE NEXT LEADING BRAND

Photo shows cars from all parts of the country in one of the parking lots at the Canadian National Exhibition, the biggest annual show of its kind in the world.

Your surest guarantee of quality is public preference for the product!

No tire maker can offer you a guarantee that compares with the public preference for Goodyear Tires . . . preference based on experience with the product!

On Labour Day, a private research organization was commissioned to check the tires on all cars parked at the Canadian National Exhibition. Goodyear tires were found to be by far the first choice of car owners!

Surely the tires that satisfy so many people are the tires for you to buy.

Labour Day survey proves it again . . .

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND

Trade Unionists March In Labor Day Parades

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian trade unionists took the Labor Day spotlight and the rest of the country celebrated with them on the last big holiday of the summer.

A Canadian Press survey showed fatalities fairly light despite heavy highway traffic, the weather generally good except in the Atlantic provinces where a hurrica e roared through, and crowds large at the numerous sports events.

More than 4,000 members of unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and upwards of 2,000 from Congress of Industrial Organizations affiliates marched in a joint Labor Day parade in Toronto. The five-mile route finished at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

About 250 of the 7,000 gold miners in the Porcupine area marched in a Labor Day pre-picnic parade at Timmins. The United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) staged a dance for miners and their wives.

Showers swept the Winnipeg area and southern Manitoba until the afternoon of the holiday but then the skies brightened. Racing and highland games were features of the Winnipeg sport program.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CVI. No. 209 — TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1953

Main Street Topics

JUST WEEK AWAY

A week from this afternoon and tonight the first cattle will be arriving at Peterborough Exhibition.

WINNERS AT C.N.E.

The grand champion Percheron stallion at the C.N.E. was shown by C. W. Trent of Lindsay. Mrs. E. McGill of Peterborough won the ribbon for the reserve best mare in the agriculturists general purpose class.

PAVING SURFACE

The paving of Monaghan Rd., south from Prince of Wales School is showing progress. When this job is done, one of its advantages will be a paved circuit for the buses that travel Monaghan Rd. south, then Cameron St. and up Park St.

SUMACS ARE RED

Heat, not frost, has colored the leaves on many of the sumacs this season. The effect is the same, but premature. Apparently where this tree was growing on light and thin land it lacked depth to stand up to August. Elsewhere, in low places, the sumac leaves are still green.

BRIDGE TRAFFIC INCREASES

The Blue Water Bridge connecting Sarnia with Port Huron, Mich., was crossed by 164,894 vehicles during August, an increase of 9,208 over June and 10,112 more than in August, 1952. Car traffic in August totalled 159,705, and truck traffic was 2,704.

HARVEST MOON DUE

The harvest moon will appear as a thin sickle in the western sky this evening. It is in the vicinity of the star Spica on the meridian of the sky above the horizon. Incidentally the constellation of the northern cross is plainly traced overhead about 11 p.m. these nights.

EIGHTH CASE OF POLIO

A three-year-old girl has contracted polio, Dr. J. P. Wells, Medical Officer of Health reported today. At present the girl is in the isolation wing of Civic Hospital, and it is reported that there is no paralysis. This brings the total of polio cases in the city and district to eight for the summer.

PARK ST. BLUES

Blue appeared to be a temporary color scheme in the vicinity of Confederation School, Park St. south, this morning. Quite a number of the roofs were blue, and the sky, and the Heavenly Blue morning glories, and a floral expanse of the blue chicory. What if one of the components is a weed!

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

St. Catharines' first Junior High School opened its doors to some 460 pupils today. The school, which will accommodate public school pupils in senior grades, has a staff of 15 and 16 classrooms, as well as a gymnasium with stage equipment and a cafeteria seating 150.

FIRST SCHOOL DAY

Getting junior ready for school this morning was an intimation to many mothers of eventual parting of the ways and separation. You saw them on Cameron St., Park St., Lake St., Sherbrooke St., in just a glimpse of one section of the city. And Junior, bright-eyed and neat as a button, a novice crossing the threshold of life.

IN CHARGE OF SERVICE

The Rev. Arnold Mathews of George Street United Church was in charge of the morning service in St. Paul's Church on Sunday when the three congregations, George Street, Murray Street and St. Paul's, who have been worshipping together during the summer months, held a joint communion service.

Three Tie For First

In the Class A harness race at Marmora Fair over the Labor Day weekend, three trotters tied for first place. They were: Rose Bellwyn, owned by Milton Post of Peterborough, Ruth Harvester, Albert De Fosse, Trenton, and Black Rock, Tom Fritz, Brighton. A second Peterborough horse, Stan Blewett's Miss Chipso, was listed in fourth place.

Mother Flies From Scotland For Funeral

Planes from Scotland and Western Canada united in bereavement members of the family of the late James Gerald Daly, 22, who died of drowning last Wednesday afternoon while swimming in the Otonabee River, north of Nassau, and was buried this morning in St. Peter's cemetery.

Daly drowned when he went to help a friend, Joan McCauley, who got into difficulty while he was teaching her to swim. Miss McCauley was saved, but Daly was overlooked in the confusion and sank to the bottom.

LEFT SATURDAY

Mrs. William Daly, the mother, of Glasgow, Scotland, arrived in Peterborough Sunday night at 10.30 o'clock. She flew from Prestwick, Scotland, at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, to Montreal, and continued her flight to Malton airport. Her son, Peter Daly, came by plane from Wainwright, Alberta, reaching Malton Saturday morning.

The funeral this morning was from the Duffus funeral home to the Church of the Sacred Heart where requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. G. F. Sullivan. Among those attending were young people of the church of which Mr. Daly was a member since arriving here about two years ago.

Pallbearers were two brothers, Peter Daly, of Alberta, and John, of Peterborough, and Alfred L'Heureux, Larry Prindible, Frank Marino, Jr., and P. M. Gallagher, of this city. Prayers at the graveside in St. Peter's cemetery were offered by Monsignor P. P. Butler, assisted by the Rev. Ray Garvey.

With Mrs. Daly in her visit of sorrow were her two sons, and also two daughters, Miss Mary Daly, of Toronto, and Miss Margaret Daly, of Peterborough. Two other daughters, Janette and Christine, live at the family home in Glasgow.

Stewart Herd To Be Auctioned

Catalogues have been widely distributed, some of them in the United States, among breeders of Guernsey cattle for the disperal auction of Jack Stewart's herd of 82 head Thursday, September 10.

The Stewart place, Shadybrook Farm, is about a mile east of the city's boundary, on Highway 7. The sale of farm implements has been advertised here and elsewhere in the press of Central Ontario.

J. H. Miles, auctioneer, said today this is one of the biggest cattle sales in his years of engagements.

The Stewart farm implements have already been placed on the broad lawn at Shadybrook. Their sale begins at 11 a.m., and the Guernseys follow at 1 p.m. Mr. Miles says there are no reserve bids.

The livestock includes two herd sires, 50 head of cows and heifers springing between September and December, 11 juniors heifers, six calves and a number of milking cows. Most of the herd is pure-bred.

Tourists Par, Fishing Down For Summer

Expect Muskies To Bite In Sept. Attract Visitors

"Tourist trade up to standard—fishing below average". That's the general opinion of lodge owners in the Kawartha district for the summer of 1953.

Of course the quality of fishing in the Wawartha's is determined by the abundance of big "muskies' taken, and that is the reason for the fishing slump conclusion. Most of the lodges report fine bass and pickerel catches and numerous 'lunge have been hooked too, but most of them have not been keepers.

September is expected to be the big month this year for prize fishing and many of the lodges expect a 'full-house' of American and Canadian anglers, in fact the influx has already begun.

The decrease and number of big 'muskies' boated is thought to be the result of the unusual heat spells throughout the summer. "The 'big boys' just can't take warm water and disappear into the deep holes until things are cooler". The best 'muskie' fishing was reported to be in Stony Lake area where the waters remain comparatively cool all year due to the depth. But even there the catch was limited to the 'just keepers' or less.

FEW TROUT

Lake trout, too, were relatively scarce this year, but the man with the copper line has received his compensation in the return of the whitefish to deeper water. Stony Lake has given up quite a few this year.

Bass and pickerel, the old standbys, are as numerous as ever and plenty have been reported taken in all the local lakes, and their dependability has kept the lodges full of expectant fisherman from this country and below the border.

In the Haliburton area, campari-son with other years, shows just the opposite. The number of tourists is under par and the fishing, especially the first part of the season, was excellent. Of course there are no 'muskies' up there, but lake and speckled trout are plentiful in that area and, " bass fishing is the best in a long time". Most of the Haliburton lodges will be open throughout September and expect an increase in the number of fisherman—and consequently fish.

In the Kawarthas however, the 'muskie' is forever king, and it looks as though everything depends on his moods. "September is the month this year", say those who know and the facts indicate that if you visit the Kawartha's this fall, you'll have plenty of company—and probably a good sized fish for your efforts

Airport To Ask For Licence For Light Planes

Work on Skyboro airport, abandoned several years ago, began again last week, and it is expected that a license for light aircraft will be applied for within a week.

Tons of gravel and fill have been dumped on the strip and grading is being done by Smith township workers and equipment.

A 2,400-foot runway, 100 feet wide, is planned for the immediate future, and other additions may follow. But it is doubtful that the field will be used for anything but day landings for light aircraft.

Officers and members of the Peterborough Flyers' Club are meeting tonight at the field, to discuss their plans for the field.

Department of transport officials have said that only a light aircraft license would be granted to Skyboro. The disadvantages of the Skyboro site for heavier aircraft are too great to be overcome economically.

STRIP AVAILABLE

However, the fact remains that a landing strip will be available for light craft, something that airminded citizens have sought for years. It may now be only a step from a landing strip to a proper landing field, located in another site near the city.

The city has repeatedly told transport department officials that it is anxious for a proper airfield to be established here. And, one city industry at least is prepared to give $10,000 toward construction of such a field. But the department cannot promise when a survey will be made.

Federal grants would pay for a large part of such an airfield, but the biggest problem is finding suitable land. Almost a square mile is needed for a modern airfield.

RECORD MUSKIE—53 POUNDS—H. J. (Howie) Epps literally had his hands full Sunday. In fact they held 53 pounds of muskie and that's no fish tale. This is the largest muskie caught in the Kawartha district in years. While casting at Lancaster Bay, the lower end of Chemong lake, Epps hooked the monster. For an hour they fought, Epps always fearful that his 15-pound test line would break. Finally without a net or gaff, he brought the muskie into the boat with his hands. Not realizing that it was a record fish, the party in the excitement cut it up, leaving only the head for mounting. The head, shown on a board held by Epp, measured 14 inches across.

20,000 Pines Ordered For Nassau Hill

District forester John Bell of Lakefield has ordered 20,000 pines for the second instalment of planting on the CGE property at Nassau next spring. This is an increase of 5,000 over the 15,000 red pines that were set out in May by the Lakefield High School 4-H forestry club.

In the new application to the Ontario Forestry Department, half of the 20,000 will be white pine and the other 10,000 red. Mr. Bell said today that the red variety does not thrive in damp ground. About 10 per cent of the first 10,000 planted this year have died.

In the future placing of seedlings, the white will be located on the flat land around the foot of the Nassau hill, and the reds will be set out on the slopes. Mr. Bell said he may have a planting machine to do most of the work on the level ground.

Total placing of pines was planned for 150,000 through a period of 10 years.

FIRST TLC MEETING

First meeting after the summer holidays of the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (TLC) will be 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Public Library. Henry Nokes, secretary of the council, will report on his trip to the recent Trades and Labor Congress annual convention. He was the Peterborough delegate. A number of subjects touching on municipal politics will also be discussed.

More Students Than Ever Troop To City's Schools

First reports on enrolment in city primary and secondary schools—both public and separate—indicate that, as expected, Peterborough's school population is bigger than ever. A total of 8,500 was predicted but it is still too soon to check on whether or not this figure was reached.

Principal C. S. Browne of PCVS said that enrolment had "gone up some" but the morning's results had not yet been tallied. Kenner Collegiate is 451, and St. Peter's High School 424—54 more than in 1952.

In all schools the first day's figures will have to be changed as there will be late arrivals and a few transfers.

The largest single group of boys and girls—some 5,000 strong—are expected at the 13 city public schools. In 1952 the first-day enrolment was 4,803.

At press time today there were results from two schools. Central had 440 pupils from Grade I up, and 69 kindergarten pupils; last year the total was 492. King George had a total of 430 pupils, including kindergarten; this compares with 650 last year. The discrepancy is explained by the opening of the second public school in Ashburnham, Armour Heights.

Last year the primary separate schools had an enrolment of 1,168 pupils. There will be an increase here, too, but the figures from this morning's enrolment have not been checked.

Registration Down To 117 For Teachers

Registration at Peterborough Teachers' College is down by 31 from 1952, Principal Leo Copp said today, on opening day of the 1953-54 term.

Reason for the reduction—from 148 last year to 117 this year—is the fact that many students took the short summer course for a temporary teaching certificate. About 1,200 all across Ontario took the course.

Seventeen of this year's students are registered for the two-year course, the remainder for a single year.

Those taking the two-year course are graduates of grade 12, at least, while those here for a single year have standing in at least eight grade 13 subjects.

Mr. Copp expected there would be, as usual, a few latecomers registering during the rest of this week, but this would not materially affect the total registration.

Those students who took the short summer course offered by the Ontario Department of Education during the past summer, may teach for two years at the most on their temporary certificates. If they decide to continue teaching after that, they must attend a teachers' college in the province.

Four Rescuers Win Awards

Four men who took part in drowning rescues in the Peterborough district will receive the Royal Canadian Humane Society's parchment certificates for their bravery, the society announced today.

Those who receive the award will be G. W. Whitney of Omemee, Edmond Kuiack, 18, of Haliburton county, Eric George of Toronto and Steve Koppel of Toronto.

George and Koppel were responsible for saving the life of three-year-old Keith Nolan of 10 Edgewater Boulevard on February 23 after the lad fell into the icy Otonabee river.

SWAM OUT.

George, a young surveyor for the CPR, heard shouts of spectators to the accident and ran to the scene. As soon as he saw the child in the water, he waded through the thin ice and then swam out into the fast moving water to reach him.

Koppel, another surveyor working with George, waded out into the water as the man towing the child neared the shore.

Chilled and handicapped by the water and effort of rescuing the child George was unable to get a foothold on the shore. Koppel waded out and caught hold of both of them and brought them in.

Mr. Whitney received his award for the rescue of Lauraine Falnagan from drowning in the Pigeon River, Omemee, on July 22, 1951.

Edmond Kuiack was also awarded the certificate for the rescue of two persons from drowning in Galeairy Lake on February 1 of this year.

AIR-MINDED

Eleven-year-old Jim Calberry of 138 Park St. N., obviously an air-minded lad, needed a ladder from the fire department on Sunday night to rescue him after his parachute landed on the roof of Knox United Church. No—Jim didn't jump from an aircraft: he was marooned on the roof after he climbed a drain pipe to get a toy parachute. Here's what happened: Jim made a parachute by knotting the corners of a handkerchief and using a stone as a weight. The toy worked fine; it sailed through the air and landed on the church's roof. Jim shinned up a drain pipe to retrieve it and then slipped down the drain pipe to another roof level. Here he was caught and firemen had to put up a 28-foot wall ladder to get him down.

Public Affairs Institute To Hear Outram

City Clerk E. A. Outram will fly to Saskatoon Wednesday to speak at the 5th annual conference of the Institute of Public Affairs of Canada.

Mr. Outram, who is a member of the Institute's executive, will speak on "Experience with Conditional Grants-in-Aid on the Provincial-Municipal Level."

The topic is one of lively interest to those concerned with the administration and financing of services at all levels of government. Grants are made to the provinces by the federal government and to the municipalities by the provincial governments to raise the level of services. Other grants are made jointly by the federal and provincial governments to the municipality for such things as hospitals and health services.

INVITED BY DAVIDSON

Mr. Outram was extended a special invitation to speak on this subject by Dr. George F. Davidson, deputy minister of national welfare, Ottawa, past president of the institute. All details of the arrangements for the trip have been made by the secretary of the institute.

The purpose of the institute, which is modelled after a similar organization in Great Britain, is to raise the standards of public service in Canada. Its membership comprises high officials of the civil service of Canada and the provinces, as well as of the larger municipalities and faculty members of universities teaching government administration.

A record of each annual conference is printed in book form and distributed throughout the world to universities and government departments.

Mr. Outram spoke to the 1951 conference of the institute in Winnipeg on "Personnel Management in Civic Administration." His address was published in pamphlet form and given wide circulation.

Bandsman Saves Life Of Neighbor

Saw Smoke, Led Pensioner Out Of Home

Ernest Mills, 23-year-old drummer in Ted Everitt's dance band, is credited with saving the life of W. E. Foster, 65, of 292 Townsend St., early Monday morning.

Mills was coming home from a midnight dance in Cobourg and at 4.30 a.m. he saw smoke coming from Foster's home. He opened the door, roused the elderly pensioner who was sleeping in the smoke-filled living room, and helped him outside into the fresh air.

Then Mills ran to his own home, next door at 294 Townsend St., and got a tub of water to throw on the fire that had broken out in Foster's kitchen. The dousing checked the blaze just in time.

"Mills deserves particular credit for his quick thinking," Fire Chief William Sorrie said today. "If the fire had gone on a little longer the house could have been destroyed and Mr. Foster suffocated in his sleep."

NO ILL EFFECTS

The result of Mills' prompt action is that his elderly neighbor is suffering no ill effects and damage to the kitchen is limited to about $50. The tub of water did the trick. When firemen arrived they had only to cut a hole in the plaster to make sure the last spark was out and use a handpump.

Chief Sorrie said that the fire probably started when a cigarette butt dropped from an ashtray on the stove into a wood box.

Mills, a CGE storekeeper, said the smoke in the house was so dense that he was afraid to open the door wide in case the whiff of fresh air started a major fire.

See Full-Scale Dispute Over PoW List

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A full-scale dispute over the exchange of war prisoners was building up today. The Communists accused the Allies of holding back captives and the UN command drafted a demand for the return of Allied PoWs it asserts are still in Red hands.

While Peiping radio claimed the UN command withheld 357 Chinese and Koreans from repatriation, Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters worked over a list of Allies believed in Red captivyt.

The names were collected from interviews with returned prisoners, from Communist broadcasts and lists from letters written by captives.

The UN list, after careful rechecking, will be handed to the Communists with the demand that the Reds either return or account for the missing men.

Still listed as missing are 15 Canadian Army men and one RCAF flier.

LIST DELAYED

The list was to have been given to the Reds Monday, but was delayed pending further careful checks.

Allied spokesmen said the names will be announced in Washington, but that there was no indication yet when this will be done. Spokesmen declined to give any hint as to how many names were on the list.

Peiping claimed a check of prisoners lists showed the Allies held back 228 Koreans and 129 Chinese. These 357, Peiping said, wanted to return to their homelands, but were not repatriated during the prisoner exchange.

Both the UN command and the Communists have insisted that all PoWs who wanted repatriation had been returned during the 33 days of Operation Big Switch, which ended Sunday.

The eighth and last troopship to return American prisoners sailed from Inchon for the two-week trip to San Francisco.

That left only 18 American repatriates in Korea. All were medical cases scheduled for evacuation shortly.

Ailing Allied PoWs were en route home by plane from Tokyo.

STAGE BEING SET

Meanwhile, the stage was being set for the next phase of the armistice—Settling the fate of prisoners who have refused repatriation.

The UN command began moving the first of nearly 23,000 Communist PoWs from camps in southern Korea to the demilitarized zone.

They will be shipped at the rate of about 2,500 a day, with the job scheduled for completion by Sept. 18.

The Reds say they hold about 300 Koreans and 20 non-Koreans who have refused repatriation. They have not announced when they will start moving their PoWs to the demilitarized zone in western Korea.

The Balky PoWs will be guarded by Indian troops under the control of a five-country repatriation commission.

HIDING FROM THE RAIN youngsters at the two Labor Day picnics held at Nicholls Oval by the Trades and Labor Council and the Peterborough District Labor Council and at Riverside Park by the UE, managed to consume quantities of ice cream and chocolate milk while they waited for the skies to clear. They were able to run off the races eventually. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Labor Day Picnics Carry On Through Rain, Showers

Despite rainy and cloudy weather that prevailed most of Monday afternoon, Labor Day celebrations in the city carried right on, with two picnics held at Riverside Park and Nicholls Oval, put on by local unions.

Other Labor Day celebrations in the district were at the Curve Lake Indian Reserve, where there was a regatta put on by the Curve Lake Homemakers' Club and the annual sports day at Douro. Festivities in the district were brought to a close with a street dance held at Aylmer and King Sts.

Both picnics in the city were aimed at giving the day over to the children. There were organized races and games for the children and prizes for the winners. Biggest attraction of all at the two picnics was the free ice cream and pop. There were also bingo games and games of chance for the grown ups.

PONY RIDES

Another big attraction was the pony rides at Riverside Park which brought youngsters back three and four times.

The picnics were sponsored by the two union groups, the United Electric, Radio and Machine Workers of America, the Peterborough District Labor Council and the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council.

George Harris, secretary-treasurer of the U.E. was scheduled to address the gathering at Riverside Park, but he was unable to attend.

Winner of the power lawnmower, which was drawn at the street dance put on by the T&LC-CCL was Newton Brown, of 1025 Monaghan Rd. H. McQuigge, of 7 Edgewater St., won the TV set raffled off by the UE. Mrs. Howard Bettes, of 652 Orphington Rd. won the $10 attendance prize at Riverside Park and the lamp attendance prize was won by Mrs. Don Adams, of 629 Rogers St.

Italy Now Prepared To Throw Trieste Question Back To Big 3

ROME (AP) — Angry and worried, Italy prepared today to throw the heavy [illegible] Trieste question back into the laps of the Big Three Western powers.

Premier Giuseppe Pella's [illegible] kept a tight-lipped public silence over President Einaudi's speech Sunday in which he declared that the strategic Adriatic port city, the internationalized Free Territory and all the rest of the Trieste territory claimed by Italy, but informed sources close to Pella indicated Italy would [illegible] already has asked—the U.S., Britain and France—for information on what they plan to do about Tito's new-found belligerency.

The Rome press screamed [illegible] at the Yugoslav leader, the independent Giornale d'Italia demanded in a front-page editorial that the Big Three issue [illegible] plain-worded statement

TO REJECT PROPOSALS

Pella was expected to answer Tito in a speech next Sunday. It is certain he would reject [illegible] the Yugoslav proposals.

The Western Big Three in a declaration before the 1948 Italian elections said all of Trieste should be returned eventually to Italy. Since then, however, Tito and the Kremlin have split, and Yugoslavia and the West have grown steadily closer.

Caught between their NATO alliance with Italy and their desire to keep Tito on their side, the Western powers now would like to see the disputants work out a Trieste solution for themselves. The dispute, however, has never reached the negotiation stage.

GROWING TENSION

Tito's speech capped a week of steadily growing Italian worry over Trieste. Pella charged on Aug. 29 that Tito planned to annex the Yugoslav - administered southern zone of the territory. Yugoslavia denied the charges and countered that the Italian troop movements to the Italian-Yugoslav border constituted "provocations."

The Trieste territory was Italian before the Second World War. The Italian peace treaty established it as a free zone, with an international government, but the Western powers have never been able to agree with the Soviets on a governor.

Report New Polio Tests

ROME (AP) — Two American researchers reported today that white mice injected with a mould extract related to penicillin show signs of immunity to polio.

The report was presented by H. M. Powell and C. G. Culbertson of the Lilly research laboratories in Indianapolis, Ind., at the sixth international congress of microbiology.

Drs. Powell and Culbertson found the new mould filtrate, which they called "MS-8450," while testing fungus filtrates from penicillium mould.

The researchers tried "M5-8450" against type two (or Lansing) poliomyelitis in white mice.

Mice injected with "M5-8450" one day before the polio injection became immune. Dr. Powell said the immunity apparently lasted four or five days.

The new filtrate also has a "limited effect" when introduced in mice within one hour after they are injected with polio.

He said it is too early to tell whether it ever can be applied to human beings.

Remand 2 Miners In Attempted Murder

TIMMINS (CP)—Two men, one a union official, facing charges of attempted murder and arson in connection with an attempt Sept. 2 to burn the headframe at Broulan Reef mine here were remanded today until Sept. 23 for preliminary hearing.

Patrick Walsh, 26, president of the McIntyre mine local and 32-year-old Alphonse Norkum, a worker at Paymaster mines, are being held without bail. They will be allowed to apply for bail after the hearing.

Special Service

LONDON (CP)—Ralph Howard, a recording executive at the British Broadcasting Corporation, was racing through his work in an effort to get to the hospital where his wife was expecting a baby. He was still at work when the telephone rang, bringing the cries of a new-born daughter.

Rogers Hornsby Summoned To Inquest

CHICAGO (AP) — Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs and a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, was summoned to an inquest today into the death of a woman who was found outside a north side apartment hotel Monday.

The woman, described as an acquaintance of the one time national league baseball star, was identified by police as Mrs. Bernadette Ann Harris, 55.

Hornsby, 57, who has been separated from his wife, Jeanette, since June, 1952, arrived in Chicago Monday night from St. Louis but declined to talk to reporters. The coroner's office said a subpoena would be issued if Hornsby failed to appear at the inquest today.

Police said Mrs. Harris apparently had plunged to her death from her third floor apartment in the hotel.

Hornsby was notified of Mrs. Harris' death, police said, after they had found a card in her purse which read: "In case of accident notify Roger Hornsby." Police said they also found in Mrs. Harris' room a plaque reading: "Roger Hornsby, the best player of yesterday."

Police said a cheque book in Mrs. Harris' name showed deposits of $6,817 on March 31, 1952; $7,024 on April 24, 1952, and $15,000 on Sept. 2, 1953. They said cards found in her apartment indicated she was a registered nurse.

Hornsby's wife was awarded $400 a month temporary support payments in St. Louis last May, 11 months after she filed suit for separate maintenance.

Child Labor Conditions Threaten Precious Resource

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters) —The international labor organization has issued a warning that Asia may waste its "most precious resource" unless there is immediate improvement in working conditions for children and better educational facilities.

The warning is contained in a report prepared for presentation at a conference of the ILO's Asian region in Tokyo from Sept. 14 to 26.

"Working conditions are particularly unfavorable for the great number of young workers employed in small scale industrial undertakings and in non-industrial occupations and handicrafts, which are either unregulated or where regulations are difficult to enforce," it asserts adding:

"In agriculture, also, children are often found working at a very early age as unpaid helpers on family farms or as wage-earners mostly inside the family group, in the rice fields, tea gardens, coffee and rubber plantations."

Harmful employment practices "still more or less prevalent," it says, include the pledging of child labor by parents or guardians, and indirect hiring.

"In non-industrial occupations, such as work in shops, restaurants, public entertainments, domestic service, street trading and even professional begging, children are also found in many Asian countries working under conditions detrimental to their physical and moral well-being."

Ojibway Authority W. A. Burritt Dies

TORONTO (CP)—W. A. (Alf) Burritt, 84, long-time northern Ontario resident and authority on the Ojibway language, died Sunday after a long illness.

Born in Parry Sound, Mr. Burritt was an inland lakes captain at the age of 23. He came to Toronto in 1907 and worked with the Ontario department of lands and forests until his retirement in 1939. His father, Alfred, was a Great Lakes captain and he was a great grandson of Stephen Burritt, first white man to explore the north bank of the Rideau river in 1793.

He is survived by his widow, two sisters, Mrs. F. G. Allgier of Toronto and Mrs. Teresa McIsaac of Collingwood, and four children. They are Mrs. Nelson Rush, Mrs. G. E. Lee, Byron and Oscar, all of Toronto.

Britain in 1953 used seven times as many farm tractors as in 1938.

Fruitless Search For Oil Continuing In Australia

SYDNEY (AP)—Ever since the first automobiles spluttered along the roads, Australians have dreamed of striking oil in useful quantities in their own country.

Gas has been tapped in places, but so far there's been no worthwhile oil.

Plenty of hope remains, and hundreds of thousands of British and Australian pounds and U. S. dollars are still being poured into the search.

Today there are two main points of search and hope:

1. In Papua, in an area about 300 miles northwest of Port Moresby, in the delta of the Kikori river. Papua is the southeastern portion of the island of New Guinea and has been under Australian administration since 1906.

2. In Western Australia, at Exmouth gulf, about halfway along the dry, sparsely-populated western coast of Australia.

In Papua, field teams of the Australasian Petroleum Company have sunk the deepest exploratory well in the southern hemisphere near the village of Omati. The area is a steaming swamp of sago palms.

Recently, when the drill reached a depth of nearly 14,00 feet, a vast reservoir of gas was tapped. This had been confined a such pressure that its release damaged the casing and jammed the drill. It has been brought under control and disposed of by burning off.

The gas doesn't mean that oil is there, but it is the most hopeful spot yet encountered in 30 years' search for oil in Papua.

Twenty-five hundred miles away, on the West Australian coast, the search also is being pressed by American capital.

Here the venture is controlled by Western Australian Petroleum Ltd. After the expenditure of about £2,000,000 ($4,460,000), the company is ready to start drilling. A derick has been erected and actual drilling should be under way before the end of August.

Continue Hunt For Metals; Record Numbers

Prospectors, with their utter disregard for distance, this year are graphically showing Canada's land mass to be a gigantic mining claim roughly 4,000 miles long by 1,000 miles wide, relates the Northern Miner.

Thousands upon thousands of claim posts have been driven into the rock, tundra, muskeg and sandy overburden of this giant-size, mineral rich mining area.

SHARP INCREASE

More than 76,500 claims have been staked in the first six months of the year. That's almost three times last year's six-month figure of 27,893.

All the provinces except Ontario and British Columbia have shown increases over last year's figures. So has the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

And Ontario, which at June 30 was runnig about 100 claims behind last year's half-year total, has by now taken up the slack with a staking spree in the Blind River area.

New Brunswick, virtually ignored mining men until a few short months ago, has seen feverish staking activity.

About 30,000 claims have been staked as base metals prospects in the first half of the year, Lands and Mines Director C. S. Clements estimates. In the same period last year only 841 claims were recorded in the Maritime provinces.

IN SASKATCHEWAN

Saskatchewan with 12,192 claims staked, mainly for uranium chances (60 percent in the Beaverlodge area; 20 percent Foster Lake, 10 percent Lac La Ronge) is next in line. In recording the 12,000-odd claims, Saskatchewan has shown a healthy 11,129 increase over last year's 1,063 total. In excess of 1,000,000 acres is also held under permit for potash.

Third in line is Quebec. There prospectors staked 11,716 claims (11,441 in the first half of 1952). They concentrated on the Quebec (5,313) and Amos Chibougamau districts recording 1,226 and 1,465 respectively.

Ontario is fourth.

Then comes Nova Scotia, another Maritimes newcomer to big-figure staking. In the first half of 1953 Nova Scotia has issued 373 prospecting licences which represent about 4,500-5,000 claims actually held under licence. Last year less than half that number was issued, 179.

Manitoba has also seen more than double last year's first-half staking activity. To June 30 Manitoba recorded 3,198 claims.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Both the Yukon and Northwest Territories have experienced rejuvenation. The Yukon chalked up 1,658 claims (only 394 last year) and N.W.T. 1,394, more than twice last year's 647. The Whitehorse district has been the prospector's favorite Yukon area; 1,558 claims were staked. Yellowknife, with 202 claims, is the most active spot in N.W.T.

Alberta, although it boasts a total of only 48, actually shows one of the biggest proportional increases. In the first half of 1952 a total of 16 claims had been recorded in the province. Of this year's half-year total, 344 were quartz claims, the remaining four placer.

Only 10 claims were recorded in Newfoundland during the January 1-June 30 period. This was due to a general mineral reservation being proclaimed in Newfoundland and Labrador from March 12 this year.

Navigational Error

PARIS (Reuters) — A navigational error apparently was responsible for the crash of an Air France plane in the French Alps last week in which 42 persons perished, the French ministry of civil aviation said Monday. An investigating commission could not determine why the Constellation left its scheduled route and hurtled into 10,700-foot Mt. Cemet.

JOHN FAIERS, 37, of 829 Lansdowne St., was pronounced dead on arrival at Civic Hospital Monday afternoon after this car in which he was riding collided with a dump truck one mile north of Lakefield. Two of three others riding in the vehicle are undergoing treatment for injuries they sustained when the vehicle's left side was sheared off by the impact.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Wants Industry Have Chance At Atom Power

CHICAGO (AP)—Nobel Prize-winner Harold C. Urey today urged giving private industry a chance to create useful atomic power for the United States.

He said atomic power will come sooner if free private enterprise is set loose to work upon it. And ably invest in a small company, betting on it to help speed along the atomic age much like Henry Ford and others did to create the automobile age.

Dr. Urey, professor of chemistry at the Institute of Nuclear Studies in Chicago, worked on the atomic project during the war.

WOULD END MONOPOLY

He told the American Chemical Society that he favors changing the Atomic Energy Act to "remove the government monopoly." He said industry and inventors should be allowed to patent their own atomic inventions or developments, and the government should sell uranium or other atomic fuels at reasonable cost.

"Atomic energy does me no good at all (as a private citizen) until I can press a button on the side of the wall and secure electric light at a price that is competitive with other sources of energy."

Dr. Urey declared we must think of a new industry "instead of always thinking of attaching the atomic energy program onto the tail of another industry."

"The automobile was not developed by the railroads or by the big electrical companies. It was developed by new, small industries which have now grown to gigantic size."

Romanian Farmers Get Big Tax Cut

LONDON (AP)—The Bucharest radio announced today Romania's Communist government has granted farmers a big tax cut, reaching 75 per cent for co-operative groups, in a drive to spur agricultural output.

Soviet-type collective farms and peasant associations also shared in tax cuts, up to 50 per cent, the announcement said.

Northern Ireland To Hold Election

BELFAST (AP)—A general election in Northern Ireland will be held Oct. 22, Prime Minister Lord Brookeborough announced in Parliament today.

The last elections, held three years ago, gave Brookeborough's Unionist party an over-all majority of 22 in the 52-seat Parliament.

5 PoWs To Reach Vancouver Thursday

OTTAWA (CP)—Five Canadian soldiers released by their Communist captors at Panmunjom last Wednesday will reach Vancouver by plane next Thursday, the army announced today.

The five are Capt. Joseph Liston, Ottawa; Pte. T. J. P. Allan, Montreal; Pte. R. T. Eakins, Toronto; Cpl. F. J. Jollymore, Toronto, and L.Cpl. G. A. McKinney, Melita, Man.

Their return will leave only one of the 30 Canadian prisoners of war who were released in the latest prisoner exchange still to return to Canada. He is L.Cpl. William Bell of Toronto, delayed because of medical reasons.

Charge Of Wounding Laid Against Man

HAMILTON (CP)—A charge of wounding with intent was laid against Ross H. Swayze, 24, of Community Beach, early this morning, in connection with the shooting last Aug. 12 of Mrs. Wanda Czerenkiewski, in a dress shop.

Further charges of shopbreaking with intent, possession of burglar tools, and possession of an offensive weapon, were also laid against him.

Swayze was arrested after Chief Fred Gaylard, of East Flamboro police, and provincial constable Ed Wilde became suspicious when they noticed he was wearing women's shoes and gloves.

Two Killed On Highway

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Two persons were killed and another critically hurt today in two accidents on the Queen Elizabeth way near here.

Paul Entres, 49, of Stamford township was killed when thrown from his truck as it plunged off the highway and taxi-driver Thomas Mullarky, 44, of St. Catharines was killed less than 30 minutes later when his cab collided with a car.

Murray Bowman of St. Catharines, a passenger in Mullarky's car, is in hospital here with critical injuries. John Jonesa, Niagara Falls, N. Y., driver of the cab involved in the accident with Mullarky's auto, was uninjured.

Glacier Casts Up Body Of Dead Climber

SALZBURG, Austria (Reuters)—An Alpine glacier here has cast out the body of a man killed in a climbing accident and perfectly preserved under tons of ice for 50 years.

Police reported today that they have so far been unable to identify him.

The body emerged from under the Pfendlscharten glacier in the Grossglockner district near here last week.

Scientist Spends Summer On Ice Cap In Arctic

MONTREAL. — One of the 13-member Baffin Island Expedition, which left Montreal Airport on May 13 under the leadership of Col. P. D. Baird, has returned to the city. During the expedition, W. R. B. Battle lost his life in a glacier stream on July 13. The balance of the party is expected here next weekend or early the following week.

Svenn Orvig, assistant to Col. Baird, director of the Montreal headquarters of the Arctic Institute of North America, today told of his experiences during the scientific mission to Baffin Island.

He worked for 86 days as a meteorologist atop Penney Ice Cap, 7,000 feet above sea level, with W. H. Ward, glaciologist from England. During the period the highest temperature was 38 degrees above zero and the lowest 14 degrees below zero.

The 13 were flown by RCAF to Frobisher Bay, and thence by chartered airplane to Pengnirtung, base camp on Baffin Island. Field parties were then placed on the ice cap, two in Pengnirtung pass and the balance on the Cumberland Peninsula.

Orvig had the task of setting up camp and meteorological instruments, with Ward, on the ice cap.

During the 86 days in isolation it was work, work, work. Most of the time was spent in shovelling fine, drifting snow which draped itself higher and higher around the tent. Then there was the daily round of activities necessary to keep them alive.

At the end of the 86 days, and the completion of their investigations, the two researchers made their way on foot to the coast, hauling a 700-pound sled and equipment. It took them four days to navigate the 7,000-foot drop to sea level.

After getting down from the ice cap, Orvig and Ward were flown to the base camp. Orvig flew to Otaawa, then home.

While it will take months to study all the data gained during the ice-cap investigation, Orvig said indications were that the climate in the Eastern Arctic notably on Baffin Island, is moderating little if any, in contrast to what is taking part at the same latitude in the north Atlantic around Norway for instance.

The Arctic Institute and McGill explorer explains this in part by the increased amount of heat which is apparently being taken up by the gulf current and "unloaded" in the north Atlantic. This warm current is too far from Eastern Arctic shores to have any noticeable effect.

While successful in their mission, members of the party mourned the loss of their esteemed friend and confrere, Mr. Battle, brilliant postgraduate student of geography whol lost his life pursuing his investigations.

Have YOU ever waited for a wonder drug?

Behind the new wonder drug that perhaps even at this moment is being rushed to the aid of a critically ill person, lie years and years of patient, painstaking research. Pharmaceutical houses have spent countless thousands of dollars in its development, testing and retesting. And before it can be stocked by your druggist extensive clinical tests must be conducted by the medical profession. From there skillful manufacturing methods must be devised. It is indeed a miracle . . . for where the first precious ounce of the newly developed drug may have cost in the millions of dollars, it reaches your druggist at a price everyone can afford. We owe a great debt to the scientists and pharmaceutical firms whose ceaseless labour brings us an added chance to live. If you have ever waited for a wonder drug, you know your debt!

Crack Train Changes Color When It Crosses Red Border

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUCHAREST (AP) — The Arlberg - Orient Express, Europe's train of international mystery and intrigue, has become more sinister than ever.

It is still a carrier of conspiracy between East and West, but gone are the voluptuous Mata Haris of the past and the monocled German agents of the Erich von Stroheim type. Gone, too, are the gay crowd of Balkan princes, wealthy Western business men and junketing dowagers.

The Iron Curtain has changed all that. International agents and spies use other means than the famous train to travel in and out of East Europe.

TAKES ON NEW NATURE

The train's new sinister nature has another character. As it crosses the Iron Curtain four times a week on its 1,600-mile run from Capitalist Paris to Communist Bucharest, it takes on all the cold bleakness and concealed terror of a Red police state.

On its eastward trip, it disgorges in Vienna the last exhausted tourists and travellers who haven't a care about the East. It sheds its dining car and most of its carriages and waits until late at night before it undertakes to penetrate the dark uncertainties of the Communist world.

In the waiting time, a mere handful of passengers creep aboard. The train frequently leaves with no more than two or three travellers. More often than not, they are diplomats, couriers and messengers.

Austrian conductors say that once in a while a Western business man bound on a questionable deal with the East gets on. Then there are Western Communists, sneaking in and out of East Europe with Hungarian visas stamped on pieces of paper, instead of in their passports, so their governments will not know.

At the Austro-Hungarian frontier Austrian trainmen, conductors and the porter of the solitary wagon-lits car get off and trusted Communist railwaymen take over.

At Hegyeshalom, the first Hungarian frontier station, the traveller first feels the oppressive presence of the Communist police system.

GUARDS IN EACH CAR

Hungarian border guards, guns ready, post themselves at each car. Customs officials begin their search. They unscrew the lightbulbs, look behind mirrors, under seats and in every closet. Baggage—except for diplomats, Communists and favored guests — is examined minutely. Pass-port officials take away your documents and the train waits four hours before you get them back.

If you are a doubtful Westerner —like American correspondents—a secret policeman gets on board and watches you constantly. Another apparently telephones to Budapest because when you arrive in the Hungarian capital, there's a plainclothesman on hand to stop you leaving the station.

Shark To Museum

HALIFAX (CP)—The head and tail of the monster basking shark which Ray and Stan Purdy harpooned off Devil's Island will be sent to a museum at Ste. Therese, Que., at the museum's request. The rest of the carcass, which was viewed by about 15,000 persons here, has been destroyed.

Fine Swimmer

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Bud Crawford, 11, has been presented with a senior swimmer's certificate and crest by the Red Cross. Earlier this season young Buddy rescued a three-year-old girl in Charleston lake.

Red Romania Initiates New Economic Policy

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUCHAREST (AP) — Red Romania now appears to have followed Moscow's lead and initiated a new economic policy to relieve the restuess tension of 16,000,000 people kept in near-slavery and hunger for six years.

As in the Soviet Union, Stalin's death seems to have brought the realization that it is impossible to continue hardships and ruthless economic pressures without running the risk of a Berlin-like explosion.

Diplomats here say the Romanian people were desperately hungry up to a few weeks ago. They were sullen, despairing and even a little unruly. Consumer goods were few and high priced.

The Communist-sponsored "Fourth World Festival of Youth" this month saw the beginning of an apparent change. The Red government dipped into its reserves (in the apparent hope of a good 1953 harvest) and some food other than the bare rations appeared in the markets.

Recently there has been white bread, more meat, sugar and vegetables, and many, but not all, the lines before stores have disappeared. Shops have more clothes, shoes and consumer items.

It isn't a situation, however, where the average Romanian worker can buy much more food or clothes. They are priced way over his head. He spent all his savings in a currency reform scare, apparently inspired by the government, a few weeks before the goods appeared.

Diplomats here say the appearance of more food and goods has served two Communist propaganda purposes: It may have deceived thousands of Western visitors and it may have given the Romanian a little more to hope for.

Decoration Service Held At Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Annual decoration service was held at Merrill's church and cemetery, north of Roseneath, on Sunday afternoon. Although the church has been closed for more than 40 years since the congregation joined with the Roseneath congregation, the church is kept in good repair and opened for the annual decoration service at the well-kept cemetery adjoining the church.

The service on Sunday was conducted by the Rev. J. R. Wheeler, pastor of Roseneath United Church. Roseneath Choir with Mrs. Warren Atkinson at the organ was in charge of the service of song. Misses Blanche and Linda Arthur sang a duet and Warren Atkinson contributed a vocal solo.

Friends were present from Warkworth, Hastings, Newcastle, Peterborough, Cobourg, Harwood, Norwood, Colborne and Roseneath.

Elusive Suspect

LONDON (CP) — On Scotland Yard's list of most-wanted persons for two years has been an angular-faced, frizzy-haired woman thief. The long-wanted suspect takes a job as a domestic servant, then makes off with money and jewels.

U.K. Entertainer To Make Tour Of Canada

LONDON (CP)—B. C. Hilliam, British entertainer who started his show-business career in Calgary, is returning to Canada for a coast-to-coast tour.

Hilliam is to give a series of piano lectures starting Sept. 28 in Vancouver, scene of many of his early triumphs and struggles, and ending in Halifax just before Christmas. His visit is sponsored by Frank Crawshaw, British artist who has toured Canada four times since the Second World War with his "one-man theatre" act.

Hilliam, known in his Canadian days as "British Columbia Hilliam," emigrated to Canada in 1910. Lured to Calgary by encouraging letters from a British friend, he spent his first three nights playing the piano—$5 for playing at a Reciprocity rally, $5 for playing at an anti-Reciprocity rally and $8 for performing at an amateur show.

WENT TO FERNIEE

Later he went to the mining town of Fernie, B.C., where he pounded the keyboard as an accompaniment to the silent movies of the time. In Vancouver he worked on a newspaper, appeared in plays and had his own music school. He served in the Canadian Army during the First World War and in 1925 went back to Britain.

While in Vancouver Hilliam set to music a number of poems by the Indian poet, Pauline Johnson. One of his songs is entitled "Here's a Ho, Vancouver!"

Trucks For Indonesia

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP)—A fleet of 35 motortrucks was shipped from here as a gift from Australia to Indonesia under the Colombo Plan. They were part of an order by the Australian government for 86 trucks, worth nearly $300,000. Each truck bears a bronze plate showing it is an Australian contribution "to the greater welfare of the people of Indonesia."

Londoners Do Not Approve Of Traffic Regulations

LONDON (Reuters)—The age of the automobile has made a new onslaught on the city of London.

The city fathers have ordered another 59 of the narrow, lazy streets into the "no parking from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m." category. That makes 296 streets in all, or 46 unparkable miles.

London's streets were built for horse-drawn hansoms and carts, and they have hardly changed in 200 years. In fact many horse-carts are still used by dairies, breweries and cartage firms.

But 1905 can't go on forever—not with traffic jams as bad as any in the world. And that's why the city fathers are putting in these new - fangled rules about parking.

DO NOT LIKE REGULATIONS

The news is not welcome to most Londoners. They don't like their traffic regulated. Motorists over here are used to just pulling up anywhere they like and parking for as long as they wish.

If they feel like it, they just ramble over to the other side of the street and park. They make u-turns almost anywhere they like. They would not think of going round the block to come out on the right side of the street.

The tall, friendly policemen don't seem to mind. It seems to be part of the same liberal tradition that allows Communists, Fascists and Anarchists to stand on soap boxes In Hyde Park and advocate hell, high-water and revolution—while the blue-garbed bobbies stand by to insure against violence.

It's live and let live. Motorists are supposed to be careful and sensible, and the fewer restrictions the better.

The new edicts help relieve traffic congestion, but they are adding another problem, familiar to North American city-dwellers: Finding a parking place. There are not many storage garages in London, and it means a long walk to the theatre, to the office, and to the department store.

Magic Attraction

CROCUS, Sask. (CP) — W. O. Mitchell's play "The Day Jake Made her Rain," complete with rain-making machine, was presented here during a hot spell. On the last night of its two-night run, a torrent of rain fell in the Qu'Appelle valley district.

Faithful Churchgoers

WADENA, Sask. (CP)—Wadena bids fair to become known as the "town of churches." With a population of less than 1,300, the town now has eight churches representing various Christian denominations.

Best Foresees Progress In Physiology

MONTREAL—One of Canada's top flight scientists predicted recently that physiology will continue its upward progress.

Dr. Charles H. Best, co-discoverer of insulin with the late Sir Frederick Banting, and chief of the Banting and Best Department of Medical Research at the University of Toronto, was speaking here on the future and limitations of physiological research.

"The limitations in many countries will be financial in nature," he said, "and there has been and will be a flow of talent and a more rapid development of new workers in the countries where the investment in physiological research is greatest. This is not a new phenomenon."

"I have had the opportunity during recent years of studying certain aspects of health in many countries and I may be permitted the fervent hope that the benefits of the advances of physiology will, in the future, be shared in increasing amounts by all the people of the world."

Dr. Best raised the question as to what is the zone of contact "between neuro-physiology, studied by a great expert in electronics, endocrinology, investigated by a superb organic chemist and the inter-conversion of substances studied by a nuclear physicist with the aid of all the isotopes, very hot and very cold rooms and a roomful of essential measuring mechanism.

"A good answer," he said, "must be forthcoming if physiology is to remain a comprehensible and a very broad subject. One part of the answer is provided by the common ground and language which results from identity of training in fundamental sciences.

"A more effective co-ordination is provided by those who have expensive training in two disciplines which enables them to work in both fields and to converse in both languages."

RECOMMENDS TRAINING

"These more or less naturally occurring liaison officers provide the rebuttal to many of the suggestions of 'limitations' of physiology and the time has perhaps come when universities and research councils should begin to plan more actively and deliberately to encourage the training of these essential liaison personnel."

Dr. Best noted that physicians are beginning "to prescribe for patients under their usual living and working conditions—not as they exist in bed in a hospital.

"We in physiology must be prepared to make observations over years and months where previoiusly we have been satisfied with hours and minutes."

He said that it had been his experience that a little teaching does not interfere with the productivity of a research worker.

"If the dominant interest of all members of the team is the problem at hand," he said, "and if all spend 80 per cent of their working time in actual investigation or in administrative duties relating only to the research, all should be well.

"I do not believe that we will ever evolve a successful strain of directors of research who have been developed along any other route than that of extensive personal experience with the technical and scientific problems involved."

Hastings Garden Clubs Hold Achievement Day

STIRLING (ENS) — Six garden clubs of Hastings county held Achievement Day in Stirling Community hall on Wednesday. There were 33 girls entered. All the clubs had exhibits of vegetables. Skits were presented by the different clubs on "Let's grow a garden." Marie Chambers of Cooper-Remington gave a demonstration on "Flowers at our home."

Certificates of achievement were presented to Gail Cranston, Sharon Cronkwright, Anne Dickey and Mona Swan of Bethel-Zion club; Barbara Blakely, Dorothy Lynn, Freida Elliott, Eva Martin and Mardelle Wheeler of the Chapman's Club; Enid Petherick, Carolyn Wright and Shirley Wilson of Rylestone Club; Mavis Bird, Grace Heasman off the Stirling Club.

All the girls judged two classes of vegetable and took part in a garden quiz. The club leaders and assistants who helped make the day a great success were: Bethel Zion: Mrs. Percy Ray and Mrs. Clifford Ray; Chapman's: Mrs. Tom Lynn and Mrs. Albert Martin; Cooper: Mrs. Allan McCoy and Mrs. Stanley Moorcroft; Rylstone: Mrs. Arthur Brick and Mrs. Lindsay Anderson; Stirling: Mrs. Louis Rodgers and Mrs. E. Cooke; Wallbridge: Miss Jean Frost and Mrs. Frank Tucker; McArthur's Mills: Miss Ellen Kelly.

Honor Mrs. J. F. Baker Prior To Departure

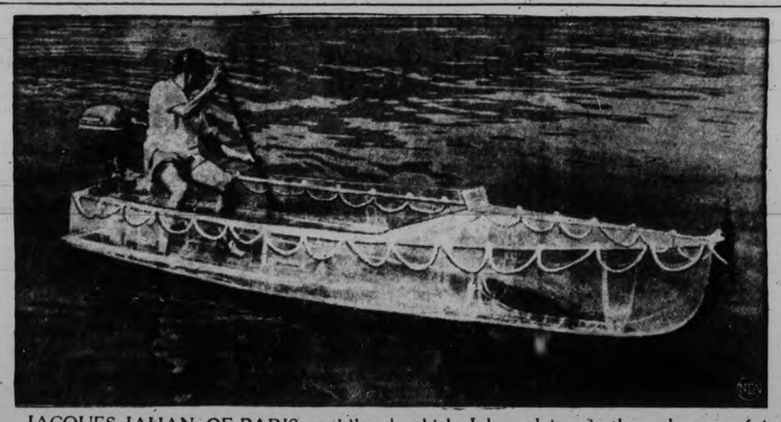
BONARLAW (ENS) — Neighbors and friends of Mrs. J. F. Baker met in St. Mark's parish hall to say farewell and present her with a purse of money from the community.

Canon J. M. Brownlie acted as chairman for the evening.

Mrs. Ward McInroy, president of St. Mark's WA presented her with a brooch, and Mrs. Cosby, past president of Springbrook WI, with a gift of china from the Institute.

U.K. To Reduce Forces

VIENNA (AP)—The government announced Saturday that Britain will withdraw two-thirds of her occupation troops from Austria by next Jan. 1, leaving only one battalion on duty. A battalion normally is made up of from 800 to 1,000 men.



JACQUES JAHAN, OF PARIS, paddles his home-made plastic canoe on Lake du Bourget, Aix-les-Bains, France. The craft, which Jahan claims is the only one of its kind in the world, is 13 feet long, weighs 390 pounds, and is sturdy enough for use with an outboard motor.

Roseneath Personals

Mr. and Mrs. William Snowdy and family of nine children from Norada, Quebec, have taken possession of their farm on Concession, 1, Alnwick township, which they recently purchased from Mr. Gerald Rogers. The farm is known as the L. R. Lockhart farm, Mr. Rogers having purchased it two years ago.

Messrs. Howard and Roy Macklin are spending a few days with relatives in Toronto.

Mrs. Sarah Elliott has returned to Cobourg after a holiday with relatives here.

Misses Joy Parker, Cobourg, and Miss Bernice Parker, Peterborough, are spending a few days at their home here.

Mrs. Kyle Brown is a patient in Toronto General Hospital.

Miss Dorcas Atkinson has gone to Walpole Island after a holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Atkinson were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Macklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Linton, Cobourg, were guests the first of the week of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Arthur.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Surerus were: Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lockhart, Sergeant Price and Mrs. Price, Cobourg.

Mr. Allan Jewell, Cobourg, was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dowler.

Mr. Gordon Scovell was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Braithwaite.

Mrs. Bert Bowers, Englehart, Mr. and Mrs. Elgie Morrow and two daughters, New Liskeard, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor.

Miss Helen Braithwaite has been engaged to teach a school in North York.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McFadden, Oshawa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor during the weekend.

Misses Bertha and Marion Lovelace, Belleville, were recent guests of their parents, Rev. J. N. and Mrs. Lovelace.

Mrs. Thomas Sandercock has returned from a holiday with Mrs. Gladys Kerr (nee Gladys Sandercock), and Mrs. James Linton, Brantford.

Miss Roma Braithwaite has been engaged to teach SS No. 10 Percy (West Dartford School).

Mrs. J. N. Lovelace has returned from attending the School for Leaders at Whitby.

Miss Kate Carew has been visiting friends in Peterborough.

Miss Mary Wheeler has returned to her teaching duties at Conn after spending the holidays with her parents, the Rev. J. R. Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler.

The schools in Alnwick township have reopened for the fall term with the following teachers: SS 3, Mrs. Leslie Poole, Hastings; SS 2, Mrs. Ronald Grant, Norham, principal; Mrs. Louis King, Warkworth, junior room teacher; SS 1 and 25, Mrs. Reginald Crego, Roseneath. The three latter teachers have previously taught in these schools. Mrs. Poole is the only new teacher in the township.

The members of Centenary WA held a successful bazaar in the township hall on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Webb have returned from a holiday in Ottawa and the U.S.A.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Gray were: Mr. and Mrs. Max Herrington, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mattison and daughters, Donna, Marlene and Barbara, of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie beatty have returned to Winnipeg after a holiday with Mr. and Mrs. John H. Beatty.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brotherston, Edmonton, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Beatty.

Mr. Robert Pacey, Port Hope, was a guest on Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Surerus.

Mr. Lloyd Beatty, Oshawa, spent the weekend with his parents.

Mr. Orra Varcoe, Cobourg, spent the weekend with relatives.

Good Weather Draws Crowds

MARMORA (ENS). — Last year's good attendance was eclipsed by this year's attendance at the Marmora Fair held on Labor Day. The weather remained good throughout the afternoon's program although about 4:30 clouds began to threaten. Exhibits were down in all classes with the exception of cheese. The company contracted for midway amusements failed to have their section of the midway filled as promised, and only on being contacted in the forenoon, arranged for the dispatch of one set of rides which got going about 2 p.m. But the crowd was good natured, and either crowded about the grandstand program or watched the good and well contested horse racing.

The horse races resulted as follows:

CLASS A—4 Horses Entered

Ruth Harvester, Albert De Fosse, Trenton	1 2
Black Rock, Tom Fritz, Brighton	1 4
Miss Chips, Stan Blewett, Peterborough	4 1
Rose Bellwyn, Milton Post, Peterborough	1 3

Time—2:10

CLASS B—5 Horses Entered

Star Allstrange, A. Wells, Colborne	1 3
Goldie Hall, C. Plumpton, Codrington	2 2
Mark Volo, Stan Blewett, Peterborough	3 1

Time—2:19

CLASS C—5 Horses Entered

Blanche Grattan, A. Stewart, Campbellford	1 1
Black Duty, H. J. White, Colborne	2 2
Little Abner, O. Fallis, Peterborough	3 3

Time—2:20.

Pony race, once around track—Jim Bateman, Marmora; C. Mowney, Crookston; A. Downey Crookston.

At the grandstand, Tommy Mason of Belleville was master of ceremonies. Madoc Citizens' Band was in attendance and played selections following the opening of the fair by Elmer Sandercock, MPP.

He congratulated the Agricultural Society on its improvements to the grounds and referred to the growing importance of the district.

Ernie Bruce and a lady dancer from Toronto at three stages of the program contributed to the merriment of the crowd. There was only one entrant in the old-time fiddling contest, William Rylott of Belleville.

There were nine contesting for the three prizes for step dancing, the winners being, Jimmy Cuddy, 8, Marmora; Glenn Buggs, 13, Cordova; Mac Anderson, Allan's Mills. Twelve couples competed in the log sawing, for which there were five prizes. Successful contestants were: Everett Barrons and Jack Edwards, Douglas Villeneff and Glen Derry, Fred Thompson and Clarence Thompson, Paul Moloney and James Hughes, Wesley Lake and Freeman Lake.

Joanne Barorns won the balloon contest staged by Ernie Bruce. The prize for the oldest man on the grounds went to Alonzo Simpson of Brighton, 95 who raced a horse named Picket Boy at Marmora Fair 40 years ago. Price for the oldest lady present went to Mrs. Caroline Derrett, 75, of Belleville, formerly of Havelock.

Donald Ellis scored in the pie-eating contest in a field of 14 competitors.

Refreshment booths were operated by three local ladies' organizations—the Women's Institute, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, and the local Chapter of the IODE. In the evening a horse show plus a band concert by the Madoc Band was held in the Arena in addition to a dance.

The prize for the one coming the greatest distance went to Colin Campbell of Grand Tracadie, P.E.I.

Fire Destroys Block

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A spectacular $300,000 blaze destroyed the sheds, yards and offices of the Farrar Lumber Co. Inc., here Monday wiping out an entire city block.

UNUSUAL BLOOM—A lotus, bloom isn't unusual in itself, but this one drew the attention of visitors at the International Flower Show at Hamburg, Germany. It grew on a plant fostered from a 2,000-year-old seed found during excavation operations in Japan.

Farewell Party For Barrel On Solo Trip

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Leslie Sanders' long-cherished dream of plunging over Naigara Falls in his "flying barrel" culminated Sunday night in a waterborne farewell party for the barrel—which made the trip solo.

The New York city toothpick sculptor and interior decorator cut the big steel barrel loose from the stern of a cabin cruiser in the Niagara river as persons in accompanying boats cheered, jeered, taunted and merrily toasted the event with beer.

Sanders watched the barrel bob toward the Canadian falls—clearly marked a mile distant by a geyser of spray.

"Farewell barrel," he breathed. "I'm with you in spirit."

"TEST RUN"

This was all a "test run," Sanders explained to reporters and yachtsmen.

"When I ride over the falls," he said, "nobody is going to hear of it until it's all over. All this publicity! It ruined the whole thing."

The steel contraption successfully hurtled over the 160-foot cataract and was soon picked up by Major L. Hill, brother of William (Red) Hill who died in 1951 when he rode the falls in a barrel fashioned from inner tubes.

Bonarlaw News

Miss Dianne Davis, of Hartford, Conn., is visiting friends in Marmora.

Miss Fay Wellman spent last week in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Burkitt and granddaughters, Shirley and Sharon Burkitt, spent a few days last week in Hamilton.

Mr. Charles Wellman visited Mr. George Combe on Friday evening.

Strong Man Of Cuba Grabs Added Power In New Law

By BEN F. MEYER

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Twenty years ago this week, the world heard for the first time of an army sergeant named Fulgencio Batista.

It was a name new in Cuba, too, but he became the strong man of the little republic and stayed in power 11 years.

Sept. 4, 1933, the 32-year-old sergeant-stenographer led the first successful revolution ever staged by a non-commissioned officer in Latin America.

Batista struck when the officers were asleep and President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, in office three weeks, was in Matanzas province surveying damage from a hurricane which caused 100 deaths.

Batista took over a land in political chaos. In addition, Cuba was in the throes of world depression, the army was split wide open between officers and enlisted men. And the country still was reeling from the revolution of a few weeks before which had overthrown Gerardo Machado, the dictator-president.

A MAJOR PROBLEM

That revolution, in fact, was one of Batista's major problems. It created a horde of men who called themselves revolutionaries for real or imaginary partieipation in Machado's overthrow.

The problem for Batista — and for the nation as well — arose in the fact that all claiming to be revolutionaries wanted an active hand in the government. There was political tugging and pushing such as the country had never known before.

After Batista's coup a five-man commission was named to run the government. Batista's was the power behind it. The government was such a shaky structure the United States sent warships to try to keep the island republic from falling to pieces.

PRESIDENT IN 1940

Between Sept. 4, 1933 and Oct. 10, 1940, Cuba had seven presidents named with the approval of Batista. It was not until Oct. 10, 1940, that Batista himself took over the job. He served a full term and stepped down turning the office over to Ramon Grau San Martin. Batista, who had once sent Grau into exile, lost no time himself in seeking exile abroad. But for a man who had run the nation for 11 years, his action in turning over the government to the enemy the people had chosen brought applause from democracieis throughout the world.

Grau and his administration now are charged with mishandling $174,000,000 in government funds. The government of Carlos Prio Socarras, Grau's hand - picked "torch bearer," is charged by Batista with thievery of about $150,000,000. It was to "rid Cuba of anarchy once again," Batista says, that he staged a coup March 10, 1952.

Prio fled, and now lives in Miami, Fla. Grau stayed in Cuba. Technically, he has been on trial since the graft charges were filed in January, 1949, but he is at liberty. Cubans have seen no indication that the trial is nearing an end.

CUBA IS AT PEACE

Today Batista is credited with full support by the military forces. Cuba is at peace, but under emergency measures. Batista suspended constitutional guarantees such as liberty of press, of assembly, of speech. The emergency measures, backed up by censor ship, came after a band of political opponents attacked two army garrisons in eastern Cuba.

A new "Law of Public Order" gives the government practically unlimited authority to jail men for circulating rumors, slander, libel and disrespectful criticism.

Before censorship was imposed, Batista and his government were widely criticized in newspapers, magazines and on radio and television.

Long Rationing Era Nears End In Britain

By DAVID M. LEGATE

LONDON—Abolition of rationing—the event to which British people have been looking forward for the last fourteen years —seems to be on the eve of realization. It is expected that meat will be de-rationed next month. Even now, with an abundance and variety in the butchers' shops, the housewife can often get away with a nice little sirloin without producing the ration book.

The end of sugar rationing is due next month, also. This will release a flood of millions of gallons of soft drinks from processing and bottling plants. Many of them are virtually unknown in this country but their names are household words in Canada and the States.

Soft drink firms plan to spend about three million dollars on the initial publicity campaign. And then it will happen — the automatic machines in shops, on the roadside, in offices and on the railways.

The one horrible thought about it all is that some "pub" owners are seriously thinking of installing soft drink bars!

Up in one of London's northern boroughs, Tottenham, democracy is at work in a small but emphaatic way. There the council decided that it was a good idea to spend approximately one hundred and ten dollars on a heater for the mayor's limousine.

But the rate-payers disagreed. One hundred and eighty of them have banded together under the heading of "Federation of Democrats," the main aim being to see that the mayor pays for the heater himself.

They say he can afford it because his salary is sixteen hundred dollars a year!

But what the Federation really has at heart is the poor of the district. There are thirteen thousand old folk in the area and there are nine thousand people the borough.

Before any public funds go on a heater for the mayor, the Federation insist on hot water bottles for the aged and needy.

The site of the King George VI memorial statue is to be announced soon. It is now sixteen months since the proposal was put forward and the plans are well advanced. Several sites have been considered, the most likely choice being on one of the lawns in The Mall near Buckingham Palace.

While the designer is yet to be selected, the public have been sending in all manner of suggestions as to the form the statue should take. All are being examined but the sculptor will have a free hand to create his own work.

One thing is certain — the scheme is being expedited. There is no question of the erection of the statue taking eleven years as in the case of King George V.

The fund total is now approaching the £1,500,000 mark.

DOLL CLUB

A new club, formed in London, is believed to be the first of its kind in the British Isles. It is called the Doll Club and all members — mainly people of mature years — are doll owners and enthusiasts.

The club aims at preserving old and interesting dolls, dolls' houses and accessories, and encouraging the production of good modern dolls. It also plans to raise money for charities by organizing shows, exhibitions, competitions, debates and lectures —all concerned with dolls.

The committee consists of keen doll lovers who can even now muster some two thousand dolls between them.

The best alarm clock in London is the telephone exchange. You simply put in a call in the evening, leave instructions at what time you wish to be called in the morning.

The toughest job this gigantic alarm clock system had to tackle was on Coronation morning and the story has now been told how the Post Office (which runs the telephones) called more than nineteen thousand subscribers early on the morning of June 2.

They began to plan a year ago and their estimate of the early morning alarm calls — between eighteen and twenty thousand — was correct.

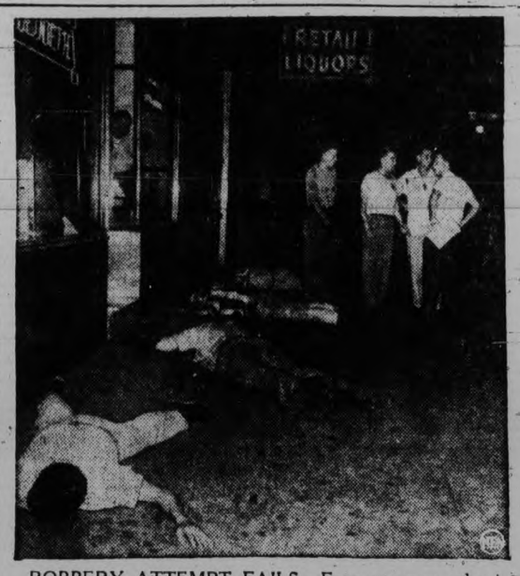
They expected that every exchange would be required to complete all its alarm calls within three quarters of an hour and worked out that each operator could make twenty in a fifteen minute period.

Like the rest of the Coronation, everything went according to plan.

While the police are ever concerned about safety on the roads and are always striving to do something about it, a similar campaign is in progress on Old Father Thames. This is being conducted by the Thames Conservancy Board, who are out to stop bad manners on the river. Their motor-boat patrols have covered hundreds of miles of the Thames looking out for reckless behaviour and the results are encouraging.

Just as on the highway, you can be fined for speeding or breaking other regulations on the river. First offenders can be nicked sixty dollars for careless navigation. Two offences may mean the disqualification of their registration.

Incidental intelligence: An enthusiastic Canadian tourist went down to see historic Stonehenge in Wiltshire this week. She decked herself out in sweater, slacks and sandals so that she could rough it on the stones!



ROBBERY ATTEMPT FAILS—Four gunmen, obeying the orders of New York policemen, lie on the ground. The four gunmen and a fifth who was hospitalized after a running gun battle with the police, had been watched by the police for about a week. They are alleged to have committed a series of breaking and entering offences.

Britain, Egypt Nearing Suez Agreement

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Egypt are reported slowly nearing agreement on ways of settling their old quarrel over the future defence of the Suez canal.

The two countries have been trying informally to set up a basis of agreement which would both isfy British insistence that the waterway be securely protected and Egyptian demands that British troops get out.

Informed sources said Gen. Sir Brian Robertson has been able to express some cautious optimism in his report to the government on the series of informal Anglo-Egyptian talks which have been going on in Cairo.

SEMI-OFFICIAL VISIT

Robertson, one of the chief British negotiators, flew here from Cairo during the week-end for a 10-day semi-official visit. He gave a firsthand account of the talks to Prime Minister Churchill Monday.

Britain is reported to have let it be known she would agree conditionally to a gradual withdrawal of her 70,000-strong garrison from the vast bases which sprawl through the Suez canal zone.

The condition: Watertight arrangements must be made to keep the complicated installations in the zone in a state of perfect military readiness.

It is over the nature of these arrangements that most of the Anglo-Egyptian argument now revolves, the sources said.

New Machine Brings Hope To Crippled Polio Victims

By JIM SHERBANIUK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—In a small, isolated room in the Winnipeg General Hospital a young English doctor is carrying on experiments which may mean a new life and activity for crippled poliomyelitis victims.

Dr. M. G. Saunders, neurologist and lecturer at the University of Manitoba, has faith in the electromyograph machine which reads the condition of muscles and connecting nerves like an open book. By determining the extent and location of muscle damage, more effective steps can be taken toward rehabilitation.

So far the electromyograph has been used exclusively for research purposes and in selected cases. Often victims of paralysis who have given up hope of ever walking again are told that the affected muscles are basically useful and concentrated treatment and exercise will gradually restore them. It is used primarily as a guide to indicate what muscles can be treated successfully, and the eventual outcome of an extreme case of paralysis.

LENGTHY EXPERIMENTS

Dr. Saunders stressed that the electromyograph could not possibly be used in extensive tests of polio cases. Each experiment takes from one to two hours and requires the most highly skilled technicians. Besides the machine in Winnipeg, there are only three others in Canada, one of which is not in use because only Dr. Saunders and two other persons in the Dominion are able to operate them. He built a small model of the machine himself for use in the Deer Lodge Veterans' Hospital in Winnipeg.

Operation of the machine requires a knowledge of both medicine and electronics. The muscles are excited by means of an electric current transmitted through electrodes fastened to parts of the body to be tested.

As the muscles are stimulated, the reactions are recorded on a tape recorder and flashed simultaneously onto an illuminated screen, similar to a television receiver, where they are interpreted by a trained technician. In cases of paralysis, the exact location of the degenerated muscle can be pin-pointed and proper treatment begun.

12-YEAR STUDY

Dr. Saunders, at 33, has devoted more than 12 years to the study of electrical currents and their effects on brain and muscle tissue. He became acquainted with the field in 1941 when he was chosen as one of the first 10 scientists in England to experiment with the electro-encephalograph, a machine used in testing brain waves.

Experiments have proved that the human brain emits a current measured at between five- and 100-millionths of a volt, sufficient strength to be detected on the delicate mechanism used in diagnosing brain diseases and abnormalities.

Dr. Saunders organized the first electro-encephalograph laboratory in Manchester, England, and since his arrival in Canada four years ago has contributed much to the study of electrical impulses in the human body.

BBC Anounces 1952 Deficit

LONDON (AP)—The BBC announced today that it went in the red £759,610 ($2,126,908) last year in providing radio and television services.

The BBC blamed most of the deficit for the year ended March 31 on the government's take from the £1 annual licence fee British listeners and viewers pay on each set they own.

Prior to last year, the government kept five per cent of this income, which is the BBC's chief revenue. Now the government retains 15 per cent.

The BBC board of governors said in its annual report that unless its share of the licence income is "substantially increased," the BBC will be broke by the end of March, 1955.

The BBC said its 1951-52 income from licences totalled £12,267,386. But because of the bigger treasury bite, this shrank in 1952-53 to £11,-694,833.

2 People Killed In Broadside Crash

TORONTO (CP)—Two persons were fatally injured Monday night when two autos collided broadside in west-end Toronto. Four others suffered minor injuries.

Dead are William Stanton and Lana Campbell, both of Toronto. Stanton died five minutes after being admitted to hospital.

Police said the occupants of one car were thrown completely out of the other side of the car.

Two Top Russians Fired In Estonia

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Estonian refugees said a two-week-old newspaper from their Soviet-ruled land reports the firing of two high-up Russians from the puppet cabinet and their replacement by two Estonians.

The refugees said the paper, Rahva Haal, reported the ouster of Russian-born Nikolai Krylov from his job as minister of chemical and slate industries. Krylov had direct charge of Estonia's uranium production. Oscar Saar replaced him.

Vassily Kossov was removed from his job as second secretary of the Estonian Communist party. He was succeeded by Endel Jaanimaegi.

The refugees described Kossov as formerly one of the most powerful men in Soviet Estonia.

French Butchers Slash Prices

PARIS (Reuters)—French butchers today slashed their prices for some cuts of meat by 10 per cent in a new government drive to lower the cost of living.

They were obeying the terms of an agreement between the government and the butchers' federation just over a week ago.

The reductions, aimed primarily at meeting the needs of working class families, applied only to the cheaper cuts. It is the first step in the government's campaign to bring down the cost of living by 10 per cent.

Specialists Discuss Brain Reaction To Studying

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Physiologists from 42 countries who have been boning up for the last three days at the 19th International Physiological Congress are to learn today what specialists think goes on in their brain when they are trying to learn something.

Five ranking scientists, one of them a Russian, are to discuss current physiological theories of learning at a symposium at the University of Montreal.

The symposium over, the delegates take an afternono recess before starting the last sessions of the five-day congress Friday.

Elsewhere in "congress city" today the 11-man council of the new International Union of Physiological Sciences, founded Wednesday to take over running of future congresses from the present permanent committee, is expected to meet to elect a president and other officers.

Formation of a scientific union affiliated with the International Council of Scientific Unions was first proposed at the 18th physiological congress at Copenhagen in 1950.

REPRESENTS CANADA

Canada is represented on the council of the new body by Dr. Charles H. Best of Toronto, co-discoverer of insulin with the late Sir Frederick Banting.

Summaries issued by the congress of doctors' findings to be presented at today's session indicate much of the physiologists' experimental results to date are still only of limited value.

As Dr. R. W. Sperry of the American National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness at Bethesda, Md., one of the speakers at the symposium says, the main contribution of past studies in the field "lies more in a disclosure of some of the limitations and other negative aspects of the learning process than upon any direct delineation of its positive features."

"Learning," says Dr. Sperry, "involves the operation of a highly organized mechanism precisely designed to select and actively to retain and use particular effects of particular past experiences."

DESCRIBES EXPERIMENTS

Dr. Sperry also describes some experiments he and his colleagues conducted with rats which he maintains were "thwarted from the start" by the rats' inability to reorganize their nervous system to meet new conditions.

The feeling of pain in any part of the body is flashed to the brain by sensory nerves. When research workers took rats with sore right rear paws and switched the nerve cables around, the rates went hopping around on their sore paws, he reports.

The rats carefully kept their left rear paw off the ground, although it meant putting extra weight on their damaged right foot, because they did not realize their sensory nerves had been crossed from left to right legs.

Nor did they learn from experience. They continued to tread guardedly on the damaged leg until the excessively aggravated ulcers healed or the animal died.

"Rats with flexor or extensor nerves of the leg interchanged a few weeks after birth would go through the remainder of their lives making all foot movements in reverse," the doctor reports.

MORE CONSERVATIVE

These and other studies, Dr. Sperry says, are making scientists much more conservative than they were 15 years ago in estimating the extent to which living beings can reorganize their central nervous systems.

At the same symposium, Dr. J. Z. Young of London University, is to outline what is known about the learning system of an octopus.

The octopus knows friend from foe by shape and movement. A healthy octopus puts out its arms toward any small moving object. If it yields food, it will be attacked on sight in future. If not, it will be ignored.

If an octopus once makes up its mind a certain type of object should be attacked on sight, it doesn't change its mind easily, Dr. Young says.

If in an experiment it finds it gets an electric shock every time it reaches for a crab in a laboratory tank, it may leave crabs alone for a while, but eventually it will start attacking them again. The more often the event happens, the longer the octopus remembers.

Make Last Inspection Of Seaway Site

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP)—The U. S. House of Representatives' public works committee Monday made what chairman George Dondero (Rep-Mich.) called the group's last inspection of the site of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway.

Seven members of the committee toured the International Rapids section of the river and later were guests at a luncheon here.

"This is a farewell visit," Dondero said at the luncheon. "We either go in with Canada and build this project together or Canada will do it all alone."

Britain Claims Fastest Plane

LITTLEHAMPTON, Eng. (AP) Britain claimed today that her new swept-wing Hawker Hunter jet is the world's fastest fighter plane.

She based the boast on RAF Sqdn. Ldr. Neville Duke's record-setting average speed of 727.6 miles per hour in the aircraft Monday.

Duke's record, still subject to official confirmation, topped by 11.91 miles an hour the mark of 715.69 set in July by U. S. Air Force Lt.-Col. W. F. Barns in a U. S. Sabre.

The 31-year-old British ace, a Second World War veteran with 28 confirmed kills, set his record on a measured three kilometre course at this English south coast resort. A "magic eye" timing device clocked his top speed at 738.8 m. p. h. The official time was taken from an average of four runs.

MR. AND MRS. MURRAY EAGLESON of Peterborough who were married Saturday in the Centreville Presbyterian Church. The bride is the former Miss Doris Hutchison.
(Roy Studio Photo)

Eagleson-Hutchison Rites

In Centreville Presbyterian Church on Saturday, in a setting of pink and white gladioli and ferns, Doris Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Hutchison of Millbrook, became the bride of Murray Albert Eagleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ray Eagleson of Bailieboro.

The Rev. W. H. Heustin performed the wedding ceremony. The music was played by Miss Gwen Hutchison of Aurora, aunt of the bride. Before the bride entered the church, Miss Yvonne Richards of Millbrook sang, "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register she sang, "I'll Walk Beside You".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of laco and nylon net. The bodice of lace buttoned down the back to below the waist with tiny self-covered buttons and had a yoke of sheer nylon net. The long lace sleeves ended in points over the hands. The overskirt of the triple skirt of nylon net over taffeta had an edging of embroidered flowers. Her finger-tip veil of embroidered net fell from a headdress of satin and net edged with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and gardenias with satin streamers with feathered carnations attached.

Miss Leona Ball was maid-of-honor, Miss Joyce Hutchison, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and little Margaret Ann Fowler was flower girl. They wore similar strapless gowns of net over taffeta with fitted bodices, bouffant skirts and matching taffeta boleros in shades of orchid, green and yellow. Their matching headdresses were of scalloped mohair with net edged flowers between the scallops and they carried bouquets of baby 'mums and pink rosebuds tied with tulle.

The groomsman was Mr. Allan Hutchison, brother of the bride, and ushers were Earl Hutchison, also the bride's brother and Donald Davey, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held in the church hall. Receiving the guests were the bride's mother, wearing a gown of cocoa silk crepe with lace trim with brown velvet hat and matching accessories and corsage of cream colored roses. The groom's mother was in a gown of rosewood silk crepe with navy velvet hat and accessories and wore a corsage of red roses.

Among the 100 guests there were friends from Kingston, Aurora, Toronto, Warkworth, Madoc, Port Hope, Cobourg and Peterborough.

For the honeymoon motor trip to the United States the bride chose a suit of French blue suede-finished wool, navy and white hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

They will live at 83 Aylmer Street, Peterborough, on return.

THIS YOUNG MAN stops to tie his shoelaces before the school building. Having been taught to do this, he will have less difficulty adjusting to the first-grade situation.

Relaxed Attitude Of Parents Makes Send-Off Happier

By KAY SHERWOOD,
NEA Staff Writer

First day in the first grade is the first topic of conversation in many of our homes.

The young scholar-to-be anticipates the experience with a sharp respect for the facts and fancies described by older students.

Parents ask themselves and other parents how their child will like his teacher, will he "adjust" properly to the routine, will his first step down the education road be a sure and happy one?

A round table discussion on the subject among first grade teachers at the National College of Children's School Education emphasized the need for a relaxed attitude on the part of the parents to make the school send-off a happy occasion.

Confidence is contagious, the teachers agreed. If Mother is sure Johnny is going to enjoy school, he probably will.

I asked for more specific suggestions on how we mothers can boost our babies smoothly into the larger world of school. The teachers told me not to be in a hurry to send a child under six to the all-day session of first grade.

"The five-and-a-half-year-old may be intellectually ready, but frequently he's not quite able to stand the adjustment emotionally or physically," they said, speaking from experience.

"Bugaboos during the early weeks of school are rebellion and fatigue, the schoolma'ms said. The apple of your eye may be having a tough time learning how to get along with 25 or 30 other youngsters.

Don't be too upset by the rebellions, but be on the alert for fatigue. Circles under the eyes, high-pitched voices, whining and crossness when he comes from school usually indicate the need for rest and refreshment.

Milk and crackers and some quieting chat or activity will relieve the tenseness of some children, say the teachers. Others may work off their tenseness better if they are allowed to run around with playmates.

Easier adjustment to school routine is possible if Johnny already has some conception of routine from home experiences.

Teachers cite the blank look when they suggest "cleaning up our room." Many kids, they think just don't know what that means (and, I suspect, care less).

To acquaint him with this art of getting along with schoolmates, it may be well to insist he pick up his toys at home, that he takes turns talking at the dinner table, and to encourage a more open-handed sharing of materials.

Another very specific suggestion is to make sure your child can tie his own shoe laces. "You'd be surprised how many children forget this skill during the summer of wearing sandals and letting impatient adults tie them to hurry things up," said one teacher.

Although most first grade teachers schedule early conferences with parents, you'll be doing them and your child a real service if you brief teachers in advance of any handicap or special attention Johnny might need.

If a teacher knows the first day of school that Johnny doesn't hear or see very well, she'll move him up beside her at once, which gets him off to a better start.

Shall we visit the classroom often or not at all? These teachers welcome an occasional visit from mothers who want to observe specific teaching methods, for example how Johnny learns to read, so that she can help him at home using the same methods.

Primate Officiates At Wedding Rev. Alan Hooper

A wedding of much interest in Peterborough was solemnized recently in Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Edmonton, Alberta, when Miss Marjorie Joyce Hammett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hammett of Edmonton, became the bride of the Reverend Alan George Hooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Hooper of Peterborough.

The Most Reverend Walter F. Barfoot Archbishop of Edmonton and Primate of all Canada, performed the double ring ceremony. He was assisted by the Reverend Harold MacDonald of Fort Saskatchewan and the Rev. Canon Nainby rector of Holy Trinity Church. The Reverend George Robinson of Edson, Alberta, presided at the organ.

Bouquets of pink and white gladioli were arranged at the altar for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a waltz-length gown of embroidered white organdy and net. Her veil of handmade Malmesbury lace had been worn by her grandmother and she carried a white prayer book garlanded with a white gardenia and sweetheart roses.

Miss Lois Hammett and Miss Joan Hammett attended their sister as maid of honor and bridesmaid. They chose ballerina length frocks of organza embroidered with sequins and pearls in shades of blue and shrimp pink. Each wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of gladioli.

Mr. Thomas H. Hooper of Sault Ste. Marie was his brother's groomsman. Ushers were the Rev. Russell Sayer of Fort Saskatchewan and the Rev. Jack Gibbons of Edson.

At the reception which followed the ceremony Mrs. Hammett was wearing a blue afternoon gown with matching stole complemented with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Hooper, mother of the groom, wore a two-piece dress of powder blue crepe and lace with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to Jasper and the west coast the bride donned a fawn wool suit with feather model hat and brown accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooper will reside in Onoway where the groom is vicar of St. John's Church.

Brackenridge-Jamieson

A quiet wedding was solemnized at George Street United Church parsonage Saturday uniting John Stevenson Brackenridge, only son of Mrs. Eva Brackenridge and the late Charles Brackenridge, and Carol Ruth, younger daughter of Mr. W. E. Jamieson and the late Mrs. Jamieson, all of Peterborough. The Rev. Arnold Mainews performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon over satin. Her lace-trimmed fingertip veil was caught to a coronation headdress of pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Clifford Beamish of Trenton attended her sister, wearing a gown of forget-me-not blue taffeta with a matching headdress and she carried pink roses. The groom was attended by Mr. Jack Wakeford of Peterborough.

Following the reception which was held at the home of the groom's mother, the couple left on a motor trip to New York State. They will live in Peterborough.

An extra key hidden in some secret nook around the outside of the house can prove very helpful in those lost-key situations. And a car key tucked safely away on the body of the family auto can also save a lot of trouble. The expense of having the extra key made is negligible, compared to the troubles that can be spared.

There are many knitted fashions for fall and it doesn't take a perfect figure to wear them. Lots of boxy tops, tapered cardigans, jackets, dresses and some coat styles.

MR. AND MRS. ROBIN MAINLAND are shown signing the register in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, following a double ring ceremony on Saturday.

Mainland-Haig Wedding

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)— Baskets of gladioli, ferns and fall flowers decorated St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, on Saturday for the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Audrey Joyce Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haig of Campbellford, and Robin Harold Mainland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mainland of Norwood.

The Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's performed the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mr. Albert Bazell, and Miss Muriel Heagle was soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a gown of nylon embroidered net over ivory satin with a redingote of French Vallenceines lace forming a train effect. Her veil of nylon tulle illusion was outlined with Chantilly lace and held with an Elizabethan coronet of rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of red roses and stepanotis with ivy.

Maid of honor was Miss Jean Haig, sister of the bride. She wore daffodil yellow faille taffeta with a bouffant skirt of nylon tulle with Chantilly lace appliqued in the skirt and bodice, and a matching bolero of lace. Miss Verna Freeman of Belleville was wearing orchid nylon over faille taffeta with matching bolero, and Miss Betty Derry of Madoc wore spice pink nylon net over faille taffeta with matching bolero. Miss Gwendolyn Haig wore leaf green net with Alenion lace over taffeta and lace bolero. Each attendant wore a band of matching flowers in her hair, and carried a heart-shaped nosegay of 'mums and gladoili petals in harmonizing colors, tied with rainbow ribbon.

Little Marie Haig, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore delphinium blue nylon marquisette over taffetta and carried a heart shaped miniature nosegay tied with rainbow ribbon. Little Peter Allman of Norwood, nephew of the groom carried the rings on a heart shaped white satin pillow, outlined with red roses and fern, with streamers of white ribbon and rose buds.

Groomsman was Bruce Mainland of Belleville, brother of the groom. Ushers were Clarence Mainland of Norwood, Edwin Haig of Hamilton and Earl Haig Jr., Campbellford.

A reception was held in Christ Church Parish Hall where the bride's mother received the guests wearing rosewood lace over triple sheer with black hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of cream roses.

She was assisted by Mrs. Harold Mainland, mother of the groom wearing harvest grape crepe with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

During the reception, Miss Muriel Heagle sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Donna Sharp.

Assisting to serve the guests were friends of the bride, Misses Lois Duncan of Warkworth, Loraine Skindle, Jean Herd, Lorraine McCrory, Alle Palliese and Marcia Keller, of Campbellford. The guests were from Hamilton, Almont, Michigan; Toronto, Ottawa, Niagara Falls, Belleville, Warkworth, Madoc, Norwood, Peterborough and Campbellford.

After the reception, the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Watertown, N.Y., and will return by Niagara Falls. For travelling the bride wore a suit of royal blue with a blue hat and navy accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Preston Sisters Of Bethany Have First Double Wedding

BETHANY—(ENS)—The first double wedding in Bethany took place on Saturday afternoon at the United Church when two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Preston were married.

Miss Evelyn Amelia Preston became the bride of Mr. Donald F. Anderson, son of Mrs. E. Anderson and the late Mr. Anderson of St. Thomas, and Miss Joan Margaret Preston was the bride of Lloyd N. McCausland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCausland of Lindsay.

The Rev. A. Harding of Welcome performed the ceremony. Before it began, the brides' brother, Mr. Ralph Preston, sang, "Because". The wedding music was played by Mrs. Clarence Rowan.

Given in marriage by their father, the brides presented a charming picture in their identical gowns of white nylon net and Chantilly lace over taffeta. The gowns were waltz length with strapless bodices topped with matching lace jackets. Their shoulder length veils were of white tulle and lace caught to crowns of seed pearls. Each carried a bouquet of rubrum lilies and stephanotis.

The bridesmaids were Miss Velam Cochrane of Orono and Miss Barbara White of Lindsay. They wore waltz length dresses of green and pink nylon marquisette which were made with strapless bodices and worn with matching stoles. They had matching headdresses and carried bouquets of mauve sweet peas and white 'mums.

The grooms were attended by their brothers, Mr. Clifford Anderson of St. Thomas and Mr. Alvin McCausland of Lindsay. Ushers were Jack Keates of London, Robert McCausland of Toronto and David and Glen Preston.

The reception following was at the home of the bride's parents and was attended by 140 guests who came from St. Thomas, London, Oshawa, Lindsay, Peterborough, Blackstock, Cobourg, Orono, Pontypool and Bethany.

Mrs. Preston received in a gown of aqua corded bengaline with black hat and accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. Assisting her were the mothers of the grooms. Mrs. Anderson was in midnight blue crepe and wore a black hat and accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. McCausland was in navy sheer and had a navy hat and acessories and a similar corsage.

The couples are going together on their honeymoon and are on a motor trip through eastern Ontario and Quebec. Mrs. Anderson went away in a blue-grey wool gabardine suit, wearing rose and black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and she carried a rose wool shortie coat. Mrs. McCausland was in a rose suit and wore navy accessories and a corsage of blue tinted 'mums and she carried a light blue twill shortie coat.

The Andersons will live in St. Thomas and the McCauslands at 18 Rideout Street in Lindsay.

Lily Lake Women Hold Gladiolus Tea

LILY LAKE — (ENS) — The W. A. of Lily Lake held a very successful gladiolus tea and sale of home cooking in the Green Room of the YWCA. Guests were received by Mrs. Arthur Hancock, president; Mrs. E. McConkey was general convener and those pouring tea included Mrs. C. Ferguson, Mrs. W. White, Mrs. A. Edmison, and Mrs. O. Young.

Tea assistants included Donna and Margaret Steinkrauss, Beverley and Shirley Tully, Gaye Hancock, Mrs. A. Eggleston and Mrs. E. Tully.

Piano solos were contributed by Shirley Tully during the tea hour.

There was a well stocked "Farmer's Table" in charge of Mrs. M. Dunford and Miss Betty Finley; a "Bake Table" supervised by Mrs. Clarence Hancock, Mrs. K. Darling and Nancy Hancock. The "Parcel Post" was looked after by Mrs. R. Ferguson. Miss Donna Steinkrauss was the attendant at the "Fish Pond." Mrs. A. Ackison was treasurer and in charge of the ticket sale.

Choir Honors Bride

BETHANY (ENS) — Manvers Community Choir honored Miss Evelyn Preston before her marriage Saturday to Mr. Donald Anderson, St. Thomas, when they held the last practice at which she was present at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Preston, and presented her with a woollen blanket. An address expressing appreciation of her contribution to the choir's success was read by Mrs. P. Mitchell and the presentation was made by Mrs. Lorne Bowins and Miss Helen Neals. A happy social evening followed and lunch was served.

Gives Trousseau Tea

Mrs. Harold Conway, Chemong Road, entertained last week at a lovely trousseau tea for Miss Patricia Sedgwick, who on Saturday became the bride of her son, Mr. James Greer Conway. Assisting to receive was the bride's mother, Mrs. Leonard Sedgwick. The tea table was laid with a lace cloth and centred with mauve candles and a bouquet of pink and mauve asters. Mrs. Ruth Reynolds, grandmother of the bride, poured tea and Mrs. Roy Morrison, aunt of the bride, ushered the guests to the tea room. Assisting to serve were Mrs. Roy Irwin and Mrs. J. Robson. Mrs. Keith Sedgwick, Miss Beverly Reynolds, Miss Wilma Human and Miss Nina Kirk, the latter both of Oshawa, were in charge of rooms in which the wedding and shower gifts and the trousseau were displayed.

Buttons are a good indicator of the quality of a shirt. Well-made garments have buttons of lustrous pearl which are uniform in thickness and cut with four holes. Buttons are firmly stitched to the shirts.

Conway-Sedgwick Wed

George St. United Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday when Patricia Ann, only daughter of Mrs. Sedgwick and the late Leonard Sedgwick, became the bride of James Greer Conway, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Conway, all of Peterborough.

The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white gladioli and ferns.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. W. Rowland, assisted by the Rev. Arnold A. Mathews. Mr. Charles Allen presided at the organ and Mr. Reg. Peters sang "Because" before the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Keith Sedgwick, and was lovely in her gown of white lace and net over satin. The fitted lace bodice had a scalloped neckline and long sleeves pointed over the wrists. The bouffant skirt of net had a peplum of lace, scalloped to match, which extended to the hem of the skirt in the back. Her fingertip veil was caught to a Juliet cap of lace oversatin with orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Keith Sedgwick was matron of honor and other attendants were Miss Wilma Human, of Oshawa, and Miss Beverly Reynolds, of Peterborough. They wore identical gowns of rose nylon net over taffeta, designed with pleated bodices and bouffant petal skirts, and they wore matching bandeaux and mittens. They carried cascades of rubrum lilies.

Mr. William King, Jr., was groomsman and ushers were Roy Morrison, uncle of the bride, and William Farrow, cousin of the groom.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Morrison, Aylmer Street. The bride's mother wore a beau bleu, pean de soie dress, a coral hat and black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother was in powder blue nylon lace over satin, with powder blue feather hat, and corsage of Talisman roses.

Friends of the bride who assisted in serving were Misses Floris Campbell, Adele Miller, Betty Dickenson, Bessie and Olive Morrison and Mrs. W. Dewart.

The honeymoon is being spent at Lake Placid, Vermont and Maine. The bride travelled in a pink linen suit with matching feather hat and black accessories and wore a corsage of white baby mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Conway will live at 416 Stewart St. on their return.

Entertainment For Aged People

MARY MOORE SAYS:

The Return Of The Truant To School

Forced to be content with watching other mothers' little ones trot off to their first day of school I fell to philosophising on the blessing of grown-up children.

Pete goes away to school on the 23rd of this month with a pocketful of cash he earned himself, and Marianne is almost self-sustaining in her nursing course, so I guess I'll buy me a new hat.

But where will I wear it? For on my desk are so many letters from you that I will have to stay home for weeks to get them answered. I have them in five stacks: No. 1 stack contains your requests for pickle recipes; No. 2 requests for calorie charts and reducing menus; No. 3 your replies to queries from me from readers who are kind enough to help; No. 4 thank you letters and No. 5 (tallest stack of all) "miscellaneous".

I have no choice but to answer your letters in order. "First come, first answered." That explains why some of my replies are overlong in reaching you.

It is the price I pay for taking a wonderful holiday, but I know from past experience that you are grand friendly tolerant folk that will forgive me.

These letter - and - answer columns will go on all of this week so keep your eyes open for my reply to you.

QUESTION:. . needless to say I appreciate your column. . could you give me a recipe for Mustard Beans and Pickled Beets when using small quantities of vegetables? I am enclosing recipe for Crock Cucumber Pickles. . it is a great favorite at our house. . . please give recipe for tiny ears of corn pickled.

CROCK CUCUMBER PICKLES
(Contributed by Mrs. Alex. M.)

Four quarts cucumbers (small ones or large ones cut up). Wash and cover with 2/3 cup salt and boiling water in crock. Let stand overnight. Drain and add: 2 quarts vinegar, 6 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon ground ginger, 6 teaspoons mustard, 6 teaspoons white sugar. Next day add ½ cup sugar and add ½ cup sugar each day for 12 days. This makes the pickles sweet and very crisp. At end of 12 days. sterilize jars and put pickles and juice in jars or leave in crock. (I prefer putting mine in jars.) Mrs. Alex. M.

ANSWER: Thank you for the Crock Pickles recipe.

MUSTARD BEANS

Two lbs. strictly fresh young yellow beans weighed after trimming and stringing (if stringing is necessary), (this makes 8 well-packed cups of cut up beans), 2 teaspoons turmeric, ½ cup each dry mustard and flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 cups brown sugar, 4 cups vinegar, 4 teaspoons celery seed. Wash beans well, trim and cut up and weigh. Cook in boiling salted water to cover until they begin to be tender. There should still be some crispness in them, so do not over cook. Mix together the turmeric, mustard, flour, salt and brown sugar, and then add ½ cup of the required vinegar and stir to a smooth paste. Heat remaining vinegar and celery seed to boiling point and slowly pour it into the mustard paste, stirring. Place over medium heat and stir until thick, and cook, stirring, over low heat 5 minutes. Add the drained beans to mustard sauce, and bring to boil stirring. Pour into sterile jars and seal.

Your recipe for pickled Beets is good. You could put the hot small beets in hot sterile pars and pour the vinegar-syrup over boiling hot, and almost seal them and process in hot water bath 30 minutes for both quarts and pints. I hope you saw my recipe for them August 20th.

Use 4 or 5-inch underdeveloped cobs of cattle corn. Clean the cobs and cook in heavily salted water for 10 minutes, drain well and pack hot in hot sterile jars, Pour over boiling syrup and seal. For 8 or 9 pints make this syrup: 4 cups white wine vinegar, 4 cups white sugar, 2 tablespoons pickling spices tied in a cheesecloth bag and boiled in syrup, ½ teaspoon salt. Boil 4 minutes, before pouring over cooked tiny hot cobs in jars.

DOROTHY DIX:

Sisters Rebel When Mother Chooses All Their Friends

DEAR MISS DIX: My sister is 18, I'm 15, and mother will not let us have dates except with the people she personally selects. We aren't permitted to make our own friends. We don't get along too well with some of our mother's choices, and feel quite capable of choosing our own companions.

MABEL O.

GIRLS SHOULD BE DISCRIMINATING

ANSWER: I agree with you. Your mother should teach you to be discriminating in friendships, rather than in dictating them for you. She certainly can't expect you to go through life holding onto her hands and being guided each step of the way. Eventually you'll be on your own, and if you haven't learned to judge people, you'll have a sorry time. Naturally, girls of 15 and 18 are not infallible in their judgment — but who is? You can, however, be taught to use discernment. When you do get the right to choose friends, don't abuse the trust. Show by your selections that you have learned discrimination.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MIS DIX: I frequently hear mothers complain because they never get their work done. I'm 24, have been married nine years and have five children from one year to eight years. I do all my own work, yet have plenty of time for fun with the youngsters. My husband is in the service, so we are alone here in a four-room house. Many mothers, I think, worry too much over their children. I am teaching mine to depend on themselves, and if they're out of my sight for a while I don't get upset.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The problem of overanxiety is one that unquestionably retards many mothers in their daily tasks. The woman who has confidence in her own training, or in her children's self-sufficiency, adds hours to her day. However, the worry habit is one that's practically incurable. It carries a pessimistic view of life, and nothing will change a pessimist into a optimist.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 15 and very much in love with a 19-year-old boy. He has asked me to marry him, and my parents have given their permission. Many of my friends, however, say I'm too young to marry. Who is right?

J. F.

ANSWER: This is one instance where friends have better judgment than parents. If you have any sense, you'll listen to the friends. Despite a very few isolated cases where a 15-year-old has made a happy marriage, the procedure certainly is not to be recomdended. The number of failure is so overwhelming, and the unhappiness of future years so tragic, that I earnestly urge you to wait another two years. You'll be glad you did.

DEAR MISS DIX: My fiance is 24 and I am 23. The bond between his mother and him is very strong, and he says he cannot love me if I can't love her. He is an only child, and during his childhood he was quite ill. As a result, is unusually dependent upon his mother. We intend to live near her when we're married—whether I like it or not. Do you think I could be happy under these conditions?

M. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: That depends largely upon your own attitude. Do you have a deep regard for his mother, as a person and as your future mother-in-law? Love cannot be forced, and your fiance is wrong in putting your affection for his mother on an "or else" basis. But if you think you can get to love her, your chances of happiness are good. If, however, you are irked at the bond between mother and son, you will never be reconciled to the place she's bound to occupy in your life. Think the matter over carefully.

Lunch Box Meal A Necessity

The lunch your child carries to school is one of his three main meals for the day. This is a fact oft' forgotten by the lunch pail packer.

Doctors and nutritionists agree that every noon lunch should provide about one-third of your child's food for the day. The packed lunch takes on added significance if it is to play its role as a meal, rather than a midday snack. Remember—your child's progress at school, as well as his health and well being, may be affected by the foods he eats.

"Plan from a pattern" is the answer to your problem. To provide its one-third share for the day, each lunch should contain one food from each of these groups:

1.—Milk, to drink or eat.

2.—Meat, fish, eggs, poultry cheese, peanut butter, dried peas or beans, or nuts.

3.—Whole wheat or enriched white bread, bran muffins or oatmeal cookies.

4.—Fruit or vegetables, raw or cooked.

Extras may be added, of course —but this is the basic plan.

The easiest way to follow this pattern is to make sandwiches as the main course of the lunch-box meal. Choose from a variety of whole grain or enriched white breads, fill the slices with a tasty, hearty food from group 2 (meat, eggs, cheese or peanut butter are the most common), add milk to drink, or milk soup or pudding, tuck in fresh fruit or a whole tomato, and there's your meal—ready to pack its lunch-time punch!

FOR THE SHOWER

No need to give up a fragrant bath just because you prefer the shower to the tub. Rub bath oil on your body just before stepping under the water. A lovely fragrance will fill the room and the oil itself will feel luxurious on your skin.

Of Interest to Women

From One Cook to Another

by Mary Blake
Carnation Home Service Director

LET'S TALK ABOUT BABIES

A fascinating subject, as any parent will agree! What that Very Important Person is to wear . . . when he's to have his bath . . . most of all, what food he should get — these are momentous matters to every father and mother. Well, if you have a baby, and if he is on a Carnation Evaporated Milk formula, you can be very happy indeed about his feedings. Carnation is a soft-protein milk that agrees with almost all babies. It provides nourishment babies need for good and steady growth — all of whole milk's food values, plus 480 Units of vitamin D per pint. Carnation is absolutely safe, because it's sterilized after it's sealed air-tight in the can. And you'll be surprised how easy it is to prepare a Carnation formula. No wonder more Canadian babies are fed Carnation than all other brands of evaporated milk combined. Ask your doctor about Carnation for your baby.

World-famous recipe: Mix 1 cup water with 1 cup Carnation, for milk that's smoother, richer-tasting, and better than any other milk, for all milk purposes.

COOKS HAVE MORE FUN — and families more enjoyment — in homes where every meal includes some little surprise. One good way to work out those surprises, is to borrow ideas from one recipe to use in another. For instance, knowing the popularity of Cheeseburgers, I've worked out a Cheeseburger Meat Loaf. It's quite exciting — extra-tasty and deliciously moist, because it's made with double-rich Carnation.

CHEESEBURGER LOAF
(Makes 6 servings)

½ cup undiluted Carnation Milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup cracker crumbs
1½ pounds ground beef
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon ketchup
1 cup grated Canadian cheese

Thoroughly combine all ingredients except cheese. Line loaf pan with heavy waxed paper. Spread ½ cup cheese evenly in bottom of pan; add half of meat, then remaining cheese. Cover with rest of meat. Bake in moderate oven (350°) about 1 hour. Let stand 10 minutes, then turn out on platter.

LISTEN to the delightful Saturday radio show, "Stars Over Hollywood". A complete half-hour play every week — specially written for this entertaining programme. See your newspaper for time and stations.

AN INTERESTING SAUCE can do wonders for a main-course dish or dessert. And Carnation does wonders for sauces. You've never tasted cream sauce or cream gravy so smo-o-o-th and rich flavored, as when you make it with Carnation. And when it comes to dessert sauces — well, here's a real "quick-n-easy", to show you how grand Carnation makes them.

SPEEDY CHOCOLATE TOPPING

1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
½ cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk

Melt chocolate chips in double boiler. Stir in Carnation. For a thinner sauce, increase Carnation to ⅔ cup.

WHENEVER FRIENDS COMPLAIN that their coffee doesn't taste as rich and delicious as mine, I'm more than happy to share my secret. I tell them to try "creaming" their coffee with undiluted Carnation. That usually does the trick! They find that Carnation really brings out the best in their coffee—makes it golden-smooth . . . enhances its stimulating, delicious flavor. And how they appreciate Carnation's economy! Though it's heavy enough to whip, Carnation costs only half as much as cream. Try Carnation in coffee. You'll love it.

IF YOU HAVEN'T yet tried it, it's time you discovered how good and how economical whipped Carnation is, in desserts and for a delicious topping. Here's the easy way to whip Carnation.

Chill undiluted Carnation in freezing tray until small crystals form; or chill unopened can several hours on ice. Chill bowl and beater. Whip rapidly. For use as topping—For each ½ cup Carnation used, add 1 tbsp. lemon juice after whipping to foamy stage; whip stiff . . . sweeten to taste.

Only Prom gives such a natural looking wave to the very tips of your hair!

THE SPRING OF THE CURL PROVES IT'S A Prom
NEW, SELF-NEUTRALIZING HOME PERMANENT

NEEDS NO NEUTRALIZER FAIL-PROOF METHOD

End curls are springier, never straggly with Prom. That's because Prom neutralizes the entire curl evenly, automatically, right to the very tips of your hair, every time. Do as the girl in the picture is doing. You'll see for yourself that a Prom end curl is a springier end curl. Prom is far, far easier, too, than permanents requiring a separate neutralizer solution. And your Prom wave will look prettier, last longer, than any permanent you've ever had before.

EASY AS A-B-C!

A Apply Lotion Using Any Home Permanent Curlers
Only the Prom method gives a permanent curl to the very tips of your hair. No straggly ends with Prom! Compare!

B For Clean, Lustrous Hair, Simply Water-rinse
Water-rinse for fresh, clean hair that dries to soft, natural loveliness. No residue from left-on lotion!

C Just Let Dry . . . No Timing . . . Neutralizes Automatically
No messy dabbing and pouring with separate neutralizer solution when you use self-neutralizing Prom!

6—In Memoriam

CROWE—In loving memory of George Crowe, who passed away September 8, 1946.
Time speeds on, seven years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright.
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there's none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Ever remembered by wife and family, Ottie, Keith, Clint, Lou.

KNOTT—In loving memory of my dear dad and grandfather, Allen Knott of Curve Lake, who passed away September 7, 1950.
He is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us.
Friends may think the wound is healed
But the little know the sorrow,
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Sadly missed by daughter Ethel and grandchildren, Violet, Allen Knott of Burleigh Falls.

McMANUS—In loving memory of John McManus, who died September 9, 1950.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of the one who once sat there.
—Sadly missed by Ernest and family.

7—Card of Thanks

In the midst of our sorrow and worry, in the loss of a son and brother, we wish to thank our friends and neighbours for kindness shown, to all who sent cards or flowers, to all who tried to lighten our burden in any way. To one and all we say thank you. —Mrs. R. Schweter and family.

Mrs. F. R. Vanderburgh and family of Deep River, Ontario, wish to express a sincere "thank you" to all their kind friends for the flowers, letters, and cards sent while she was in hospital and following the loss of a beloved husband and father.

The family of the late James Gerard Daly with to extend their heartiest thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, floral and spiritual offerings received, particularly the Reverend clergy, CYO Club, Canadian Scottish Club, Twenty-Plus Club, City Soccer Club and Commission Fellow workers of CGE, all kind neighbours and friends and all those who helped in any way during this recent sad bereavement. —Mrs. William Daly and family.

Reaffirms Ban On Sterilization

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Pope has strongly reaffirmed the Roman Catholic Church's ban on any kind of human sterilization.

He told an international group of geneticists at his summer villa at Castelgandolfo Monday that in the world of man the science of eugenics must be governed by immutable moral laws.

In his speech, the text of which was released today, the Pope said in the animal and vegetable worlds eugenics could play a most useful part. It had at its entire disposal the means of improving the species.

But as far as man was concerned, eugenics had to deal with "personal beings, with untouchable rights; with individuals who, on their side, are bound by inflexible moral norms when they exercise their capacity to create a new life."

The Pope added that in particular direct sterilization of a man or woman was "against the laws of nature." He particularly condemned theories of "racism," as practised by the Nazis to improve the race.

Ex-Polish Consul Applies For Asylum

OTTAWA (CP)—An application by Michael Krycun, former Polish consul in Winnipeg, for political asylum in Canada is being considered by the government, the external affairs department said today.

The 40-year-old Polish diplomat bolted his post late last week because he wanted "to live in a free country as a free man." His resignation was contained in a telegram which he sent to the Polish legation in Ottawa.

53-Pound Muskie Landed At Lake By Ottawa Angler

It may sound like a fish tale, but it isn't.

Chemong Lake has finally given up one of its grand-daddy muskies. It's probably the one that's been breaking fishermen's lines at Lancaster Bay on Chemong Lake for years. In fact for an estimated 35 years.

Rowing along the bay on Sunday with his sons, Howie and Stevie, H. J. Epps, of Ottawa, cast out, using a vamp plug. Out of the water jumped the monster and the fight was on.

The first time Mr. Epps saw the fish he realized that it would be a long, long fight. He was using only a 15-pound test line and that just wouldn't hold a 53-pound muskie.

The battle raged up and down the bay for an hour. Finally the big fellow began to tire. He came past the boat once and with a sunken feeling Mr. Epps thought, "My gosh, I haven't a net or gaff."

The fish went by that time. It went by a second time before Mr. Epps mustered enough courage to attempt to boat the fish by hand. He started to grab it once but held back, thoroughly frightened of the possible consequences.

"I decided it was either the fish in the boat or myself in the water. I grabbed him the next time under the gills and held on," said Mr. Epps.

The Ottawa fisherman brought the head over the side of the boat and held on, the fish thrashing about. By the time they reached their cottage, the fish had been subdued.

Then came the excitement and during that time, without realizing they had a record fish, they cut it up for frying and roasting. But not until after an American tourist, staying nearby, had weighed the fish in at 53 pounds.

When they were told that the fish was a record, you can imagine their disappointment. They rallied and on Monday took the fish head to Fred Walton, Lindsay game warden, and to Charlie Weir in Omemee. Weir, a Lands and Forests biologist, took several scales off the muskie's head and these will be sent to Toronto to determine the muskie's actual age. It was estimated at 35 years old.

Just the same, the muskie's head will be mounted. It will hang in Mr. Epps' room, a reminder never to carve fish until it's been checked for a record.

G. A. Borland

The funeral service for Gilbert Andrew Borland, 76, of 168 Aylmer St., who died Wednesday in city hospital, was held Friday at the Belleghem funeral home.

The Rev. E. W. Rowland, of George St. United Church officiated. The pallbearers were: Frank Greatrix, Murray Irwin, Art Long, Vernon Fuller, Jack LaBarr and Seymour Heard. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Police Arrest German PoW

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Walter Braedt, 42-year-old German soldier who escaped from a Canadian prison camp in 1946, has been arrested at Long Lac, Ont., by the RCMP.

He is being brought here and it is expected his case will be turned over to military and immigration authorities.

His recapture leaves nine escaped prisoners of war still unaccounted for eight years after the end of the Second World War.

Braedt escaped from a farm near Stittsville, Ont., 15 miles southwest of Ottawa, on Oct. 15, 1946, and dropped out of sight.

Of the nine escaped war prisoners—all of them Germans—six are on the RCMP's list as still at large. One other is believed to have drowned in his escape attempt, but his body was never recovered. Two others are known to be living in the United States.

Mrs. Amy Martin

The funeral service for Mrs. Amy Martin, 93, of 1064 High St., who died Thursday in city hospital, following a prolonged illness, was held Saturday at the Belleghem funeral home.

The Rev. A. L. Shorten of St. James' United Church officiated. The pallbearers were: Everson Reid, Don and W. R. Martin, Joseph Weaver, Percy Martin and Fred Vilneff. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Chief Justice Of U.S. Court Dies Suddenly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson of the U. S. Supreme Court, a Kentucky jailer's son who rose to the highest judicial office in the country, died unexpectedly of a heart attack early today.

The 63-year-old judge and former holder of many top government posts was stricken while at his Washington apartment. His wife and son, Fred Jr. were with him.

Vinson took over leadership of the U. S. Supreme Court on June 24, 1946, an appointee of former president Truman to succeed the late chief justice Harlan F. Stone.

The Kentuckian's death paves the way for President Eisenhower to make his first appointment to the Supreme Court bench.

Eisenhower may name his choice within the next few weeks, since the high court is scheduled to open its next session Oct. 5. It was believed most likely that Eisenhower would designate the new appointee as chief justice.

WARREN POSSIBILITY

There was some speculation that California's Gov. Earl Warren would be Eisenhower's choice.

When Truman named the affable, middle-of-the-road Vinson as chief justice in 1946 it was widely believed he was chosen as a peacemaker in the wrangle then going on between justices Robert H. Jackson and Hugo L. Black.

Vinson did not write a large number of the court's opinions, but a number of important cases came before the tribunal during his stewardship.

One of the most famous involved condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg last June. Vinson summoned his associates back to the bench shortly after the court had officially recessed, to weigh a last-minute stay of execution granted by Justice William O. Douglas. The court swept aside the stay on June 19 and the Rosenbergs were executed that night.

In a formal opinion issued later Vinson said Douglas had the power to issue the stay, but he defended the court's action in setting it aside.

Jailed 15 Days, Fined $15 On Two Charges

Pleading guilty to a charge of drunk driving, George Alfred of RR 2, Havelock, drew a 15-day jail sentence from Magistrate W. R. Philp today. Additionally convicted to a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence, he was fined $15 or one month concurrent.

Laying of the two charges followed an accident east of Havelock September 5, investigated by Chief Robert Hall.

As a result of the accident in which a car was damaged to the extent of $300, Chief Hall found Alfred driving near his home.

Stopping the accused, he found Alfred "couldn't walk straight" and spoke thickly. In the chief's opinion, the defendant had been intoxicated.

JAILED 15 DAYS

Though not charged with a second offence, Alfred was sentenced to the 15-day term with a previous conviction on the same charge in mind.

Also appearing on liquor charges, Joseph Heffernan, 34, of Peterborough was fined $50 and $2.50 costs on a second offence drunk charge.

In default, Heffernan will serve one month in jail. The charge was laid September 5 while the first offence was alleged to have taken place February 7.

Pleading guilty to a charge of being intoxicated, Ted Stevens, 47, of 536 Monaghan Rd., was fined $10 and $2.50.

Noted Licence Stolen Car Recovered

A policeman's knack for noting and remembering automobile licence numbers was instrumental in the arrest Friday night of a man wanted by Toronto police for theft of $275.

OPP Constable Jack Ricard was on duty as a radio despatcher at Number 8 District Headquarters at Charlotte and Park Sts., when he received a message from OPP headquarters in Toronto. They requested him to relay to Belleville, Perth and Cornwall headquarters the description of a car driven by the alleged thief, who was believed headed for Montreal.

A couple of hours later, Constable Ricard stepped from the second-floor radio room out on the balcony overlooking Charlotte St. for a breath of fresh air.

He noticed a car pull up at the traffic light and casually, out of habit, noted the licence number.

FAMILIAR

The number seemed familiar so he checked his files but it wasn't there. Nor was it listed on his daily log. Then he noticed it on a piece of scrap paper on his desk where he had made a note of it at the time of the message from Toronto.

He had not entered the number on his log or in his files because the Peterborough transmitter had merely been relaying the message.

First he telephoned the city police department to be on the lookout for the wanted car. Then he radioed Constable Ernie Lunn, who was proceeding south on Highway 28 in a cruiser. He advised Constable Lunn to drive to the eastern outskirts of Peterborough on Highway 7 and watch for the car.

Five minutes later, Constable Lunn stopped the car and apprehended the driver.

The original message was received from Toronto about 7:30 p.m. Constable Ricard noted the licence number about 9.20. He relayed it to Constable Lunn three minutes later and within two minutes the wanted car was sighted from the cruiser.

Toronto police picked up the man five hours later, at 2.30 a.m.

1 Killed, 5 Injured In 3-Car Crash

KITCHENER (CP)—One man was killed and five persons were injured in a three-car accident near here today.

Dead is Joseph Rohrbacker, 30, of Breslau. In hospital are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henschel, of Hamilton, Clifford Glazier, of Guelph and Conrad Scheir and Juozas Rutkausaf, both of Hamilton.

Police said the accident occurred when a Hamilton car sideswiped Glazier's. Glazier's car was thrown out of control and across the road into the path of the third car driven by Henschel. The Henschel and Glazier cars were wrecked. Rohrbacher was riding in Glazier's car.

Won't Explode Cobalt Bomb Britain Says

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Britain will not explode the "frightful" cobalt bomb in her atomic test in Australia next month, reliable sources here said onday.

The cobalt bomb—an ordinary atomic bomb ringed with cobalt—would saturate the explosion area with radio-activity for at least six months, completely barring any human penetration, scientists say.

The sources here said the atomic weapon Britain will explode on Woomera rocket range will have several "unusual features," but on the whole will be a "conventional" bomb.

Australian newspapers raised a cry of alarm last week after a London correspondent's report that Britain intended to explode the cobalt bomb.

Last week Australian physicist Marcus Oliphant said at Canberra: "Only a madman would use a cobalt bomb. It is a two-edged weapon which would cause as much damage to the attacker as to the attacked."

When the Quints Were Babies: 1

19 Years Ago Their Birth Captured the World's Heart

NINETEEN years ago their birth—and survival—caught the world by its heartstrings. Now the Dionne quintuplets, still the most famous five sisters of our time, have come to a new milestone. Two of them are taking their first steps to a world apart from their own little group—Marie to a convent, Yvonne to art studies.

And suddenly the world remembers way back when the quints were babies. Here you see a flashback into history as memorable as anybody's famous album in a series of historical pictures from the exclusive files of NEA Service.

The now-celebrated quints were born to an humble French-Canadian farm couplé near Callander, on May 28, 1934. Two months later the first official family get-together produced the photo at left: Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, the parents, and Oliver Dionne, proud and somewhat awed grandfather. If you count noses under the blankets, you'll find (left to right) Marie, Emilie, Cecile, Annette and Yvonne.

Sharing the limelight with the quints was patient, kindly Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe (centre), whose stethoscope must have seemed mighty cold to little Yvonne in the ramshackle farmhouse (top right) where Dr. Dafoe brought the quints through their first precarious days. Now home for the quints—and the whole Dionne family of 15—is the big house at lower right.

J. W. Stuart To Visit CNE For 52nd Year

There's one Peterborough resident going to Toronto to visit the Canadian National Exhibition today who won't have to pay to get in to the big show.

He is J. W. Stuart, of 633 Montrose St., who'll be attending the Ex today for the 52nd consecutive year. For about the last five years, the CNE board of directors have presented Mr. Stuart with a complimentary ticket because of his faithful attendance over the years.

Mr. Stuart attended the CNE for the first time in 1895, when he travelled from Toronto's old CPR station to Exhibition Park in a horse-car.

JUST 18

He had just turned 18 then and had completed his second summer's work on his next-door neighbor's farm. After working for 102 days for 50 cents a day and his board, he had drawn only a dollar. So he asked for the rest of his pay and went off to Toronto to see the Ex.

In those days he was able to stay at the Walker House in Toronto for 50 cents a day. He paid 50 cents admission for a seat in the old double-deck grandstand where he saw horse-racing in the afternoon and the evening stage show.

He wasn't able to get back every year after that but he has not missed seeing the CNE since 1901.

Mr. Stuart plans to spend the rest of the week at the Ex and he prophesies he'll be just as delighted as when he first saw it 58 year sago.

Village Attacked

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — A French army spokesman said Monday night Vietminh troops had attacked the village of Dong Quan 17 miles south of Hanoi and partially wrecked or destroyed 10 buildings. Dong Quan was established last spring by the Viet Namese government as a model village for peasants moved out of areas frequently attacked by the Communist-led Vietminh.

Visit Of Eiffel Tower In Paris Is Exciting, But It Is A Relief To Get Off

BY JACK STEPLER.
(From the Ottawa Citizen)

PARIS — A visit to the Eiffel Tower is something like sitting on a hot stove—it excites the sense, but it is a relief to get off.

There is probably no structure in the world which presents so acutely the feeling of height as the spiderweb of steel which Alexandre Gustave Eiffel constructed in the late 1880's, a structure which Parisians first abhorred and later grew to love.

FAILS TO COMPARE

Certainly the Empire State Building in New York, 200 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower's 985 feet, fails to compare when it comes to sheer thrills. The reason is simple. You are wrisked by enclosed express elevators to the top of the Empire State Building, but the "troiseme etage" of the Eiffel Tower is reached by a series of weird "ascensurs" which first groan and crak and tilt menacingly and later climb jerkily between ever-narrowing girders to the lofty summit.

In the Empire State Building you can only guess your height by watching the floor numbers whiz by—50, 65, 75, 85. In the Eiffel Tower, you always know where you are, even if you don't like it. And once you have gained the top—the wind-swept, open-railinged "quatrieme etage"—you face the necessity of eventually going down again.

By far the majority of visitors descend by elevators. A few hardies walk down the open, spiral staircases. And about once a month an eccentric resorts to the quickest method. But this is damaging to the extent of requiring an inquest.

DIFFICULT TO ADVISE

It is difficult to advise a person the best way to go up the Eiffel Tower. It is purely a matter of temperament and animal courage. As one who likes to test the water by dunking a foot before diving in, I thought it best to go first to the first floor, a matter of about 200 feet up. Unfortunately my French fouled me up and I found myself in the car which went directly to the second floor—about 400 feet up.

What I didn't know was that the ascent to the first two floors is by far the scariest. This is because the legs of the tower, which slant inwards from a wide base to the narrow first floor, carry the elevators; three boxes stacked one on top of the other. Although an eccentric device is supposed to keep them level, it never quite succeeds and as you pass the first floor you find your car tilts menacingly outward, as if desiring to spill its forty occupants. This, combined with the steady downward passage of girders and the disappearing safety of the ground, is not for the faint-hearted.

STRAIGHT TO TOP

Once you have been deposited on the "deuxieume tage," you go straight on to the top—just like it's better to dive into cold water than to wade. If you take time to look over the side you get the first impact o fheight, and, for me, at the most critical altitude.

People are still identifiable as people below; cars still look like cars, and height is a calculable and frightening factor. And it is amazing how low three-foot-high railings and how flimsy half-inch angle iron can become; particularly when there is nothing between you and the ground.

You discover there is a first-class battle raging between your instinct and reason. Instinct screams: "Get out of here." Reason says: "Don't be a jellyfish. The tower has stood for 64 years without falling down. There's no reason why it should today. Go on to the top."

But neither instinct nor reason wins. The victory goes to another little voice called pride, plus a gentle nudge from curiosity. Pride says: "Want your friends to say you're a sissy? Been to Paris and not up the Eiffel Tower?"

Like a lamb to the slaughter you head for the final elevator. You feel slightly ashamed among the laughing crowd which goes along with you—until you notice as the girders file past and you have to change elevators in the open 700 feet up that the laughing has ceased or a false note has crept in.

The "troisieme etage," only a stairway climb below the fourth floor, is reached within an enclosed area, and even the observation gallery is protected by glass. You are thankful the stairway to the open top platform is well hidden, so you studiously try not to find it. Only it's not well enough hidden, and again you have to tell pride to stop shoving, you'll go quietly.

You expect to be scared stiff going out into the wind 985 feet up on a platform bounded only by an open railing that has suddenly acquired unmistakable signs of disintegration. Instead, you suddenly discover, on looking down, that people no longer look like people on the ground, cars no longer like cars, and even buildings have a detached appearance. You are so high you have lost the sense of relativity and you begin to enjoy yourself.

You can even look tolerantly on the young American tourist who jokes with his girl friend: "Let's jump." You enjoy the view, the feeling of detachment, and sum up enough courage to look straight down—it's a long way. Then you realize you have to go down again, and you wish people like Eiffel wouldn't get these crazy ideas.

Because on the way to the ground you have to pass through those dizzy heights of the first and second floor—they're the ones which scare.

Believe Dulles Will Watch Words More Carefully

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles' open pre-election support of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer did not backfire, but that apparently does not mean the United States will adopt similar strategy in critical future elections.

Informed diplomats said today Dulles, although jubilant over Adenauer's smashing victory, may nevertheless weigh his words more carefully when asked to comment on future foreign elections of interest to the United States.

In the past, U. S. policy has been to avoid studiously any acts or statements which might be interpreted as intervention in foreign elections.

Officials did not rule out the possibility that Dulles might again some day speak out forthrightly.

Last Thursday, two days before German voters went to the polls, Dulles told a press conference the defeat of Adenauer would be a disaster which would indefinitely delay chances of German unity and restored sovereignty for the German people.

MAY HAVE HELPED

The landslide proportions of Adenauer's victor have convinced American observers that the secretary's remarks cost the German leader no votes and possibly helped in his re-election battle.

After conferring with President Eisenhower in Denver Monday, Dulles said the White House was not displeased over his controversial declaration favoring Adenauer.

"The answer was in the results which were far more than we had dared to hope," Dulles said.

The president "saw nothing out of the way" in his remarks, Dulles said. Asked whether the president had expressed any displeasure, he replied: "None whatsoever."

CONCERNED AT FURORE

It was learned, however, that Dulles himself—although outwardly serene—was concerned at the furor his remarks kicked up. German Socialists heatedly denounced his remarks as "incredible intervention."

A few hours after his press conference last week, Dulles cabled U.S. High Commissioner James B. Conant for advice on what effect the declaration would have in Germany and whether any new state department declaration should be issued. Conant apparently advised Dulles to sit tight.

Leaders of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party secretly informed Dulles, officials said, that they believed the secretary's remarks, if anything would hurt the opposition.

In a formal statement, the state department hailed the smashing Adenauer election victory as "an overwhelming endorsement" of democracy and "uncompromising opposition to Soviet designs."

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES —By Edgar Martin

THE ADVENTURES OF WILDROOT CREAM-OIL CHARLIE··· FIRST IMPRESSIONS MEAN SO MUCH

NEWEST SCIENTIFIC CONTRIBUTION to baby's good life is the development of allergy-free orange juice to provide natural vitamin C for 40 to 60 per cent of infants who normally couldn't drink the juice because of digestive upset.

Allergy-Free Orange Juice Saves Babies Many Upsets

NEW YORK (NEA)—Because a workman in an orange juice cannery in Florida got a rash on his hand, millions of infants under six months need no longer to be subject to the allergies and digestive upsets their second most important food often produces.

More than 4,000,000 new babies are expected in the United States this year. According to ranking pediatricians and nutritionists, milk and orange juice will be their two most essential foods early in life. Orange juice, rich in natural vitamin C, supplements all-important milk which lacks only this vitamin.

However, Dr. Milton Levine, noted American pediatrician, as well as experts in child development care at Yale University, reported that from 40 to 60 per cent of these infants would be allergic to orange juice if the workman's rash had not led to a new scientific process whereby the allergy-producing and digestion-upsetting elements in orange juice have been removed.

Dr. Levine, assistant professor of pediatrics, New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Centre and consulting pediatrician to the New York City Department of Health, explained that until "this new method of canning orange juice for infants was developed, doctors had taken orange juice away from infants and given synethic vitamin C (ascorbic acid) either as drops or pills."

OUTWEIGHED

He added that the upsets and allergies suffered by a large percentage of the infant population outweighed the superior value of orange juice with its natural vitamin C, sugars and minerals.

But now that the new process has won approval of the American Medical Association and such highly accredited allergists as Dr. Bret Ratner, professor of clinical pediatrics and immunology at New York Medical College, pediatricians are starting to abandon the use of synthetic vitamin C in infants' diets and to return to natural orange juice, according to Dr. Levine.

Harvey S. Greenspan, president of the Bib Juice Corp. in Florida, started research on orange juice when his grandchildren could not take it without upset. He spent thousands of dollars before it was discovered that the peel oil in the juice was causing the trouble, and more time and money before a process was perfected for filtering out the offending oil.

ASKED SOLUTION

But pediatricians advised him that orange juice, even when free of peel oil, causes allergies and rashes in many infants and that they were discontinuing orange juice in infant diets. They asked him to solve the problem.

It was while his researchers were tackling this problem one day a man working at the finisher, where the pulp and seeds are discharged from the machine, developed a severe rash on his hands. Research showed that the rash was caused by contact with orange seeds.

Further studies proved that the protein from orange seeds is a major cause of allergies and rashes in infants. As a result of further research and technology, there was developed a process for canning orange juice for infants that filters out all seed protein as well as peel oil, and also stabilizes the flavor and vitamin C content.

Plainville News

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher of Bailieboro showed pictures of the Coronation and of their tour of the continent Thursday evening in the United Church. The ladies of the WMS served ice cream and cake. Proceeds of the evening amounted to $43.

Mrs. Earl Linton spent a few days visiting Miss Lillian Barker, Cobourg.

Miss Beryl Jones of Toronto spent the past weekend with her cousins, Misses Marian and Margaret McKinlay. Miss Peggy Jones returned home with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ritchie, Mrs. Ritchie Sr. and Miss Sheila Ritchie of Coldsprings visited Mrs. Thomas Buttar on Sunday evening.

Plainville farm forum picnic was held on Thursday at Nicholls Oval, Peterborough. Fifty sat down to well laden tables and listened to a talk by Mr. Kenneth Best, assistant agricultural representative of Peterborough.

Miss Berneice Linton has returned home from a six weeks tour of Western Canada and the southern states. She also spent a week visiting friends at Leamington.

Mr. Sidney MacDonald of Brighton was a guest of Paul McKinlay on Thursday.

Disney Movies Characterized By Enthusiasm

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One element characterizes all movies bearing the Walte Disney label. That is enthusiasm.

It is not hard to account for. It comes from the head man himself. I have known Disney for a long time and I never fail to marvel over his enthusiams, as well as his honesty.

He is concerned with many films, but the most interesting project is his true life adventure series. These, starting with "Seal Island" four years ago, have been unusually successful although they followed no movie pattern. The first four won Academy awards. These pictures tell the life cycles of ants and whales, apples and otters, penguins and parsnips.

A series on people is new. It will detail the modes and manners of folks in little known parts of the world, telling their struggles for existence and the urge for self perpetuation.

LIVELY INTEREST

Disney maintains a lively interest in every report from every camera crew. His men now are searching for a migration of whales in several oceans. One naturalist in Illinois has 25 cameras pointed at assorted vegetables and fruits. A professor and his wife are in the Falkland Islands, down in Patagonia, to record the life of the penguin.

In all, Walt says he has 31 camera crews scattered about the world. Some write him frequently, some rarely. In the first seven months of this year they sent him 625,000 feet of film—enough for 100 long features.

"You never know where you're going to get material," Disney says. "It comes from lectures, hobbyists, amateurs. We look at every bit of it and we're glad to have it."

HARD TO TOP

"We're told each picture gets better," said Disney. "Of course, we think so, too. But how are you going to top the last one? . . . We've been trying to top 'Snow White' for 15 years — and we can't do it. What could the seven dwarfs do again? Nothing. Just nothing.

"You remember 'The Three Little Pigs'? Best short we ever made. And it got talked into making some more little pig pictures, to my everlasting embarrassment. No one ever heard of them. A successful picture is great, and we like to make them. But they're a pain in the neck when you follow them, as you must."

Baptist Minister Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The Rev. Samuel J. Farmer, 88, active in the ministry for more than 60 years and former president of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec, died in hospital Friday. Although retired for several years, he had continued to preach until a few weeks ago.

Dr. Farmer was educated at Woodstock College and was graduated from the University of Toronto. He served pastorates in Brantford, Regina, Ottawa and Owen Sound.

He was a member of the Baptist home mission board.

Tourist Baby-Sitting Areas Suggested

TORONTO (CP)—Establishment of supervised baby-sitting areas at tourist resorts to enable parents to shop unhampered was suggested Monday at a semi-annual meeting of the Northern Great Lakes Area Council.

The council, comprising representatives of government travel bureaux and of resort owner associations, discussed this and other ways of encouraging visitors to stay as long as possible at the holiday spot of their choice.

C. C. Wells of Michigan told the council, which included delegates from Ontario, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, that rough-tongued customs and immigration officers at the international border could spoil an entire holiday for would-be tourists.

80th Anniversary Of Founding Of TLC

TORONTO (CP)—A gathering of 50 trade unionists in Toronto Monday celebrated the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the country's first national labor organization.

The body was originally called the Canadian Labor Union. Today the TLC is an organization of 560,000 members.

Percy Bengough, TLC president, speaking at the anniversary celebration, said two objectives will receive top priority this year. First is a demand for a parliamentary committee to consider the question of a comprehensive national health insurance project. Second is extension of unemployment insurance to cover unemployment resulting from illness.

Movie Veteran Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Francis Ford, 71, a serial star in the silent picture era, died Saturday at his home after long illness. Ford had also been a director and, in recent years, had appeared in TV films. He was a brother of director John Ford.

WOMEN HONORED—Three women were among the 29 persons who received honorary degrees from St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, N.S. Left to right: Mrs. H. T. Roesler, Toronto, co-founder of the Canadian Federation of Convent Alumnae; Dr. Eleanor Boyce, Winnipeg, lecturer, author and educationist; and Mrs. Fred Drake, of Regina, national president of the Catholic Women's League.

154 New Shows Scheduled For Fall Broadway Opening

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway's summer siesta is over and a new season is about to get started. No less than 154 new musicals and plays are on the schedule.

But anything from lack of funds to disappointing rehearsals can make a flop, and many of these will be casualties. This is the stage at which producers and laywrights have their fingers crossed.

From here, a straight comedy down for a November opening looks sure-fire. It's Norman Krasna's "Kind Sir," co-starring Mary Martin in her first Broadway role since "South Pacific," with Charles Boyer. The yog involves an actress and a Washington diplomat.

"A Penny to See the Peep Show," a hit on the British stage, is an early entry for the new season. So is Louis Peterson's play about a Negro boy's attempts at social adjustment, "Take a Giant Step." Twenty - three-year-old Alexander Fedoroff's "Day of Grace" about a young rector also will bow in early.

BELOVED COMEDIENNE

Josephine Hull, one of the most beloved comediennes on the stage and star of the 1941 hit "Arsenic and Old Lace," will appear in a new George S. Kaufman-Howard Teichman comedy, "The Solid Gold Cadillac," the story of a small investor in a big industrial concern.

Producers Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse plan several new productions. They'll lead off with a political comedy, "The Prescott Proposals," and follow up with two musicals. One is "The Works," by Herbert and Dorothy Fields. The other is based on the Palm Beach chapter in Cleveland Amory's novel "The Last Resorts."

NEW MUSICAL

A new musical which went over big in the straw hat season will get a chance at Broadway this season. It's a modern version of an Offenbach opera adapted by Ring Lardner called "To Hell With Orpheus."

The Playwrights Company has big plans for the season. A major effort will be "Sabrina Fair," by Samuel Taylor, the story of an American girl who comes home after three years in Paris and finds adjustment difficult. It will co-star Margaret Sullavan and Joseph Cotten.

Other Playwright offerings will be "The Devil's Hornpipe," a musical to be directed by Rouben Mamoulian, on leave from Hollywood film assignments, and "Tea and Sympathy," starring Deborah Kerr in her first Broadway appearance.

A John Patrick dramatization of a Vern Snyder novel about the South Pacific, "The Teahouse of the August Moon," will take up the story of a young U.S. Army officer who tries to impose western ways on South Pacific islanders, only to decide that their easy manner of living is better.

College Opens New Building

KITCHENER (CP) — St. Jerome's College, a Roman Catholic school founded in 1864 in a one-room log cabin, officially moved into a new $1,000,000 building Sunday.

Premier Frost presided at the opening.

The structure, situated at nearby Centreville, replaces the Kitchener buildings which will now serve exclusively as a high school.

Premier Frost said Canada must show the world how to live "but there could be no life, no development, without religion."

Rita Backs Haymes

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Rita Hayworth said Sunday night that she and crooner Dick Haymes will marry as soon as possible. "I'm 100-per-cent behind Dick in all his troubles," the actress told a reporter. "I love him and I will marry him here as soon as possible." Haymes, a native of Argentina, has been having immigration trouble since he flew to Hawaii last spring to visit Miss Hayworth.

Giant Panda Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—Mei-Lan, the last giant panda in the United States, died Saturday night at the approximate age of 15. The chubby teddy-bear-like animal with heavy black and white fur, had been a resident of Brookfield zoo since babyhood. Zoo director Robert Bean said Mei-Lan apparently succumbed to a heart ailment.

Says Stars Could Bombard Earth Catastrophically

By RENNIE TAYLOR

OULDER, Colo. (AP)—A catastrophic bombardment of the earth by cosmic rays from some distant star, causing great changes in existing forms of life and perhaps widespread injury or death, is theoretically possible, says a noted nuclear scientist.

It is possible that something like this happened ages ago, starting sudden, radical evolutionary changes which gave animal and plant life their present forms, the scientist added.

There is no way of predicting the likelihood of such an occurrence in future ages, he added, but if such a thing took place in the past it is possible that traces of it may be found in the fossil records extending back millions of years.

This startling idea was presented by Dr. Edward Teller, atomic physicist of the University of California, addressing the American Astronomical Society.

HAVE NEW THEORIES

New theories about the origin of cosmic rays are responsible for this speculation. These theories are based upon evidence of the existence of magnetic fields in the spiral arms of the Milky Way or galaxy, and around stars far outside that system.

When magnetic lines of force shift about in relation to each other they are capable of speeding up the movement of sub-atomic particles which become cosmic rays as they reach extremely high velocities.

The new concept of magnetic fields is that they are very weak and not very shifty. But Dr. Enrico Fermi, of atom bomb fame, presented to the Astronomical Society a tentative hypothesis that the lines of force in these fields might move enough to speed up such particles to cosmic ray proportions and drive them out into space.

Dr. Teller borrowed a theory advanced by a German scientist that cosmic rays are produced by scattered stars outside the galaxy.

Like the sun, these stars presumably have strong magnetic fields, and may produce some of the cosmic rays which constantly bombard the earth. These rays now strike the earth with about the same frequency as raindrops in a thunderstorm. Some of them have energies of thousands of billions of volts. This means that they are capable of busting atoms thoroughly and of causing changes in the substances which make the cells of plant and animal life.

CAN STOP ACTION

However, the earth's own magnetic field is capable of stopping many of these rays before they reach the earth's surface.

The few rays which penetrate the earth's field and reach the surface like raindrops consequently do not amount to much in the way of total energy. They are about equal to the force exerted by starlight striking the earth.

But, said Dr. Teller, if the earth should get directly into the path of a Milky Way magnetic line of force which was carrying rays from some far-off star that produces them in great strength and number, the result might be terrific.

Big stars in the middle of the milky way would be the greatest threat, Dr. Teller said, because so many of them are concentrated there.

Once in the direct range of this potent stream of rays, the earth's magnetic field wouldn't be much of a defence, Dr. Teller said.

Defence Quarters

OSLO (CP)—New headquarters for the northern region of NATO now are nearing completion at Kolsaas, near the Norwegian capital. The project includes 11 office buildings to accommodate several hundred staff members and employees.

Army Sifts Every Clue For 16 Men

Photographs Checked As Officials Admit Great Concern

OTTAWA (CP)— The army is sifting and checking every possible clue and scrap of information to try to find out what has become of 16 Canadians still unaccounted for in Korea.

At the same time, an official of the external affairs department said the 16 Canadians, or some of them, may be the human stakes in a grim game of we-know-you-have-them-no-we-haven't with the Communists.

"We are very concerned," said a spokesman for the defence department. "We are making every effort to get to the bottom of each case."

STUDY PICTURES

The armed forces have photographs of every person in uniform. The photographs of the missing—15 soldiers and one RCAF squadron leader—are being or will be shown to all 30 men returned by the Reds in operation "Big Switch."

From these photographs, mixed with those of other servicemen, the repatriates will try to pick out men they saw alive in Chinese prisoner-of-war camps. The returned prisoners will also be closely questioned. Any clue provided by one man would be cross-checked with other repatriates.

Returned prisoners will be assembled at the various commands across Canada for the check of photographs and interrogation or, in some cases, the photographs may be taken to the repatriate's home or his present army camp.

They may not be able to identify any. But the army said it does not wish to shatter or raise hopes of relatives of men still unaccounted for. The complete check will probably take a long time.

A THREE-COUNTY GET-TOGETHER is going on today with some 70 county councillors and officials from Haliburton and Victoria being entertained by the Peterborough County Council. In the morning they visited the county buildings in Victoria Park, then the City Hall, and after a tour of the city they had lunch at the Empress Hotel. Photo shows the three wardens looking over the day's agenda. Left to right —Vincent Fee of Victoria, Edward H. Peacock of Haliburton, and Ernest J. Leeson of Peterborough. Later today they will tour the county seeing the sights and checking on how Peterborough County stacks up with its neighbors. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Asks Asylum While Plane At U.S. Base

Afraid To Return Fugitive Tells Military Officials

SEOUL —(AP)— A Polish member of a neutral nations truce inspection team in South Korea today fled from his Iron Curtain countrymen and was given political asylum by an American air base commander, the U.S. army announced.

The Pole made his dramatic break as an airplane was warming up to take his inspection team back to North Korea.

"It's my last chance," the Pole told U. S. officers.

The army identified the man as Jan Hajdukiewicz, 28, a civilian interpreter with a neutral nations inspection team at Kangnung, on Korea's east coast.

The army said the Pole and other members of his team of Poles, Czechs, Swedes and Swiss, had been at Kangnung since Aug. 24.

STANDING ON AIRFIELD

Hajdukiewicz was standing on the Kangnung airfield with other members of the truce team at 5:30 a. m. today. The army said the Pole went up to an American officer attached to the unit inspection team, and said he was "afraid" to go back to Communist control and did not wish to return.

The Pole said he asked asylum because of "long standing opposition to communism."

The army said the Pole was a native of Lodz, and claimed he was not a Communist party member. The Pole said he was an employee of the import-export agency of the government when he was selected as an English language translator for the unit.

He arrived in Korea via Siberia and Manchuria by train Aug. 13.

The army said "in line with traditional U. S. policy of protecting and assisting political refugees, the air base commander placed the man under custody for his protection."

Will Stand Trial

OSHAWA (CP) — Roger John Corbett, charged with the July 23 murder of his brother, was committed today for trial when he appeared in court here for preliminary hearing. During today's hearing, Mrs. Dorothy Corbett, Roger's mother, testified her son was not normal at the time of the murder. She said Roger had tried suicide once before and was in a state of continual depression.

UN Charges Reds Holding Back 3,404 Prisoners

PANMUNJOM (CP)—The UN command today charged the Communists held back 3,404 Allied war captives—including three Canadians—and demanded a prompt accounting for each man. The chief of the Allied delegation to the Korean armistice commission told reporters the Reds had better account for the missing men—"or else." He did not amplify. Maj.-Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan turned over a carefully documented list to the Reds at an 86-minute meeting of the armistice commission. He warned the Communist officers:

"We now demand that you return these people to us or account to us for each of these individuals . . . we demand prompt action."

The Far East command said the list would not be released here, but in Washington. There, officials said they were doing all they could to speed release of the names, but the list might not be available for two days.

MAKE COUNTER CLAIM

The Communists said they reserved "the right to comment later," then countered with a demand for the return of 27,000 North Koreans released from Allied camps last June on orders from South Korea's President Syngman Rhee.

Bryan, dismissing the Red demand as "a blast," told his armistice commission counterpart:

"It is self evident we are not forcibly holding these people."

He told the Reds your UN list covered only men known to have been captured, who were not repatriated during Operation Big Switch, which ended Sunday.

"None of these people have been reported by you as having escaped or died," Bryan added.

The list also included 2,410 South Koreans, nine Australians, eight South Africans, three Belgians, five Turks, two Colombians and one Greek.

EXCEEDS NUMBER

Bryan told the Reds the list "exceeds the number whom you have stated do not desire repatriation by about 3,100."

The Communists say about 300 Koreans and 20 non-Koreans do not want to return to their homelands.

Sixteen Canadians are still officially listed as missing in action in Korea.

Allied and Communist PoWs who refused repatriation during Operation Big Switch will be turned over to a five-country repatriation commission. During that time UN and Red officers will try to convince them to return.

The first of about 7,800 North Korean prisoners who spurned repatriation began the trip from Koje island off Korea's south coast to the demilitarized zone near Panmunjom where they will be guarded by Indian troops while their fate is decided.

Waving South Korean flags and singing national songs, 570 PoWs arrived at Pusan and boarded trains for the journey northward.

Meanwhile, 1,900 of 14,500 balky Chinese prisoners were en route from PoW camps to Inchon harbor by ship. After arriving Thursday, they will go by train to the demilitarized zone.

The Koreans left Koje in orderly fashion, many wore headbands stamped with the Republic of Korea emblem and reading, "advance north for unification."

And while the PoWs moved toward the buffer zone, 74 Swedish, Indian and Swiss members of the repatriation commission left Tokyo for Korea.

They will be joined by officers from Poland and Czechoslovakia who will make the trip to the demilitarized zone from Communist China.

3 Youths Go Over Falls, Live To Tell It

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Three youths are alive today after cheating death in a desperate dash down the Saint John river and over the famed reversing falls.

The three, Ron Beckett, 22, Harry Tippett, 16 and Kenneth Doherty, 20, all of Saint John, flirted with death Tuesday when their power-driven skiff was sucked down the river at a time when it is considered impassable.

Several lives have been lost in past years in the rapids at the foot of the falls. The youths were the first to successfully make the descent.

The perilous period occurs when the high Funday tide races in at a level higher than the river at its mouth and creates a moving waterfall. When the tide goes out, the water flows the other way, creating an outgoing falls. When the levels are even, the river is navigable.

SEE ROUGH WATER

The youths in Beckett's 22-foot skiff were going downriver when they saw rough water ahead. They steered for Crow island but rampaging water made landing impossible and they were forced to try for Marble Cove.

The boat's four and one-half horsepower motor was of little use against the rushing waters and minutes later the small craft was over the falls. The boat filled with water and the engine died. At the foot of the falls Tippett jumped from the boat, fearing it was going down, but was hauled back by his mates.

All three bailed furiously as the boat raced past three small islands in the mouth of the river. As the craft neared Split rock the youths swam for shore. Firemen and police assisted the three, all strong swimmers, from the water.

"We were more than scared to death," Beckett said later.

Give $500,000 Aid To Greece P.M. Announces

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today that Canada will provide $500,000 worth of aid to Greece, hit by earthquakes in the last month.

The decision to grant aid to Greece—in the form of foodstuffs and construction materials—was reached during the morning session of a day-long cabinet meeting —the second since the Liberals were returned to power Aug. 10.

The cabinet recessed at 1.15 p. m. EDT for lunch and was scheduled to meet again at 2.30 p. m. to continue discussions on government business.

Mr. St. Laurent, speaking to reporters as he emerged from the morning session, said the cabinet also has reached a decision on the request of federal civil servants for a year-round five-day week.

ANNOUNCED LATER

He said the decision will be made public later today. Parliamentary sources believe the cabinet has agreed to extend the five-day week, formerly granted to government employees during the summer months only. During other months the employees have worked a 5½-day week.

Mr. St. Laurent said the cabinet also will announced later today the reappointment of parliamentary assistants whose terms of office had expired at the end of the last session of Parliament.

He said, however, that he did not think any other appointments would be announced. There had been some speculation that he might reshuffle his cabinet and appoint a new public works minister to succeed Hon. Alphonse Fournier, who has been appointed to the Exchequer Court bench.

NOT NECESSARY

Reporters asked Mr. St. Laurent if he planned to announce a firm date for the opening of the first session of the 22nd Parliament and whether the cabinet had taken up the issue of imports of United States natural gas into Toronto and the Niagara district.

Mr. St. Laurent replied that he did not think it is necessary to fix a firm date for the next session immediately. It already was known publicly that the date

Officials Of 2 Counties Visit

Today the Peterborough County Council are playing host to some 50 fellow county councillors and officials from Victoria and Haliburton. It is a good-will visit with no official business being discussed and the day's program consists mainly of an inspection of county buildings and roads, plus a sightseeing tour that takes in the best-known landmarks of the district. The reception committee, under the chairmanship of Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore Township, informally welcomed the visitors at 10:15 a.m. today when they arrived in two buses at the county buildings. They looked around the County Council chambers, the court and adjoining buildings and then went to the City Hall where they were welcomed by Mayor Hugh Waddell.

Then they proceeded by bus east on Hunter St., past the Quaker Oats Co., St. Joseph's Hospital and Nicholls Oval; had a look at the county garage, Armour Hill, the Lift Lock; and went via Downer's Corners and Lansdowne St. to the Civic Hospital and Jackson Park, ending up at the Empress Hotel for lunch.

Here they hoped they would be joined by Premier Leslie Frost, but he was unable to get away from a meeting of the Milk Board in Toronto.

Among the guests were Warden Edward H. Peacock of Haliburton, Warden Vincent Fee of Victoria, Clayton Hodgson, MP, and Judge J. A. McGibbon of Lindsay.

The agenda for the afternoon called for a bus trip to visit the Chemong Causeway, a look at the newly-paved Buckhorn road, Peterborough County Home, G. K. Fraser, MP, home at Burleigh Falls, the Nepheline Mines, and the new high school in Norwood.

Tonight the officials will wind up the day with a dinner at 7 p.m. at the Kawartha Club.

Last year the Peterborough County Council were invited by Victoria for a similar junket; so at the last meeting of the council they decided to reciprocate, inviting Haliburton as well who were hosts to Peterborough some years previously.

Showdown Battle Seen Between Douks, B.C. Gov't

VICTORIA (CP) — A shakedown battle appears to be building up between the British Columbia government and the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors over the question of Doukhobor children's attending provincial schools. Two Freedomites were arrested Tuesday and charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency after all but a handful of the 400 odd Doukhobor children failed to return for the first day of school. The RCMP said more arrests are expected.

The arrests were the first action taken by the government following Attorney-General Robert Bonner's announcement that the government intends to see that the children go to school this year.

Meanwhile the RCMP said three bombing incidents and a nude parade appear to be the opening moves of a Freedomite campaign against compulsory education.

NUDE PARADE

Tuesday 75 singing adults staged a nude parade outside a school beside their tent town at Perry Siding, 35 miles from Nelson in the B. C. interior. The parade came after 15 students, including 10 Doukhobors, attended for the opening day.

And at Grand Forks, in the southern interior region, the Canadian Pacific Railway's Kettle Valley line was dynamited Tuesday. A fruit train was held up while repairs were made.

Another bombing was reported on the CPR line at nearby Okanagan last Saturday and an unexploded bomb was found on a track near Nelson a week ago.

Mr. Bonner in a press conference Tuesday, said the decision to educate the young Doukborors was basic to assimilating them into the province's society. He said many children have been attending regularly but others have been taken out of school from time to time by their parents.

Navy Launch Said Fired On

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A Chinese Communist vessel today opened fire on a Royal Navy motor launch on patrol duty in the Pearl river estuary 20 miles southwest of Hong Kong, the navy announced today.

The navy said casualties had been sustained on the launch but refused to give further details.

(The admiralty in London issued a report of the attack in similar terms earlier today but did not identify the attackers as Communists.)

The 72-foot motor launch normally carries a crew of 14. She was built for seaward defence.

Boats of this class are armed with one three-pounder or one 40-M. M. gun, plus a 20-M. M. anti-aircraft gun.

The destroyer Concord, which raced to the scene was fired on herself by Red Chinese batteries in August, 1950, in the approaches to Hong Kong. She was not damaged.

Pilots Revolt Against Rules

FARNBOROUGH, England (CP) Britain's jet jockeys—the pilots fly frail machines at supersonic speeds—were reported in revolt today over new safety rules at the Farnborough air show.

First to fall afoul of the new rules was Canada's W. A. (Bill) Waterton, chief test pilot for the Gloster Aircraft Company.

"I got a terrific rocket," the bristly-moustached flier told reporters. "I was reprimanded for pointing my plane at the crowd during rehearsals Monday. Still, I don't see how I can avoid flying like that if I'm to put on a show."

The regulations say pilots must not point their aircraft in the direction of the public enclosures at less than three miles' distance. The precautions are believed linked with last year's disaster at Farnborough, when John Derry's jet fighter disintegrated, scattering wreckage and causing 27 deaths.

Waterton, a native of Edmonton who grew up in Camrose, Alta., received his reprimand from Group Capt. S. W. R. Hughes, officer in charge of flying. He was then called before Hugh Burroughs, president of the Society of British Aircraft Constructors, and warned against "dangerous" flying. Other pilots, however, were reported in agreement with Waterton that the new rules would be hard to enforce.

Waterton, in his early 30s, was awarded the George Medal last year for saving valuable technical records when the Delta-winged Javelin prototype he was flying burst into flames after a crash landing. Shortly after the crash Waterton told The Canadian Press the incident had only enhanced his faith in the Javelin.

TUC Opposes Minimum Wage

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (CP)— The giant Trades Union Congress went on record today against fixing a legal minimum wage in Britain.

Delegates representing 8,000,000 members of the TUC rejected a resolution proposing a minimum wage rate after Arthur Deakin, boss of the huge Transport and General Workers' Union, argued it would mean a general clampdown on all wage negotiations.

"We don't want wages determined purely on a fodder basis," Deakin said, "but on a basis of productivity and efficiency."

Britain has no minimum wage rate by government decree at the present time.

Song Hit Writer Placed On Probation

CHERTSEY, Eng. (Reuters)—A British songwriter who wrote such money-making hits as "Show Me The Way To Go Home" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" was placed on three years' probation here today on a £3 fraud charge.

James Alexander Balfour Campbell Tyrie, 50, pre-war toast of London's west end, was ordered to spend a year in hospital and to repay the money he swindled from the hotel by leaving without paying the bill.

Tyrie wrote under the name of Jimmy Campbell and was formerly married to Betty Balfour, star of silent movies.

Condition Critical

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Murray Bowman, 37, of St. Catharines, severly injured Monday in an automobile accident in which a taxi-driver was killed, was still in critical condition in hospital here today. Killed when his cab collided with a car was Thomas Mullarky, 44, of St. Catharines. Bowman was a passenger in the cab. The driver of the other car was unhurt.

Windsor Mayor Enters Plowing Competition

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Arthur J. Reaume announced Tuesday he will compete with other Canadian mayors in a plowing match next month and then set out for a nearby farm to take instructions in the art.

Mayor Reaume will represent Windsor on the field of battle against such formidable competitors as Mayor Alan Lamport of Toronto, last year's winner, and mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa.

Mayor Reaume, who said he hardly knows the difference between "a plow and an airplane," expects to get in about 10 hours practice before the contest is held at Cobourg.

Germans Lead Immigrants

OTTAWA (CP) — Germans formed the largest group of immigrants to Canada in the first seven months this year, the citizenship and immigration department said today.

Of the 98,033 coming to Canada in the January-July period, 19,939 were Germans, nearly 2,000 more than in the same period a year ago.

The total number of immigrants represented a 15-per-cent decrease from the 114,744 admitted into Canada between January and July last year. The number of north Europeans dropped five per cent and south Europeans and others 42 per cent. The number of immigrants from the British Isles and the United States increased four per cent.

The English took over from the Dutch as the second largest group to immigrate. Italians formed the fourth largest group, though their number fell from 15,332 to 9,746.

More than half the immigrants in the first seven months this year, 50,465, were bound for Ontario.

Mother, 4 Children Flee Burning House

MASSEY, Ont. (CP)—A mother and her four children escaped from their burning home here Tuesday with only the clothes they were wearing. The 1½ - storey house was destroyed.

Mrs. Henry Fourier ran out of a neighbor's house to see smoke pouring from her own home. She rescued her children and managed to save a new refrigerator.

Predicts Something New

Canadian System Of Laws May Grow Out Of Culture

QUEBEC (CP)—A Canadian system of laws—different from that of England or France—may grow out of the country's dual culture, president Andre Taschereau of the Canadian Bar Association said today.

In a presidential address prepared for delivery before 800 delegates to the 35th annual meeting of the CBA, Mr. Taschereau said the Quebec civil code was predominantly of French origin, while English common law was practised in the other Canadian provinces.

The 55-year-old Quebec lawyer, discussing origin of Quebec's French civil laws, said he understands some rulings by the Imperial Privy Council in Canadian cases were inspired from civil law, while others found a basis in English common law.

"Are we on the way in Canada to create a new system of laws of our own, different from those of both England and France, which will be mostly Canadian, though inspired by two great systems of law? This question I dare not answer.

"But it is commonplace among lawyers to recognize that no system of law can be static and that the laws have to be made for the individual and not the individual for the law."

Mr. Taschereau urged lawyers to make a serious study of comparative law "in particular because of the fact that closer relations are being established between this civil law province and the common law provinces as a result of the tremendous economic development of our country."

"It would be futile to ask a common law lawyer who will not practise in this province to become an authority in civil law, or a civil law lawyer to become an expert in common law.

"But my suggestion is that each lawyer in Canada, should, in the interest of his client and of the profession as a whole, have at least a general idea of the principles of the other."

Liner Takes Canadian Greek Relief Supplies

HALIFAX (CP)—The Greek passenger liner Nea Hellas will sail from here next Wednesday with almost $21,000 worth of Red Cross relief supplies for earthquake victims in Greece.

The supplies come from Red Cross workers across Canada. Next week's shipment will include 900 layettes worth more than $7,000, 665 pairs of shoes valued a $5,000, and $8,800 worth of blankets.

The Canadian Red Cross ha spent $57,000 so far in aid to Greek quake-stricken areas. Two plane loaded with supplies went earlier

Speaks Out of Turn

Adenauer Intends To Keep Foreign Minister's Office

BONN, Germany (Reuters) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced today that he would retain the office of foreign minister following his victory in last weekend's West German election.

He made his decision known soon after Heinrich von Bretano, chairman of the chancellor's Christian Democratic party, had told a group of foreign press correspondents that the chancellor would give up the post.

Von Bretano made his statement in such a way that he left them in no doubt that he believed he would get the job.

Adenauer's announcement came in the form of an official release from his press office. A senior press office official said von Brentano's earlier statement made things "very embarrassing indeed."

The Adenauer announcement said: "Concerning the demand made by the Free Democratic party (a rightist coalition partner) during the election campaign for the separation of the foreign ministry from the person of the federal chancellor, the federal press office declares that the decision of the German people on Sept. 6 represents such a clear request for the continued conduct of foreign policy by the chancellor that the relinquishment of the foreign ministry by chancellor Dr. Adenauer cannot be considered as relevant."

When von Brentano was informed of this announcement, he said he stood by his earlier declaration. He had called a press conference to discuss the effect of the Christian Democrats' electoral triumph on West Germany's foreign policy.

First, he confirmed reports that Adenauer would give up the foreign ministry. Asked directly whether the post would go to him, von Brentano replied that the final decision rested with the party.

Von Brentano, 49, a lawyer and prominent member of the European unity movement, discussed at length the country's foreign policy.

2 Hitch-Hikers Beat Driver

OSHAWA (CP)—Frank Nichol, 25, of Oshawa suffered severe head lacerations and undetermined injuries today when he was beaten up by two hitch-hiking youths.

Nichol told police he was knocked unconscious and tossed over a fence on a side road two miles north of here.

The youths then kicked the lights out of his car, tore off the licence plates, scratched the finish, kicked dents in the fenders and bent the gear shift.

Nichol crawled some 200 yards to a farm house.

Churchill, Wife Will Visit Queen

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill and his wife will join the Queen Saturday at the last of the season's classic horse races and then travel with her on the royal train for a visit to Balmoral Castle, the Queen's Scottish residence.

The prime minister and Lady Churchill have been invited by the Queen to spend three days at the castle. This is a customary invitation made to prime ministers during the Queen's stay at Balmoral.

The Churchills plan to leave London Friday and will spend the night at Rotherham as guests of the Earl of Scarborough in his Yorkshire home.

Saturday they will go on to Doncaster in Yorkshire, where the St. Leger races will be run. There are reports that later this month Churchill will visit Nice as a guest of Lord Beaverbrook.

Adenauer Sees Defence Pact Before 1954

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer predicted Tuesday that the European Defence Community will come into existence before the end of this year.

He indicated at the same time that he is considering some positive action to reassure France on the question of German rearmament and the role West Germany will play in the proposed European organization.

He said he was unable to discuss for publication what form these actions may take.

VERY OPTIMISTIC

In an interview the chancellor said: "I am completely optimistic about EDC."

Answering a question, he said: "I expect that it will come into effect before the end of this year."

The European Defence community is a plan to organize a joint army, drawn from troops from France, Italy, the three Benelux countries and West Germany.

It has not yet been ratified by France where there is much opposition to it, mainly for fear of a resurgent Germany.

Rising Tide Frees Liner

LE HAVRE, France (CP)—France's largest liner, the luxurious, 50,000-ton Liberte with 1,075 passengers aboard, was stuck six hours on a mud bank outside this port Tuesday before being freed on a rising tide.

The big ship, carrying mostly New York-bound Americans, went aground in a fog while the harbor pilot was still aboard. French Line officials said she was never in danger.

After being freed by tugs the Liberte, formerly the German liner Europa, proceeded to Southampton to pick up another 350 passengers before proceeding to New York.

The liner's captain radioed that the grounding had caused no damage worth mentioning.

Tass Representative In Press Gallery

OTTAWA (CP)—Tass, Russian News Agency, again has a representative in the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

The gallery executive, reversing a previous decision after the Tass representative got his papers in order, Tuesday posted a notice that it has approved the application for membership of Ivan Tsvetkov.

The press gallery in March rejected Mr. Tsvetkov's application for membership on the grounds that he entered Canada on a diplomatic passport and was attached to the Soviet Embassy here. The gallery does not grant membership to employees of any government agency.

Mr. Tsvetkov took his passport to Canada's external affairs department and a non-immigrant visa was substituted for the diplomatic visa on which he entered Canada.

After that, the Tass man renewed his application.

Dr. Lorne Nixon Dies In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Lorne William Nixon, 63, a prominent Ottawa doctor, died Tuesday.

He was graduated in medicine in 1915 from Queen's University, Kingston, and practised for 22 years at Richmond, Ont. He practised in Ottawa from 1928 until his retirement last year.

Survivors include his widow, the former Emma Turner of Kingston.

To Have Operation

Auditor Reports Revenue Led '52 Expenditures

While the cost of municipal government in Peterborough has been going up year by year, the city's revenues have more than kept pace.

Total revenue in 1952 was $3,157,488.89, which was some $542,600 more than the previous year. Revenue from taxation last year increased by $472,500 over 1951, while licences, fees, rents and miscellaneous revenues showed considerable increases over previous years.

The increase in revenue from taxes was attributed to the increase in assessment amounts and taxes on new properties by Edward Humpage, city auditor, in his annual report for 1952.

Last year's total expenditure was $3,071,436.37, which was some $450,000 higher than in 1951. Considerable increases over the previous year were shown in the various departments, particularly in health and sanitation, social services and education.

SURPLUS

The city had a net surplus of $86,052.52 last year, after bringing into the accounts the deficit of $5,699.92 from the previous year. Actual revenue exceeded estimated revenue by $8,337, while ordinary expenditures were less than the estimated expenditure by $74,463.

Taxes outstanding at the end of 1952 totalled $194,895.61. This amount is an increase of $30,000 over the previous year. Of the amount in arrears, $127,438 was for 1952 and $44,781 for 1951.

Bank loans and overdrafts last year totalled $738,000. This large amount is due to loans to capital account and other accounts as represented by accounts to be received.

Of this total sum, $554,000.39 represents bank loans and overdrafts for local improvements and so on, finished and in process, and the city hall building and similar expenditures paid from current funds.

Flames Force Four To Jump

MONTREAL (CP)—Four Montrial people were rushed to hospital early today following a fire in a De Bullion street roominghouse which forced roomers to jump from second storey windows to escape the smoke and flames.

Three of the four hospital cases —Miss Annie Murphy, 71, Napoleon Brouillette, 72, and Louis Dutille, 58, were reported in critical condition from burns. A fourth, Mrs. Alphonse Gadouas, 58, suffered burns on her left hand and was detained for treatment of shock.

The fire of unknown origin, whipped through the building. Ten persons escaped.

Bystanders broke the fall of persons jumping from windows.

Pleads Not Guilty To Wounding Wife

HAMILTON (CP) — Arraigned this morning on charges of shooting at his wife, Mabel, with intent to maim, and with wounding her, George Greenaway, 41, of no fixed address, entered pleas of not guilty.

Mrs. Greenaway, who went to the witness box on crutches, told of being accosted on the street by her husband on July 14.

"He pulled me around the corner . . . and pulled out a gun. He deliberately pointed it at my stomach. He had his finger on the trigger. I knocked his arm, and the gun went off. The bullet went through my foot."

Percy Killingbeck Honored For Arena Service

In recognition of his public service as chairman of the Civic Arena committee of management for five years, Percy Killingbeck was presented with a club bag at a dinner Tuesday night at Forest Hill Lodge, Lovesick Lake.

Mr. Killingbeck was chairman of the committee from its inception until his resignation in May.

The presentation was made by Mayor Hugh F. Waddell "as a gift from the citizens of Peterborough". Chairman of the dinner, attended by present and past members of the committee, was Geddes Harper. He introduced John Evans of the Bank of Montreal as the new secretary-treasurer of the Arena, who has succeeded A. G. Silver, recently transferred by the bank to its main office in Windsor.

Mayor Waddell expressed to Mr. Killingbeck public appreciation of Mr. Killingbeck's work as as member and chairman of the committee. The Arena had filled a need in the city. Its efficient management was reflected in part by the large reduction of the sum expended by the council in providing the building for community purposes.

Mr. Killingbeck thanked the members for their presence and kind references to the work the committee of management had been able to do.

RECEIVED HELP

He recalled experiences from the time the Arena was proposed, gratefully mentioned the assistance received from many citizens, and paid tribute to the support of the city council during the time when the late William G. Ovens, and after him, Max J. Swanston, held the office of mayor. That was the period when the Arena was organized and constructed. Since then, the council had also been heartily cooperative.

The present Arena trustees, who are unpaid for their services, are: Geddes Harper, Stan McBride, John Evans, Alderman P. J. Anglesey, Alderman Gordon Farquaharson, Mayor Waddell, Bert O. McLeod.

Former members of the committee present Tuesday night were: Hurrell Dodds, Dick Ouimet, Max Swanston, James E. Gillespie; with Mayor Waddell, Walter Smillie, manager, A. Barrett, Mr. Harper, Mr. McBride, Mr. Evans and Mr. Killingbeck.

Ald. Farquharson, Ald. Anglesey and Mr. McLeod sent regrets that they were unable to attend.

Admits Drunk In Car; Jailed

Pleading guilty to a charge of having care and control of a car while intoxicated, Wesley Johnson, 43, of Ennismore, was sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp today.

Johnson, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said, was found drunk behind the wheel of his car Tuesday night. The key of the vehicle was in the ignition lock at the time.

In addition to the jail sentence, Johnson's car was impounded for three months and his owner's and driver's permits suspended.

Union, Dairies Continue Milk Talks

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiators for Toronto's 1,700 milk drivers and 13 dairies met today with Labor Minister Daley in another attempt to head off a city-wide milk delivery strike.

The negotiating committee of the AFL Milk Drivers Union and representatives of the dairy operators met separately with Mr. Daley and Chief Conciliation officer Louis Fine for 14 hours Tuesday and early today.

The talks broke up at 1:30 a. m. with both sides agreeing to continue discussions although the threat of wildcat strike hung over the dispute. Ray McColl, special representative of the AFL Teamsters Union who came here from Washington to assist the Toronto local, said at the end of Tuesday night's session: "We'll be back but I don't know under what conditions."

The discussions were adjourned at the request of Mr. Daley to give the operators more time to consider a new formula presented by the union to avert a strike. The union committee wished to continue the talks without a break in an attempt to seek a showdown on the delivery question.

COUNTER SUGGESTION

The union's latest proposal was presented to counter the suggestion of the dairies that a five-day delivery system eliminating Wednesday home deliveries was the only answer to a wage increase without a price increase.

Milk costs 22 cents a quart delivered. The dairies have agreed to boost wages $5.50 a week, plus $1 weekly to a welfare fund, and give a higher commission on volume sales in return for union acceptance of five-day delivery.

The proposal called for non-delivery of milk Saturdays, which would make two consecutive days —Saturday and Sunday—when no milk deliveries would be made to Toronto homes.

The question of considering the proposal through the night or resuming later this morning at one point posed a critical issue before the parties. The union membership apparently had been put on the alert for either a settlement or a strike by early this morning and union leaders were reluctant to adjourn the talks without a decision. Shortly before midnight instructions were issued to stewards at the dairies to begin loading milk.

The Ontario milk board met Tuesday and was reported to have studied financial statements requested from the dairies. The board has power to fix prices and to regulate delivery.

Pope Urges Youth To Fight For Christ

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Pope urged Roman Catholic youth throughout the world today to fight for Christ and the church in a "world that is so inhuman because it is so anti-Christian."

The Pope spoke to diocesan assistants of Youths of Catholic Action in Italy. But his words, given in a special audience Tuesday and released today by the Vatican press office, were meant for "all Catholic forces" and especially for youth.

The Pontiff warned youth against the dangers of the modern world, which, he said, "deafens youths with its clamor and tires them with its constant restlessness."

"With certain old structures now collapsed, it is necessary to undertake the work of building a world which under many aspects would be different and better."

The Pope urged Catholic youth especially to devote itself to this task.

Limit On Ducks Dropped For Hunters

OTTAWA (CP)—Limits on the total number of ducks and geese that can be shot by a hunter during any one season have been dropped this year from the migratory bird regulations, the resources department said today.

"Season bag limits were removed this year because they had been found to be unenforceable and unnecessary," the announcement said.

The department said there had been a rumor that hunters in the James bay area this year will be allowed a season bag limit of 25 geese and that natives can take all they can reasonably use. The limits on goose hunters in Ontario and Quebec are a daily bag limit of five geese and a possession limit of 10 geese, and these rules apply also to native hunters.

11 Fishermen Drown

MARENNES, France (Reuters) Eleven amateur fishermen were drowned Tuesday night off the island of Oleron, on France's Atlantic coast, when they were cut off by the tide, police reported today.

One member of the party, a priest, escaped.

DONOR PRODUCTION LINE — When sailors of the Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent and the cruiser Quebec were in New York they lined up and donated blood to the United States Red Cross. A production line was set up on the awning-covered quarter-deck of the Quebec with American nurses checking on "Operation Donor."

Touring Young Farmers To Visit Peterborough

Thirty-three boys and girls from Wellington county farms are due in Peterborough Saturday at 12:30 p.m. for lunch on their way home from a tour as far east as Ottawa.

This party comprises the young people who stood at the top of the various 4-H Clubs in Wellington. They are at the CNE, Toronto, today, go on to Prince Edward (maybe a swim in Lake Ontario) and Kemptville, Thursday; on to the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, the parliament buildings and other sights of the capital, returning west by No. 7 and Peterborough.

Herb Norry, assistant agricultural representative, is in charge of the trip, and Mrs. Ewart Rowan, Belwood, RR 5, is chaperon. Lunch here will be at Nicholls Oval.

As for the natural gas issue, Mr. St. Laurent considered that was an appropriate question for "boards" to decide, not the cabinet.

"We are not the authority to decide on natural gas," he said. "There are boards which pass on these matters."

Sources outside the cabinet had stated that if Canada allows the imports of American natural gas into Toronto, it might kill the economic feasibility of an all-Canadian Line for Alberta's natural gas.

MAKE SUGGESTION

Elaborating on the announcement of aid to Greece, Mr. St. Laurent said the Greek government has suggested that the $500,000 donation be made up of $200,000 worth of salt cod, $50,000 worth of powdered milk and $250,000 worth of construction materials.

The Canadian government will try to meet that request as closely as possible, Mr. St. Laurent said.

The government would have to ascertain whether it can use the $500,000 from appropriations already approved by Parliament or whether a new submission will have to be prepared for approval at the November session.

Preliminary Hearing To Be Held Friday

GUELPH (CP) — Preliminary hearing of the case of Jeffrey Robertson, 21, of Erin, charged with the murder of his uncle on Sept. 5, will be held Friday, J. M. Kearns, crown attorney, said today.

Robertson was captured by police in a barn near his farm home after John Mackie, 46, was shot during a family squabble.

U. S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 11-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 98 22-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.76⅞, against $2.77¼.

Stock Market Refuses Climb Out Of Rut

TORONTO (CP)—At the half-way mark in today's session, the stock market showed no signs of climbing out of the rut it fell into Tuesday.

Industrials continued to draw selective support with steels and utilities in best demand. Base metals lacked aggressiveness and golds and western oils faded slowly.

Gains in industrials were scored by Hamilton Bridge, Canadian Celanese and Great Western Coal A. Banks and liquors were mostly on the downside while St. Lawrence Corporation dropped sharply in papers.

Higher in base metals were Sherritt - Gordon International Nickel and Hudson Bay but East Sullivan and Golden Manitou faded.

Most uraniums and New Brunswick base metals continued to fade, Gunnar, Sudbury Contact, Landover and Chimo showing losses to 15 cents. New Larder U bucked the trend for a good gain.

Western oils posted declines in two out of three issues traded. Lower were Britalta, General Petroleum A, Peruvian and Pacific. Jasper and New Superior advanced.

Golds came under pressure for the second day as Malartic, Bralorne, Madsen and Preston East Dome wilted. Lamaque and Hollinger managed small gains.

Start To Build Separate School In Otonabee

Pouring of concrete footings for a Separate School on the River Road, Otonabee, was begun this morning by the contractor, Joseph H. Vasey. The site is about three-quarters of a mile from Coldsprings, toward Peterborough.

The building will consist of one class room, with accommodation for all the primary school grades, and it is expected to be completed before Christmas. Rev. W. C. McCarney, pastor of the parish of the Assumption, said today there was already a waiting list of 32 pupils who are at present attending other schools.

An increasing population in the Otonabee suburb of the city has been creating an educational problem that dictated the undertaking of the new school, RCSS No. 16.

St. Joseph's School on the old Keene Road, near the church of the Assumption, has reached the limit of its capacity. Children on the west side of the parish are attending in the city where the accommodation is also limited. It has been recognized that the oveflow of Otonabee residents from the city was likely to increase, and for those reasons the new school became an imperative.

Scientists To Meet

TORONTO (CP)—Medical scientists from many parts of the world will gather here Sept. 15 for the opening of the Charles H. Best Institute for Medical Research at the University of Toronto. The new building will be largely devoted to the work on diabetes and hardening of the arteries.

Queen Returns To London Early In October Prior To Australian Trip

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Queen will break off a long, rustic-style Scottish holiday in early October to resume the heavier affairs of state —this time, a round-the-world tour.

Her two-month stay amid family and hobbies has been "even more of a necessity" this year, as a Buckingham Palace official said. She'll leave Balmoral Castle, traditional grouse - season vacation spot, refreshed from the rigors of her Coronation duties. Late in November, she departs for Bermuda, New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon and other Empire points. She is scheduled to return in mid-May, 1954.

With the exception of dispatch boxes of state papers, flown in daily, the Queen has been on full holiday schedule at Balmoral. Only two public appearances were scheduled—both unofficial and close to her heart.

TO ATTEND ST. LEGER

As usual, a visit to the Braemar gathering, Scotland's foremost Highland Games, was down for early September. She will go to the Doncaster race meeting in Yorkshire for the Sept. 12 St. Leger, where her Aureole runs once more against Pinza, the Derby winner. She won't linger, returning the night of the race to be with her children and continue such hobbies as fishing, reading, seeing films and playing canasta.

The Queen is a good angler who will rise early with the Duke of Edinburgh and Queen Mother Elizabeth. A keen photographer, she takes her camera to record the day's catches.

The Queen seldom accompanies the Duke on his shooting parties, preferring to stay with Prince Charles and Princess Anne. One wifely duty is keeping the shooting score. She enters the daily bag in the gold-bound royal game book—a record that decides the royal champion.

So far, the Duke of Edinburgh has not topped the list. Distinction usually falls to the Duke of Gloucester, who has the same keen eye as his father, George V, one of the half-dozen best shots of his reign.

DAILY "HOMEWORK"

Whatever the Queen's occupation, she returns each afternoon to the castle for delivery of the state papers. Like her father, George VI, she refers to this job as her "homework" and makes it a point never to leave a paper unread until the following day. Each report from ambassador or government department is read and signed for return to Whitehall next day.

The Queen's devotion to duty sometimes makes her late for dinner and guests may wait half an hour or longer. No meal can start until she's seated.

At Balmoral, the Queen does most of her reading for pleasure. Regularly new books arrive from London, but these rarely include the thrillers that were favored before her accession. She now finds them too involved or too easy to guess and prefers biographies, contemporary histories and novels dealing with problems of today.

Films are flown to the castle along with the state papers and shown to guests and staff in a basement cinema. Many are westerns, big favorites of the Duke of Edinburgh.

Jewish Community Welcomes New Year of 5714

At sunset today, the Jewish community of Peterborough in accordance with age-old tradition will usher in the year 5714 with special services in the Synagogue. The celebration of Rosh Hashanah or as it is also called "Day of Judgment" will continue until sunset on Friday.

It is one of the most important holidays in the Jewish calendar. Rosh Hashanah means much to the devout Jew. He withdraws from material interests and goes to the Synagogue to hear the message of Rosh Hashanah and offer prayers to the Almighty for a Happy New Year and forgiveness of his transgressions during the past year.

REPENTANCE

And with the advent of Rosh Hashanah will commence a ten-day Repentance period which will culminate on Saturday, Sept. 19th at the close of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the most solemn day in the Jews religious calendar.

During the Thursday and Friday morning services the Rabbi standing before the replica of the Holy of Holies will blow the Shofar, ram's horn, to which the congregation will listen with awe and reverence. The purpose of the sounding of the ram's horn is to arouse the conscience of the worshippers to the sense of their obligations to their fellow men as well as to admonish them of their individaul shortcomings.

The three types of blasts of the Shofar symbolize three great ideas of Judaism— the recognition of God as the King of the Universe, as Judge who remembers the actions as well as the thoughts of men and nations, and rewards and punishes each accordingly, and finally as the Revealer of history Who in the end of time will have gathered all mankind unto Him in righteousness.

No other Festival or Holy Day has had as great an influence upon the Jew as the High Holy Days of this month, for in truth it is the greatest of all holy days. It brings the greatest moral lesson to the Jew, and through the Jew even to the entire humanity.

According to Jewish tradition, Rosh Hashanah also marks the birthday of the world and the birthday of the first man. It was on Rosh Hashanah that God created the world and it was on Rosh Hananah that He created Adam in His own image. The Jew according to this tradition celebrates on this Holy Day the birthday not of the father of the Jewish people alone but of the father of all humanity.

This aspect of the Holy Days of Rosh Hashanah reveals the genius of Judaism. No nation, except Israel, celebrates the birth of humanity, the creation of the human family. On Rosh Hashanah the Jew thinks of the human family as well as of himself.

And not for Israel alone does the Jew pray on Rosh Hashanah, but for the glory and splendor of the entire human race, does he beseech God.

And if the world today is sick at heart, if civilization lies prostrate, it is because the nations of the world have not yet learned that the happiness of humanity is its own happiness. That true national life, that real civilization and humanitarianism can result only if every nation thinks not merely of and for itself but of humanity as well.

This sentiment is clearly revealed in the liturgy of Rosh Hashanah. "Give glory O Lord, unto thy people; give joy to thy land and gladness to thy city of Jerusalem. Impose O Lord thine awe upon all thy works; may all mankind form one league to do Thy will with a perfect heart. Our God and God of our Fathers, reign Thou in Thy Glory over the whole universe and shine forth in the splendor and excellence of Thy might upon all the inhabitants of Thy world."

Indeed, how the world today needs this lesson from the Jewish New Year, to advance this conception of national life, to the polisophy that a nation in order to live and prosper must seek the welfare not only of itself but of its sister nations as well.

The services at the Beth Israel Synagogue will be conducted by Rabbi A. M. Babb and assisted by a Cantor.

Vitamin Element Given Cows Keeps Milk Sweet Longer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP) — Milk stays sweet, without souring, up to four times longer if cows are fed a vitamin element costing a penny a month, two chemists reported today.

Only a tiny amount of the vitamin material, menadione, is needed daily. It apparently acts like an antibiotic against bacteria involved in making milk sour, Dr. Karl Dittmer and G. G. Kelley of Florida State University, Tallahassee, told the American Chemical Society.

Menadione is a raw material or precursor for vitamin K.

Milk from cows getting menadione stayed sweet for 18 to 24 hours at body temperature, 98.6 degrees. Milk from untreated cows sours in about 12 hours at that temperature.

Pasteurized milk from cows fed the vitamin element stayed sweet about 20 per cent longer than milk from other cows. Fresh raw milk, before pasteurizing, stayed sweet at 68 degrees for four days, against one day for other milk. Stored at 50 degrees, the treated milk stayed unsoured 20 days, against five days for other milk.

The cows tested got only about a thousandth of an ounce of menadione daily. One pound of the stuff is enough for 50 cows for a year, in food or water. It can be made easily from available chemicals.

NO CHANGE IN FLAVOR

Dittmer and Kelley said such milk has no detectable change in flavor. When it sours, it does so without hard curds or smell. It has a clean sour taste.

They advised more study by other researchers of their findings, to see if this is a practical way to keep milk from souring.

There are still some unexplained variations in anti-souring milk from the same cows over a period of time, possibly due to differences in the kind of grazing the cows do.

Whether the milk actually gets some of the menadione, or some derivative of it, is not yet clear.

The tests were undertaken because menadione does stop growth of some kinds of bacteria, and because K is found in small amounts in cows' milk.

Oat meal yields chemicals which look promising as anti-ulcer drugs, said Dr. John H. Biel of Lakeside Laboratories, Milwaukee.

These are chemicals not obtained by eating oatmeal, but from furfural, a by-product obtained in processing oatmeal.

He said several of these chemicals tried in animals show antispasm activity greater than that of the ulcer drug, atropine.

No Recent Changes In Food Regulations

TORONTO (CP)—An official of the Ontario liquor licence board said Tuesday night that no recent changes have been made in regulations regarding the serving of food in beverage rooms.

The change in the Liquor Licence Act permitting the serving of food in beverage rooms was made last March, he said. He was commenting on a report that the board had given hotels the green light to serve beer with side orders of hot dogs, hamburgers or corn on the cob.

The law allows operators to sell light lunches, but forbids the old-time free lunch.

Galt Girl, 8, Presents Recital At Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS). — Five-year-old Virginia Belfer of Galt, granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Field, Roseneath, was heard in a recital of 15 piano numbers at Roseneath on Sunday evening. The young pianist, a little girl with blonde hair, captivated her audience with her brilliant performance and striking personality.

Virginia won the piano scholarship at the Waterloo Music Festival in Kitchener and the silver cup in Galt for obtaining the highest marks in Toronto Royal Conservatory of Music piano examinations.

Included in the program of piano music were: Minuet in G by Bach, Music Box Concerto by James Gerrard, Echoise by Beethoven, and Waltz by Gurlit.

Drop Driving Charge, Evidence Insufficient

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — A charge of careless driving against Clifford Cassan, laid as a result of an accident last week on Queen St. when Cassan's vehicle was in collission with a light truck driven by Elton Hubble, also of Campbellford, has been dropped, Chief Constable Charles Lockwood said today.

There was not sufficient evidence to warrant the charge the chief said.

Investigate Supplies

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A delegation from the joint United States congressional committee on atomic energy arrived Tuesday to investigate the availability of supplies of raw materials for atomic energy. South Africa is an important source of such materials.

Fine Lindsayite $25 At Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS) — Harvey Fallis of Lindsay, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident which occurred in Cavan township on August 20, was found guilty by Magistrate R. B. Baxter and fined $25 and costs. Evidence was that he struck the side of a car driven by Louis White of Toronto, ripping off a rear fender from the Toronto car. White said that he kept on going but the Toronto man finally located him parked down the road with a steaming radiator. Fallis told the court that he heard a click as he passed the Toronto car and thought it was a flying stone.

Donald St. Francois of Sudbury was found guilty of receiving two outboards stolen from Ezra Sherwin and J. Small of Roseneath and was remanded until Friday for sentence. Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine of Cobourg said that the investigation of the theft of the two outboard motors led to Toronto where in co-operation with Toronto police the motors were found in a car there which was in charge of the accused.

St. Francois said he was given the two motors by a friend to keep for him because he had no room to store them. The accused said he did not know that the police were interested in the motors until after they searched the car and found them. The magistrate said he was not inclined to believe his story and found him guilty.

Oldest Stamp

KLAGENFURT, Austria (CP)—Stamp-collector Ferindand Malle claimed here Tuesday that he had found the world's oldest used postage stamp. Printed in two colors, the stamp bears a Klagenfurt postmark dated June 26, 1838. It was discovered recently in the attic of a house at nearby Obervellach.

Exhibition Directors Meet To Discuss Final Plans

Preparations for the Peterborough Exhibition, Sept. 15-19, are nearing completion and chairmen of the various committees met last night to check over last minute affairs.

A new grandstand platform has been constructed with an area almost double that of the previous ones. Dairy cattle and both light and racing horse entries are heavy, and the major deficit now is the number of beef cattle entries. Steps are being taken to fill this bracket of the livestock department as well.

A committee sent to Woodstock to inspect the quality of the Motor City Shows, scheduled to appear as the midway unit at this year's Exhibiton report that the show will be quite satisfactory, 'if they bring all the equipment they have on hand." A motion was passed to empower M. Cathcart to contact a show for next year's Exhibition immediately.

Children's Day tickets have been issued to about 75 rural schools for distribution among the children. City school children will receive their tickets at the gate Tuesday, September 15.

Fire Chief Sorrie offered the use of one unit of fire-fighting equipment, with operators, if a shading edifice and meals were provided for the men. The offer was readily accepted by board members.

An item on the expense account included a refrigerator stolen on the grounds last year and a $100 cheque has been given to the owner. In future the "Ex" board will not be responsible for any articles on display, and signs have been prepared to that effect.

It was passed that all the equipment presently stored in one of the "Ex" buildings by the RCAF be removed completely for the duration of the fair. The area, it was decided, is necessary for the horticultural display and personnel. Other sections of the building will be used as police and press headquarters.

L'Envoi: The Biggest Fish

The day after is always a rather sadly tidy kind of experience. The day after the baby is born father and his friends return to routine life. The day after the wedding, the house is put in order again and the confetti swept up. The day after Christmas you pick turkey bones and perhaps take down the decorations. The day after the funeral the house is set in order. The day after Labour Day children go to school and fathers put their fishing tackle away.

* * *

We commented yesterday on the children's disappearance into the schools; now, while fishing rods are dispappearing, and the season ends, we wish to call the attention of the whole wide world to a fish that did not get away. Its jaw and taker were photographed on our local news page yesterday. It is our—and this Kawartha tourist district's—cap to the fishing season. Do you remember the great commotion you heard but did not see the last time you were out fishing? Do you remember the tremendous tug on your line, another time, and you are sure you were not pulling a stump from the bottom of the lake? Do you remember the tallest tale of the biggest fish in your life or anybody else's life? Well, put all these together and you have the fish which H. J. Epps of Ottawa caught in Chemong Lake, a few miles from Peterborough, Labour Day Sunday. It was a maskinonge. It weighed 53 pounds. Its head alone was fourteen inches wide. Some fish. Some? The very bigthus of ichthus.

* * *

We mention this fish now, at the end of the season when nearly everybody's fishing days are over for 1953, to tickle the envy of fishermen in lesser waters than the Kawarthas, and to incite Kawartha fishermen to great dreams—all through the coming autumn and winter and spring until the opening of the next lunge fishing season. It is a fish story, but there is a picture to prove it. P.S.—This year's musky season does not close until October 15th.

Hole In The Road

Opposite a new building in the process of erection on Reid Street near Park Hill, the roadway was dug up to lay mains into the building. The work completed, some tarred gravel was put into the trench to make it level with the road surface again. By Friday afternoon last this fill had sunk and a dangerous depression remained.

What did the responsible people do? They put up a barrier, with a lantern for night warning, and left a one-way passage on the street from Friday night until yesterday. It happens that the street is a main highway entrance and the long weekend was Labour Day weekend when traffic on that route is the heaviest of the year. To repair the street, at least to make it temporarily passable, might have taken a half-hour. But no work was done for three days and thousands of motorists were inconvenienced because no city workers were sent to do a small job on a holiday weekend.

This is a small matter but revealing of the disregard of public service by city departments whose job is supposed to be to serve the public. How disdainful of their employers—the citizens of Peterborough—can city employees get? Does the five-day week mean that for the remaining two—three on a holiday weekend—the public can go hang, or crash into a highway hole?

Another weekend sign of the prevailing official attitude of indifference was the shambles of tree trunks, boughs and branches which littered the streets after the quick windstorm Friday evening. The mess remained throughout the weekend; yesterday afternoon a tree which had blown down at the corner of Rubidge and Charlotte Streets still blocked the sidewalk.

Teachers' College: Hokum!

The Peterborough Normal School and all other Normal Schools in Ontario opened yesterday, this year disguised under the name "Teachers' Colleges". Wry that on the very day that the Normal Schools assume their pretentious new name of College they are made to appear more like schools than ever before. They opened the same day that all other public schools in the Province began their new term. In former years a mild distinction was made—a small bow to the status of the Normal Schools as institutions of higher learning—by opening a week or so later than the common schools, nearer the opening date of colleges and universities.

This year they call the places colleges yet ring in the students as if they were day-school pupils, at nine a.m., the day after Labour Day. Equally belittling of the prestige of the establishments, the Teachers' College professors are brought back to Normal labour by the crack of the Department of Education's whip at the dot of nine on the first school day of September. Thus the sheep and lambs are herded into the pedagogical fold, as if they were too silly to be let loose a day longer than the youngest kindergarten child. Is this the way of a real college offering higher training and education to adults?

The students at our Teachers' Colleges should be allowed this outward mark of distinction between secondary school and their new studies: shorter terms and different opening dates. The instructors, if they are to consider themselves teachers in an institution of advanced studies, should have the longer holidays available to professors, to encourage and promote their own private studies in leisure. Actually, Normal School teachers are less well provided with academic freedom than public or secondary school teachers. They are classed officially as civil servants and are required to work for the Department of Education (marking papers, conducting special summer courses) during July and August. This is a mockery of their professional, collegian status.

Outward signs such as the coincidence of Normal School and public school openings may seem trivial, yet they are important indications of character and condition. Judged by these regulations for staff and students, the pretension of Normal Schools to be Teachers' Colleges is hokum. More honest to call them Training Treadmills for Teachers. The opening date of September 8th advertises them disparagingly for all the world to see as mouse traps, with the cheese and spring snap supplied by the Department of Education, Queen's Park.

Science Fiction Sixteen Miles Up

Writers of what is called science fiction, and their counterparts the drawers of outlandish cartoons, seem to leave the ground and sense behind when they wield their pens. An American named Marion E. Carl, has followed them off the ground, and to confound us, has even outpaced them. Let it be understood that Carl is no science fiction man; he is a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Marine Corps, a test pilot. He flew sixteen miles into the air, jets, high-altitude suits and helmet included.

The thought of being sixteen miles high in the air on a hot day is appealing until you examine it. Cold up there, but, at that altitude the atmospheric pressure is so low that blood boils at body temperature. Colonel Carl's blood did not boil (a nasty fate it would be), for he wore a special suit fantastic enough to please the most ardent reader of science fiction. It must have taken an hour to climb into the suit, under the supervision of a physician, and he wore a Man-from-Mars helmet. Further, he rode in a hermetically-sealed Skyrocket which was launched at 34,000 feet—from a "mother" B-29. The Skyrocket did not develop a leak. Fortunately not, for at only 40,000 feet above the ground he would have had only fifteen seconds to save himself. One cannot fall down into safe atmospheres by the mere pull of gravity in only fifteen seconds. Further, Lieutenant-Colonel Carl reached an altitude of 83,235 feet (a world record) from which high point he would have had even less time to prevent himself from being boiled alive by his own blood had a leak developed and the air rushed out of the Skyrocket.

For the test the military scientists took as many precautions as possible against risks. Had Carl lost the air in his rocket, he could have forced oxygen into his suit at a pressure high enough to drive it into his lungs. This would have prevented the water in his tissues from expanding and tearing him apart.

The only risk which does not seem to have been guarded against is that the rocket, in the rarefied atmosphere of 83,235 feet, might have taken off into the uttermost space and landed on some satellite from which there would have been no withdrawal. That sort of thing may still be in the realm of science fiction, for it does not seem to have entered Lieutenant-Colonel Carl's head that he would not have been back on earth in time for a swig of sarsaparilla and an evening at the movies.

NOTE AND COMMENT

What this country needs are some clepsydrae, for when the heat is on—as last week—everybody watches the time, wondering how much longer the heat will last. Watching an ordinary clock is aggravating—the ticking is more than hot nerves can stand. An hour-glass would be worse; watching the sands run out is a constant reminder of the hot drought. Yes, the clepsydra should be re-invented; the drip and gurgle of a water-clock would at least be pacifying. The old Egyptians, surrounded by the hot desert, used clepsydrae, otherwise y-clept water-clocks.

THE AMERICAN SCENE

Calling Moon Their Own

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

FOR THE FIFTH successive month the cost of living in the United States, as measured by its consumer price index, has gone up. The index stood at 114.7 in mid-July as opposed to 102 in June 1950, the month the Korean war broke out. The index is based on a figure of 100 for the years of 1947-1949. Although some prices have gone down, notably the prices of clothes, television sets, toys and certain fresh vegetables, the rise is accounted for by steady increases in the price of meat, milk, and petrol, the latter being reflected in a general increase in the cost of transport.

In theory this rise in the cost of living should be a serious cause of worry to the Administration, particularly since the Republicans came to power committed to stabilisation and reduction of prices. In fact, however, Mr. George Humphrey, the Secretary of the Treasury, a calm and intelligent man who is not easily rattled, believes that the rise in the cost of living has levelled off and that the figures support him. He points out that while prices have risen by 93 per cent. since 1939 and 12 per cent. since June 1950, they have risen only 0.5 per cent. since July, 1952.

He is even prepared to speculate that some prices will soon begin to go down. The Republican Administration believes that by its cuts in Government expenditure this year of about five thousand million dollars, and by taking measures to stablise the Goverment debt, it has gone a long way towards controlling the inflationary forces in the American economy. As a consumer I can only hope it is right.

ANOTHER SHOCKING example of American imperialism has lately been uncovered. The United States is planning to annex the moon. If you write to the American Government asking how to go about staking a claim on the moon, the Post Office forwards your letter to the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior. In return you get a form letter back which says: "Your attention is invited to the fact that if the present provisions of the Homestead Law remain in effect wherever land areas on nearby planets are declared to constitute public domain of the United States, a prospective homestead-entry man must present with his application an affidavit that he has personally examined the land sought and is familiar with its characteristics."

To qualify finally under the Homestead Act the moonstruck applicant must move to the moon within six months, reside there for a further seven, and build a house and cultivate a portion of his claim. Only then can he call the moon his own.

One suspects that the Russian methods of laying claims to new territory may be somewhat simpler and more ruthless.

IN THE CURRENT controversy about whether other countries should adopt the American system of commercial television, it may be useful to contribute a small sidelight on the American system. One night last week the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York was about to begin showing a dramatisation of Rudyard Kipling's famous novel, "The Light That Failed." Just as everything was ready an agonised representative of the sponsor rushed in and demanded that the title should be changed.

The sponsor was Westinghouse Electricity, one of the largest manufacturers of electric light bulbs in the world. After hurried conferences the broadcasting company capitulated, and the title was changed to "The Gathering Night."

✧ ✧ ✧

LEST THE SHADOW of Senators McCarthy and McCarran should persuade people in other countries that the United States is not the generous and humanitarian country which it used to be, it is worth considering the story of Mr. James Thurber.

Mr. Thurber, whose stories and drawings in the "New Yorker" magazine of sad dogs and ferocious wives have made him one of the most famous humourists in the world, has been almost completely blind for the last twelve years. Until recently he could just draw by working with a white pencil on black paper and by using a very powerful magnifying lens, but he has now had to give this up and he is almost completely dependent on his wife.

Last week (week ending August 29) Mrs. Thurber developed a detached retina of her right eye, necessitating an operation. Mr. Thurber rang up a journalist friend and asked if the Press could help him locate his own eye specialist and surgeon who was on a holiday somewhere out West— nobody knew where. Since he is one of the most beloved figures in America, the Associated Press and the Bell Telephone Company swung enthusiastically into action and scoured the whole country until they located the eye specialist in Colorado. The specialist took the first plane and Mrs. Thurber's sight will survive as a result.

James Thurber, like his hero, Walter Mitty, is one of the most philosophical of men. He regards even his blindness as an adventure. When his vision was perfect, he said recently, "I was able to see what American women don't look like so I could draw them. I could never draw a pretty woman, no matter how well I could see. That's not because I don't think women are pretty. It's just that I never learned to draw."

Because of his blindness, Thurber has developed a remarkable technique whereby he can write in his head. He says that he can carry as much as 1500 words of a story in his head and dictate it without correction or hesitation.

DO THE LETTERS S. and W. mean anything to the average reader? They represent probably the most widely used article that has ever been produced in America, for they stand for Smith and Wesson, which for just over a hundred years has been making the world's most famous revolver.

A hundred years ago, when the American frontier was still not far beyond the Mississippi, in the days of unceasing Indian wars, and when the tensions and disputes that ultimately led to the Civil War were brewing, a master armourer called Horace Smith joined forces with a young plough maker named Daniel Wesson in Springfield, Massachusetts, to manufacture revolvers, and their descendants have been at it ever since.

Curiously enough, the firm got its first big armament contract from the Czar of Russia; but as their chairman said in celebrating their centenary, "our capacity right now is larger than that of the combined revolver manufacturers of the world. A policeman in New York, San Francisco, Bangkok, Ankara, Cape Town, or Rio de Janeiro will have one of our revolvers in his holster. Our guns are found today in every military establishment in the allied world."

It is a sad commentary on the state of the world that in the last ten years S. and W. have made more arms than in the entire previous existence of the company.

1,000 IMBECILES?

Sir: I read with interest and a great deal of worry about prolonging the life of imbeciles by "Observer" (letter, Saturday's Examiner). I always felt a great deal of mystery about that particular hospital. These modern times seem to have discarded the old system of bolt and chain and prostatic adjustment or the gas chamber. Might I plead for that lad I knew in that environment. Could they get a system of "Separating the curd from the whey," so to speak? We could call that 1,000 inbeciles rather than 2,231.

GEORGE ADAMS.

IDIOTS

Sir: The writer of a recent editorial on the above subject and the writer of a letter commenting on it may be quite sincere in the expression of their opinions, but they are swayed more by sentimentality than by law and logic. The matter is too grave to let pass unchallenged.

"Thou shalt not kill," is not the law of any Church. It is God's law, written first on the fleshy tablets of men's hearts and later on tables of stone. The only occasions in which it is permitted to kill a human being are in self defence or in the necessary defence of another, in a just war, or at the command of the state in the case of certain criminals.

Every human being receives from God an immortal soul, and the idiot receives just as perfect a soul as the normal child. But if the brain, the nerves, of one external senses, through which the soul operates, are damaged the soul cannot function properly— hence the idiot and all types of insanity. Idiots are not unjust aggressors and no one can lawfully deprive them of life. It is true that in many cases their lives may seem aimless but are they not offering to normal people the opportunity of practising the greatest of virtues? Morover, once admit mercy killing and no one's life would be secure.

F. J. O'SULLIVAN.

SIX MORE PATRONS LOST

Sir: Let me add my beef to that of "Disgusted" re price of admission to see the children's film.

When it was advertised the night before I said to my good wife, "We must send the youngsters to see that tomorrow afternoon." Tomorrow afternoon comes and I am working over a hot machine at work just awishing I was with the kids in the nice cool show watching a film that's fit for kiddies.

Five o'clock comes— (I'm one of the boys that stuck on the job that hot day) it was not the humidity it was the heat!

When I arrived home the youngsters were not home and the wife gave me the low down.

We just happen to have four children and the wife handed the eldest a buck for admission to the show with a little extra to spend at the candy bar after they were in the show.

Half an hour after sending them, the eldest returned with the information the price was 35 cents each. It being as I have stated before a very hot day, the youngster was pretty well played out with the heat by the time she arrived home with the news.

The upshot of this action of not notifying the public in advance of price changes was that the kiddies went to a show that befitted their purse— one may be that was not so good for their young mind.

We intended seeing it ourselves but figured it not a good thing to tell the youngsters the price was too steep then go ourselves. The theatre lost six customers from our home that day—not much, but multiplied with others could be quite a loss to the business.

What about giving the youngsters a break next time by keeping their admission price down?

"JUST JIMMY."

DESTRUCTIVE FORCE FALSE

Sir, I commend, with comment on some points, your editorial "No Cause to Celebrate" in the Examiner, Sept. 5.

Your statement "....Labor Day might more fittingly be celebrated now as a day of mourning for Pyrrhic victories and freedoms tossed overboard." Could even more fittingly be applied to any of violently destructive victories that we are fervently reminded to celebrate with verve and vigor.

The idea of destructive action emanates naturally from the memory pattern that is formed in our mental system by educational propaganda. From that time 22-centuries ago, when Pyrrhus led his Greeks, and elephants, to victory (in the first battle between Greek and Roman, from whence "Pyrrhic victory" is derived) to the present, great leaders with a maniacal desire for power and pelf for themselves, or their organizations, have been preparing us for peaceful pursuits by fitting us, mentally and physically, for battle. There is little wonder that workingmen fall for such folly when it is applied to their plight for survival.

You can hardly expect that laborers will ignore J. L. Lewis and Dave Beck and yet retain the idea that it is proper to curtsy to the whims of financial giants in other spheres of business.

Destruction of time and material, whether by war, revolution or strike is the very worst kind of tactics that can be devised to obtain any worthy results; because of such tactics only the worst should be expected.

Parliamentary authority has been amply asserted regards any proposition that Government is interested in, but worry about the rights of workers is not a great burden for Governments. For years we have been electing political members to enforce and preserve our rights, yet somehow we get the idea that we must join every other fraternal, religious and industrial organization that we can afford, and pay all these sets of agents just to maintain our rights.

Union members will often admit that there are grave defects in their order, but are usually quick to assert "but we have to have a union of some kind, where would we be without one now?"

I have no desire to march behind any flag, black, red or drab on Labor Day, for either mourning or celebration, but I am sure that union men, whether bound to their bosses or not, are not ashamed to march in labor parade, with head up and chin slightly drawn in.

There are always people of humanitarian instinct who know that destructive force is false in effect and that reason must prevail if good results are to be had. They can be found in all or any walks of life, but their potency for good is too often lessened by the plans and tactics that are applied for the selfish glory of some organization.

Yours truly,
W. H. ROSEBUSH.

FOR HARMONY ON GEORGE STREET

Sir Having noticed with interest the several letters, mostly I gather from employees (by the gist of their letters) working for the so-called "Women Associates" who desire to stay open Friday nights. . . .Having failed to notice to date any response by the operators of the so called "Women Associates." . . . I wonder why?

By the number of letters sent into your paper, there must be numerous employees of these stores who are definitely against opening Friday night— despite the frequent announcements of these store owners saying they have satisfied employees. In other words there must be disharmony behind the scenes between employer and employee in these stores.

If I may use your space in the Examiner I would like to outline as briefly as possible the present situation . . . in the hope that certain merchants will be reasonable.

As a member of the executive of the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce, and having a fairly good picture on what has taken place to date, may I point out the following. To fully illustrate what has transpired one must appreciate the by-laws cannot be broken up into classifications, this is understandable. In other words, in order to get a by-law changed there must be a three-quarter majority in each classification, such as, Men's Wear, Ladies' Wear, Shoe Stores, Fufniture Stores, etc., etc.

The shopping hours have been of vital interest to all the merchants for some time past. The retail section of the Chamber of Commerce, realizing this, has gone to considerable expense and effort, trying extremely hard to get each classification to hold their own meetings, whereby representatives could put their ideas together to come to a peaceful solution for the whole business section. By across the board concensus it was voted we leave the shopping hours as is. The majorty. . . that is the vast majority were content to leave the shopping hours in Peterborough as they are . . a small majority voted to lessen the hours and a still smaller minority (in fact only a handful) voted for a night opening.

Now, all these meetings were held in the hope of harmony with all merchants. Thereby a healthier situation, in that it is less confusing for the consumer, the employee and the employer. After these many meetings only a very few would not fall in line with the vast majority, even to the majority in their own classifiaction, but broke away, calling themselves the "Women's Associates" (A pretty name meaning nothing) and went around the city trying to get stores to sign a petition to open Friday nights.

It certainly isn't too late for these stores to stay closed Friday nights and save face.... and keep harmony here in a swell city. As I understand to date there has been no petition brought forward to the city council. Possibly the stores desiring to open Friday nights are going ahead with the idea that other stores will fall in line. Well, it can be pointed out that even if there were a few stores with such a thought, I'm sure they have changed their minds and will definitely not follow suit, now that there is a bitter feeling against these stores. Therefore, these so called Women's Associates will gain nothing but hard feelings for themselves, and it is felt sure their business will definitely be hurt.

Let's hope it is not too late to still have harmony, so as not to confuse our customers, our employees and mainly ourselves.

Let's all fall in line with the majority.

James Fraser, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce deserves credit for his untiring efforts in trying for harmony.

Yours for harmony,
A PEACEFUL MERCHANT.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before thee, O Lord; and shall glorify thy name. For thou art great, and doest wondrous things: thou art God alone. (Ps. 86:9, 10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him. (John 4:23.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man, kneeling down to him, and saying, Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is lunatic, and sore vexed: for ofttimes he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water. And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not cure him.

Then Jesus answered and said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him hither to me. And Jesus rebuked the devil; and he departed out of him: and the child was cured from that very hour.

Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out? And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for verily I say unto you, if ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you. Howbeit this kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting. (Matt. 17:14-21).

Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven . . . .

And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, they have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou has shut thy door pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him. (Matt. 6:1, 5-8.)

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. (Matt. 7:28, 29.)

Political Panmunjom

(Ottawa Citizen)

LET us be clear about one thing. It is absurd for it (the Korean peace conference) to aim at the political unification of Korea. Asian powers and related Asian topics from the negotiations, the United States has ruled out that flexibility of approach which alone would give the free-world countries bargaining power at the conference table.

This limitation is realistic, we believe, at the present stage of affairs; but it means that the UN can offer the Communists no possible compensating advantages for their acceptance of free elections in Korea. Such a possibility must await wider negotiations at the end of the peace conference proper, which will necessarily confine itself to narrower aims.

Yet the American people are not being told this frankly. And the Korean people are still being told by Syngman Rhee that if the conference has not made appreciable progress toward the goal of political unification in three months South Korea may take up arms again and "march north"— with UN backing.

It is time to put a decisive end to this dangerous delusion. Some Americans who deplore the Rhee manoeuvre to enlist American support of a renewed war against North Korea feel nevertheless that the United States, by virtue of its commitments, is in Dr. Rhee's pocket. This is nonsense. It is committed, in the last analysis, to defend South Korea from renewed Communist attack, and nothing more.

French Business Worried About Aid To Germany

By HAROLD KING

PARIS (Reuters)—French Business men fear that the Adenauer election victory will mean substantial United States financial support for West Germany—and consequent tough competition for France.

The result of the West German election has caused much apprehension in French industrial as well as political circles. The Germans are regarded as having proved themselves a solid and reliable element in Europe from the U.S. viewpoint. Financial aid will follow, according to French industrialists, in the shape of:

1. A substantial U.S. government loan to West Germany;
2. Big U.S. private investments in German industry.

CAN BE RELIED ON

One American business representative in Paris said in an interview: "The Germans produce cheaper than the French, they provide good delivery times, and above all they provide goods for the mass market, which France does not.

"It looks as if German competition is going to be tough on European exporters, especially as Germany may now prove attractive for American capital investment."

The French press reflects misgivings in political circles that Washington now will look to Germany as the main pillar of support for U.S. policy on the continent. Heavy pressure on France to ratify the European army treaty is expected.

(In an interview Tuesday, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer predicted that the European Defence Community would come into being before the end of the year.)

The German election results have reinforced the hostility to the treaty among its French adversaries, but at the same time have tended to make some of the middle-of-the-road deputies feel that there is little choice now but to vote for the project. The Socialists, however, are more divided on the subject than ever and on their attitude the fate of ratification seems to depend.

The last congress of the Socialist party posed three conditions, still unfilfilled, for ratification—close association between Britain and the European Defence Community, a U.S. guarantee against Germany's violating the treaty, and political organization to control the defence community.

The French government has posed as another condition a satisfactory solution of the Saar problem, the rich industrial pocket claimed by France and Germany.

(Tuesday Adenauer said the Saar first should have a "freely-elected parliament." Then the territory should be given a choice as whether to align itself with France or Germany, or to place itself under what he called "some European solution."

(He said he believes a freely-elected parliament would choose the European solution.)

Nova Scotia Handicrafts Becoming Big Business

HALIFAX (CP)—Backed by a brisk promotional campaign and its appeal to the average North American's inveterate partiality towards the homespun, Nova Scotia's handicrafts industry has won a profitable spot in the province's economy.

The department of trade and industry estimates there are from 500 to 600 looms in Nova Scotia, many of them purchased on government loans. Twelve pottery workers spend most of their time at their craft and 50 to 60 persons are engaged more or less permanently turning out silverware.

Hundreds of families average about $200 a year producing handicrafts on a part-time basis.

EXHIBITIONS POPULAR

Promotion consists mainly in the mass distribution of printed material and display of handcrafts at exhibitions. An estimated 14,000 persons viewed exhibits of tweeds, upholstery, knitting and hooked rugs at the Central Nova Scotia Exhibition in Truro recently.

Mary E. Black, provincial director of handcrafts, says more and more persons are buying these products and an increasing number is also engaged in the business.

Markets are provided by tourists and the many Nova Scotians who have developed a taste for handcrafts in their homes. Tourists are selective in their buying, usually seeking small articles costing less than $5.

500 ATTEND SCHOOL

The handcrafts division sends its staff of 10 to centres throughout the province where groups of six have got together to seek instruction. Upwards of 500 persons attend handcrafts school each year.

There is room only for students who intend to market their products.

Weaving is the most popular craft, with making of silver jewelry.

Handcrafts are marketed largely through gift shops and roadside stands.

Officials say there is still a substantial problem of increasing the market and placing it on a stable basis.

World Speed-Breaker Duke Always Wanted To Fly

By ROSS BIRTHWHISTLE

LONDON (Reuters)—Ace British test pilot John Derry died Sept. 7 last year when his jet broke through the sound barrier, disintegrated and killed 28 spectators at the Farnborough air show.

Ninety minutes later tall, shy Sqdn.-Ldr. Neville Duke, a fellow test pilot, took off in a Hawker Hunter jet fighter to repeat Derry's supersonic dive.

As he pointed his aircraft toward the ground 140,000 persons stood tense and hushed, looking up at the heavy clouds over the airfield.

Duke's plane screamed down on them. In the control tower his laconic reports came throug: "Mach point eight . . . mach point nine . . . and mach one (the speed of sound)."

Plunging through 23,000 feet of cloud, Duke levelled out at 120 feet and whistled away, dipping his wings in tribute to the man who had died in the same attempt.

CLAIMS SPEED RECORD

Monday Duke piloted his most modern type of Hawker Hunter at 727.6 miles an hour over the 1.8-mile course on the south coast of England to claim the world air speed record for Britain.

Though a speed demon in the air when earthbound, Duke is quietly serious, and rather embarrassed with fame.

His boyhood dreams have come true. When he went to school in Tonbridge, Kent, he saw himself either as a flier or a sailor. But flying held first preference.

Pocket money vanished on joy rides in ancient aircraft of all kinds. Models of flimsy biplanes gripped his imagination.

But it was not until 1940 that war service enabled him to take to the air on his own.

Four years later he came home wearing the decorations of the Distinguished Service Order and three Distinguished Flying Crosses. He had shot down 28 enemy planes and commanded his own squadron of Spitfires. He was 22.

There had been times when all seemed lost. Twice in one week he was reported missing over the desert of North Africa. But he walked back to his squadron headquarters.

BECAME TEST PILOT

After the war he was a test pilot with the RAF and in 1946 he was one of the RAF team which made an attempt on the world record in Meteor jet fighters.

Two years later he left the air force to become a member of the test pilots' team attached to the Hawker aircraft factory. Three years later he was made chief test pilot.

Day after day Duke climbs the sky with his note pad strapped to his knee. Day after day he takes carefully calculated risks at speeds that would make the owner of many a powerful sports car curl up with fright.

Duke is noted for his calm in moments of crisis.

VERY EMBARRASSED

When he came in from his record-breaing run along the south coast course, he clambered out of his cockpit, a grin on his face and his thin, wispy hair ruffled in the breeze.

There followed moments of obvious embarrassment as he went through a celebration dinner and made a speech.

When it was all over he went back with his wife to the old farmhouse where they live on the edge of Dunsfold airfield, where Duke goes to work.

Inside the old home is comfort and quiet—and a large library of books about the sea.

Commonwealth, U.S. Need 'Understanding'

KINGSTON (CP)—The Commonwealth and the United States should make "desperate efforts" to understand each other and to compromise and find agreement, Lt.-Gen. Sir Archibald Nye, United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada, said Tuesday night.

Sir Archibald unveiled a bronze plaque, commemorating the garrisoning of Fort Henry between 1812 and 1940 by 33 British and six Canadian regiments. Many of the regiments were represented at the ceremony.

He said the peace of the world can only be maintained through the Commonwealth and the U.S. and anyone who spends his time producing captious criticisms of his neighbors isn't doing a good service to anyone.

Boy Saves Baby

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Vincent Todd, aged 16 months, fell into the Detroit river Tuesday near his Sandwich West home. Ken Beaumont, 7, saw Vincent floating, jumped into the river and hauled the small child to shore. Then he called for help. His mother carried the unconscious baby to its home. Later Vincent was reported recovering.

You serve yourself WHEN YOU SERVE CANADA in the army

Travel — at home and overseas in the Army gives you a chance to broaden your horizon. Thirty days holidays every year with pay is the kind of vacation which means you can do more — see more.

Your friends — are men from every part of Canada. They are your kind . . . living and working together makes it so. You'll be proud of the men you serve with in the Canadian Army.

Young men — trained to razor sharp condition — complete masters of their weapons — form the hard-hitting Infantry backbone of our Canadian Army. Their job is Canada's safety!

In the Army today, there is a need for more young men to start Infantry training immediately. The life is interesting and rewarding. Men with ambition and intelligence can look for rapid promotion all the way up the line — faster promotion than in almost any other career. The conditions of service — the medical and dental care — the food and clothing — the pay and long term pension plans make the Army a career that is really worthwhile.

Transports Capture Crown And The Taylor Trophy Over Seabrooke's In Finals

TP Transports emerged victorious over Seabrooke Motors Tuesday night 4-1, in the seventh and deciding game of a grand final series for the men's senior city softball championship. It was a brilliant climax to a triumphant first season's play for the popular Ray Tanner-sponsored gang, who patrol the ice-lanes in winter under the TP banner, as well. And it was a personal triumph for first-year manager George Bennett, who shares the joy of his boys in winning the coveted title.

Thus, after a rugged and hectic season, the Transports have not only won the Dormer award as season's league leaders; but also the Taylor Trophy, emblematic of men's senior softball supremacy in Peterborough.

Haddy Eakins, seasoned veteran fireball king, responded nobly to the call of his manager and mates to do or die, in this vital final fray. He hurled five-hit ball while fanning eight men, and walked five; while his control seldom faltered.

Aside from Red Sullivan's homer in the first, Seabrooke's siege guns never seriously threatened.

Lefty Jack Doris on the Seabrooke hill also twirled a valiant game, and defeat could hardly be placed on his shoulders. Five unfortunate errors practically ruined any possibility of edging a verdict in Doris' favor, as his defences listed badly at critical times. Transports, on the other hand, played steady ball defensively, took full advantage of rival miscues, and rapped out solid hits, sufficient to deserve victory.

Doris was nicked for 10 hits, struck out none and issued one base on balls, in a good control display.

Red Sullivan opened the scoring in the first, with none aboard, when he caught one of Eakins' fast balls and parked it in the carnival grounds for Seabrooke's lone tally. Transports returned fire in the home half as Bobby Crowe—the game's individual offensive star—reached first on an infield bobble and came all the way to score when Teeder Collins' line drive to right went for extra bases. In the fifth, Transports scored three with two away, as Leonard singled to right, advanced on Eakins' fielder's choice; but both were safe on a wide peg to second.

HIT A HOMER

Bobby Crowe proved the "man of the hour," at this point, when he drove a scorching low liner to deep left-centre that went for the circuit, and, as it turned out, this vital blow proved all-sufficient to give the hockey-softball men their needed margin of victory. The hard struggle continued apace nevertheless, as either team fought hard to supplement their meagre totals.

The fielding was not too colorful this contest as compared to other series' games. Among these were a great running catch by Bus Jensen off Junior West in the first inning; Greenlaw's snares of Thompson and Scriver hoists in the fifth and sixth respectively; and a neat double play by Thompson, Currie and Sullivan in the second.

Transports' victory ended a three-year reign of East City teams, one under Seabrooke Motors, one under Orphan colors in 1951 and another as East City in 1950. United's won in 1949 with Red Sullivan and Russ Scriver the sole originals.

Seabrooke Motors: Thompson, ss; Sullivan, 1b; Wyatt, 3b; Currie, 2b; Donoghue, rf; Scriver, c; Spencer, lf Jensen, cf Doris, p. Jaquith (batted for Jensen in 9th), O'Heron (replaced Wyatt in 9th).

TP Transports: Crowe, 2b; Collins, 3b; West, ss; Greenlaw, lf; Legrow, rf; Castle, c; Mackness, cf; Leonard, 1b Eakins, p.

Umpires — Leggitt at plate, Maudsley, Edgar and Smith on bases.

Senior Petes Take Win In Exhibition

Bob Thorpe's Trailermen wound up their senior lacrosse season for Eastern Canada Tuesday night when they romped to a 27-2 victory over the Toronto Maitlands at Scarboro arena. The Trailermen played the home-and-home series with the Maitlands, Ontario senior "B" finalists, to give both teams practise before entering their championship series. The Trailermen took the first game Friday at Miller Bowl 10-5.

Lloyd (Moon) Wootton seemed to be headed fr his first 1953 shutout for the Trailermen went ahead 8-0 in the first quarter, 12-0 at the half and then allowed the Maitlands to score their two in the third quarter. The Trailermen went on to outscore Toronto 9-0 in the final quarter.

Derry Davies, St. Catharines' star, picked up for the Mann Cup series by the Trailermen, played this exhibition. The other pick-up, Ken Croft, from Orillia, played his second game with the Trailermen.

Manager Bob Curtin said today that the club was pleased with their showing Tuesday, adding that both new players looked real good.

LED THE WAY

Coach Bob Thorpe led the scoring parade with five goals, followed up by Rusty Slater with four, and Dootch Vitarelli, Ross Powless, Roger Smith and Don Ashbee, each with three goals.

The Trailermen's next game will be the opening one of the Mann Cup series next Monday in Victoria. Until then they will be content to rest, leaving Saturday by TCA for British Columbia.

Robert Peirson, club president, said that he understood all the reserve seats in the Victoria arena had been booked solid for the first four games of the championship series. This means there will be crowds at least of 4,200. It also has room for 1,500 to stand.

Regarding their chances in the final, Mr. Peirson said that in analizing the team this season they found that this year's squad is about 15 per cent better than the club that went west in 1951. They rated all the players and the replacements since then.

Toronto Plays Here

Toronto Marauders of the ORFU intermediate "A" grouping in Central Ontario will play their "home" game against Peterborough Orfuns here Friday night. It will be staged at nine o'clock in Morrow Park. The Marauders were unable to obtain a field in Toronto this week and got permission from the Peterborough officials to switch the fixture here. As it is Toronto's home game, local booster tickets for that evening will be suspended.

END CIVIC SCHEDULE

The Civic Softball League schedule concludes in the Bowl tonight with Fairviews playing IOF at seven, followed by Post Office vs. Sunshine. Playoffs commence next Monday.

Eddie Redmond New Coach Of Puck Petes

At an executive meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club last night, it was announced that Eddie Redmond has been appointed playing coach of the TPT Petes' senior "B" hockey club for this coming winter. He succeeds Jim Ellis, valuable coach for the past several seasons, who declined the job earlier this year due to pressure of business. However, Jim will aid Eddie till he gets settled in his new duties.

Redmond is a native of Kirkland Lake. A husky six-footer, he scales 190 pounds, shoots right-handed and plays defence. He has performed for many good teams in the States and Canada, going last year with Rouyn Flashes, and before that with Quebec Aces, Valleyfield Braves and St. Louis Flyers of the AHL.

Eddie comes here this coming weekend to work and settle down with his family of three. He may bring several northern players with him, and will start practises as soon as ice is available.

Garvins Out Of Championship After 9-2 Loss

TORONTO (CP)—The women's world softball championships Tuesday night were narrowed down to a field of 13 teams as Washington Garvins were eliminated by dropping a 9-2 decision to Des Moines at the Canadian National Exhibition.

It was the second loss for the Garvins in the double-elimination tournament.

In other games Tuesday night Phoenix Ramblers whitewashed Regina Legions 5-0 and Denver, Colo., Soopers downed West Allis, Wis., 6-4.

Marge Law pitched a one-hitter and struck out 16 for the Ramblers as Phoenix put down Regina for the first time in the tournament. Regina is one of three Canadian entries, the other two already having been defeated once each.

FALL BY WAYSIDE

Two teams—Sioux Falls, S.D., and Detroit—fell by the wayside earlier in the day.

Regina Legions nipped Washington, D.C. 3-2 in extra innings to become the only Canadian club with two straight wins. Legions won the opening game 6-0 over Linden Arians of New Jersey.

Toronto Gartens, winners Monday over Toronto Kalyx, were beaten 3-2 Tuesday by Denver. Kalyx went 10 innings before knocking Detroit out of the meet, 1-0. Detroit lost its first game 1-0 to Phoenix.

The defending champion Orange, Calif., Lionettes made it two in a row, blanking Fort Worth, Texas, 13-0.

Linden eliminated Sioux Falls, scoring a 5-4 victory late in the day after the South Dakota nine had lost 10-0 to New Orleans.

30 Try Out For Chi-Hawks

PEMBROKE (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks opened their fall training camp Tuesday with some 30 youngsters trying out for spots on the National Hockey League club.

Assisting coach Sid Abel were Tiny Thompson, Hawks' western Canada scout, and coach Bob Wilson of Galt junior Black Hawks, a Chicago farm club.

Among the try-outs were forwards Murray Costello of Toronto St. Mikes, Hillardy Menard, John Sleaver, Ken Wharram, Hec Lalonde, Jim McBurney and Frank Bonello, all of Galt juniors; defenceman Bob Wilson and netminder Les Brinkley, also of Galt.

The western contingent included forward Fred Sasakamoos of Moose Jaw Canucks, forward Bill Reichert of Winnipeg; defenceman Sandy Hucul of Moose Jaw, goalies Hank Bassen of Calgary and Doug Dawson of Winnipeg.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

It's Fall, folks.

Maybe the hot weather has pulled the wool over a few eyes during the past week or so, but the cloudy days, chilly nights and especially the whistle that begins tonight's football game all are signs of Autumn.

Tony Kotowski's Orfuns face the first real challenge for the Eastern Canada football title which they won in '52 when they meet Art West's Galloping Ghosts at Morrow Park. This game will certainly indicate just how far the Orfuns will travel this Fall.

But while these big fellows are bruising each other, the smaller lads from PCVS, St. Peter's and Kenner Collegiate will pick up a few bruises from hitting dummies. The Collegiate youths have been working out for the past two weeks or so, but they really begin to work this week for the season which opens for them in two weeks time.

* * * * * *

Football in the city high schools will receive a good shot in the arm this year as the new Kenner Collegiate will parade a team onto the gridiron. This will mean the city will have five collegiate teams in competition.

Last year Kenner was in its baby year. That meant very little in the line of competitive sports. There was too much to do and all extra time was spent in organization although they did work in some basketball.

Sporting a new athletic director and brand new uniforms, Kenner will break into collegiate football with a junior club to be known as the Kenner Rams. The Rams will likely see action in the "B" setup since the school enrolment is in that bracket.

Fresh from the Ontario College of Education, Coach Ken Wass has a few new ideas which he plans to spring on the veteran coaches from the district. The boys, from the spirit on opening day, Tuesday, mean to help him.

Ken described the euthusiasm there as "terrific." He quickly followed up with "why about 25 boys were after me for information today. The spirit's dandy."

Personally we'd like to see Kenner come up with a contender. It might not be this year but quite likely next as the boys gain experience.

* * * * * *

The school which has the players and the experience this year is apparently St. Peter's High School. From early training camp reports they have more experienced players than the Garnet and Grey from PCVS which has been copping titles year after year.

Coach John Lynch plans once more to have a senior team in the Central Catholic Conference and the same club may be entered in the COSSA play for the first time. Johnny hopes to field enough eligible boys for the COSSA entry.

His seniors are definitely strong in the backfield. He'll likely have former veteran junior, John Hickey, at quarter, flanked by

Collegiate Football Action

Gord Snape, Gary Kearns, Dick Foley, Bob O'Rourke, Gord Whatman and Frank McGillen. That's a fine mixture of speeders and plodders.

His line may be the weakest part. But John can still fall back on the old reliables from senior and junior years such as Frank Gooley, definitely one of the city's best linemen, end John Magee, Paul Kingdon, Dave Quinlan, Art Fair and others. He'll also have newcomers, Bill Newell and Bob Fair from De La Salle.

* * * * * *

Although a number of juniors moved up this year, John still has a good foundation for his junior Saints.

Again his backfield is strongest. He'll be featuring Ron Board and Paul Murphy calling signals, chunky John Martin, Bill Forestall and newcomer Jim Ayotte, along with others.

His line, although it has a few holes (they'll be filled soon), has experience with last year's crop of Don Masterson, Paul Buckley, Len Hickson (there's always a Hickson on the Saint's lineup), Darrell Loescher, Bob Nolan, John Gordon, Terry Killen, and Ray Allen. He also has a flock of newcomers, Terry Shaughnessy, Gerald Garvey, Len Mackie to mention a few, who show some promise of good material.

The Saints' juniors should do well again this season. As for the seniors, they'll likely take the OCC senior "B" once more and possibly take a group title if they enter COSSA play.

* * * * * *

Meanwhile in the PCVS camp, which has been going a week now, there's a feeling that this isn't going to be a year for the COSSA senior championship.

Coach Ben Goulding has only 10 out for these early workouts and expects only another half dozen. In other words it's definitely not quantity this season for the Garnet and Grey.

Bev reports two Grade 9 students out with his seniors and in his years at PCVS doesn't ever recall grade niners trying out with the seniors.

Along with line coach, Howard Hempstead, he has only four players back from the 1952 championship team. Barry Hollingsworth and Chuck Geale will be the nucleus for his backfield while he has John Eastwood and Gord McGrath back for the line.

The seniors will have only six players from last season's junior club. Among these will likely be the quarterback, Terry Roberts, and another backfielder, Bob McKinney.

Summing all this up, it means there will be only 10 players on the senior club with experience. It's pretty grim but Bev has come through in other lean years, surprising one and all with a contending team.

* * * * * *

The school's looking for something to come out of its junior club which this year is under Al MacQuarrie and newcomer, Charlie Ward, formerly of Blenheim. But they'll have to rely upon green material to come through because only three players, Ken Beck, Wayne McNamee and Bob Baker, are left-overs from last season.

The week of early practices is something new for the younger lads and should give them a better start than in past years.

Well, let's all give three cheers for the cheerleaders. AAAHHHHH!!! Yes!

Presqu'ile Yacht Club Holds Last Meeting

COBOURG (ENS) — Presqu'ile Point Yacht Club held its closing meeting yesterday after a season of successful activity. Prizes were presented to the skippers of the boats with the highest number of points for the season. Eighteen-year-old Nancy Hanks, Toronto, only girl skipper in the club, was winner of a closely-contested LSSA class ,the trophy being presented by Commodore W. H. McEwan, 11 Rumsey Rd., Leaside, on behalf of the club. Her boat was "Lucky Lady" and crewman for the season was Al Stickler of Toronto.

Winner of the Huycke Trophy for the open class was Herbert G. Haskett, of Toronto, whose crewman was W. A. Jones of Cobourg. Haskett's "Muriel J" won a nine-point lead over the others in the open class.

Fastball Final Sewed Up At Two Each

Outboard Marines trampled Mount Pleasant 7-1 at Quaker Park last night to square their Industrial Fastball League finals at two games each. The deciding game for the G. K. Fraser Trophy will be staged on the same diamond Thursday night at six o'clock.

Halliday hurled four hit ball for the winners, fanning eight, while his mates reached Crawford for 13 bingles, five going down on strikes. They also cashed in on walks. Each side had but one miscue in a fair fray.

Marines scored two runs in the third inning, one each in the fourth and seventh, with three in their big fifth frame. The losers were limited to a run in the eighth chukker. Corrigan had a homer and two singles for the winners and White three hits. Teams:

Marines: White, lf; Mongraw, c; Halliday, p; Corrigan, ss; Downer, 3m; Morgan, 2b; Gordonier, 1b; Fennell, cf.

Mt. Pleasant: Jamieson, 2b; Dracup, 3b; Mitchell, cf; Byers, rf; K. Bryan, 1b; Crawford, p; Crary, ss; Hickson, lf; Hope, c.

Campbellford Rinks Win In Tournaments

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Ernie Sloggett and Jack Linton took top honors in the doubles tournament held on the local lawn bowling greens on Saturday. They had a score of 47. Second high went to Archie Meyers and Jack Ballantyne. They had three wins with a score of 45. Jim Cullen and Harvey Staunton of Peterborough were high two game winners with 52 plus 1. Walter Cable and Bill Duncan Jr. of Kingston took the one win prize with 50 plus 2.

Other scores were: For two wins—Harper, Belleville, 41 plus 1; Clark, Perth, 43; McConnell, Brighton, 49 plus 1; McLean, Belleville 45; Mallory, Stirling, 41 plus 6. Argos Ask Clarification Of Rule On Import Number

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts were reported Tuesday night to have asked the Big Four Football Union for clarification of the rule on the number of imports a club can have under its "control" until Oct. 1.

Their action stems from the fact that Hamilton Tiger-Cats until Tuesday were well over the limit of 11 imports a club may carry after its first league game. Tiger-Cats "controlled" 17 American players as of Sept. 4, six days after their first league game.

Under a Big Four league ruling this year each club is allowed three more imports over the CRU limit after the opening of the season. The CRU limit is eight players as of Oct. 1 except in the case of Montreal Alouettes, who may use nine because they finished at the bottom last season.

DROP 6 IMPORTS

Since Sept. 4 the Tiger-Cats have dropped six imports from the playing roster, leaving them with 11. They are quarterbacks Bob Celeri and Auburn Lambeth, halfbacks Bill Gregus and Charlie Niven, end Joe Shinn and tackle Ralph Sazio, who will confine his activities to non-playing line coach.

Shinn was dressed for the Tiger-Cats' opening game while on a furlough from the United States Air Force. This was to qualify him for another year in Canadian football and the same plan is being followed in the case of halfback Hal Waggoner, also in the U.S. Air Force.

Shinn will not play any more this year. Waggoner, now on a furlough, will be available for three or four games before the Oct. 1 deadline when he'll return to air force duties. Both will qualify as non-imports after one more year in Canadian football in addition to this season.

IC Boys Take First

Immaculate Conception defeated St. Peter's 7-6 in the first game of the final playoffs in the Catholic Softball League last evening. They scored a run in the first inning, added two next time up, one more in the third and got three to clinch it in the fifth chukker of the abbreviated tilt. The losers tallied one each in the first and fifth stanzas, with four in the fourth of the keen contest. Teams:

IC: Donoghue, cf; Towns, 2b; Bacon, c; McCormick, ss; McCarthy, lf; Plumpton, 3b; McGrath, p; Garden, 1b; Brennan, rf.

SP: Ryan, ss; O'Rourke, 3b; Legrow, 1b; Board, c; C. Shaughnessy, lf; Quinlan, 2b; Killen, rf; Pearson, cf; T. Shaughnessy, p.

Higher Gate Lure For Yanks, Brooks To Win Series

By WILL GIMRSLEY, Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, already close to clinching their respective league championships, may be excused if they suddenly get eager to finish the job in a hurry. They certainly won't be toying around now that it appears they may play before a $2,500,000 gate and the largest players' pool in world series history.

This became a strong possibility Tuesday when Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and other executives decided to kick up the prices of world series tickets enough to increase the average gate by $50,000 to $100,000 a game.

Box seats are up from $8 to $10. Reserved seats are up from $6 to $7. And bleachers are up from $1 to $2. It'll still cost the same for standing room—$4.

ROUTINE DECISIONS

The men who run baseball made some other routine decisions. The 1953 series will open Wednesday, Sept. 30, in the park of the American League champion. Starting time is 1:05 p.m. EST, except Sunday in Brooklyn when the time will be 2:05 p.m.

The Yankees, with a nine-game lead over Cleveland Indians in the American League, open their final home stand against the western clubs tonight with the tough Chicago White Sox as guests.

The Dodgers, with a 12½-game National League advantage over Milwaukee swing west for a nine-game trip which begins with a night engagement at Cincinnati.

Any combination of 10 Yankee victories and Cleveland defeats can clinch a fifth American League pennant for Casey Stengel. The doughty Dodgers need jut four triumphs or a combination of Milwaukee setbacks to end whatever suspense remains in the National League.

EDGE OUT PHILLIES

The Braves appear in no mood to make it easy for Brooklyn mathematicians. In the only game played in the majors Tuesday night, a playoff of a July 31 tie game, they edged out Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 with some weird nine-inning shenanigans.

With the score tied 2-2, Bill Bruton, Milwaukee leadoff man, struck out. But when catcher Stan Lopata missed one of Johnny Lindell's knuckleballs on the third strike, Burton scooted for first. When Lopata failed to retrieve the ball, Bill took off for second.

Johnny Logan sacrificed him to third and then Bruton scampered home, beating the throw, when Andy Pafko bounced to the infield. Lefty Johnny Antonelli was the winner; Lindell was the loser.

Gran Hamner homered with one man on for the Phils' only runs.

Pennant Almost In Wing Grasp, Down Syracuse

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harry (The Hat) Walker's Rochester Red Wings can leave Syracuse tonight with the International League pennant.

The Wings, who haven't seen the flag since 1950 when they won it under the guidance of Johnny Keane, are within one victory of clinching it.

The banner now flies in Montreal—where the Royals have had it for the last two seasons.

But Montreal's only hope now is that Rochester loses all its seven remaining games, and the Royals win their 7, an unlikely situation.

Tuesday night, the soaring Wings made it 15 straight triumphs as they came from behind for an 11-7 win over the seventh-place Chiefs.

EDGE LEAFS

The second-place Royals edged Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 to remain six games behind.

The Chiefs shelled George Condrick from the mound in the first inning as they hit a single, double, triple and home run. The homer was powered by Johnny Blatnik.

However, with Cot Deal making his second relief appearance in as many games for his 16th triumph, the Wings steamed into the lead in the fourth. Charlie Kress led the 13-hit attack with a homer and a pair of singles, driving in 5 runs.

Montreal also came from behind to win. Sandy Amoros' homer and Ernie Yelen's scratch single in the bottom of the ninth did the trick after Toronto's Vic Lombardi held the Royals to three hits in the first eight frames.

Rookie Bob Trice of Ottawa Athletics won his 21st game of the campaign by beating the third-place Buffalo Bisons 6-5.

Don Elston, a 17-game loser, pitched a seven-hit shutout against the fourth-place Baltimore Orioles as Springfield won 1-0.

Wallacetown Man Captures Premier Hereford Breeder Award

TORONTO (CP)—Carman Lyons of Wallacetown and F. W. Reicheld of Jarvis, Tuesday won the major male and female awards in judging of Hereford beef cattle at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Lyons won the premier breeder and exhibitor award. He took the senior and grand champion female Hereford ribbon with Miss Baca Mischief 4F and took the reserve senior and reserve grand champion female award with Miss Royal Dandy WHF 14F. Miss WHF Royal Dandy 14G won Lyons the ribbon for the junior champion female.

Reicheld's Jarvis Monarch's Lass 5G won the reserve junior champion female award. Jarvis Royalette Mischief, also owned by Reichheld, won the senior and grand champion bull ribbons.

Reserve senior bull was Triumph Domino 70F, owned by James R. Goultes of Belgrave, while the junior champion and reserve grand champion bull was Royal Dandy Domino 2G, owned by Christian Schollenberger of Wallacetown.

Other winners:

Aberdeen Angus

Senior and grand champion bull—Bandolier of Anoka 78th, owned by Edwards Brothers, Arva and Watford.

Junior and reserve grand champion bull: Bandolier of Haigg 66th., owned by L. G. Hagmeirr, Thedford.

Red Poll

Reserve senior and reserve grand champion bull—Norah's Ambassador, owned by George E. Readhead, Milton.

Senior and grand champion female—Palmer May, owned by R. C. Whitmore, Clinton.

Miss Showoff of Cognewaugh, a Kerry blue terrier owned by Mrs. M. Ilene McEachern of Todmorden, won the best-dog-in-show ribbon in the third and final dog show.

Miss Showoff's win broke the streak of Ludar of Blue Bar, winner of the first two best-of-show ribbons. Ludar of Blue Bar, owned by William C. Sears, won one title Tuesday—best in sporting group.

Bushwood Rythm, a beagle owned by Dr. F. Rushton of Weston, won the best-in-hound group, best Canadian-bred and best Canadian-bred puppy ribbons.

L. Whitby of Barrie, won 11 first-prize ribbons for his exhibits in the flower judging competitions.

Mr. Whitby's awards all were won in the gladioli divisions.

C. L. Heywood of London, Ont., took home 12 first-prize awards with winning exhibitions in gladioli, aster and delphinium competitions.

Quebec Protests Freight Rates

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec government said Tuesday a new east - west freight - rate structure proposed by the board of transport commissioners "will tend to strangle the Canadian economy and jeopardize the future of the railway companies."

The government, in a brief prepared for submission to the board, said the new rates "will not operate to promote the unity of the nation." The board will hold hearings here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Quebec maintains the change-over from a "blanket" rate set-up, involving identical freight charges to western points from different parts of central Canada, to charges based on mileage will result in severe and prolonged economic dislocation.

British Guiana Strike Halts Sugar Industry

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—The sugar industry in this British possession on South American's north coast ground to a halt Tuesday.

All 14 factories processing sugar were shut down by a strike called by the Guiana industrial workers union for better pay and working conditions.

That union is not recognized by the Sugar Producers' Association.

Sweepstakes Money Will Aid Housing

OTTAWA (CP) — Sweepstakes have come to the rescue of Ottawa's housing shortage.

The board of control decided today to use for housing projects the $46,886 turned over to the city last week as a result of police seizures of sweepstakes tickets and accompanying funds.

"We're doing rather well in Ottawa when we can build houses on lottery receipts," Mayor Charlotte Whitton remarked. "I hope it doesn't mean that we're living on the proceeds of vice."

Norwood Schools Hire 6 Teachers

NORWOOD (ENS)—For the 1953-54 term Norwood District High School has hired three new members for their teaching staff. They are:

Miss Patricia Belt M.A. (Toronto University) from Montreal. Her previous position as teacher was in Goose Bay, Labrador. She will teach French and English to all Grade 9 and Grade 10B.

Miss Irene Putman B. A. (Queen's) whose previous position was in Lisgar Collegiate, Ottawa. She will teach Latin, English and Social Studies.

McClement Freeman, MA (University of Minnesota). His previous position was on the staff of Minnesota University. He will teach guidance, mathematics and science.

Enrolment on the first day was 261, with an expected enrollment of 275.

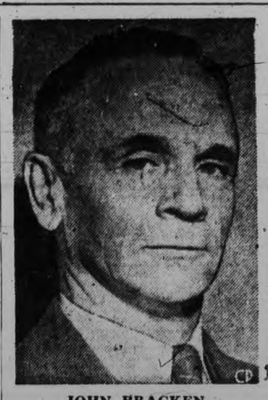
Norwood Public School has hired three new teachers on their staff also. These are:

Miss Alice Bray, who formerly taught in Canonto Public School. She will teach Grades 2 and 3.

Miss Laura Horne, who formerly taught at Donegal; she will teach Grade 1.

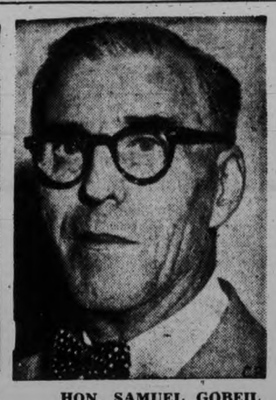
Mr. Pigden, whose former position was at Young's Point. He will teach Grades 6 and 7.

Enrolment on the first day for the Public School was 282.

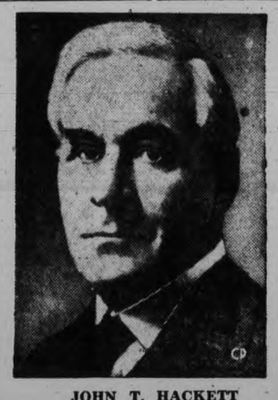


JOHN BRACKEN

T. L. KENNEDY



HON. SAMUEL GOBEIL



JOHN T. HACKETT

SHOULD PRIME MINISTER ST. LAURENT name members of the Progressive Conservative party to the Canadian Senate, these four above are possible choices of the Prime Minister. Mr. Kennedy is a former premier of Ontario and for years minister of agriculture. Mr. Gobiel was postmaster general in the government of R. B. Bennett. Mr. Hackett has been member of parliament and was president of the National Progressive Conservative Association. Mr. Bracken is a former premier of Manitoba and former leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in Ottawa.

Is Prime Minister St. Laurent Planning To Name Conservatives To Senate?

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent may be planning an unprecedented step — appointment of opposition members to some of the Senate's 12 vacancies.

Such a step would be an effective safeguard against the 102-seat upper chamber becoming more dominated by one parth than at present. The Liberals hold 82 seats against only eight by Progressive Conservatives.

With the Liberal government's life extended for another four or five years as a result of the Aug. 10 election, the disparity between government and opposition in the Senate may increase.

It is even conceivable that the day may come when the Senate is a one-party body. This is particularly true the longer the Liberals remain in power and the practice is continued of filling Senate vacancies from the ranks of government supporters.

Prime Minister St. Laurent has made no direct statement that he will by-pass these possibilities by appointing opposition members to the Senate. However, his careful choice of words on the subject at a pre-election press conference may be an indication.

When asked if he planned to appoint senators from oppositton ranks, Mr. St. Laurent said he had no intention of appointing "non-Liberals to the Senate before an election."

The present lop-sided representation in the Senate has developed through the long tenure of the Liberals. When they came to power in 1936, they mustered only 33 supporters. The Conservatives held the majority with 63 seats.

However, deaths and resignations have pared this to the present eight while Liberals have filled many of the vacancies.

The 12 vacant seats are concentrated mainly in eastern provinces. Quebec has four, New Brunswick three, Ontario two and Nova Scotia, Manitoba and British Columbia one each.

NEW AMUNITION

If Mr. St. Laurent fills all vacancies with Liberals, critics of the upper chamber will feel they have new ammunition to bolster the demand for Senate reform or abolition.

In the Senate itself, some Liberals and Progressive Conservatives believe some change is needed in the method of appointments. Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader in the upper chamber and a cabinet minister, provoked debate on the subject during the session of 1950 and 1951.

These debates and comments on them in the newspapers and among public figures served to show there is a considerable body of opinion on both sides—for and against reform.

A constitutional debate undoubtedly would follow any government proposal to change by act of Parliament the method of appointment. However appointment of a few senators from opposition groups might by-pass such a debate, head off further criticism of the Senate and strengthen the opposition in the Senate without endangering the Liberal majority.

Party lines are not as strictly drawn in the Senate as in the Commons. But it is inevitable that senators recruited from one political group will have similar views on most questions.

As the chamber of "sober second thought" the Senate might fulfil its job better where there is a greater diversity of political opinions.

If the prime minister takes this step, it seems unlikely he will meet with success where the CCF is concerned. The party has in the past advocated abolition of the Senate and has been one of the most vocal groups in criticizing its actions.

Furthermore, in Saskatchewan—the only province with a CCF government—no Senate vacancy exists. This destroys one possible basis of representation for the CCF in the upper chamber.

It has been argued that since the Senate is constitutionally the protector of provincial rights the provinces should have some voice in the Senate of the political stripe of the provincial government. On that basis, the CCF might be offered a Senate seat when a Saskatchewan vacancy occurs. But it is hardly likely the offer would be accepted.

Social Credit is in a different position. The party is in power in Alberta and British Columbia. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, says the offer of a Senate seat would be accepted since such a step conforms to the Social Credit view that all parties should be represented in the upper chamber.

Mr. Low says some discussion along these lines took place with Mr. St. Laurent's predecessor, the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King. There were indications that Mr. King favored representation in the Senate of all groups which had members in the Commons even if it meant appointment of opposition members by a Liberal government.

There would be ample room for appointments of Progressive Conservatives to seats in New Brunswick and Ontario where the party forms the government. And even in other provinces there are prominent Progressive Conservatives who might render valuable service in the Senate.

Among them are John Bracken, 70, former party leader who lives at Manotick, Ont., and Thomas L. Kennedy, 74, former agriculture minister of Ontario. Percy Black, 75, former member of Parliament for Cumberland, might fill a Nova Scotia seat.

There are at least two outstanding possibilities for Quebec seats if Mr. St. Laurent decides to name opposition senators. They are Hon. Samuel Gobeil, 78, former postmaster general, and John T. Hackett, 69, of Montreal, former president of the Canadian Bar Association.

However, if a new basis of appointments takes into consideration the political stripe of provincial governments, Quebec would pose a knotty problem. In that province Premier Maurice Duplessis' Union Nationale government has been one of the strongest opponents of such Liberal policies as the tax rental agreements.

Mr. St. Laurent would have to decide whether the Union Nationale unrepresented in the Commons, should have a supporter in the Senate. It might be argued that the selection should be made only from among parties with members in the Commons.

But on the other side it might be argued that if the appointments are to be made to give the provinces a bigger voice in the Senate, Quebec's Union Nationale should be included.

A Product of General Foods

The NEW way of feeding your dog. Every food factor dogs are known to need is locked into separate, crunchy little nuggets. 4 GREAT ADVANTAGES.

1 MORE NOURISHING — HOMOGENIZED Gaines guarantees uniform nourishment — gives your dog the proper balance of necessary ingredients — including MORE MEAT, MILK and FISH PROTEINS.

2 GREAT APPETITE APPEAL—Your dog finds HOMOGENIZED Gaines more attractive and more appetizing . . . he loves the crunchy texture . . . gets really excited over the "meaty" aroma.

3 SO ECONOMICAL — Costs less to feed than any other type — one 2 lb. bag of Gaines is equal in food value to six pounds of wet food.

4 MORE CONVENIENT — You can feed DRY — right from the package. Or moisten if you wish — no stirring required. In either case, no pasty, sticky dish to clean, no can to open.

No other dog food like
HOMOGENIZED Gaines Meal
SEE . . . no flakes, no dust
FEEL . . . the attractive texture
SMELL . . . the appetizing aroma

ATTENDS BAR ASSOC. MEET

Basil D. Hall, Peterborough barrister, later this week will attend the 35th annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association in Quebec City. He will be the only Peterborough barrister at the convention. At present he and Mrs. Hall are on vacation.

SWITCH BOX FIRE

An overload circuit started a fire Tuesday night in a switch box on the east bank at Miller Bowl, Townsend St. City firemen were called but they didn't have to use an extinguisher because the fire was out when they arrived.

HOLD CAMP REUNION

Sixth annual reunion of the staff of the training camp located during the Second World War on the exhibition grounds will be held Saturday afternoon and evening at the Armouries. Speaker at the evening dinner will be James Turnbull, last commanding officer of the camp.

EMERALD LAWN

The greenest lawn in Peterborough is probably the attractive grounds of Nashua Paper Co. During arid August it had the benefit of factory water that would otherwise have finally flowed into the sewer. Kenner Collegiate lawn has become pretty well established in its first year.

"EX" GROUNDS FIT

That's a fast field for the football game at Exhibition Park tonight. It dried fast after the weekend rain. So is the track fast for the several horses that appear to make daily use of it to some purpose or other. The entire grounds are in good condition for the "Ex" next week.

WANT KAMLOOPS TROUT

Lands and Forests officials in this district are anxious to obtain one or more of the Kamloops trout—a variety of rainbow trout—reportedly caught in the Catchacoma and Mississauga Lakes this year. The fish have been planted there since 1950. Anglers catching one of these trout are asked to telephone district biologist Charlie Weir in Lindsay, 3555, or Omemee, 132W.

NOT PASSING ON CURVE

It was reported incorrectly in Tuesday's Examiner that the car in which 37-year-old John Faiers was killed was passing another car on a curve north of Lakefield at the time of the accident. Provincial police said today that Faiers' car was merely rounding the curve, not passing another vehicle when the accident happened. Faiers lived at 829 Lansdowne St.

Truck Hits Bump, Mother Falls Out With Child, Daughter Crushed, Dies

City Family Accompanying Dad To Lindsay In Truck; Youngster, 2, Dies In Hospital Of Shock and Injuries

A family outing ended in tragedy Tuesday afternoon when two-year-old Margaret Dwyer, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dwyer, 303 King St., Peterborough, was crushed under the dual wheels of the truck her father was driving. She died in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, today. The accident occurred at the intersection of Victory Ave., and Peel St., Lindsay, when the truck hit a bump in the road and the door flew open, dumping Mrs. Dwyer and her daughter onto the roadway.

"I was taking my wife and children for a ride," said Mr. Dwyer. "My sons, Ken and Billy, were in the back and my wife and two daughters, Diane and Margaret were in the cab with me. We were just approaching the intersection when the truck hit a bump."

"My wife was holding the door handle for support—the door flew open and she and Margaret fell out."

The child was pinned beneath the rear right wheel and Mr. Dwyer had to move the truck off her body. Dr. W. T. Reid was called to the scene of the accident and administered first aid to the mother and child before rushing them to hospital.

Mrs. Dwyer received severe bruises but was soon released from hospital. The child was suffering from concussion, a crushed left leg and pelvis and possible internal injuries. She succumbed to shock about 2:00 a.m. today.

Mr. Dwyer, an employee of Bryan's Transport whose truck he was driving at the time of the accident, said that his wife had attempted to push the child that she was holding, back into the cab as she fell, but was unsuccessful. No inquest will be held.

The other children in the family are, Kenny, 10, Billy, six and Diane, five. They were uninjured in the accident and Mrs. G. Bradshaw, Lindsay, a witness to the accident, took the children home with her while their mother and sister were taken to hospital.

The body of Margaret Dwyer is resting at the Lane Funeral Home until Thursday, then to be taken to Kingston for burial on Saturday. Mrs. Dwyer, the former Johanna Cooper, is a native of Kingston. George Dwyer is a lifelong resident of Peterborough.

Fate Of Highway To Decide Need Of Service Road

Peterborough veterans may have to pay more for their land on their Highway 28 subdivision if the proposed new highway to Kendry's Station doesn't go through within the next three years.

It was on the supposition the new highway will relieve traffic flow on Highway 28 that the city planning board reversed a decision to demand the subdivision be equipped with a service road to serve 19 highway fronted residences.

If the new highway is built within the next three years, then there will be no service road; if not, then the service road will have to go in.

This, in the words of A. R. McNabb of Kingston, district representative of the VLA, will mean increased cost of land to the veterans to the extent of making it "prohibitive," cut down the number of lots available to the vets, mean resubdividing the whole area and, in short, defeat the whole purpose of the plan.

From the city's point of view, a service road will reduce the number of traffic accesses to the highway from 19 to just two and, as a result, cut down chances of highway accidents.

The subdivision will be located about six miles southwest of Peterborough.

Appearing before the planning board Tuesday night, Mr. McNabb asked members to reconsider their decision, claiming the road appeared "unnecessary." He said the board's request for a service road was the first ever to come before the VLA in Ontario.

According to Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan township, that municipality had already rescinded the resolution made which also advocated the service road.

Mr. McNabb added that when the new highway went through Highway 28 would be just a "glorified county road," and the service road, a white elephant.

After discussing the situation, Ernest Braund framed a motion turning the matter back to the DVA to consult with the Department of Highways on the new highway. Seconded by Alderman H. T. Rehill, the motion provided that the service road suggestion would be abandoned by the city if a new east-west main highway is constructed within the next three years or the DVA can obtain assurance of its construction within that time.

PETERBOROUGH'S OLDEST GROCERY STORE is going out of business. Built 95 years ago on Simcoe St., facing the old city market, the Hamilton store has been noted for high quality groceries and personal service. Andy Pearson (top left) tends the huge coffee grinder, typical of the store's myriad machines, which, in bygone days, performed the functions nowadays left to warehouses and factories, such as blending tea, roasting coffee and cleaning seeds, raisins and currants. Miss Amy Bowles (upper, right), manager of the store, has worked there since she graduated from business college in 1911. The lower photo illustrates the leisurely manner of doing business which will disappear with the store. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

Hamilton's Store Sells Out Bank Purchases Old Building

By PHIL CALDER, Examiner Staff Writer

One of Peterborough's oldest retail businesses, the Hamilton grocery store on Simcoe St., facing the city parking lot, is selling out its stock of merchandise. Although sale of the property has not been completed, negotiations started with a prospective buyer several months ago. Legal steps necessary for transfer of the property were taken and it is expected that the site will be taken over by the local branch of a chartered bank within the next few weeks. It is hoped to have the stock sold by September 20 so that the premises can be vacated before the end of the month. Alterations planned by the new owner will probably be started then.

To learn of the sale of Hamilton's grocery store is something like reading the obituary notice of an apparently robust Victorian gentleman who had persisted in wearing chin-whiskers long after the invention of the electric shaver.

And just like the old gentleman whom everyone could depend on to remain true to the elegance and values of an age of propriety, the passing of the store will create a void which can never be filled.

FACED MARKET

For about a century, Peterborough's oldest grocery store stood on Simcoe St. facing the market. Finally, when the market stalls with their piles of butter and eggs and fowl gave way to monotonous lines of parking meters, Hamilton's seemed to rebuke the hustling traffic like a stately dowager's reproof of her granddaughter's favorite dance band.

Probably the chief impression of Hamilton's is that anyone who buys groceries there is a customer and not a consumer. Instead of looking both ways to make sure you don't get bowled over by a wheeled shopping basket before you reach for a tin of baby food, you can sit down on a stool before the long walnut counters and have your pick of a baffling variety of rare and exotic delicacies, as well as such mundane articles as flower pots, oil lamp chimneys and butter crocks.

MUSHROOM KETCHUP

There are mushroom ketchup and garlic powder, truffles and tarragon vinegar from France, tea from Japan, China, India and Ceylon, lime and ginger marmalade and half a dozen brands of biscuits from Scotland, black currant syrup from Australia, ginger wine from Ireland, calf's foot and bramble jelly from England and olive oil from Italy.

But it's the pungent aroma of spices that strikes you after the exhaust fumes in the street. Allspice, nutmeg, cloves, black and white pepper, cassia buds, mustard, cinnamon and whole mixed spices of green bay leaves and bright red chilis fill the air with a rich fragrance.

Add to this the rich aroma of freshly-ground coffee and you have an idea of the distinctive

Hope To Hold Air Show At Airfield

An air show may be held at Skyboro landing strip in the near future to raise money for operation of the airfield, it was learned Tuesday night.

The show could not be held until a license is granted the strip, but officials of the Peterborough Pilots' Association expect to have that license within two weeks. They held a meeting Tuesday night at the field to discuss ways of raising the money for the strip.

Representatives of city industries and city council were present. Association officials and others interested in the field made it clear they expected no financial aid from the city or from industries in the city.

DONATIONS

The pilots intend to finance the venture through donations from their own group and from individuals willing to support the field financially.

They hope to lease the land from the company which owns it, and may eventually form a flying club to operate the field. This is a method which has served other cities and their flying clubs well.

One test has shown the strip is up to Department of Transport requirements. A car was driven almost the full length of the strip at 50 mph. Minimum speed required for this test by the department is 30 mph.

Safe-Cracking In Warsaw Still A Mystery

No new leads have developed in the robbery of two safes at Warsaw, Provincial Police reported today.

Two mysterious mixtures—one in an oil can, the other in a bottle—were found at the scene and the contents have partially been identified.

One contains a mixture of turpentine with another liquid, the other an unknown liquid mixed with a valve lubricant. Purpose of neither mixture is known.

Professor Jocelyn Rogers, of Toronto, is studying the mixtures, and a report on their analysis is expected to be made to the OPP headquarters here in the near future. He will probably report at the same time whether the safes were blown or opened by a safecracker with sensitive fingers.

If they were not blown, police say, it means that an expert safecracker is operating in this district. And in recent years, there have been only rare cases of safecrackers with sufficiently sensitive fingers to operate in that way.

From the safe in Hilliard Darling's general store, $200 in cash was taken. From the post office safe at Frank Sidey's store, $10 was taken, and another $10 from the cash register.

Blank money orders valued at $2,000 were left untouched in the post office safe. The thief took only money, and left almost no traces of his presence, beyond the open safes and the missing money.

Provincial Constable John Cawood is investigating.

Horses, Cattle Lead Parade To Exhibition

Number of exhibitors at the Peterborough Exhibition is expected to be at least as high as last year's total of more than 250.

Already 100 have sent in entry form, and more are continuing to flood in with each mail, officials report.

One particular change that has been noted is an increase in the number of heavy horses being entered. So far 45 are on the list, and more are expected. The total is already higher than last year.

Number of Jersey cattle already entered is triple last year's total. Only 20 were shown in 1952, and up to Tuesday, 61 had been entered for this year's exhibition. Other classes—dual purpose, Guernseys, Ayrshires, and Herefords — are about the same as 1952.

Sheep too, with 95 entered now, mark an increase over last year, while swine, with 37 entries, are about the same. Poultry entries also are up. Six hundred and fifty birds have been entered, and a few more are yet to come.

The exhibition, usually a four-day affair, has been extended this year for the 44th show, to accommodate the accomplished and expected increases in entries.

The prize list this year is worth a total of $18,000, with awards available to all classes of interest.

Horticulture entries, as usual, will not be in until Monday night, the eve of the fair's first day. Exhibition officials are concerned over this divison, since the recent dry, hot weather may cut down the entry list.

All space in the manufacturers' building has been sold, and Mrs. Joseph Tully, exhibition secretary, reports that they could have sold the space twice over.

The curve at the east end of the racetrack has been enlarged to accommodate a larger entry of harness horses that will be racing daily. The stage has been increased in size as well.

Opening day of the fair—next Tuesday—will be children's day, as usual, and the attendance that day is expected to mark the beginning of one of the best years the fair has yet had. President Norman McConkey and his board of directors have worked through the winter to make the exhibition one of the best ever.

Kinsmen Executive Hold First Meeting

Arthur Black, new president of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club, presided at the first meeting of the club's new executive Tuesday night in the Chamber of Commerce board room. The executive drew up committees for the coming year.

Other members of the executive are: Vice-presidents, Howard Powell, William Roche; secretary, Karl MacKay; treasurer, John Robertson; directors, George Ball, William Keen, Jack Cummings, Bud LaPlante and Bill Godson.

Fire Hazard Drops One Still Burning

Fire hazard in the Trent district has been reduced to a normal condition, district forester A. B. Wheatley reported today.

Ten fires occurred in the district during the past week, four of which were caused by lightning. All were spotted by a patrolling aircraft before they were large enough to be visible from fire towers.

All fires except one in the Lindsay district are out, Mr. Wheatley says, and none of the 20-odd that occurred during the past two weeks developed beyond the minor stage.

2 City Students Win Bursaries

University dominion and provincial student aid bursaries have just been received by two Peterborough high school graduates.

David Bacon, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Bacon, 72 Benson Ave., and Paul Hickson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hickson, 1 Stewart St., each received $400. for further studies.

David Bacon received his matriculation from PCVS and is planning an engineering physics course at Queen's University. Paul Hickson, a graduate of St. Peter's, will attend University of Toronto to study mechanical engineering.

Bursaries of $100. allotted to students entering grade 13 were given to Eric Jackson of PCVS and Adele Nolan, Dorothy Duignan, Arliegh Fitzgerald and Joan Bourrie of St. Peter's.

A Teacher's College bursary of $175. was given to Rosemary DeNoble of St. Peter's.

Mother's Trust Betrayed, Loses Home

DETROIT (AP)—Scheduled eviction of a 66-year-old woman from her home today writes the final chapter to a story of a mother's trust betrayed.

Louis Gordon, a bondsman, is to take possession of a $17,500 home in suburban Dearborn from Mrs. Rose Lamerato Pignianelli.

The story began more than two years ago. Mrs. Pignianelli's son, William Lamerato, was charged with the $10,000 holdup of a supermarket.

Lamerato had been arrested 20 times previously on various charges and convicted six times.

But Mrs. Pignianelli posted her home as security so her son could be out on bond while awaiting trial. The son fled, $10,000 bond was forfeited and Gordon had to pay it.

PLEADED GUILTY

Lamerato was captured 10 months later, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 19-50 years in prison. He is there now.

Last December, Gordon obtained a court foreclosure order against Mrs. Pignianelli's home. She was given eight months to raise the money. Sympathic neighbors tried to help but could raise only $400.

When the Quints Were Babies: 2

They Fast Grew Into Winsome Personalities

THE DIONNE quintuplets, like babies everywhere, grew up fast from helpless infants to winsome personalities, and soon their pictures became as familiar (and as adorable) through newspapers and magazines as the snapshot of sister in father's wallet.

Here they are in closeups taken during their first year—just about the time some teeth were due. At top, left to right: Marie, Cecile and Annette. Below: Yvonne (left) and Emilie.

Now that you have the key, can you tell which is which in the photo at right as they cuddle in the arms of Fred S. Ferguson, president of NEA Service?

Ferguson was a familiar figure at the Dafoe Hospital in those early years. He arranged with the guardians and later the Ontario government for all still pictures made of the quintuplets during their first five years. These pictures were made by photographer Fred Davis of Toronto.

Widely distributed by NEA Service, the photographs became the foundation on which the Province of Ontario built up a million-dollar estate for the five famous daughters through advertising, endorsements and a motion picture, "The Country Doctor," in which the quints appeared in a few scenes with Jean Hersholt.

Seaway Help To Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Representative George Dondero (Rep. Mich.) said Tuesday that the city of Buffalo would benefit from the St. Lawrence seaway and should be in favor of it.

Dondero, here with other members of the U.S. House of Representatives public works committee of which he is chairman, told reporters:

"With the seaway in operation, Buffalo should grow as a steel centre. Labrador ore will come here cheaply by water. Buffalo is closer to a coal supply than other big cities on the Great Lakes and power is cheaper here."

The Buffalo Chamber of Commerce has announced its opposition to U.S. participation in building the seaway.

Future Demand To Exceed Supply Of U. Graduates

TORONTO— The outlook — as far as getting a job is concerned —remains bright for Canada's university graduates, according to the latest report prepared by the Executive and Professional Division of the National Employment Service.

In practically all categories demand exceeds supply, which will cause many a university graduate of 15 to 20 years ago to realize how completely times have changed f the bright-eyed graduates who are toting their brand new sheepskins.

Mots sought after, the E and P division finds from its extensive records, are engineers. Here is what the report says, in part: "The demand is defintely greater than the supply, and is apt to remain so for several years at least. Even a freshman class of 2,714 (last fall's enrollment) is insufficient to supply demand. It is estimated that wastage (failures) run round 25 to 30 per cent. It is estimated that that the demand will average at least 2,000 per year for some years t. This estimate may even be too low when we consider that the d mand 'n the spring of 1952 was nearly 3,000 and in the spring of 1953 around 2,500. The graduating classes in 1954 and 1955 will not greatly exceed 1,000 each, a number well below the expected demand."

Here is a summary of some of the other professions:

Forestry: For the next three years slightly under 100 will graduate each year. These should be readily absorbed and probably even greater numbers could be placed. However, no large influx should be encouraged at the present time.

Geology: A continuing shortage is producing better salary offers from employers.

Medicine: Still a shortage in the armed services. Enrolments remain as high as the teaching facilities will permit, so apparently nothing can be done to increase the supply.

Dentistry: The demand has been mounting steadily and the graduating classes have been decreasing. The profession seems likely to be undermanned for years to come.

Pharmacy: Larger classes can be usefully absorbed for some years to come.

Social work: Shortages are expected for some years to come.

Law: demand is slightly ahead of supply in the graduating classes. There is an increased call for graduates in law on a salary basis by business and governments.

Honor graduates in chemistry physics and biology: At the moment supply and demand are about equal but it is expected that demand will increase over the next few years.

Theology: An unfilled demand, evidenced by the fact that in the spring National Employment Service for the first time received definite requests for theology graduates.

Achitecture: While construction remains active the present graduating classes can be placed. It is expected that demand will slightly exceed supply over the next few years.

General B. A. Demand greater than in the past and still increasing. But, the E and P division points out, it is still advisible for students to take an honor course rather than a pass course.

Commerce and Business Administration: The demand for graduates nearly as great proportionately as for engineers. A particular demand for specialists — accounting, market research, advertising, sales, insurance underwriting, actuarial work, purchasing.

Education: Last year the E and P pointed out there was a shortage of 25,0000 teachers. The shortage has not changed. There are good prospects for employment for those university students interested in teaching as a career. The shortage of teachers is at both the secondary and primary school levels.

There is also a demand for five university courses made up largely of women students, the report points out — nurses, dietitians, household science, social work, physical education and therapy.

6 Polio Deaths In Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — Poliomyelitis took no holiday during the long week-end—Manitoba health officials Tuesday reported six deaths and 87 new cases since Friday.

The province's polio totals fo far this year now stand at 48 deaths and 1,436 cases. Of the total, 853 cases have shown paralytic complications.

Winnipeg has had 589 cases, the suburbs 323, and the remainder of the province 524.

Despite the heavy case-total for the weekend, Dr. M. R. Elliott, deputy health minister, said the epidemic is "definitely" on its way down in the winnipeg area.

Wants Canada Make Her Voice Heard

TORONTO (CP)—Canada should make her voice heard when there are differences of opinion between Britain and the United States, Beverley Baxter, British journalist and politician, said Tuesday.

Speaking at the Women's Canadian Club, he said Canada has the right to speak because she is affected by decisions made in London and Washington.

"I do not believe we shall see great wars again, once the democracies have armed themselves," Mr. Baxter said.

Baby Dies In Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—Nicolle Comtois, 15-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Comtois of Montreal, was burned to death Tuesday night when fire broke out in an east-end building. The child's mother was admitted to hospital suffering from severe burns.

Which More Important—Board Or Bulldozer Big Civic Question Of Week In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Civic problem of the week: What's more important, board of control or a bulldozer?

Board of control launched the controversy Tuesday when it discovered the city so far this year has paid $20,000 in rent for a bulldozer it could have bought for $18,000. The machine has been used at the city dump.

"Why, that machine," exclaimed mayor Charlotte Whitton in shocked tones, "has earned for its services more than we have on board of control."

"Maybe," mused controller Paul Tardif, a frequent Whitton sparring partner, "the bulldozer does certain things that board of control can't."

"I don't know about that," said the mayor.

"Well," Mr. Tardif said, "we just throw the stuff—the bulldozer spreads it around."

Board ruled the machine should not be hired again until a full report is made on sanitation conditions.

Can Serve Lunches In Beverage Rooms

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario liquor licence board gave beverage houses the green light Tuesday to serve side orders of hot dogs, hamburgers or corn on the cob with beer.

The board told the Ontario Hotel Association that lunches may be served in beverage rooms if they are prepared on the premises.

The association recently asked for the ruling because members said regulations on the situation were not clear.

CommunityChestPlans To Increase Objective

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's Community Chests will campaign this year for $14,500,000 for 1954 operations, the Canadian Welfare Council announced Tuesday.

This is an increase of 13 per cent over the $12,943,000 collected for 1953, a rise brought about by expanded activities in welfare work.

Since last year, the council said, there are nearly 200,000 more people in cities and towns where Community Chests operate, and as the population grows, an increasing number of older people and young children need the specialized care and social services that community chest agencies provide.

New White Bread Is Almost Strange

LONDON—While the official de-control of meat will possibly not occur until early in the new year, to all intents and purposes meat and bacon are now off the ration. One's butcher is still supposedly to confine the customer to about thirty cents work per week but, once he has attended to the legal needs of his clientele, with the blessing of the Ministry of Food he can start to dish out the excess. But why, you ask, excess? Meat, of course, is not that abnormal in supply. It is simply that less and less people can afford it over here—cheap as it is by Canadian stands, writes David M. Legate in the Montreal Star.

In the matter of food another milestone has been passed in the slow climb back to normality in this country. This week for the first time in fourteen years white bread is available. For all of that period the nation has existed on what long ago became known as the national loaf which has been notorious for the absence of white flour. It was a brown sort of bread with heavy crust which couldn't be disguised by toasting.

The new really white bread is almost strange. It is lighter and fresher and smoother in texture and the price is uncontrolled. At present a one and three quarter pound loaf is costing about twelve cents. The bakers naively state that "we shall sell the old national loaf only when it's asked for." The demand for that horrible concoction is likely to be quite light.

"YELLOW BAND" AREAS

The Ministry of Transport at large and Scotland Yard where London itself is concerned are on the warpath in the matter of traffic control. All over the metropolitan area for the past week large signs have appeared warning drivers that regulations are to be strictly enforced and that more and more of London's streets are being brought within the "yellow band" or no parking area.

Over here they have two kinds of restrictions, — "no parking" and "no waiting" streets, the latter meaning that a car cannot be left unattended for a second. Now, to ease London's rapidly increasing traffic problems, a total of two hundred and ninety-six streets in the metropolitan district, amounting to more than forty-six miles, are being brought under the "no waiting" rule.

Is this the end of the "yellow band" areas? No, says the Ministry, more are due to be considered shortly.

"HOPPERS" IN KENT

This is the hop-picking season which surely is unique. England may be consuming less ale and more hot chocolate, but the hop pickers are picking as many hops and what a family outing it makes for all concerned.

At present the lovely county of Kent is alive with whole families who are making this their regular holiday and earning money to boot. By road and rail and literally by the thousands they are arriving to pick the 1953 crop.

Full employment in London means fewer pickers available, and the number has been reduced this year because of the threat of education authorities to prosecute parents who keep children away from school for hop-picking. Yet the railways expect to carry approximately ten thousand by special trains during weekends alone.

In the hop gardens living conditions continue to improve for pickers. Many farmers have undertaken minor housing schemes, providing brick and concrete huts with electric light and hot water for the workers.

At the end of the month, which is the end of the picking season, there will be parties all over Kent to celebrate the gathering of this year's crop.

THE LONG WEEKEND

Complain about it as a "foreigner" may and often does, nothing will ever be done to interfere with the English long weekend. It's bad enough on week days when one never dreams about trying to get any business done by telephone much before ten in the morning.

Now a writer in "Red Tape" the Civil Service magazine has suggesting a scheme to start work earlier and, of course, finishnig earlier.

He goes so far as to recommend that everybody gets cracking at the desk at seven o'clock and knocking off that much earlier for leisure and pleasure.

Not even an impassioned edict by Sir Winston Churchill would prevent a sheer revolution if this sort of common sense were to prevail!

A JOB PLUS A HOME

Family ties and employment are deterring many Londoners, urgently in need of housing, from settling in the new towns which are being scientifically planned and constructed on the outskirts. Of sixty thousand families asked by the London County Council if they were prepared to leave London, less than ten thousand replied in the affirmative. About forty thousand didn't bother to answer the circular.

Lkei most other housing authorities, the LCC is guided by the principle of "A job plus a home" in finding residents for new towns, and in each instance there is close liason with the labor exchanges.

But London being London it is easy to comprehend the lack of response.

ON THE POSH TRAINS

On the Golden Arrow and other posh English trains public address systems are used by railway employees to give necessary information.

The other day on the "Brighton Belle," which does the sixty-mile run in fifty-seven minutes, there was the following announcement: "Travellers on the Brighton Belle are particulary warned not to play cards with strangers on the train."

Reason? There was a race meeting at Brighton!

Boys Trap Policeman

KINGSTON (CP)—Police have solved the mystery of how officer George Lay was yanked from his motorcycle. Chief Jack Truaisch said two fathers reported that their young sons admitted tying fishing line across a street here recently. Lay suffered burns and bruises when he hit the "trap" and fell to the road.

Suspend Registration Of Brokerage Firm

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Securities Commission announced Tuesday it has suspended the brokerage registration of the brokerage firm of Picard and Fleming, members of the Toronto Stock Exchange.

It was also announced by exchange officials that the senior member of the firm, Irving R. Picard, has been suspended by the exchange.

The commission said in a report on the activities of the firm that "high pressured and possibly fraudulent methods," "ruthless and vicious course of conduct," "overloading," "actual deception" and other unlawful actions were used by the firm in its dealings with clients.

Harry Lummiss

MARMORA (ENS). — The funeral of Harry Eve Lummiss took place on Monday afternoon leaving the Wells Funeral Home for St. Margaret's Anglican Church, Glanmire. Services were under the auspices of Madoc AF and AM of which the deceased had been a member for 50 years.

The service in the church and at the graveside in Glanmire cemetery was conducted by the Rev. T. H. Good, rector of Madoc parish. The bearers were Donald Armstrong, Roy Armstrong, Joseph McCaw, Thomas Burrell, David Burrell and John London.

Mr. Lummiss died on Friday in Belleville at the age of 78. He was born in Port Arthur, son of the late Daniel Lummiss and Anne Jenner. A farmer, he married and lived almost his entire life at Glanmire, north of Millbridge. For a number of years he was mail carrier from Millbridge to Glanmire.

For a few years following his retirement he resided with his brother Charles in Marmora. He was a member of the Anglican Church, and besides being a member of Madoc Masonic Lodge, belonged to Madoc Chapter RAM and King Baldwin Preceptory No. 6, Belleville.

Surviving are two brothers, Charles A. Lummiss, Marmora, and Uriah (Sandy) Lummiss, of Belleville, and two sisters, Mrs Judson Gunter (Emma), Bancroft, and Mrs. George Bonter (Helena), Belleville.

Hid In Box, Killed

MONTREAL (CP) — Claudette Picard was crushed to death Tuesday when a truck rolled over a cardboard box in which she was hiding. Frank Duthewicz, driver of the truck, said he swerved to avoid hitting one cardboard box in a lane when he saw a boy hiding in it but rolled over a second box.

Elected Reeve

MILVERTON, Ont. (CP)—Willoet Kelterborn was elected reeve of Milverton Tuesday, filling a post left vacant by the death of reeve Clarence Mogk last July. He defeated Edgar Doepel 302 votes to 168.

WORDS TO LABOR—Former President Harry S. Truman addresses a joint AFL-CIO labor rally at Detroit as the principle speaker of a Labor Day program. About 53,000 men and women attended. The ex-President scored the Republican administration for its "change" of the "social and economic" policies that have made America prosperous and strong. On-the-scene reporters said Truman's remarks were greeted warmly.

Junior Farmers Have Day At Toronto Exhibition

TORONTO (CP) — Post time comes today for an expected 60 swimmers in the Canadian National Exhibition's annual 10-mile professional men's swim.

Marathon swim contestants from as far away as Beirut, Lebanon, many parts of the United States and several from Canada, are to dive into Lake Ontario at 1:30 p. m. EDT in chase of $9,500 prize money.

The waterfront endurance test highlights a full program of sports and agricultural activities during Farmers' and Livestock Parade Day at the CNE.

Tops on the agriculture program are the junior farmers' parade and competitions. CNE directors announced Tuesday night that 390 junior farmers, members of the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association, have registered for today's activities.

These events start with grain, vegetable and livestock judging, primarily for the males, and homemaking exhibitions and competitions for the girls. An afternoon parade, and probable evening square dancing on the grounds, will end junior farmers' big day.

Tuesday's attendance figures showed a decided upswing after last week's totals, kept down by a heat wave. A total of 152,000 persons attended Tuesday, an increase of 29,000 over the same day last year.

Canada is moving from a comparatively carefree adolescence into maturity and responsibility as a country among the peoples of the earth, Dr. G. P. Gilmour, president of Hamilton's McMaster University, said Tuesday.

Speaking at a director's luncheon on International Day, Dr. Gilmore listed three reasons why "it is a good thing for this group to have an international day."

The first reason, he said, is because Canadians are not sufficiently informed about the difficulties of others; secondly, "because we have some cause to flatter ourselves that in our own national life we can offer a model to others; and thirdly, because Canadians have little enmity toward others and from others to trouble their consciences."

Bar Association Opens 35th Annual Meeting

QUEBEC (CP)—General sessions of the Canadian Bar Association's 35th annual convention get under way today as lawyers from all Canadian provinces study reports from more than a score of committees.

Among reports submitted Tuesday to the association's council, one noted that doctors are becoming reluctant to testify in court. Another report said lawyers would not favor a practice whereby only one reason for a Supreme Court of Canada judgment be made known.

The delegates, to be welcomed by Premier Duplessis of Quebec today, also were to hear an address from CBA president Andre Taschereau, QC, of Quebec.

Later, they study problems such as comparative law, juvenile delinquency and labor strikes.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES

A report read Tuesday at the council meeting by Edson L. Haines, QC, of Toronto, said:

"Cast either as plaintiff's or defendant's witness, they (doctors) find themselves caught between warring factions and are rarely allowed to express an independent view.

"Where two doctors disagree on a diagnosis in any hospital they would be amazed if the medical superintendent asked a layman to decide who was right . . . yet . . . that is what they believe is being done in court."

The report suggested that some machinery be set up whereby the courts could appoint independent experts to confer with the experts for the parties and then bring evidence.

Thus, the report added, "the court does not substitute its judgment for that of experts, even its own experts. . . ."

A report presented by CBA vice-president John A. MacAuley of Winnipeg urged the present method whereby one or more of the nine justices of the Supreme Court of Canada may write notes on a case being continued.

The recommendation was approved unanimously by the council, but Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret of the Supreme Court said the present system was a waste of time.

"WHE-E-E-E I'M THE CHAMP!"—Jimmy Primeau, 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Primeau of Toronto, gurgled and laughed as he was named grand champion baby for 1953 at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. Jimmy weighs 26½ pounds and was chosen from among 1,000 contestants.

Rev. H. J. Keith To Be Buried On Thursday

The funeral of the late Rev. Dr. Henry J. Keith, first minister of Knox Church, Peterborough will be on Thursday afternoon in Ottawa where he died on Monday. It will be from his home, 505 Island Park Drive, to Kingsway United Church for service at 2 o'clock. Burial will be at Pinecrest cemetery.

As in Peterborough, Rev. Dr. Keith was widely known and esteemed in Ottawa where he had lived since 1935.

The Ottawa Journal in nearly a column account of his life and work said in part: He took an active part in the religious, philanthropic and public life of the city. He was one of the two Canadian members of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through Religions. He was secretary of the Canadian branch of the Educational Research Society, and served a term as president of the Hampton Park Ratepayers' Association.

SEVERAL CLUBS

Dr. Keith was particularly interested in Ottawa Neighbourhood Services, and had been its president, resigning this year. He was a member of the Seigniory Club, Canadian Club of Ottawa, and a member of the Ottawa YMCA World Fellowship Club.

He was twice married, first to Louise MacDougall of Montreal, who died some years ago. His second wife, the former Annie R. Gray of Pembroke, survives, with one son, Robert M. Keith of Ottawa; two daughters, Mrs. Francis McNaughton, Montreal; and Mrs. Kay L. Davies of Australia, and ten grandchildren."

The Journal said: "Although he filled no charge in the Capital, he assisted in a number of Ottawa's United Churches, including Chalmers and Parkdale, and was a noted writer and speaker on religious and devotional subjects."

After his graduation from the Montreal Presbyterian College, he accepted the invitation of the International Students' Committee of the YMCA to become secretary of Bible Study for students in India. After several years service there, he returned to Canada and was called to Knox Church, Peterborough."

Ratify Amendment

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's legislature Tuesday finally got around to ratifying the 19th amendment to the U. S. constitution which gave women the right to vote 33 years ago. Alabama is one of three states which rejected the amendment which went into effect Aug. 26, 1920.

Can You Use An Experienced Toronto Sales, Advertising and Merchandising Executive In Peterborough?

Frankly, I'm fed up with Big City Life.
I'm tired of the rush and the crush.
I've a wonderful wife and three kids, but I rarely see them.
I love to play golf, but I can't find the extra time needed to drive 20 miles to the course.
I hate like blazes having to pay $144 a year just to park my car (not to mention parking tickets).
And I abhor feeling old at 37.
My record is good and will stand investigation. Present income is $10,000, so you see, this isn't just the "sour grapes" beefing of a frustrated wage-earner.
Experience includes Sales & Advertising Management plus Advertising Agency creative and account executive work.
If you can use my experience please drop me a line and I'll meet you at your convenience. Don't let the salary figure bother you because I realize it will cost me less to live in Peterborough and I'll probably live longer!

Druggists Capture First In Finals

LINDSAY (ENS) — Carruthers Drugs took a one-game lead in the Men's Softball League final series last night, as they captured the opener of the best-of-seven set, 5-1, from the league champion Combines.

Umpire McIntosh called the game for darkness at the end of six innings.

Dunc Daynes hurled the win, striking out six and walking four. Carruthers' hits were scattered through the lineup, while Growden and Plumpton had two singles each for the losers.

7 Canadians Visiting Soviet

TORONTO (CP)—Seven Canadians left Dorval airport in Montreal on Labor Day for a three-week visit to the Soviet Union as representatives of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society, the Canadian Peace Congress said today.

The delegation included Mrs. Fel Dorland, Vancouver; Mrs. Eleanor Ashworth, Edmonton; Leo Clavir, Mrs. M. H. Spaulding, and Paul Pauk, all of Toronto; Maj. R. T. Lafond, L'Annonciation, Que.; and Mrs. Rosalind McCutcheon, Montreal.

The congress said delegates will be guests in Russia of the USSR Society for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries.

While in the Soviet, the delegates will join Dyson Carter, president of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society who has been in Russia with his wife for six weeks.

300 Workers Picket Ingersoll Company

INGERSOLL (CP)—Three hundred members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) began picketing the plant of the Ingersoll Machine and Tool Company today.

They voted unanimously for the strike Tuesday night after talks between their negotiating committee and the company broke down. The next union-management meeting is scheduled for Thursday.

Aid Collective Farming

VIENNA (AP)—Communist Bulgaria's Premier Vulko Tchervenkov Tuesday announced a new program to support collective farming with direct financial aid, reduction of compulsory crop deliveries, higher state credits and better pay for collective workers. The announcement came in a speech broadcast by radio Sofia which marked the ninth anniversary of the "liberation" of Bulgaria by the Red army.

Further Remand For Two Miners

TIMMINS (CP)—An official of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) and a miner today were remanded to Sept. 23 on charges of attempted murder and attempted arson in connection with the running gunfight with police at the strike-bound Broulan Reef gold mine here last week.

Patrick Walsh, president of the union local at McIntyre gold mines and a former RCMP officer, and Alphonse Norkum, 32, a miner at Paymaster gold mines, were taken to jail at Haileybury, 100 miles southeast of here. They will be held without bail until the preliminary hearing.

The charges were laid last week after police surprised two men as they attempted to set fire to the $150,000 headframe of the mine. No one was hurt but a bullet tore through the tunic of one officer only a few inches from his heart.

Criticize Government On Road Conditions

KITCHENER (CP)—The Kitchener Chamber of Commerce Tuesday criticized the Ontario government for failing to improve highway conditions in the nearby Freeport bridge area, scene of many accidents in recent years.

The area on the Centreville-Freeport highway was the scene of a fatal accident Tuesday. Joseph Rohrbacher of Breslau was killed and four others hurt.

Director Harry Anlay, a Kitchener alderman, said the highways department continued to delay decision on improving the roadway.

Competition Begins For Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Fifty-two beautiful girls take to the stage tonight and begin competing in earnest for the "Miss America of 1954" crown and the $50,000 in awards that goes with it.

Ten judges will watch the girls go through their paces on the first of three nights of competition for beauty and talent.

The finals will be held Saturday night.

Among the contestants is Miss Canada, 19-year-old Kathleen Archibald of Kelowna, B. C.

Building Collapses Recover Nine Bodies

HONG KONG (Reuters)—British soldiers and civilian rescuers today recovered nine bodies—including those of two women—from the ruins of an unfinished apartment block which collapsed here Tuesday.

Ten more bodies are believed to have been trapped by debris when the almost-complete building suddenly caved in. Twelve workmen were injured.

Police said the Chinese architect of the building would be in court for the coroner's inquiry. Cause of the collapse has not been determined.

12% Reduction In Income Tax

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Income tax cuts averaging 12½ per cent highlighted a new federal budget unfolded in the House of Representatives today.

Treasurer Sir Arthur Fadden disclosed reductions in company taxes and sales taxes.

The "stimulus" budget listed concessions worth £118,400,000 (Australian) ($270,000,000) to the taxpayers.

Fadden is budgeting for a small surplus in 1953-54.

Biggest expenditure is on defence with £200,000,000 ($450,000,000) allocated.

Woman Reaches Peak Summit

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (Reuters) A French climbing team including a 34-year-old woman has reached the summit of a 23,300-foot Himalayan peak called Nun Kun, eighth highest mountain in the world.

Mrs. Claude Kogan, a Paris dress designer, was a member of an expedition led by Bernard Pierre, another climber and a Sherpa guide who went to the top Aug. 28.

The expedition returned today to report their victory.

Mrs. Kogan is France's best known woman mountaineer. She had already conquered 19,700-foot Quitaraju and 20,000-foot Scalcantay in Peru with Franco-American and Franco-Belgian expeditions.

Her husband died last year after a mountaineering accident.

Pierre is a 33-year-old Paris silk merchant.

He said of Madame Kogan in July: "She is worth every ounce of a man mountaineer and is probably the best climber in France."

Fail To Make Curve 1 Killed, 5 Injured

ESPANOLA (CP)—One person was killed and five others were injured Tuesday in an automobile accident 15 miles south of here.

Peter Hiebert, 69, of Little Current was killed when the car in which he was riding failed to make a curve and rolled into a ditch.

In hospital with broken bones and other injuries are Stanley Totman, 20; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Goertzman and their two children, Wayne, 2, and Sandra, 3. They are from Espanola.

2 Children Eat Emergency Fuel Sticks

OTTAWA (CP) — Two Ottawa children who ate sticks of emergency fuel, thinking it was candy, are recovering in hospital today.

Doctors used stomach pumps Tuesday to remove the poisonous substance from John Kritsch, 3, and his brother James, 2.

The fuel, which is made up in short, brown sticks and used to ignite fires, was found in a yard by two older boys and given to the Kritsch children as candy.

Lodge Protest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Peiping radio Tuesday said the Red Cross Society of China sent a protest to the League of Red Cross Societies in Geneva, asserting "unreasonable obstructions and restrictions" had been imposed by the UN command on Communist teams inspecting Allied prison compounds. The same protest also has been lodged with the joint military armistice commission in Panmunjom and is being investigated along with similar complaints of Allied Red Cross workers in North Korea.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—About 8,000 workers in the nitrate mines of the Anglo-Lautaro Company, in Antofagasta province, went on strike Tuesday, demanding higher wages.

NotTakingApplications For Series Tickets

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees said today they are not accepting world series ticket applications yet and asked fans to be patient for the official announcement.

"Those who have already sent in applications will have them returned," said press and promotions director Arthur Patterson. "The only applications we will consider will be those sent after we officially announce the opening of the sale."

The Yanks are nine games in front of second place Cleveland in the American league. Any combination of 10 Yankee victories and Cleveland defeats can clinch a fifth straight pennant for the club and manager Casey Stengel.

Slipped Across Border For Love–Immigrant

FORT ERIE (CP)—A 25-year-old Hungarian immigrant who told United States immigration officers he rowed across the Niagara river in a stolen boat "for love" is one of nine persons being held at Buffalo, N. Y., for illegal entry into the U. S.

Lajos Papkovacs admitted entering the U. S. illegally once before when he slipped into the country last June and met a young woman in Cleveland. However, he managed to slip back to Canada undetected, he said.

Immigration officers say they are also holding Jack Carroll, 29, of Hamilton; Alben J. Gerrier of Prince Edward Island; Armand Orio, 27, of Brantford and five unidentified persons.

City Council Protests Film Board Shift

OTTAWA (CP) — The city council Tuesday night called for a protest to the federal government over the proposed shift of the national film board's headquarters from Ottawa to Montreal.

"We owe it to the people of Canada," said Mayor Charlotte Whitton, "to see that their capital is not pulled apart and distributed to other cities, four of which were rejected as possible sites for the nation's capital."

Alderman A. E. Campbell said the government had supported the city in discouraging heavy industry from coming to Ottawa.

"The government is the only big industry we have," he added. "If they are going to keep moving departments away we soon will lose that industry."

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill has invited Squadron Leader Neville Duke, who broke the world air-speed record in a Hawker Hunter jet fighter Monday, to be his luncheon guest today at Chequers, the prime minister's official country residence in Buckinghamshire.

Nine Newsmen Tour Germany

MONTREAL (CP)—Nine Canadian newspapermen will leave by air today on a two-week tour of Germany as guests of the West German government.

The group, who will fly to Dusseldorf from Montreal by Trans-Canada Air Lines, will visit industrial plants in the Ruhr, a refugee camp at Belsen, and the cities of Hamburg, Berlin, Frankfurt and Bonn. They will also tour the 27th Brigade area and the RCAF base at Zweibrucken.

Members of the party include from Ontario: Robert Needham, Ottawa correspondent, London Free Press, and president of the Parliamentary Press Gallery, Ottawa; V. M. Kipp, associate editor, Ottawa Evening Journal; R. A. McEachern, editor, The Financial Post; J. B. McGeachy, foreign affairs editor, Toronto Globe and Mail; Willson Woodside, associate editor, Toronto Saturday Night; and Rober McKeown, Ottawa correspondent Weekend Picture Magazine.

Girl Plays Hooky Named Miss Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A brown-eyed, brown-haired girl who played hooky from school to prepare for a beauty contest was named Miss Windsor Tuesday night over a field of 17 rivals in the second day of the three-day fire fighters' field day.

The winner, Margie Lowes, a high school student, at 16 years of age is the youngest girl to win the title in the 24-year history of the event.

Connie Durocher, 18, a secretary, was runner-up to Miss Windsor. Both will advance into the finals of the Miss Western Ontario contest that will feature tonight's closing events.

Mink Pelt Production Rising On Fur Farms

OTTAWA (CP)—Mink pelt production is rising on Canadian fur farms while fewer fox pelts are being taken, the bureau of statistics said today.

The bureau estimated that 623,200 mink pelts will be taken during the 1953-54 season compared with 51,200 last season. Fox pelt output is expected to drop to 12,700 from 23,700.

PoW Refuses Tell Experiences

KITCHENER (CP)—A Canadian army veteran who was a prisoner of war in Korea arrived home in nearby Preston Tuesday and said he could not tell of his experiences.

Cpl. Ernest Taylor, 27, said he could not speak "unless the army tells me it is all right first. I signed a security pledge saying I wouldn't tell a thing about it."

Taylor added:

"Even if I could, I doubt if I would say anything. There's always the chance it might be used against Canadians still being held by the Chinese."

Taylor was serving with the 3rd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, when he was captured May 2, 1953.

U.S. President Pledges Trade Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today pledged full support for international efforts aimed at "the quickening of trade," the development of resources and the stabilization of world currencies.

In a message of welcome to the governors of the 55-country World Bank and International Monetary Fund, the president acclaimed the agencies as "outstanding examples of co-operative endeavor and achievement."

The bank and the fund opened their eighth annual meeting here today.

REPRESENT CANADA

Representing Canada at the meeting are Finance Minister Douglas Abbott; Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada; Louis Rasminsky, of the Bank of Canada and executive director of the fund and the World Bank; and J. J. Deutsch, assistant deputy finance minister.

The White House greeting was sent for reading to the assembled finance ministers and ambassadors by Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, U.S. governor for both the bank and fund.

Heavy Seas Postpone Tuna Tourney

By KINGSLEY BROWN, Jr.

WEDGEPORT, N. S. (CP)—Heavy seas brewed by Monday's hurricane postponed until Thursday the international tuna tournament.

The few anglers who went to Soldier's Rip for their final practice fling Tuesday found the white-capped waters laced with seaweed and whipped into a frenzy.

As many of the world's best deep-sea anglers here had predicted, the storm, worst to hit Nova Scotia this year, churned the Rip's crystal - clear water, scattering schools of herring mackerel, which tuna have chased up the Atlantic seaboard for food.

Captains of the 10 teams, representing 13 countries, decided to give the mackerel and herring another day to get back on the Rip and bring the battling blue fins with them.

NOT TOO HOPEFUL

However, they weren't too hopeful. Three years ago, when a hurricane lashed these coastal waters on the eve of the tournament, the tuna stayed clear of the Rip, a mile-wide stretch of tide-tortured water about 12 miles from here, for two days.

Only eight fish were caught during the three-day match won by Chile. Some of the anglers here jokingly claimed the Chileans, who left home in the middle of a snow storm, brought bad weather with them.

No fish were caught Tuesday, but the anglers said they would get a better idea of how the storm has affected the tuna when they get on the Rip again today.

Competing in the tournament are Brazil, the British Commonwealth, Mexico, the United States, Venezuela, Chile, The Netherlands, France, Argentina and Cuba. Cuba, three-time winner, is the defending champion.

ALMOST A FISH STORY — This 22½ lb. muskie caught by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pally, Cleveland, in Pigeon Lake Monday evening was almost just a story. After Mr. Pally had hooked it and brought it to the boat, he started to lift is out by the line. The line broke and the fish was slipping back into the water when Mr. Pally grabbed it under gills and hefted it into their boat. The Pallys who were staying at Camp Cleveland were given the 18th Order of the Kawartha Muskie this year by assistant Chamber of Commerce manager Bob Hamilton (right).

Durelle Adds Light Heavy Crown To Laurels

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Yvon Durelle, the battling soldier from Baie Ste. Ann, N.B., added the Canadian light heavyweight title to his many championship laurels by scoring a unanimous 12-round decision over Brantford's Gordie Wallace here Monday.

Durelle fought a cool, methodical fight and outpointed the Ontario fighter decisively.

The new champion scored the only good knockdown of the fight in the late rounds when he knocked Wallace through the ropes for a three count. Of the three officials only referee John Joe MacLean had the decision close, giving five rounds to Durelle, four to Wallace and three even. Judge Mathias Gouthro scored it 9-2-1 for Durelle while judge George Quirk had Durelle in front 8-3-1.

COULDN'T FIND RANGE

For most of the fight Durelle moved in and piled up points with his combinations while Wallace on the few occasions he attempted to retaliate couldn't find the range.

Durelle opened a slight cut beneath Wallace's left eye in the seventh.

Wallace had his best round of the fight in the 10th when he forced the action for the first time in the bout and had Durelle off balance with his pressing tactics.

By winning, Durelle relinquished his Canadian middleweight title.

Both fighters weighed 168 pounds.

Philadelphia Calls Up First Negro Player

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Athletics Tuesday called up the first Negro player to perform for a Philadelphia major league club. The club announced that big Bob Trice, pitcher from their Ottawa farm club in the International League, will get a starting chance Sunday against St. Louis Browns.

Trice, a six-foot-three-inch right-hander, is the top star of the A's minor league system with a record of 20 wins and 10 losses in triple A competition this year.

The A's dropped into seventh place Monday after a double defeat by Boston, and are having a sad year at the gate as well. Trice's appearance should be a boost for the box office in a city with a large Negro population.

U.K. Rugby Results

LONDON (AP)—There was a mighty head scratching going on in Britain today. Soccer fans are trying hard to figure out what's gone wrong with mighty Arsenal.

Arsenal, champion of English soccer last year, has played seven times this young season, winning none, drawing two and losing five. Tuesday night, lowly Chelsea knocked off the champions 2-1 before 55,000 fans. The defeat left Arsenal at the bottom of the standings.

Name Nelson League's Best Player

MONTREAL (CP) — Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, hard-hitting first baseman for Montreal Royals, has been named the International Baseball League's most valuable player for 1953.

Vic Wall of the Springfield Union, president of the circuit's Baseball Writers Association, announced the choice Tuesday through league headquarters here.

Nelson, 28, currently leading the loop in runs batted in, was picked as first choice by 16 of 25 sports writers in the eight cities with International League teams. He polled 183 points. Jack Wallaesa, Buffalo first baseman, was second choice with 152 points.

Tom Burgess, a London, Ont., player with Rochester was third with 148 points; Archie Wilson, Baltimore outfielder, fourth with 107 and Lou Morton of Toronto fifth with 106. Taft Wright, Ottawa, Hector Rodriquez, Syracuse, and Ron Northey, Springfield, took the next three places in that order.

Nelson, who has not missed a game this season, broke two long-time Montreal club records. His 33 homers broke Jack Graham's mark of 31, established in 1941, and his 130 runs batted in eclipsed Oscar Roettger's mark of 122 set in 1933.

Nelson currently holds sixth place in the league's batting race with a .313 average.

UPSETS EZARD CHARLES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Young Harold Johnson of Philadelphia won a 10-round upset decision over former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles in a bruising action-packed brawl at Connie Mack Stadium Tuesday night. Johnson, a 2 to 1 underdog, weighed 177 and Charles 185½.

The 25 - year - old light heavyweight, making his first big-time boxing bid, won a split decision with judge Lou Tress awarding him the bout, seven rounds to three, and referee Buck McTiernan scoring him a 6-3-1 victor, Judge Joe Capristo saw Charles the winner with a 5-4-1 verdict.

Pre-fight talk by both boxers and their managers was that this was the win-or-else fight for Charles; it was the chance of a lifetime for Johnson.

But Charles and his co-managers, Tom Tannas and Jake Mintz, all thought Charles won.

"We have a contract for a return bout within 50 days and we name the site," they said.

Johnson and his manager, Tommy Loughren, although talking about fighting Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight title, or maybe Archie Moore for the lightheavyweight crown, agreed they had a return bout contract with Charles.

The result is that Charles will once again fight for survival and Johnson will once more get the chance of a lifetime.

Newport Dream Wins Straight Race Heat

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Newport Dream won a straight-heat victory in the Horseman Stake at the Indiana State Fair Tuesday and became the leading two year-old money winner in harness racing history.

First money in the grand circuit feature was $18,213.85. It boosted Newport Dream's winnings to $72,201.56, topping the $59,000 mark set two years ago by Duke of Lullwater.

The winner is owned by Octave Blake of South Plainfield, N.J., president of the grand circuit, and was driven by Del Cameron. His times were 2:05.3 and 2:03.4.

Earl's Song outclassed Helicopter, the Hambletonian winner owned by the Armstrong brothers of Brampton, Ont., to take the Breeders' Filly Stake for three-year-old trotting fillies. Her times were 2:04.2 and 2:04.1.

Earl Walls KO's Rex Layne

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Earl Walls of Edmonton Tuesday night weathered Rex Layne's savage rushing through early rounds and knocked out the Salt Lake City battler in the sixth round at Fairgrounds Stadium.

The 190¼-pound Layne, looking faster and stronger than in recent fights, was far ahead of his 186½ pound opponent at the end of the fifth round.

But at the start of the sixth, Rex went down for a brief count before a sharp right to the jaw. As Layne arose, plainly in trouble, blood trickled down his face. Walls measured him for another right and a left, and Rex went down in a neutral corner. But he got up quickly.

The Canadian then floored him again with a left to the jaw, and Rex was counted out at one minute, 4 seconds of the sixth.

Until the sixth, it looked as if Layne, who had been receiving thyroid treatments and had cut off 20 pounds of flabby weight, might win and avenge the first round knockout he suffered from Walls in Edmonton last July 3.

In the first round Walls landed twice as many blows as Layne but from then on, Rex found a combination that worked well. He kept crowding in and driving punches to the body.

Giles Changes Mind, Will Investigate Fight

CINCINNATI (AP) — President Warren Giles of the National League has changed his mind and now plans to investigate last Sunday's fight between Carl Furillo of Brooklyn Dodgers and Leo Durocher, manager of New York Giants.

Giles, who first dismissed the brawl as a "typical ball-players tussle," told a reporter he learned Furillo was quoted as saying: "I'll get him (Durocher) on the field, on the street, anywhere."

Neither Furillo nor Durocher landed a blow, but somebody stepped on Furillo's wrist during the melee and put him out of action until the World Series.

Leaves Estate Of Two Million

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—H. B. (Dutch) Leonard, who set the American League earned - run average record at 1.01 back in 1914 and was rewarded with a pay boost to $5,000 a season, left an estate valued at $2,169,143.

Leonard made his fortune in California's lush central valley, growing fruit and wine grapes. He bought a fruit ranch while still in the majors. After his retirement in 1924, he began expanding until he owned 2,500 acres.

H. B. Leonard—not to be confused with Emil (Dutch) Leonard—died July 11, 1952, aged 60. Appraisal of his estate, to be shared by Viola Leonard, his half-brother's wife, two nephews and a housekeeper, was filed Tuesday.

Sees Steady Decline In Polio Cases

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. L. A. Pequegnat, medical officer of health for the city, said Tuesday that if this year's outbreak of polio follows the pattern of previous years, a steady decline in the number of cases now can be expected.

Records show that both the 1951 outbreak and the epidemic in 1937 tapered off rapidly about the end of August.

Dr. Pequegnat said 38 cases were reported in the Toronto area during the week-end—17 resident and no deaths, 21 non-resident and three deaths.

Start Fall Season

Group 8 of the WMS met in the board room of George St. United Church, Tuesday evening, with president Mrs. Roy Morrison in the chair. They opened by signing the hymn "Breathe on Me Breath of God." Mrs. Jos. Stenton took charge of the program, opening with a timely poem. After the hymn "In Christ there is no east or west," scripture was read by Mrs. Stanley Pogue and Miss Nellie Douglas led in prayer. Mrs. Stenton read an article telling of the founding of Dr. Barnardo orphanage and homes in England. Mrs. Ella Bradford read an article on Christian stewardship. First chapter of the new study book "Where'ere the Sun" was taken by Mrs. Stenton. Mrs. Douglas Brown displayed the Christmas cards which members will sell as a money-making project this fall. Miss Agnes Moore and Mrs. Morley entertained by showing moving pictures they had taken on their summer trip to Cape Cod and Gaspe with familiar scenes from around Peterborough included. Miss Muriel Forge moved a hearty vote of thanks to them. Several other hymns were sung during the meeting, all with Miss Wilma Telford as the accompanist.

Pollock-Casey

At St. Paul's Presbyterian Church manse the Rev. Chas. G. Boyd on Saturday united in marriage Barbara Gene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Casey, and John David (Bud) Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pollock, all of Peterborough.

The bride was attired in a grey wool suit and wore a hat of white feathers and navy accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses. Miss Helen Wynn, her attendant, was wearing a navy suit and accessories and a corsage of white 'mums. Mr. R. Donald Pollock was groomsman.

A reception was held at Hooper's Palm Room. The bride's mother received, wearing a light blue taffeta dress with a navy velvet hat and a corsage of pink rosebuds. The groom's mother was dressed in brown faille and wore a lime green hat and corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

After a honeymoon trip to New York City the bridal couple will live at 575 Bethune Street.

Printed wools, which got their start this past spring and summer, are shown for wear under coats this fall.

Crone-Sanderson Wedding

A candlelight wedding took place Saturday evening in the Centreville Presbyterian Church when Violet May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sanderson of Bailieboro, became the bride of Robert Carl Crone, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter S. Crone of Buffalo.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the groom's father, with the Rev. W. H. Heustin, minister of the church, and Mrs. Heustin assisting.

The altar was banked with large baskets of pink and white gladioli and ferns. Music was played by Mrs. A. Muspratt and Miss Esther Houser of Buffalo was guest soloist and sang before the ceremony and during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a beautiful gown of bridal satin with shaped puffing on bodice and train. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion and adorning her head was a pearl crown enhanced with a border of satin daffodils. She carried a cascade bouquet of white lilies and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Garnet Pogue of Bowmanville and bridesmaids were Misses Barbara and Myla Bulmer, cousins of the bride. Flower girls were Margaret Sanderson and Kipper Miller and Paul Sanderson was ring bearer for his sister.

The bridal attendants were in ballerina frocks of taffeta with inserted French lace. Mrs. Pogue wore periwinkle blue and the bridesmaids and flower girls were in heavenly blue and each wore a matching crescent-shaped headdress. The seniors carried baskets of white and blue 'mums and the flower girls nosegays of blue and white baby 'mums.

Mr. Max Kaye of Peterborough attended the groom. Ushers were John Sanderson and Paul May, cousin of the groom.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Sanderson received, wearing a light blue crepe gown with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother assisted, dressed in cocoa brown with accessories of beige and cocoa brown and her corsage was also pink roses.

During the reception Mr. Charles Allen of Peterborough played organ selections and Miss Houser sang "Because" and "I love you truly."

The bride and groom left later on their wedding trip to points in northern Ontario. The bride was wearing a grey gabardine suit trimmed with black velvet and black and red accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Crone are going to make their home in Buffalo.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. SCOTT of Campbellford, the bride formerly Miss Shirley West, were married on Saturday.

Scott-West 2-Ring Rites

In a setting of autumn flowers, a wedding of interest took place Saturday in St. John's United Church, Campbellford, of Shirley Lorraine West and William David Scott.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred West and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Scott, all of Campbellford. Dr. D. M. Smith performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, chose an original gown of white Chantilly lace over white parchment satin; designed with a fitted bodice. The bouffant skirt of lace featured a panel of pleated illusion. A coronet of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of French tulle illusion. She carried a white lace fan bouquet of white shasta 'mums centred with a white orchid.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Don Vyse who wore nylon net over taffeta in cinnamon brown, with a velvet jacket and matching head dress, and carried gold 'mums. Miss Shirley McDonald, bridesmaid, was attired in antique gold nylon net over taffeta with satin jacket and matching head dress and carried a nosegay of bronze 'mums. Junior bridesmaids, Miss Sharon Buckles, cousin of the bride, and flower girl Peggy Peake were gowned alike in moss green nylon net over taffeta with headdresses of velvet flowers and they carried nosegays of rust and bronze 'mums.

The groom was attended by Mr. Walter Elliott and the ushers were Tom Fox and Jack McDonald.

Before the wedding Mr. Ronald Pierce sang "The Lord's Prayer" and during the signing of the register he sang "Because," assisted at the organ by Miss Ann Nicholls.

The bride's mother received wearing navy taffeta with pink accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums. She was assisted by the groom's mother who was attired in ceyanne silk with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums. The reception was held in the church parlors. Out of town guests were from Toronto, Keene, Ajax, Weston and Kaladar.

The couple left for a motor trip through the United States, the bride travelling in a suit of Marlboro grey fleck, with top coat of navy gabardine and matching accessories. On their return they will live at 308 Bridge St. W.

Wrap freshly-sprinkled clothes in a plastic sheet and keep in refrigerator until you're ready to iron. Clothes will remain damp but won't mildew.

Com. Theatre Group A New Possibility

A meeting will be held on Thursday evening at which it is hoped to form a Community Theater Group which will be affiliated with the Peterborough Recreation Commission.

It will be open to all adults interested in any kind of theatre work and in promoting a community group. It will be held in the Ashburnham Hall which will be made available by the Recreation Commission as a place of work for the seaso

Recreation dire Sinclair will chair the meeting and it is hoped to appoint a working committtee or to select officers who will carry on. Mr. John Campbell is tentatively named as play director for the group. If there is sufficient response and interest to make a full season of work other directors will be brought in.

A three-act play has been definitely set as the goal for the fall term and what play it is to be will be discussed at the meeting. If there is the anticipated number or more joining, as many as four plays might be gotten up in the year.

Ornamental Club Elects Officers

The annual meeting for election of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club was held Tuesday evening with retiring president Mrs. Isabel Crary being hostess at her summer cottage on Lake Chemong.

Incoming officers, to be installed at the club's anniversary dinner party on November 7th, are: president, Mrs. Beverley Dunford; vice president, Mrs. Shirley Moldaver; recording secretary, Miss Jean Russelle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Betty Welch; treasurer, Mrs. Joan Craig; social convener, Mrs. Norma Douglas; telephone convener, Miss Dorothy Russelle.

Assistants in training junior and intermediate swimmers in the city will be Norma Douglas, Beverley Dunford, Betty Welch, Joan Lynch, Sandra Menzies and Jean Russelle.

After business, the meeting took the form of a weiner roast.

Guest of the evening was Mr. Milton Douglas of Buffalo who had brought slides of the international synchronized Swimming meet at Niagara Falls, N.Y. in which the Peterborough team was shown in action and also being presented with leis on the winner's stand.

Recreation director for Peterborough Alex. Sinclair showed slides of the Florida meet in August at which the Peterborough team were international championship winners.

Party To Acquaint New Students

A "get-acquainted" party for the staff and students of the Peterborough Teachers' College was held Tuesday evening. It was the first such party for new students of what was formerly the Normal School and it was almost wholly successful. About 110 of the 117 students who registered during the day were in attendance and the full staff was present. Welcome was extended by principal Mr. Leo Copp.

The students made pennants of their own High Schools to decorate the stage and there were 22 schools represented. Twenty of the students are from Peterborough and 16 are from Belleville.

A lot of interesting activities were planned and directed by Mr. Quirt McKinney, all geared to the main purpose of getting acquainted. The games were followed by dancing.

New dean of women Mrs. E. H. McKone superivsed the refreshments and was assisted in serving by Miss Norah Timlin, librarian, and the male staff members.

Dressy black blouses in jersey have plunging necklines, but this year the plunge is at the back.

Rita Always In A "Mess"

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—There is no star in Hollywood who has such a genius for getting herself in a mess as Rita Hayworth. Ever since the day she married Ed Judson, she's let her heart rule her life. Never has her head entered into her romances.

To look at Rita—beautiful, attractive, and desirable, you'd think she could have the pick of many worthwhile men and that she could find someone who would support her for a change, but she always seems to fall for men who need her help.

When she was married to Ed Judson, long ago, he managed all her affairs, and I don't believe she ever saw one of her salary checks. Later, when the divorce came, I'm told she settled a sizeable sum on him.

At the time she married Orson Welles, his career had started to go downhill. She separated from him once, and then married him again. Orson, who is more brilliant than stable, almost ruined her career when he directed her in a picture in which he cut her red hair short, and blondined it.

Rita, even after her second separation from the awesome Orson, would never speak of him in other than laudatory terms, saying that he taught her a lot, and that it was through him that she learned to appreciate good music and good books, but he didn't teach her enough.

Rita is almost as much of a child as she was when I first met her in Agua Caliente, years and years ago, when she was dancing with her brother Eduardo Cansino.

Whether, by the time this is published, Rita will have married Dick Haymes, I don't know. As I write this, her romance with Dick, who at this time faces deportation, is very hot, and Rita has had reams of unfavorable publicity. This is no new experience for her. That's why she dreads the press, but a story is a story in any language, and if Rita does these foolish things, she must expect criticism.

I've always been very fond of her and heartsick over some of the thoughtless things she does. I don't think Rita has ever been really happy. She didn't seem happy to me when I attended her wedding to Prince Aly Khan in Valoris in the mayor's office, and later was a guest at the huge reception given at Aly's beautiful home, L'Horizon.

When I saw how beautifully everything had been arranged for the bride, I thought, "now at last, Rita has come into her own." But Aly's blissful domesticity was short lived. His upbringing and training were so different from Rita's that finally a break came.

I really believe Rita was more in love with him than any man she had ever met. For the first time she was given gorgeous gifts, and met international society and celebrities other than picture names. But later, I was told that Rita spent most of her own money, and so the beautiful bubble was just that—a bubble.

IT'S ANYONE'S GUESS

Now what will happen with Dick Haymes is anyone's guess. Dick has to pay alimony to two ex-wives. Joanne Dru, the first Mrs. Dick Haymes has their three children and he's bound by court to support them. Nora Haymes has two children by Errol Flynn, but Dick will be required to support Nora herself, if not the children.

With Rita's two children—one by Orson Welles and one by Prince Aly Khan, that makes a lot of children who are affected by Dick's romance with Rita, yet it must be said for Rita that when Dick's trouble came, she didn't run out on him. If anything, they were drawn closer together.

But that's Rita. In all her life, love always comes first and always will. It's hard to criticize too bitterly a girl whose life has always run true to form as far as she's concerned. I'm devoted to her, but at the same time, I can't help but wish that she'd use better judgment.

She's still box-office, in spite of all the unfavorable publicity.

Stenographer Weds Heir To British Baronetcy

HAMILTON (CP) — A pretty Hamilton stenographer today was honeymooning with her husband, a member of the British nobility. She will receive the title Lady Hart Dyke when the young man succeeds to a 300-year-old baronetcy.

In a ceremony at Niagara Falls, Ont., Dorothy Moses last week was married to Derek William Hart Dyke, a payroll clerk at the Westinghouse plant here for the last five years.

The two met while employed at the plant, and announced their engagement three weeks ago.

The daughter of Thomas and Eleanor Moses, Dorthy was born in Troy, N.Y., but came to Hamilton as a child.

Derek is the son of Sir Oliver Augustus Hamilton Hart Dyke and Lady Hart Dyke. His mother is famed around the world for her silk farm at 15th-century Lullingstone Castle in Kent, which provided silk for the robes of Queen Elizabeth at her Coronation.

The two were married in Christ Church in the border city, in the ancient stone structure where Queen Elizabeth, as Princess, worshipped with the Duke of Edinburgh during the Royal visit in 1951.

Derek says he likes Canada and he likes Hamilton. "My future is here," he has said. He believes the title "sir" outdated, and says he will use it with reservation after his father's death.

Prevent insects in your kitchen with immaculate cleanliness. Scour sink after each use. Scrub drainboards and work surfaces with hot water and soap. Seal up any cracks and crevices near work surfaces. Have all clothes, brushes and sponges dry and odor-free. Have bread box and canisters thoroughly clean. Leave no spills or crumbs or traces of food around.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dean Gerber (Mother of 5)

New baby in your house? Many a young mother goes all tense the first weeks, fearful of doing the wrong thing. Just remember first of all to trust your doctor. And then remember that baby is an adaptable little human being—so that many a problem is solved by simply giving him plenty of plain, old-fashioned "mothering."

• • •

Frequent question: how long for an infant's mealtime? About 20 minutes is average. Could be it will vary from time to time, since all babies aren't alike, nor are little ones always equally ravenous.

• • •

Surprisingly soon, baby's appetite may expand to the point where he welcomes the addition of solid food. That's when you'll be glad to know all about Gerber's Cereals. Made by experts who devote all their efforts to baby foods and nothing else, these cereals are nutritious . . . fortified with valuable vitamins and minerals. Gerber's offer five cereals for delightful flavor variety: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, and Wheat.

• • •

New, different, delicious! Gerber's New Strained Orange Juice. Carefully pasteurized, it's rich in the Vitamin C that's so important to babies of all ages. Extra finely strained . . . goes ever so easily through nursing bottle nipples. Easily digestible because it has practically no peel oil in it. Gerber's new Strained Orange Juice is made from tree-ripened oranges specially selected for their Vitamin C value. Nice natural color and pleasant flavor appeal to baby!

Cunningham-Carey

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Carey of Port Hope, amidst a setting of pink and white gladioli, bronze mums and fern, a late afternoon ceremony on Saturday united in marriage, Mary Loretta Carey and Robert Henry Cunningham, both of Peterborough. The wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Hugh Rose of Toronto, nephew of the groom.

The bride wore a dress of sunset gold poodle crepe with accessories of deep purple. Her corsage was of baby mums in autumn shades of bronze, yellow and white. Her attendant, Miss Carolyn Beavis of Peterborough, was gowned in heavenly blue silk crepe, with navy accessories, and a corsage of pale pink roses. The groom was attended by Mr William Hamilton of Peterborough.

A reception was presided over by Mrs. W. J. Carey at her home, assisted by Mrs. R. W Carey of Waterbury, Conn. Guests were present from Fort William, Toronto, Peterborough, Lakefield and Waterbury, Conn.

For travelling the bride chose a suit of rosewood wool, with contrasting hat, shoes and gloves of navy blue.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham have left for a three week honeymoon to the western provinces. On return they will reside at 576 Aylmer St., Peterborough.

DOROTHY DIX:

Girl Irritates Mother By Refusing Dates

DEAR MISS DIX: Garry, my boy friend, is in Japan and expects to be there for a year and a half. My mother likes him and raises no objection when I tell her we'd like to marry upon his return. Yet she does object—and strenuously—to my waiting for him, and not having other dates. I'm 17, and perfectly willing to wait for him; I love him dearly. Although I don't have a ring, we consider ourselves engaged. I don't want to hurt my mother, yet I simply can't force myself to go out on dates.

GLADYS G.

ACCEPT GROUP DATES

ANSWER: There is much to be said on both sides; your mother feels that in view of your youth you shouldn't be sitting on the sidelines for 18 months while your friends are having fun, and you, of course, are completely taken up with the picture of a patient sweetheart waiting for her beloved. I do think you'd be better off if you went out occasionally on group dates. Association with friends your own age will do much more for your social development than sitting home all the time. Your young man stands a much greater chance of losing you through boredom, than through the pursuit of a normal social life. Don't single date, but do get out with the crowd, and with other girls. Your mother will just have to accept the idea that you consider yourself pledged to one boy, and she should be proud of your principles of fidelity at so young an age. Whatever you do, don't be moody or moony around the house, or Mom will be more than justified in her efforts to get you to go out.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX. We have been married eight years and have three children. I think the dinner hour should be a time for a family get-together, but my husband doesn't agree. He bolts his dinner, then retires to the living room to listen to the radio, or read, until he falls asleep.

MRS. H. E.

ANSWER: You are right in your efforts to make dinnertime more than just another meal, but it looks as if it will take some convincing to have hubby come around to your views. Instead of arbitarily insisting that he remain at the table with you and the children, work the general conversation around to a point that will prove interesting to him by the time he's finished eating. He'll be much more inclined to remain at the table while a good story is in progress, than if stony silence prevails. Small children have many interesting experiences that should touch Dad's heart enough to hold his company.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother knows I have been going steady, but doesn't realize that the boy and I (both 18) are engaged. How can we tell her.

M. S.

ANSWER: She certainly should have been kept informed of the progress of your romance, and should be consulted before you enter into a formal engagement. Tell her at your first opportunity.

WMS Entertains Mission Group At Sept. Meet

ROSENEATH — (ENS) — Roseneath WMS members entertained the members of the mission band and baby band with their leaders at their September meeting, Tuesday afternoon.

Leader of the mission band is Mrs. William Hammill and the superintendent of the baby band is Mrs. Isabel Brown.

Guest speakers were: Mrs. Harold Morgan of Hilton, presbyterial secretary of baby bands, and chose as her subject "Building a Foundation" and Mrs. Sinclair Whittaker of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. Mrs. Whittaker and her husband were the founders of Briercrest Bible Institute at Caronport, Saskatchewan. She used as her subject" Teach the Children the Word of God."

The meeting was held in the township hall with the president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace presiding and Mrs. Douglas Coyle as pianist.

Scripture readings were given by Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. Reginald Crego, Mrs. T. S. Coyle and Mrs. J. N. Lovelace.

The community friendship report presented by the members showed five cards and 10 letters had been sent, six calls made and four parcels given during the past month. Mrs. Howard Macklin is secretary of this department.

The new Study Book "Where'er the Sun" was introduced by Mrs. J .N. Lovelace and Mrs. Delbert Brisbin.

Mrs. Isabel Brown, superintendent of the baby band, reported 43 members and nine members had been promoted to the mission band, namely Marsha Halstead, Linda Horner, Marie Macklin, Audrey Coyle, Harry Coyle, Gayle Thackeray, Gary Parker, Bonnie Duff and Elaine Robins.

Children's hymns were sung with Mrs. C. V. Varcoe at the piano.

There followed a program of games for the children under the supervision of Mrs. Douglas Coyle, Mrs. Reginald Crego, Mrs. Delbert Brisbin and Mrs. T. S. Coyle.

WMS members served afternoon tea.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Offer Deep Dish Peach Pie For Special-Purpose Menu

A promise is a promise, and I enjoy keeping this one for it was made to the diabetic patients and to those who are cooking for them. I have come to have a tremendous respect for these folk for they are so courteous and patient and grateful for any little scraps of help I am able to give.

The serious reducers will be happy with today's ideas too.

SUGARLESS PEACH JAM

Four cups well-packed fully ripened choice peaches, measured after chopping when they are peeled; 16 sucaryl tablets, 4 ounces glycerin. Dip peaches in boiling water for 1 minute and peel them and chop them and measure them. Simmer over low heat for 30 minutes, then add remaining ingredients and simmer 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Using sterile spoon and other equipment pour into pint jars which have been sterilized by boiling in water for 20 minutes. Seal with sterile rubbers, tops and rings. If you do not intend to store this jam in refrigerator you should further process it in hot water bath for 25 minutes.

SUGARLESS PLUM JAM

Six cups washed Lombard plums or Prune plums, well-packed and cut up but not peeled, ¾ cup glycerin, 36 sucaryl tablets. Bring plums to boil stirring, then simmer for 35 minutes, stirring frequently. Add tablets and glycerin and boil gently 15 minutes longer. Seal in sterile jars as directed unden Sugarless Peach Jam, processing in hot water bath for 25 minutes if jam is not to be refrigerated.

SUGARLESS CHILI SAUCE

Eighteen medium-large fully ripe perfect tomatoes, 3 cups chopped celery, 2 medium-sized onions, 4 cups spirit vinegar, 24 sucaryl tablets, 1 teaspoon each ground allspice, black pepper and cayenne (these last 3 ingredients may be reduced by half if you want mild chili sauce), 2 tablespoons salt. Peel tomatoes after scalding in boiling water for 1 minute and cut them into quarters. Allow the excess liquid which will drain from the tomatoes to run off, and discard it. Peel and chop onions. Wash and chop celery into ¼ or ½-inch pieces. Add them and all remaining ingredients except sucaryl and boil over medium heat one and one-quarter hours. Add sucaryl tablets, stir for 5 minutes over low heat. Pour into sterile pint jars and seal with sterile rubbers, tops and rings. Again I say that if this is not to be refrigerator-stored, process for 25 minutes in hot water bath.

SUGARLESS CANNED PEACHES

As you know the keeping quality of canned fruit does not depend on the addition of sugar but on efficient processing which sterilizes the contents. Peaches may be water-packed without sugar. Wash and prepare peaches which should be fully ripened and of the finest quality. After dipping in boiling water to loosen the skin, peel them, halve them, remove stones, drop, cavity-side down in sterile pint jars. Do not pack too tightly. When jars are nearly full, cover with BOILING hot water, leaving ½-inch head space. Seal with sterile rubbers, tops and rings, then loosen ring (or if bail-type jars are used do not lower bottom bail) for ⅛ turn. Process in hot water bath 20 minutes for pints.

If diabetic patients would like to see methods of canning other fruits in this column, I shall be glad to hear from them.

Be Individual About Hair

With all the rage for extremely short haircuts, don't let your stylist persuade you to have one against your better judgement. There are certain girls who look better with their necks covered.

Prominent among them is the girl with a bad back hair-line. Have you ever watched a girl from behind and seen a short haircut revealing two dark V's on her neck, resembling a man's moustache?

If shaven, these patches of hair will become ugly stubble. This girl's neck will never be pretty when bare unless she uses a wax treatment or another hair removal method that won't leave stubble. If she uses the wax treatment, she must do it every few weeks.

If the patches of hair on her neck are sparse, she can bleach them. But, unless she's a girl who for some reason must have a short cut, she'll have less trouble if she makes it clear to her stylist that she needs length in back.

While she's about it, she might tell her stylist to taper her hair, not cut it bluntly.

TO THE LADIES OF PETERBORO AND DISTRICT

A certain group of ladies ready-to-wear and variety stores have announced their intention of remaining open Friday nights until 9 p.m.—commencing Sept. 11th. This is contrary to an existing by-law which prohibits stores in this category from remaining open evenings. Having been in business here for many years we well remember open nights, and we therefore view with disfavour the resumption of any open evenings. We believe that the existing shopping hours are quite satisfactory and that no revision of these hours is necessary. We sincerely hope that you will find it convenient to do your shopping in the future as you have in the past at the stores who are desirous of observing the by-laws governing the ladies' wear stores of this city.

6—In Memoriam

FULTON—In loving memory of a dear brother, Robert Leon, who passed away Sept. 9, 1950.

We have only your memory dear Leon
To remember our whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever,
As we treasure the image of you.

—Ever remembered by Orland, Stella and Betty.

FULTON—In loing mvemory of our dear son, Robert Leon, who passed away Sept. 9, 1950, age 20 years.

Today we are thinking of someone
Who was always kind and true.
Someone we loved with all our heart
Dear Leon, that someone is you.
Your heart the truest in all the world
Your love the best of all
No one on earth can take your place
You are still dear to us all.

—Sadly missed and fondly remembered by Mother and Dad.

FULTON—In loing memorvy of a dear nephew and cousin, Robert Leon Fulton, who passed away three years ago, September 9, 1950.

We who loved you, sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year.
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are ever near.

—Lovingly remembered by Aunt Minnie and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the nurses of Civic Hospital, attending doctors and Rev. Douglas, the Telephone staff, Orange Lodge and W.A. of Bethany and all other kind friends and neighbours for welcome visits, flowers, fruit and cards sent, also those who assisted with my farm work during my recent accident.—Walter A. Neals.

I wish to thank attending doctors and nurses, Red Cross Society, also friends and neighbors who sent me flowers, cards and gifts during my illness in Civic Hospital.—Mrs. Roy Bothwell, Fraserville.

Mrs. Margaret Carney wishes to thank the attending doctor, nurses and staff of Civic Hospital for their kindness; also friends and neighbors for cards, gifts and flowers during her recent illness.

Mere words are inadequate to express our gratitude to each and every one who has helped us through these days of sorrow with beautiful flowers, words of sympathy and deeds of infinite kindness expressed by our neighbours, relatives and friends, the Rev. Shorten and doctors and staff of Civic Hospital. We can only say thank you ever so much.—Mrs. McCulloch and family.

Report Woman Kills Policeman Over Food

BERLIN (AP)—The U. S. high commission newspaper reported today that an East German housewife had killed a Communist policemen with the two-pound can of lard from the Western food parcel he was trying to take away from her.

The newspaper said the enraged housewife fractured the policeman's skull when he tried to grab her parcel at the Babelsberg station, in the Russian zone just outside of West Berlin

The woman was returning with her handout from a distribution centre in West Berlin, where more than 3,500,000 of the parcels have been distributed since July 27. An average of 70,000 food packages now are being given out daily.

$30,000 Jewel Theft From Count's Home

NICE, France (Reuters)—Police today reported the latest in a series of jewel thefts that have terrorized the luxury spots along the Riviera for two weeks—$30,000 worth of gems missing from the home of Count Jean de Marguenat.

Under suspicion are two servants who left there without explanation Tuesday night.

Other recent thefts include $300,000 in cash and jewels from the safe of the Aioli Hotel at Saint Tropez and $70,000 stolen from the villa of Hollywood film producer Jack L. Warner. [illegible] have still failed to solve any of the major cases.

Hamilton Store Sells Out

atmosphere that pervades Hamilton's store. But you would have to multiply them all by nearly a hundred years before you would obtain the essential quality of abundant good living that recalls an age that is past.

Erected in 1858, the building dates back to the days when farmers used to bring tubs of butter and slabs of maple sugar to Peterborough and trade them for groceries.

CROWN GRANT

The store is situated in what was originally a half acre of land granted under a Crown patent to Richard Birdsall on April 23, 1826. Two years later Birdsall sold the land to John Brown, of Port Hope, who opened a store at Simcoe and Water Sts. which was subsequently occupied by Nicholls and Hall.

According to Dr. Thomas W. Poole in the sketch of the early days of Peterborough which he wrote in 1867, this site was occupied by Robert Patterson as a boot and shoe store at the time he was writing.

In the meantime, Brown had sold the entire block of land, known as Lot No. 2 on an old town plan, to Robert Nicholls for 300 pounds on July 29, 1833.

Robert Nicholls, whose name is perpetuated in many local institutions to which he generously subscribed, later turned over his extensive properties to Charles H. Morgan, of Cobourg, in trust for the Bank of Montreal in return for his appointment as manager of the bank's local agency. This was on July 20, 1844, the date which marks the beginning of business by any chartered bank in Peterborough, although Dr. Poole says the year was 1843 and adds that it was the only bank in Peterborough until 1852.

LASTED TWO YEARS

"The business during the first few years was very meagre—the principal ledger being a book of diminutive proportions," he says. Accordingly, Mr. Nicholls gave up the agency and in 1846, in partnership with James Hall, opened the Colborne District Savings Bank, "which appears to have been more advantageous to the public than to its projectors and managers, and it was finally closed in 1848," according to Dr. Poole.

Ten years later, in 1858, Nicholls and Hall erected the present building and established a dry goods and grocery business with a separate store for each of the two lines of goods. The dry goods department was located in the eastern section of the building where the Elim Tabernacle now stands. The same year, on September 18, Mr. Nicholls obtained a quit claim from Mr. Morgan, acting for the Bank of Montreal, on all the lands which he had handed over in trust in return for the local agency.

After earlier financial struggles, these were years of growing prosperity for Nicholls and Hall but in 1861, just three years after it was built, the store came within an ace of being destroyed by a fire which swept nearly the entire square bounded by George, Simcoe, Water and Hunter Sts. A few shops on the north-west corner, the shops belonging to Nicholls and Hall and one or two others on the block were all that escaped the flames, according to Dr. Poole.

CANNING PLANT

Nicholls and Hall ran the business for 20 years until 1878, when the stock and good will were sold to Thomas W. Robinson who formed the Metropolitan Grocery and Provision Warehouse Company. Mr. Robinson conducted the business until April 14, 1893, when he sold it to William H. Hamilton for $4,500, retaining the "benches, vats and machinery comprising the canning plant now in the storehouse connected with the said premises," in the words of the bill of sale.

In the meantime, however, the property was retained by Mr. Nicholls until his death on November 7, 1883. In his will, he appointed his wife, Charlotte, sole executrix and devized his real estate, including the store, to her. Mrs. Nicholls, who died May 6, 1890, devized this and other property to the trustees of her will, Richard Hall and Charles McGill, with power to sell.

Two years later, in 1892, the store was sold for $12,000 to Mr. Hamilton who, with his brothers Percy and Frank, operated it until his death on September 3, 1923. The three brothers were sons of William Hamilton whose brother Peter, father of former Mayor James Hamilton, [illegible] implement industry at the corner of George and Kings Sts.

The family lived for many years in the house on the west side of Rubidge St., between Hunter and Brock Sts., which was originally the home of the same Robert Nicholls who had owned the store. The house was later enlarged and is now the Masonic Temple.

In his will, William Hamilton had devized his real estate to his mother, Mary Ellen Hamilton, who predeceased him, however, and so the property passed to his two brothers, Percy and Frank, and his sister Margaret, a Collegiate teacher who died in March of this year. A second sister, Edith, who died earlier, virtually instituted public health nursing in Peterborough.

LAST OF FAMILY

Percy Hamilton died on August 3, 1932, and Frank exactly seven years later to the day on August 3, 1939. The store was conveyed by the executors of Frank's estate to his sister Margaret, the last surviving member of the family.

When the last of the Hamilton brothers had gone from the scene, it looked as though the store's unique tradition of high quality merchandise and service might come to an end. But Duncan F. Drummond offered to purchase the business on one condition—that Miss Amy Bowles would remain as manager.

When Amy Bowles left business college in the spring of 1911 she applied to William Hamilton for a job. She has remained with the store ever since and now she seems as much a part of the institution as the tall ledger desk in the tiny office in a corner at the rear of the store where, by the light from the two pink-shaded globes, she enters each day's sales in the frayed record book.

Glancing down the long rows of shelves towards the front door, almost 100 feet away, Miss Bowles recalled the day when Mr. Drummond died, a couple of years ago. ago.

"He never would sell it," she said the other day. "He wanted it kept the way it was. But now it seems I have no choice."

STILL BUSY

It's not for any lack of business that Hamilton's was being sold, she explained. But she knew she couldn't carry on much longer and young people didn't seem interested in working in the old-fashioned type of business that Hamilton's represented.

There were other people who worked week-ends, chiefly because they loved the store. There were Maude Fife and Ralph Beatty and there was George Bedford who taught school out at Cavan.

Miss Bowles' two chief assistants are Miss Lillian McGregor and Andy Pearson. One of the things that makes Mr. Pearson particularly indispensable in Miss Bowles' eyes is the fact that he operates the machine that cracks the wheat for the customers' porridge, coarse or fine, however they wish.

THIRD-FLOOR MACHINE

The machine is located in a lofty room on the third floor where one can see better than almost anywhere else in the store some of the features that link it with the past.

Along the east wall near the 20-foot ceiling is a long shaft containing a row of pulleys. Coming from the pulleys are the straps which are connected with a variety of machines, most of which are no longer operated.

For instance, there's the coffee roasting machine with its two rotating drums which a clerk from the store had to watch continuously to make sure the coffee was roasted just right — not too much and not too little. This has not been used since 1935.

At the rear is another machine for cleaning raisins and currants in the days before they were cleaned and packaged. Alongside is a fanning mill for cleaning seed. The store used to buy its own alfalfa and clover seed from the farmers but now it handles nothing but No. 1 seed.

On the second floor, where most of the packaged goods are stored, is a machine for blending tea. It consists of a wooden box measuring about three feet each way with a revolving drum inside.

Today Hamilton's blends only English breakfast tea but Miss Bowles remembers when all the tea was imported and blended right in the store. In fact, there was a time when the store did all its own importing. Today most of the imported commodities are handled through brokers in the larger cities.

The importing business was a complex one. For example, on a shipment of biscuits there were separate duties on the tins and boxes as well as on sweetened and unsweetened biscuits. It was Miss Bowle's duty to go to the customs house whenever a shipment arrived and oversee the payment of duties.

IMPORTED IN BULK

Much of the importing was done in bulk and right up until the beginning of the Second World War, Hamilton's used to import large casks of fancy molasses from Barbados. The casks were placed in the basement and pumped up to the store by hand for each order. The only reminders of this now are three holes in the floor behind the counter where the pipes carrying the molasses entered the store.

In days gone by, Hamilton's not only imported goods for sale in the store but for other merchants as well. Records dated as far back as 1895 show that as many as 125 barrels of sugar at one time were bought from H. B. Eckert in Toronto and distributed to 10 other merchants in Peterborough.

The store itself, while large—25 feet by 100 feet, framed in timbers an idea of the extent of all these operations Behind it, stands the three-storeyed stone warehouse 31 feet by 10 feet, framed in timbers a foot square.

In the cold, dank basement of the warehouse are the huge potato bins and the shelves where the big round cheeses are cured. They weigh between 80 and 90 pounds and sometimes as many as 40 of them are cured at one time. This entails turning them over, to prevent the oil collecting in one place.

DELIVERY SLEIGH

The ground floor of the warehouse is notable for the strong smell of bone fertilizer and seed onions lying in bins about the floor. A nostalgic reminder at the rear of this section is the old red sleigh used during the winter when the store used to make its own deliveries.

On the top floor are rows of enormous bins where the store used to keep seed corn in the spring. There are also rows of cans containing oatmeal and black rice.

Much of the floor space in the warehouse is empty, however, and this helps to explain the anomaly of the scene in the store itself where rows of canned goods stand next to glass cases full of seeds in bulk and where packaged foods vie for attention with the big lacquered cans decorated with Japanese scenes that used to hold eight different kinds of tea. Wickerware baskets from Poland, China and Czechoslovakia stand side by side with brightly-colored tins of biscuits.

In short, the store is a vivid history lesson of the changes in merchandising methods that have taken place in this century. In the old days, Hamilton's performed most of the functions that are now carried on at wholesale houses and factories. It cleaned seeds, raisins and currants, blended tea and roasted coffee.

PERSONAL SERVICE LOST

Whatever gains have been made in modern methods of selling groceries, however, the loss in terms of personal service cannot be denied.

Although Hamilton's doesn't have a fresh fruit and vegetable department, if a customer phones in an order which includes any of these items, Miss Bowles goes out and buys them somewhere else.

Sometimes customers going to their summer cottages buy as much as $150 worth of groceries to take with them. Miss Bowles indicated the "long day books" where every order is entered in full.

"Very often if someone is going to Stony Lake they simply phone us and ask for the same order as the year before," she said, "and all we have to do is look it up in the long day book."

Opening the bulky iron safe with the faded picture of Queen Victoria on the front of the cash drawer, Miss Bowles took out a large book, its binding worn thin and its pages yellow with age. In it are entries of each day's sales from 1891 right up until this year. There were only two or three blank pages left.

"You see," Miss Bowles said, "the book's nearly finished. We couldn't carry on much longer, could we?"

Didn't Beat Her, Pitied Her, Hughes Claims

Tommy Hughes so vigorously defended himself on a charge of assault of occasioning actual bodily harm, laid by one Ruby Masters, that the charge was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp today.

"I pitied her," Tommy said, so he let her stay at the Hughes residence August 1st following what he described as a "drunk" the night before. He claimed she stayed for 10 days following the date of the alleged assault.

She agreed alright, but gave another reason why she stayed: "He took all my clothes." Thus it was that the charge of assault wasn't laid until 13 days following the date in question.

UNLUCKY 13

It was an unlucky 13 days for her, she claimed. During this time she sustained bruises from head to foot, burns and a few indescribable other injuries.

It must have been Hughes that did it, Crown Atorney John A Bradshaw, QC argued. "No one else in the city would do that," confending the indescribable Injuries were consistent with the character of the defendant.

Neither Ruby or Tommy are strangers in magistrate's court assault hearings and for the month the present case hung fire, Ruby appeared bravely every week to hear it adjourned.

Came court time this morning and Tommy showed up but Ruby didn't. Crown Attorney Bradshaw asked for an adjournment on her behalf because of a death in the family.

"Cooked up," defence counsel Edward Fanjoy claimed, reminding the magistrate it was set as a peremptory hearing. Tommy quoted her as saying earlier today: "To hell with it."

DEADLINE

A 12 o'clock deadline was set for the appearance of the complainant and she showed up to tell the story of being stripped, beaten and tramped on August 1.

Tommy denied any such thing and claimed he brought her over to his house as a result of her pleadings. "I didn't welcome her; I just pitied her."

Mr. Fanjoy, in asking for a dismissal, said the couple's continual presence in court amounts to "almost an abuse" of the local legal machinery.

If the charges were even half-proven, the magistrate said, "there would be sufficient evidence to send this man to reformatory."

There wasn't however, and as he warned Mrs. Masters for the umpteenth time to stay away from Hughes, Magistrate Philp dismissed the charge.

Struck By Car Young Pacer Killed

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A young pacer was killed when hit by a car on the third concession of Westminster township this morning. The year-old horse was owned by Margaret Atherton of Wilson Grove and was being pastured on the farm, of Aubrey Johnson of Glanworth.

Driver Glen Dale, 21, Glanworth, told police he went over a hill and found three horses on the road in front of him. They bolted in panic but Dale said he was unable to avoid hitting one. Damage to his car was $600.

Strike Paralyzes Argentine Airlines

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—A strike among key personnel has paralyzed the Argentine National Airlines.

The strike is in protest against the appointment of a departmental chief outside the regular promotion schedule.

LADY RAMSAY ARRIVES—Lady Patricia Ramsay, colonel-in-chief of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, arrives in Montreal for the start of her visit to Canada. Left to right: Maj.-Gen. J .P. E. Bernatchez, general officer commanding Quebec command; Mrs. Gault, wife of Brig. Hamilton Gault, honorary colonel of the PPCLI., Brig. Gault, and Lady Ramsay.

Fifty Per Cent Of Members Of The Senate Have Sat In House Of Commons

Central theme in the spate of Senate reform newspaper editorials across Canada these days is that the Red Chamber is nothing but a refuge or reward for political service, writes A. J. Hume in the Ottawa Citizen.

But, what are the facts?

A careful analysis of the background of the present 90 Senators (apart from 12 vacancies) shows the following:

1. Forty-nine Senators, or a little over 50 percent, are former members of the House of Commons (including six former cabinet ministers) or of provincial legislatures.

2. Twenty-eight Senators are what might be described as representative appointees in different lines of endeavor—business, industry, finance, newspaper publishers, lawyers, or other professions.

3. Certain other Senators have strong representation background, though involving some past political activity, such as that of having been an unsuccessful candidate for Parliament on one occasion, having held office in different party organizations, or simply as party workers or speakers on the public platform during election campaigns.

In some editorials on Senate reform, the suggestion has been advanced that the provincial legislatures or governments might be extended the privilege of nominating or recommending to the prime minister of the day appointees to the Senate who might be more representative.

In this connection, it is to be noted that at least 11 of the present 90 Senators were former members of provincial legislatures some of them having been provincial cabinet ministers. Quite conceivably, had provincial legislatures or governments had such a privilege in the past, most, if not all, of this group would have been selected.

Former federal cabinet ministers who are now Senators embrace the following: Senator James A. Calder, Conservative, Regina; Liberals—Senator Dr. J. H. King, Vancouver; Senator William D. Euler, Kitchener; Senator Thomas A. Crerar, Winnipeg; Senator James A. MacKinnon, Edmonton; Senator Gordon Bradley, QC, Newfoundland.

Senator Calder, named to the Senate on Sept. 22, 1921, by Prime Minister Arthur Meighen as head of the Unionist Government, is now the dean of the Red Chamber.

In addition to six former federal cabinet ministers, there are five other privy councillors in the Senate, as follows: Senator Wishart McL. Robertson, Halifax and Ottawa, present Senate government leader and minister without portfolio in the government; Senator Arthur C. Hardy, Brockville, and Senator Thomas Vien, Montreal, former Senate speakers; Senator Elie Beauregard, Montreal, present Senate speaker; Senator W. Ross Macdonald, Brantford, former Commons speaker.

William Oatis Describes Life In Czech Prison

NEW YORK (AP)—William N. Oatis, the AP correspondent who spent two years in a Czech prison, has written his own story.

The byline "By William N. Oatis" will reappear in the Examiner on Monday, September 14 over the first of a series of articles Oatis has written, giving a vivid description of his ordeal.

Oatis, a native of Indiana, went to Prague in June, 1950, to become chief of the Associated Press bureau reporting the news of Czechoslovakia. His efforts to get the news would be considered normal in any country with a free press, but they were not to the liking of Communist officials in Prague.

The secret police arrested Oatis in April, 1951, and built up a charge of espionage against him. The U. S. state department denounced the charges and his trial as a travesty of justice. Oatis spent more than two years in prison cells near Prague before he was released last May.

EXTENSIVE TREATMENT

On his return to the United States he had to undergo extensive medical treatment. He was eager to write his own story in his own words, but doctors for a time permitted him to work only an hour a day.

The AP said today that Oatis will relate in the articles the methods the secret police used on obtaining his "confession" to charges of spying, and disclose various aspects of his imprisonment.

Slim Majority Defies CCL Policy

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Ford of Canada local of United Automobile Workers (CIO) last month voted "by a slim majority" to defy the Canadian Congress of Labor policy of supporting only CCF candidates.

The bi-monthly Guardian, official publication of various union locals, says in its latest edition that the resolution was not supported by the majority of the local 200 executive board members.

Under the resolution the local, largest one-plant local in Canada, will adopt "a policy of non-partisan independent political action" for the support of candidates from all parties and will not "follow the policy of other UAW-CIO locals or the CCL in supporting CCF candidates," the Guardian said.

The resolution said the political action program of the CCL in endorsing the CCF as the "political arm of labor" was a "partisan movement and all sections negates the uniting of all sections of the labor movement in this political field."

Consumer Spending Collapse Seen Near

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's vulnerability to a collapse in consumer spending is increasing with the rapid growth in outstanding consumer credit to nearly $1,700,000,000 by the end of June, A. C. Ashforth, vice - president of the Dominion Bank of Canada, said Tuesday.

"The present tendency in the face of high incomes to press installment sales without down payments and with installments spread over a long period is unsound," he told members of the Advertising and Sales Club of Toronto.

Mr. Ashforth said consumer credit had increased by 50 per cent at the end of March from the year previous. Installment credit had more than doubled in the last year.

Suicide Verdict In Woman's Death

CHICAGO (AP) — A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide Tuesday in the death of a woman friend of Rogers Hornsby, one of baseball's greats.

The jury decided that Mrs. Bernadette Ann Harris, 55, a divorcee, plunged from her third floor apartment in a north side hotel Monday while "temporarily insane due to despondency."

Hornsby, manager of Cincinnati Redlegs and a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, took the witness stand at an inquest in the Cook County (Chicago) morgue.

He said Mrs. Harris had been a good friend and his personal secretary since 1945. He added that she handled most of his financial affairs.

Hornsby, 57, is estranged from his wife, Jeanette. Mrs. Hornsby was awarded $400 a month in temporary support payments in St. Louis last May, 11 months after she filed suit for separate maintenance.

Richard Thompson

Funeral services were held Monday for Richard Thompson who died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Horace Hope of Otonabee township.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church officiated at the service in Comstock's funeral home. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Herbert, Allen, Gordon, Ernest and John Thompson and Robert Jackson.

Flower bearers were: E. Patterson, H. Hope, R. Bullock and E. Hughey.

Question Baby Contest

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto board of health Tuesday ordered a study of the Canadian National Exhibition baby contest to determine whether or not it was a menace to the babies' own health. Dr. Sandford Goodchild of the Hospital for Sick Children and alderman Allan Grossman charged the annual contest, which crowds 1,000 or more babies together, could spread disease.

STORM BUFFETS COAST—Damage estimated at more than $1,000,000 was caused when a hurricane roared into the Maritimes after sweeping up the eastern seaboard. This ship, tied up at a Halifax dock, was buffeted by high waves. It would take days, authorities said, to assess damage to coastal breakwaters, wharves and small boats. Heaviest hit was Annapolis Valley where almost half of an estimated 1,500,000-bushel crop of apples was on the ground.

PETS ARE LIKE PEOPLE WHEN IT COMES TO NUTRITION!

Unless you are an expert on feeding animals, you can seldom be sure your pet is getting all the essential vitamins and minerals it needs. And no human can know how your pet feels when his food fails to supply enough food value. But you can see what's happening to him! He loses pep and energy, sleeps a lot. His coat grows rough and patchy. Hair falls out. Appetite dwindles, and general health weakens. Your pet becomes nervous, excitable, ill-tempered.

It's Not "Will Petavim Work?" —Petavim Must Work!

PETAVIM is a high potency dietary food supplement for your pet. It combines 5 energy-charged Vitamins and 4 Minerals in a highly concentrated form. PETAVIM'S formula compares favorably with vitamin-mineral supplements for humans! Your pet needs only a small amount of PETAVIM with its regular diet for 20 days to win vigorous health. In fact, it's not a question of will PETAVIM work . . . PETAVIM must work in 20 days, or we pay you $2.00!

When You Check Off The 10th Day 10 ✓

Even in this short time, you will see a distinct improvement in your pet's condition. His coat gets smoother, shinier, and his eyes sparkle. Appetite becomes keener . . . and his energy increases.

Petavim's potent ingredients are building up your pet's stamina and strength—giving him the appearance of a champion. You're the owner of a happier, healthier pet that's full of pep and high spirits!

Mr. T. N. Thatcher, Clarkson, Ont. writes:
"After taking PETAVIM along with their regular food for only 20 days, our four Scotties, aged 2 to 9 years, all showed marked improvement. Their coats took on a new gloss and their general condition greatly improved. I recommend PETAVIM heartily to other pet owners."

Mr. Ronald Purdy, Schau Belein Kennels, Port Credit, Ont., writes:
"I gave PETAVIM to three Dobermans and a Daschund along with their regular food. I don't know whether PETAVIM can take all the credit, but after the 30th day treatment, the youngest Doberman won First Prize in the Puppy Group at the Sportsman's Show. The judge said his condition was excellent."

Mr. W. C. Brown, R.R. #1, Oakville, Ont., writes:
"When we started including PETAVIM in our 7 year old Collie's diet, he was in poor condition, no pep or appetite. His hair was falling out and he was very excitable. But within 7 days his appetite perked up and he seemed more peppy. After 14 days, his hair stopped falling out and his coat became sleek. By the 30th day, he was in good shape, eating, sleeping and acting much better."

Mrs. Marjorie J. Snider, Deer Haven Kennels, Oakville, Ont., writes:
"We gave four dogs—a Belgian Shepherd, an English Springer, a Collie, and a Cross Breed—a regular dose of PETAVIM with their food. Within 21 days, all four dogs had better coats and were in excellent spirits. By the 30th day, they were enjoying unusually good health."

See Color TV Available In Three Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—A television expert predicted Tuesday that color TV will be available "for the millions" in three or four years, but hardly any sooner.

Dr. W. R. G. Baker told reporters it would take that long to build up mass production of the required color tubes. He is a vice-president of General Electric and chairman of the industry's national television system committee.

On behalf of the committee, Baker asked the Federal Communications Commission to give prompt approval to a color TV system which would not make obsolete the more than 25,000,000 black and white TV receivers now in use in this country.

To support the request, he delivered to the FCC a 16-volume exhibit reporting results of the committee's 2½ years of technical studies of the problems involved. He said that 85 major electronics manufacturers and some 200 engineers took part in the studies, and estimated that $10,000,000 had been invested in them.

The proposed system would fit into present TV operations by offering color telecasts which could be tuned in by existing sets in black and white. If color reception were desired, a color set would have to be purchased in most cases, since the industry generally does not consider "converters" as practical.

Expect Fight On Seaway Will Continue

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times says in an editorial today that special interests which have opposed the St. Lawrence seaway "for decades" may be expected to carry their objections "all the way up to the (U. S.) Supreme Court."

"They may be expected," the Times says, "to use every legal device to hold up this great international venture."

Opponents of the seaway—"coal operators, the railways, the port authorities and the private utilities"—will not be discouraged by the recent decision of the U. S. Federal Power Commission to reaffirm its awarding to the New York state power authority of a licence to construct the U.S. portion of the project.

PAINFUL PROCESS

The Times describes the FPC decision as "one more step . . . in the long, slow and painful process . . ." of getting seaway and accompanying hydro-electric power developments.

The editorial continues:

"There is no longer any doubt that the seaway and the hydro-electric projects are highly desirable. The seaway will mean opening the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes to fairly large ocean-going freighters—in other words carrying a great sea highway, 1,000 miles into the heart of the North American continent."

Lord Beaverbrook's Success Story

Gives Essentials For Reaching Top

By LORD BEAVERBROOK.

More than 30 years ago I wrote for the Sunday Express a series of articles which I hoped would prove useful to young men anxious to succeed in the practical affairs of life. I hoped, too, it would help the sale of the Sunday Express. The articles were made into a book, of which 80,000 were immediately sold, and many more have been sold since.

Some reviewers thought it presumptuous that at the age of 42 I should tender advice on success.

Well, the issue has now been decided. I am 74. I have no regret for the past and no hope for the future. There have been pitfalls, of course. Frequently I have stumbled. Henceforward, I do not intend to put grave issues to the test. Younger men must carry the lance and the breastplate.

✧ ✧ ✧

I would like to be of assistance to them. The main theme of my book was that there are three main qualities necessary to achieve success — Judgment, Industry and Health. I hold to that view more strongly than ever.

A man may have two of these attributes and go far, but unless he has all three he will not go all the way.

Consider the man who gave my book its name, Success, but who did not give attention to its contents. He was Mr. Beverley Baxter, at the time editor of the Sunday Express.

Mr. Baxter is enjoying a brilliant career, but he has not had the success which he might have attained. He is a member of Parliament of high standing. He is a most remarkable dramatic critic. His contributions to the Sunday Express are read by millions. His articles in Maclean's are the most popular feature in Canada. But still he has not had full success.

For why? The reason is that, although he has judgment and health, he lacks industry. He plays too much golf, and Canasta is the name of his card game.

And lacking industry—another term for which is fixity of purpose — Mr. Baxter has not enriched himself or the nation as much as his earlier promise indicated.

✧ ✧ ✧

As many people fail in judgment as in industry. A man's judgment may be sound in certain fields of activity but fail in others.

My own, for instance. I have had success in many walks of life, but not in politics. I consider myself to be a political failure.

Otherwise I would have succeeded with the Empire Free Trade Campaign. Had the McDonald-Baldwin Coalition not gone back on its promises I would have succeeded. But what is near-success but another term for failure?

Why did I fail? I had industry. I had health. It must be supposed that my political judgment was faulty. Had it been unerring, the Empire today might have been a flourishing economic unit. The empire might have been built up on Empire Free Trade. For I had my chance. I had Baldwin and his party "over a barrel." But I was defeated and my movement destroyed by the cunning of Stanley Baldwin. In order to escape from our successful challenge in the constituencies he came to an accommodation with me, pretending he would carry out the Empire Free Trade policy.

Stanley Baldwin then went to Ottawa in 1932 with a scheme limited to a form of reciprocal imperial preferences. My own crusade was not for a reciprocal lowering of tarrifs between empire countries, but for empire free trade. By introducing his smaller scheme, Baldwin defeated my larger and better scheme. When I tried to renew the movement he misled the public by confusing the issue. I blame my own political judgment for the trust I had placed in the man.

Another political failure of mine was a great practical success. When Churchill gave me the opportunity to form the Ministry of Aircraft Production in the crisis of 1940, it was necessary to throw off the restraints imposed by the polite system of dealing "through the usual channels."

I had to take short cuts. I had to scatter people—many of them important people—right and left.

The aeroplanes were produced. That was what mattered. But I made innumerable enemies in and out of Parliament. And from a political standpoint everything was wrong with the Ministry of Aircraft Production—everything, except the production of aeroplanes. That production saved the situation.

Churchill himself, whose support was absolutely necessary to my administration, has not lacked political judgment. That has been fortunate for his country and for the world. Less fortunate for his country is that fact that his judgment has been used in a cause other than Empire Free Trade. He has always been a world free trader at heart.

Sir Winston has been supported in his prodigious career not only by judgment but by health and industry. He is the greatest living exemplar of the three basic attributes of success.

✧ ✧ ✧

Heed the life story of Sir Winston. It will help the young aspirant in this way: It will be seen that judgment can be acquired and that health can be maintained. If he really devotes himself to the cultivation of these attributes he will not, it is true, become another Winston Churchill, but he can still achieve in the career of his own choosing a very great success.

Research Council Has Developed All-Channel Television Antenna

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Research Council has developed a new-type all-channel television antenna which is believed to be more efficient than any now in use in Canada.

The aluminum antenna is the result of more than two years of research by W. A. Cumming, 27-year-old assistant research officer with the radio and electrical engineering division of the council. The work was carried out in the microwave section of the council's radio field station here.

"This new antenna is more efficient than any on the market today," Mr. Cumming said in an interview. "Its development represents a major advance in the television field and will result in improved reception."

DEALERS WAITING

Television antenna dealers said they would welcome an improved all-channel TV antenna. However, they said the council would have to prove to them that the new one is better than those now in use.

Mr. Cumming said the council is patenting the antenna and the patent would be available to manufacturers in the near future. The council has had a "few inquiries," he said, but no company has been licensed as yet to produce the antenna.

The antenna is designed to enable the TV set owner to tune in on channels two to six. Another smaller antenna of similar design is required for channels seven to 13.

It can also be adjusted for use in the ultra-high frequencies beyond channel 13.

Mr. Cumming explained that the owner of a television set now may use a single-channel antenna or the all-channel types now on the market.

The single-channel antenna will pick up only one broadcasting station. If the owner wishes to tune in another station he must have a second antenna on his mast. This explains why some TV masts are cluttered with a series of antennas.

If an all-channel type is used, only one and at the most two antennas are required. However, an electrically-operated rotor is required to point the antenna in the direction of the station being tuned in.

10 FEET SQUARE

The rotor arrangement will still be required for the antenna designed by Mr. Cumming. It won't work unless it can be pointed to the station.

The new antenna for channels two to six is 10 feet square. It is diamond-shaped and has horizontal spokes at one end. The supplementary antenna for channels seven to 13 is of the same design but is only four feet square.

Mr. Cumming said the new all-channel antenna has the same "gain" or ability to absorb a signal from a TV station as a single-channel antenna. In other words it is as efficient as five single-purpose antennae.

"The whole secret of this antenna is in its design," Mr. Cumming said. "However, only an electrical engineer could understand how it works. It is too complicated and technical a subject to discuss in layman's language."

The council launched its studies two years ago, he said, "because we felt there was a real need for a better television antenna."

Mr. Cumming could not estimate the cost of the antenna to the consumer, but felt it would be no more than the multiple antennas now being sold. They run about $35 to $40. This price does not include the cost of the mast which varies depending on its height.

"The antenna is not designed for people who want to tune in only their local station," Mr. Cumming said. "It's designed for people who want to pick up more than one station. It also will be of particular value to TV set owners living in fringe areas. They will have more success in picking up the station nearest to them."

NEW-TYPE ANTENNA — The National Research Council has developed a new-type, all-channel television antenna which is more efficient than any now in use in Canada. The antenna is designed to enable the TV set owner to tune in channels two to six. Officials of the NRC claim the "development represents a major advance in the television field and will result in improved reception."

Forge Firm Agreement Has Been Revised

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The collective agreement with Dominion Forge and Stamping Co., Ltd., long hailed by officials of United Automobile Workers (CIO) as a model contract, was revised during negotiations last week, officials of the regional office announced Tuesday.

The new contract, negotiated by local 195 and company officials, increases the pension payment from $60 a month to $75. Present pensioners from the company here also will receive the increase.

Employees also were granted a three - cent - an - hour across - the board pay increase. The annual improvement factor was increased from three to four cents an hour.

Reds Say Allies Faked List, Kidnapped Pole

MUNSAN (AP)—The Communists today accused the Allies of faking a list of missing United Nations soldiers, mistreating war prisoners and kidnapping a Pole who fled a truce supervisory team into United States sanctuary. The Reds unloaded this barrage as the Korean armistice moved rapidly into a new phase—the disposal of Red and Allied prisoners who refuse to return to their homelands. The first group of 500 North Koreans moved into the buffer zone under control of Indian troops today.

A spokesman said they threw rocks in rage when they saw two Communist observers standing outside a barbed wire fence. The Communists backed out of range. Neither was hit.

The first group of 1,900 anti-Red Chinese was to be turned over to Indian troops Friday.

ANGRY CHARGE

The angry Red charge of kidnapping the Pole came in a meeting of the four-country truce supervisory commission.

Swedish Maj.-Gen. Sven Grafstrom, commission chairman, said Communist Poland's delegate accused the Americans of kidnapping Jan Hajdukiewicz, a Polish interpreter who ducked from his inspection team into American hands as a plane warmed up to take him back to Red Korea Wednesday.

Grafstrom said the Polish delegate threatened to lodge a strong protest, probably Saturday.

Hajdukiewicz told reporters at Seoul he wants no more of communism, which he termed "the subjugation of all life."

4,579 IN HOSPITAL

The other Red denunciations were broadcast by Peiping radio.

Peiping said 4,579 Red prisoners returned in the exchange just ended are in hospital because of "physical and mental torture at the hands of the Americans."

Condemning what it termed "ghastly examples of American brutality . . . American torture methods," Peiping said "a shocking number" of the 75,799 repatriates were suffering from various diseases. It said others were "gassed, bayoneted and stoned" during the exchange.

American officials customarily decline comment on such Red broadcasts.

In another attack, Peiping said the UN command faked a list of 3,404 unrepatriated Allied soldiers—missing men for whom the UN demanded an accounting Wednesday.

SOURCES VARIED

The Allied list, which includes three Canadians, came from various sources — returning prisoners, letters and even the Reds' own broadcasts.

Peiping said the list was intended to divert "world public opinion from the fact that a large number of Korean-Chinese PoWs who desire repatriation are still being forcibly detained by the Americans."

The Red radio apparently was renewing its old claim that the 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans who refuse to return to communism are being held by Allied force—not under their own choice.

Say Immigrants "Slave Labor" On Railway Job

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—The Pas Chamber of Commerce said Wednesday it has appealed to the federal government for an immediate investigation of charges that "slave labor conditions exist" among immigrants employed by a contractor building the Canadian National Railways' Lynn Lake line in northern Manitoba.

The appeal was made Wednesday by the chamber in letters to the departments of immigration and citizenship, and labor, and to George Weaver, member of Parliament for Churchill, and F. L. Jobin, member of the Manitoba legislature for Flin Flon.

The chamber's investigation was started when five German youths were arrested and jailed at The Pas for riding on a train without paying fares. The five have been temporarily placed on local farms.

HAD NO MONEY

The chamber's letter said the laborers, who speak little or no English, arrived in The Pas thin, hungry and penniless.

"As a result of certain evidence . . . obtained from immigrants to Canada, who are under contract to R. F. Welch Ltd., Port Arthur, for work on the Lynn Lake railway construction, we feel justified in asking for an immediate investigation of working conditions in the isolated camps along the route of this line," the letter said.

"We are informed slave labor conditions exist, with immigrants, unable to speak or understand English, being forced to work up to 15 hours per day, being fed an almost-exclusive diet of macaroni, and not receiving any emenities of life.

"For some months, we have been informed, contract laborers have been 'escaping' these conditions on trains passing through The

TUC To Continue Moderate Policy

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (Reuters) Britain's 8,000,000-member Trades Union Congress today voted for a continuation of its "middle of the road" policy in the coming year by returning its moderate leadership to office.

Nearly 1,000 delegates, representing 138 trade unions, rejected four Communists who made a bid for office in the 35-member general council, the TUC's policy-making group.

All 29 of the present council members who stood for re-election were returned. They included mine leader Sir Will Lawther and the head of the strong Transport and General Workers Union, Arthur Deakin.

Among the defeated communist candidates was Arthur Horner, general secretary of the Mine Workers Union and an executive member of the British Communist party.

The Congress today heard delegates appeal for an extension of electricity into the rural areas of Britain, and approved a demand that the government spend more money for research into the scientific, technological and occupational health problems of industry and agriculture.

Horse Census

MITCHELL (CP)—Mitchell is going to count horses' noses. The idea of a local census of horses arose after a suggestion was made that the town provide sheltered parking space for them. It was pointed out that since the church sheds were no longer available, a shelter might be built at the south-east corner of the town hall. Councillors authorized the property, [illegible] shade tree committee to conduct a census and bring in a recommendation.

Red Warship Shelled Launch Without Warning, Navy Says

HONK KONG (AP)—A navy source said tonight a small Chinese Communist warship that attacked a Royal Navy launch Wednesday opened fire without warning in international waters outside Hong Kong. The source, asking to remain anonymous, said men on the launch reported the Red warship, a corvette, scored 12 hits on the launch. Six men were killed and at least five others wounded. The survivors related that the lightly-armed launch spotted the Red corvette and began to turn. Then the corvette opened fire without warning. They said the very first shot hit the bridge, wounding the captain and killing another officer. The latter presumably was E. Frank Gower, a reserve captain, the only victim so far identified.

The second shot killed a sailor who was running to man a 40-millimetre gun in the bow. Ten other shells hit the launch before the corvette pulled away, the source said.

The crippled launch then signalled a nearby marine police boat, this account said. The police boat towed the launch to a British anchorage and then summoned the British destroyer Concord.

The Red corvette had quit the scene by that time and the Concord took the wounded to Hong Kong.

THREE "SERIOUS"

The navy man said three of the five wounded were in serious condition, but the navy refused to comment.

The little launch docked in Hong Kong today in great secrecy. The navy blocked off the area to newspaper men and refused to make any comment.

The British crown colony prepared to bury the six victims, the reserve captain and five navy men.

The navy said the launch was No. 1323. Vessels of this type normally carry a crew of 14 and are armed with one three-pounder gun or one 40-mm. gun plus a 20-mm. anti-aircraft gun.

The Royal Navy withheld the names of the dead and wounded until their next of kin had been informed.

The destroyer Concord was ordered to go to the aid of the launch. She herself was fired on by Chinese shore batteries at the approaches to Hong Kong in August, 1950, but escaped damage.

Expect Britain To Protest Shelling Of Boat

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is expected to send a strongly-worded protest to Communist China against the shelling of a Royal Navy launch off Hong Kong, diplomatic quarters here said today.

The foreign office is still awaiting complete reports of Wednesday's attack by a Communist Chinese warship which left six men dead and five wounded.

The one identified victim was E. Frank Gower, an accountant with a Hong Kong firm who held a reserve captaincy in the colony defence force.

The other dead were believed to be members of the Royal Navy. Funeral services will be held Friday.

It was reported that the battered launch was still afloat and would be brought to Hong Kong later today. It was understood the craft was on normal patrol duty at the time of the shooting.

Commodore James Thorold, the colony's naval commander, conferred with Governor Sir Alexander Grantham early today but declined any comment.

Reserve navy officers unofficially said the attack probably was made by a Red Chinese corvette usually stationed in the estuary on patrol.

Another report claimed the launch had been hit by shells from a Communist LST (tank landing ship). The Reds captured a few such vessels from the Chinese Nationalists during the civil war but there has been no previous indication of any in use on the Pearl river.

The launch was never able to return the Red fire, the source added, but immediately summoned the destroyer Concord to its aid.

Still Communist Carr Says After Release

KINGSTON (CP)—One of the main cogs in the Soviet espionage ring uncovered in Ottawa in 1946, Sam Carr said today as he was released from Kingston Penitentiary that he still is a Communist.

Former national organizer of the Labor-Progressive party, he was freed after serving four years and seven months of the six-year term he received in 1949 for his part in the ring exposed by Igor Gouzenko, Soviet embassy cipher clerk. He had been granted the Coronation amnesty and time off for good behavior.

A reporter asked whether Carr was still a communist.

"Yes," he replied readily. "However I haven't been in touch with the (Labor-Progressive) party for about eight years."

He said he had no plans at the moment. "Jail-made plans are no good anyway." It was believed he would spend some time with his family at their Toronto home.

Carr was met at the prison gate by his wife Julia, their 18-year old son Ron and a Brother, Morris.

RCMP agents in Canada and the Federal Bureau of Investigation in the United States sought Carr for three years following the 1946 spy trials. He was located finally in a New York apartment in February, 1949.

He was convicted of uttering and forging an application for a passport for a known Russian spy.

Carr previously served a three-year penitentiary sentence for being a member of the then-outlawed Communist party and was released in 1934.

Carr's release today followed by about two years that of Fred Rose, onetime parliamentarian imprisoned in 1947 as the key figure of the ring that divulged Canadian defence secrets to Russia.

Rose was freed from St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary near Montreal Aug. 9, 1951, after serving four years and seven months of a six-year term.

Buyers' Market Faces Wheat Men

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada could price itself out of world wheat markets by continuing to base prices for hard wheat on stay-at-home United States crops, says the president of the Winnipeg grain exchange.

The text of Stanley N. Jones' address to the annual meeting of the exchange Tuesday was released today.

He said there is a possibility the American support plan may prop prices there for the near future, with a beneficial reaction on Canadian prices.

"But it is a matter of some doubt that Canada should continue to base her prices for hard wheat on the U. S. hard winters and springs which are likely to be consumed almost entirely in that country and will have no relation to conditions in our markets, almost completely export," he said.

"It would appear that we now are in a buyers' market and that the selling of wheat, which for seven years has been comparatively simple when offered to customers far below market levels, now is likely to be found quite difficult," he added.

Cyprus 'Quakes Kill 35 Thousands Homeless

PAPHOS, Cyprus (Reuers) — Earthquakes which hit 135 villages in the Paphos district of western Cyprus today killed 35 persons and left several thousand homeless.

Hundreds of houses crumbled under the shocks, which rocked the entire island through the night and this morning. Hospital wards were swamped with injured and rescue teams were rushed from the capital of Nicosia.

Yugoslavia Vows "Measures" In Trieste Tiff

BELGRADE (AP)—Ales Bebler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told Parliament today Italy has failed to withdraw troops sent to the Yugoslav border as a result of the controversy over Trieste.

He said Yugoslavia plans to "undertake measures." Beber did not disclose what "measures" were contemplated.

Previously, in a note to the Italian government, Yugoslavia warned it would move troops up to the frontier unless the Italian forces were withdrawn.

His brief statement came in response to a question from the floor on whether the Italians have withdrawn the troops "recently concentrated along Yugoslavia's border."

The statement — and the previous exchange of several notes between the two countries — arose from the expressed fears of Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella's new government that Yugoslavia had planned formal annexation of zone B of the Trieste free territory.

Under the Italian peace treaty, Trieste was designated a free territory. Part of it, including the strategic Adriatic seaport of Trieste itself, was placed under Anglo-American jurisdiction. The balance mostly hilly farmland, was turned over to temporary Yugoslav control.

In his speech of Sunday at Okraglica, five miles from the Italian border, President Tito of Yugoslavia formally disavowed any intent to annex zone B with the terse comment: "Why should we do it? We already have it."

Instead, he proposed the port of Trieste itself be internationalized with the surrounding territory turned over to Yugoslavia—a proposal which drew no support from Italian officials.

Yugoslavia's position may become clearer this week-end. Tito is scheduled to make a major speech in the Adriatic port city of Split.

Italy's Premier Giuseppe Pella is scheduled to speak on the same day, answering for his government the speech made Sept. 6 near the border by Tito.

Deliveries Cut Off To 1,300,000; Pickets Get Orders

TORONTO (CP)—Some 1,700 Toronto milk drivers today rejected a series of proposals to settle their wage demands and voted to go on strike immediately. The drivers, members of the Milk Drivers Union AFL, took action after a two-hour meeting. John Buchanan, co-business manager of the union, announced at 11:30 a.m. that "the strike is on." Instructions were issued to picket captains. The strike affects 13 metropolitan Toronto dairies and and will almost cut off deliveries to some 1,300,000 residents.

Only one major dairy made deliveries today.

It was Silverwood's which is not affected by the dispute between the milk drivers' union and the Toronto Milk Distributors Association. A rival union, the Retail and Wholesale Employees Union (CIO), represents Silverwood's employees.

The 130 AFL employees of Valley View Dairy previously reached a separate settlement in the dispute but after this morning's meeting a union official said Valley View drivers "will not attempt to make deliveries."

STRIKE TOO

Valley View employees attended the meeting and decided to conform with the other affected drivers.

Wednesday night C. M. Meek, chairman of the milk control board, said the board would intervene in the dispute if the AFL union vetoed a restricted delivery proposal and called a strike. The board has power to increase the retail price of milk or to order introduction of five-day deliveries.

Hurricane Swings West Of Bahamas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Dolly, packing winds of 100 miles an hour, took a slight curve to the northwest today lessening the threat to the Bahama islands and the Florida coast.

A U.S. air force plane from Bermuda penetrated the season's fourth tropical storm at 9:45 a.m. EDT and located the centre about 600 miles east and a little south of Miami.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster at the Miami weather bureau, said that "if the hurricane continues on its present course it would not touch the Florida mainland."

Norton emphasized the "if," and pointed out the storm was still in the formative stage and conditions might change in a few hours.

The storm had been moving on a north northwest course.

U.S. Chief Justice Buried At Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—The humble and the great offered a last mournful tribute today to Fred M. Vinson, who was born of modest origin and died as chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

From all over the country they assembled for funeral services at 2 p. m. EDT, in Washington (Episcopal) Cathedral.

Vinson died of a heart attack early Tuesday. He was 63.

Vinson will be buried Friday in Louisa, Ky., the town where he was born.

Population Near 15,000,000 Ottawa Reports

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is nearing the 15,000,000 mark.

The bureau of statistics reported today that the nation's total population on June 1 had soared to 14,781,000, an increase of 351,000 over the 14,430,000 recorded on the same date in 1952.

The new total also represents a gain of 772,000 over the official population figure of 14,009,429 recorded in the ninth decennial census on June 1, 1951.

The estimated figures for June 1 show population gains in all provinces. The increases in Newfoundland, Saskatchewan and Alberta were greater than in the 1951-52 period.

Ontario had the largest population increase in the year, 131,000 compared with an increase of 168,000 in the previous 12 months.

The second largest was recorded by Quebec with 95,000.

Figures for June 1, 1953, with 1952 figures in brackets: Newfoundland, 383,000 (374,000); Prince Edward Island, 106,000 (103,000); Nova Scotia, 663,000 (653,000); New Brunswick, 536,000 (526,000); Quebec, 4,269,000 (4,174,000); Ontario, 4,897,000 (4,766,000); Manitoba, 809,000 (798,000); Saskatchewan, 861,000 (843,000); Alberta, 1,002,000 (970,000); British Columbia, 1,230,000 (1,198,000). Figures for the territories are unchanged at: Yukon, 9,000; Northwest Territories, 16,000.

U.K. To Explode A-Bomb Series

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Supply Minister Duncan Sandys of Britain told a press conference today there would be two major atomic explosions and "a number of minor explosions" when Britain carries out its second test of atomic weapons on the Woomera rocket range next month.

The first test was held last year on the barren Montebello islands, north of Australia.

Sandys, here to supervise final arrangements, said one explosion will be caused "by the detonation of an atomic weapon."

"The other explosions will be designed to obtain scientific information required in connection with the weapons program. Both major explosions will be less powerful than the one at Montebello," he said.

Dies to Save Dog

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Eight-year-old Jimmy Bumgardner gave his life to save his puppy from being hit by a passenger train. Jimmy snatched the dog from the Southern Railway tracks near the station here Wednesday and was hit by the diesel locomotive. He died in hospital a few hours later.

Chances Not Unlimited

Canadian Warns TUC of 'Fancy Promises' As Lure to Emigrate from U.K. to Canada

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (Reuters)—A Canadian trade unionist today warned British workers not to be "lured by fancy promises" when deciding to emigrate to Canada.

S. H. Stephens, international vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Paper, Pulp and Sulphite Workers, sounded the warning when he addressed the British Trades Union Congress here as a fraternal delegate from the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress.

He outlined to the British trade unionists Canadian industrial development in recent years:

"Canada today is a growing industrial giant, sprawled over the northern half of North America and suffering acute growing pains in every corner of its national body," he said.

He added that the development of Canadian economy might suggest in Britain and other parts of the world that unlimited opportunities for employment were open in Canada.

That was not quite true, he said, since there were substantial unemployment problems already, partly due to the seasonal and cyclical nature of the Canadian economy.

Stephens said Canada needed a larger population, but the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress supported more planning of immigration policies and programs. They had succeeded in some extent by having immigration restricted to the winter and off-season months.

"It is not my purpose to discourage workers and their families in Britain from making plans to come to Canada," he said.

"What I would like to do is sound a word of caution lest many of your friends and fellow Britishers are lured by fancy promises to seek new homes in Canada only to find on arrival that neither a home nor a job awaits them.

"There are organizations in Canada which have been urging that the floodgates should be opened to allow a free and unrestricted flow of new immigrants to our country.

"I need not say to you that these organizations are not friends of the workers, the immigrants they wish to arrive in large numbers, or of the trade union movement.

"They have as their real purpose in making such proposals to our government to flood our labor market and in such conditions to break down our wage scales, increase the hours of work and destroy the improvements in working conditions which our organizations have gradually and arduously attained."

Stephens said Canadian trade unionists were determined that immigration should be geared to employment needs.

Expect Ike's Approval

Fresh U.S. Aid For France Would Back Drive To End Bloody Indo-China War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States security council was reported today to have recommended that France be given several hundred million more American dollars to back a new drive to end the bloody Indo-China war.

The U. S. funds would enable France to transfer nine battalions of troops from Europe to Indo-China to lead a new campaign against the Communist-led guerrillas.

Highly-placed officials who reported this said the security council, the government's top policy-making body, decided on this move Wednesday at a review of the Indo-China war.

President Eisenhower is expected to approve the recommendation after discussing it with congressional leaders to determine how to scrape up the money.

Preliminary estimates indicate the new aid program would cost up to $400,000,000 in addition to the $400,000,000 Congress appropriated for Indo-China this year.

The Eisenhower military and foreign policy leaders are reported convinced the United States has no alternative but to back the new French Indo-China program if it wants to keep this strategic southeast Asia nation out of Communist hands.

Communist-led rebels, supplied by Red China, already have conquered large areas of Indo-China during an eight-year campaign and have tied up more than 350,000 French and loyal Indo-Chinese troops.

The new French plan for winding up the conflict was put forward by the government headed by Premier Joseph Laniel. Its author is Gen. Henri Havarre, who drafted it after a visit to the battlefront.

The offer to move nine battalions of French troops to Indo-China to reinforce units already there is reported to be the principal feature of this new strategy.

But the French are said to have promised also that they will try to build up the loyal Vietnam Army further so it, along with Cambodian and Laos forces, can eventually take over the burden of defending Indo-China.

To increase popular native support for the Indo-China conflict, the French government also has pledged to grant complete and lasting independence of the three Indo-China states.

The Laniel government secretly appealed to the United States for additional aid money about weeks ago.

RCMP Jail 148 Douks In New Drive

Mass Arrests Mark Latest B.C. Move To Quell Terrorism

NELSON, B.C. (CP)— Mass arrests of nude members of the Sons of Freedom and the smashing of the radical sect's newest stronghold mark British Columbia's latest drive to quell Doukhobor terrorism.

In a move shrouded in secrecy, RCMP Wednesday night rounded up 148 Freedomites, charged them with contributing to juvenile delinquency and herded them aboard a special train for trial in Vancouver.

At the same time police said they would dismantle the tent village of Polatka established by the Freedomites only last month on crown land at Perry Siding on the Slocan river some 29 miles northwest of here.

At Victoria Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the provincial government took the action in carrying out its constitutional duty to uphold law and order. He also said the B.C. welfare department had taken over the care of some 80 children whose parents were among the 71 women and 77 men arrested.

CLIMAX TENSION

The arrests climaxed several weeks of growing tension in the interior Kootenay district as the Sons, angered by government insistence that their children attend school, staged sporadic nudist parades and dynamited the Canadian Pacific Railway's Kettle Valley line.

Meanwhile, Kootenay residents watched anxiously for some indication of reaction to the arrest by Sons of Freedom, a 1,600-strong sect that has kept the west coast province on tenter-hooks with sporadic outbreaks of arson and nudism for more than 20 years.

The Sons, whose religious beliefs are based on the edict that "God is freedom", believe any form of man-made law is a shackle on their freedom of worship and a slight to God.

Laws compelling their children to attend school have been a prime Sons' target for years and in the past they have both kept their children from school and burned down educational institutions in their fight against the regulations.

PARADE NUDE

Wednesday's arrests were touched off on the opening of the new school term Tuesday. The majority of the adults in the 400-strong tent village kept their children at home, then, in an additional display of defiance, staged a nude parade past the Perry Siding schoolhouse as the children were leaving at the noon hour.

The government's answer was the mass arrests and dismantling of the tents.

Say Immigrants

Pas. Valued possessions are being sold in this town for a few dollars by immigrants who are hungry.

"Several days ago, we were approached by an angry local business man and asked to look into circumstances of the arrest of five youths, newly arrived from Germany, who were held in the local jail.

"We interviewed them and found them all in an emaciated condition. Through an interpreter, we obtained their statements. . . ."

The men alleged they were told on arrival they had to repay $500 each, the cost of their passages. They said that despite an almost-exclusive macaroni diet and no milk or meat, they were being deducted $2.40 a day for meals, and that eight to 10 men were sleeping in bunkrooms eight by 12 feet square.

SEND INVESTIGATOR

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government is sending an investigator to northern Manitoba to look into charges that immigrants are working under "slave labor conditions" for a contractor building the Canadian National Railways' Lynn Lake line.

Col. Laval Fortier, deputy immigration minister, said the investigator is being dispatched immediately following press reports of a complaint by The Pas, Man., Chamber of Commerce.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:
Night low...40 Noon....66
Noon barometer.....29.6

Yesterday:
Highest.....69 Lowest...47

One Year Ago:
Highest.....76 Lowest...47

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.:

Synopsis:

An extensive area of high pressure slowly drifting eastward gave Ontario mostly sunny skies and clear cool nights on Wednesday. Temperatures dropped to around 50 in southern sections, northern parts which are now warming up in a southerly flow had low temperatures about 10 degrees higher than the mid 30s of the previous night. A disturbance west of Lake Superior which has already brought cloudy skies with showers into northern regions this morning is moving slowly eastward and by Friday skies in all of Ontario will be mostly cloudy.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Friday:

Western Lake Ontario, Niagara regions; Toronto and Hamilton: Sunny with a few cloudy intervals today; Friday cloudy with a few sunny intervals, with widely scattered showers and thundershowers Friday evening; not much change in temperature, winds light; low tonight and high Friday at Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines 50 and 75. Summary for Friday: Mostly cloudy with evening showers.

Haliburton and Eastern Lake Ontario regions: Sunny with a few cloudy intervals today; variable cloudiness with scattered showers tonight and Friday; chance of thundershowers Friday evening; low tonight and high Friday at Killaloe 50 and 70, Trenton 50 and 75. Summary for Friday: Scattered showers.

Approve Plans For New School

Tenders for the additions for the Queen Elizabeth public school will be called in 10 days, it was announced at a meeting of the accommodation committee of the Board of Education on Wednesday night. H. H. Roberts of Westport, the architect, presented the plans and specifications to the committee, and following a study which lasted more than three hours, the plans will be sent to the Department of Education for approval.

The eight-room addition is being built to relieve the overcrowding in the north end of the city. On annexation of a large part of land immediately north of the city the Board of Education was faced with the problem of accommodation. Queen Elizabeth, a two-room school with a small third room in the basement could not accommodate the children in the annexed area who were above kindergarten age. On entering the city space had to be found for the children of kindergarten age.

Queen Alexandra school was able to provide some space when the children who had been attending that school from the east side of the river and north of Parkhill Rd. were transferred to the new Armour Heights and King George schools.

The result has been that both the northend schools are crowded and arrangements may have to be made to accommodate an overflow.

One-Foot Sobriety Test Said Simplest Way

TORONTO (CP) — One of the simplest ways to test whether a person is sober enough to drive a car is to have him stand on either foot with both eyes closed for 15 seconds.

Dr. Henry Newman of the Stamford University school of medicine gave this recipe Wednesday to the second International Conference on Alcohol and Road traffic.

"Anyone up to 50 should be able to do it when sober," he said.

Frost Turns Down Millard Plan On Mine Issues

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost Wednesday turned down a request by C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), that a conference of leaders of the union and the mining industry be held to discuss issues in the current strike of miners in the Timmins area.

Enclosing his recent statement on violence and strikes, the premier sent Mr. Millard a letter stating he could see nothing to be gained in calling such a conference.

The letter said, in part:

"You suggest a meeting of the leaders of the mining industry as a whole and representatives of the union for a free and frank discussion of the issues between us.

DIFFERENT PROBLEM

"May I point out that your dispute is with certain gold mines, the employees of which are presently on strike, namely: Broulan-Reef, Hallnor, Delnite and Preston East Dome.

"The problem of the gold mines is entirely different from that of other minerals. In my opinion, there would be nothing to be gained by calling in those connected with say, the asbestos, iron, nickel or copper portions of the mining industry to settle matters relating to gold mines. Such a move could not possibly accomplish anything other than create resentment. Your problem is with the gold mining industry. . ."

Suggest No Parking South Side Of Charlotte

No parking on the south side of Charlotte St. during rush hours was suggested Wednesday night as one way of speeding up motor traffic between George and Aylmer Sts.

Alex Clark of Local 1320, (Peterborough Bus Lines), said that city police should strictly enforce the no-double-parking at all hours; and from 11.30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m., and again from 4.30 p.m. to 6.30 p.m., there should not even be single parking on the south side of Charlotte St.

Other delegates to the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council agreed that there is now heavy traffic congestion during rush hours on Charlotte St. and Mr. Clark's suggestion would be a help. It will be forwarded to the city traffic authority.

Bus Being Pushed Collides With Car

An Orillia man's car sustained $300 in damages Wednesday in a collision with a bus at the corner of Water and Hunter Sts. Drivers involved were Harold J. Pettifer, 36, of Oxford St., Orillia, and Orval Perritt, 25, of RR 3, Peterborough.

Perritt's bus was being pushed by a service truck when the accident occurred and the garage driver had been unable to see the turning car which had stopped for pedestrians crossing at the corner.

PC V. A. McConnell investigated the crash which occurred at 8:35 in the evening.

Market Starts Slow Retreat

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market began a slow retreat in light early afternoon activity today.

Uraniums and New Brunswick joined in the general reaction despite a strong start. Lower were Gunnar, New Delhi, Chimo and New Larder U. Anacon traded unchanged after two days of decline.

In industrials, Commercial Alcohol slipped to a new low for the year of $2.75 while Industrial Acceptance dropped more than $1. Dryden and Fleet Air traded well forward.

Lower in base metals were Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Sherritt-Gordon and International Nickel. East Sullivan and Golden Manitou bucked the trend for small gains.

Western oils declining were Federated, Gridoil, Jasper and Pacific. Home Oil and Britalta improved slightly.

Senior golds traded almost unchanged from Wednesday while Preston East Dome, New Dickenson and Macassa eased in juniors.

CMA Holds Judgment On Fluoridation Value

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—The Canadian Medical Association is reserving judgment of fluoridation of water as a tooth decay preventative, its president said here Wednesday.

Dr. C. W. Burns of Winnipeg told the New Brunswick medical society the CMA is a "little doubtful" about the process, from a medical viewpoint. Pending completion of a report now being prepared, the association isn't ready to approve or disapprove fluoridation.

St. Laurent Plans Air Tour To Globe's Trouble Spots

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent is planning the most extensive air trip ever undertaken by a Canadian government leader, a 30,000-mile round-the-world friendship tour that will take him to some of the globe's major trouble spots. The 71-year-old prime minister told reporters on Wednesday of a decision to extend his proposed two-week Asian tour next January to a globe-circling flight.

He would probably make stops in India, Pakistan and Ceylon and possibly Japan, Australia and New Zealand, as well as several still-to-be-determined European points. He has received invitations to visit West Germany and France.

COURTESY TRIP

This would be the prime minister's most ambitious air tour, one which he considered would be a "courtesy" trip, to return calls made on Canada by heads of these various foreign governments. But he undoubtedly will discuss the cold war with government leaders and try to strengthen relations among the democratic powers of East and West.

Mr. St. Laurent touched on the air trip—likely to be made in the RCAF luxury aircraft, the C-5—after a day-long cabinet meeting, the government's second since the Liberals were returned to power in the Aug. 10 general election. The next meeting will be Sept. 17.

The cabinet announced:

1. Appointment of nine parliamentary assistants—just below cabinet rank. Eight of these were carryovers from the last Parliament which had 11. A new appointment was that of W. G. Weir, 57-year-old member for Portage-Neepawa in Manitoba, who will assist the prime minister. Mr. St. Laurent said more are likely to be appointed before the new session opens in mid-November.

5-DAY WEEK

2. A decision to place the bulk of federal office workers, in Ottawa and across the country, on a year-round, five-day work week, promising a similar step for operating staffs in the next few months. Some 60,000 of 85,000 workers are affected immediately. Previously the normal work week was 5½ days, cut to five days during the summer months.

3. Decision to grant Greece, torn by earthquakes in the last month, $500,000 worth of aid in the form of construction materials, salt cod and powdered milk.

Dropped from the ranks of parliamentary assistants is George McIlraith, member for Ottawa West who aided Trade Minister Howe. Mr. St. Laurent said the 45-year-old Ottawa lawyer, dean of the assistants, bowed out of his own accord. Mr. McIlraith said he wanted to devote more time to his law practice.

There had been repeated speculation that he might be elevated to cabinet rank, but so far he has not been offered a ministerial post.

Reappointed as parliamentary assistants are:

Paul E. Cote, 44, member for Montreal - Verdun, assistant to Labor Minister Gregg;

Robert McCubbin, 41, member for Middlesex West, assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner;

J. Watson MacNaught, 49, member for Price in Prince Edward Island, assistant to Fisheries Minister Sinclair;

J. A. Blanchette, 60, member for Compton - Frontenac, assistant to Defence Minister Claxton;

W. M. Benidickson, 42, member for Kenora-Rainy River, assistant to Transport Minister Chevrier;

Leopold Langlois, 40, member for Gaspe in Quebec, assistant to Postmaster-General Cote;

J. W. Dickey, 39, member for Halifax, assistant to Production Minister Howe;

Jean Lesage, 41, member for Montmagny-l'Islet in Quebec, assistant to Finance Minister Abbott.

There has been speculation that Mr. Lesage may be elevated to the cabinet, but Mr. St. Laurent gave no hint of what cabinet changes he plans.

Parliamentary assistants get $4,000 a year in addition to normal member indemnities of $4,000 a session and $2,000 tax-free expense allowance.

The new list leaves at least three vacancies, in trade, health and welfare and veterans affairs.

Leslie Mutch, assistant to the veterans affairs minister in the last Parliament, now is deputy chairman of the Canadian pension commission.

Dr. W. A. McCusker, assistant to the health minister, was defeated in the Regina constituency in the Aug. 10 election.

Mr. St. Laurent ducked the question of whether he might appoint a woman to one of the vacancies. "I haven't yet met the ladies," he said. There has been some speculation that Ann Shipley of Timiskaming, Ont., elected in August, might become an assistant or even get a cabinet post.

Two Liquor Counts

Pleas of guilty before Magistrate W. R. Philp today netted court coffers $37.50 when Harold John Drury of Lindsay and William Doughty, 43, of 148 Park St., appeared on liquor charges.

Drury was charged with being intoxicated while Doughty appeared for having liquor and being intoxicated. Fines in each case were $12.50.

DISAPPOINTING

Receipts of $900 in the lacrosse club's radio appeal Wednesday night was somewhat disappointing to the executive. It was hoped that public response to help finance the trip to Vancouver for the Mann Cup national title would have brought in twice that amount or around $2,000. The club executive is meeting this afternoon in a final survey of their position for the team's flight to the coast.

Fresh Meeting In Strike Seen; 5 Deliveries Law

TORONTO (CP)—Five-day milk delivery in Toronto became law by order-in-council at noon today.

The milk control board chairman, Judge A. B. Currie, issued an order making the five-day delivery compulsory and removing the ceiling price on home-delivery milk.

The unanimous decision of the milk board was taken to a cabinet meeting then in progress. It was rushed through as order-in-council and approved by the government.

Labor Minister Daley stated that since the order had become law, he intended to reconvene the disputing parties and endeavor to negotiate an agreement to end the milk strike which began today.

There will be no home delivery on Wednesdays and Sundays. Prices for store-bought milk remain under the control of the board.

The board also ordered all distributors in Ontario to file an audited and certified financial statement with the board within three months of the end of the distributors' fiscal year.

Cabinet To Settle Freight Issues

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet probably will act Sept. 17 on two major transportation issues before it, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Wednesday.

They are decisions on an appeal from the latest general freight-rate increase and on an application that would break the trans-continental monopoly of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

After a cabinet meeting Wednesday, the prime minister said the ministers had not acted yet on the two matters.

The appeal against the seven-per-cent freight rate increase, awarded in March, was placed before cabinet May 1 by the governments of eight provinces—all except those of Ontario and Quebec. The boost added some $38,500,000 a year to the national freight bill.

N.Y.-Montreal Road Urged By Dewey

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (CP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey says that New York state should start thinking about a through highway from Albany to Montreal.

Speaking before the annual farm dinner of the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night, the governor suggested that new express highways may be in store for the state.

He said immense highway progress had been made but the New York-to-Buffalo thruway, now under construction, is "by no means the answer to all our problems."

It might be that the final solution would be another great thruway to the south to New York City and "similarly we should now be thinking of a thruway from Albany to Montreal."

Supervisor Of Nurses For Dept. Of Health

Miss Mary MacIlveen, the new supervisor of nurses for the Department of Health arrived in the city Wednesday to take up her duties.

Miss MacIlveen is a graduate of Columbia University and majored in teaching and the supervision of public health nursing.

Until coming to Peterborough she was the supervisor of nurses in North Bay for three years. Before that she was on the staff of the University of Western Ontario.

Narriman Asks Divorce

CAIRO (AP)—Young ex-Queen Narriman filed suit for divorce Wednesday from exiled former King Farouk on grounds of adultery, maltreatment, mental cruelty and estrangement. She asked for alimony amounting to $14,350 a month. For the present she did not seek custody of her son, 19-month-old ex-king Fuad II, who is in Italy with 33-year-old Farouk.

BIG CGE EXHIBIT

In its present stage of arrangement, the Canadian General Electric Co. display in the manufacturers building at Peterborough Exhibition is likely to be the largest and most attractive ever set up here. The background is a pastel shade of amethyst with bossed crowns associated with the coronation of Queen Elizabeth in June. Flags are included in the decorations.

Horse Show Takes Over CNE To Hold Fair's Centre Ring

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The national horse show takes over at the Canadian National Exhibition today, and horses, owners and handlers from Canada and the United States will hold the centre ring until the 14-day exhibition ends Saturday night.

Entries for the horse show have come from as far away as Hollywood and Pittsfield, Pa., and from nearly every district in Ontario.

The horses move in on the heels of Farmers' and Livestock Parade Day, opening their three-day stand on Transportation, Communications and Commercial Travellers' Day at the CNE.

Also scheduled today at the Ex is the fourth day of competition in the women's world softball championships and the Canadian international table tennis competitions.

Farmers, young and old, flocked to the exhibition Wednesday, the young to compete in Ontario Junior Farmers' Association events and the others to show their ribbon-winning cattle and horses which had been judged during the last 10 days.

Glenburn Sir Loin owned by D. E. Deacon of Unionville won the grand champion fat steer award in judging of fat cattle.

Nightlite, owned by Edwards of Arva and Watford won the reserve grand championship ribbon.

Attendance Wednesday was 153,-500, down 500 from the corresponding day last year.

CNE directors announced that Saturday will be designated as "Family Day."

Deliveries Cut Off

Previously milk has been delivered here daily except Sunday to stores, restaurants and other consumers.

STUDY PROPOSALS

At the insistence of Labor Minister Daley, union officials agreed to place before the meeting three proposals rejected by the union's negotiating committee before talks between the union and the 13 distributing dairies serving the 1,300,-000 residents of metropolitan Toronto broke down Wednesday night.

These proposals called for making wage increases conditional on some form of restricted delivery.

The union seeks increases of $4 to $6 a week and the dairies say they can grant them only by increasing the price of milk, now 22 cents a quart delivered, or by making economies in distribution. The dairies say the men now receive an average of about $62 a week, including commissions, for five days' work.

The dairies have been delivering milk daily except Sunday, with foremen filling in on the regular milkmen's days off.

The union rejected a proposal by the dairies to eliminate deliveries Wednesdays as well as Sundays. It claimed such a move would mean extra work Tuesdays and might lead to loss of jobs.

WOULD CUT SATURDAYS

The union suggested elimination of Saturday deliveries, leaving Saturday and Sunday as days off. The companies turned this down, but countered with a proposal for milkless Mondays, a suggestion which found no favor with the union.

Another alternative rejected by the union was a plan under which milkmen would deliver to one group of customers Monday, Wednesday and Friday and to another group Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The operators said this would permit scheduling long week-ends for the workers.

The operators proposed that if the milkless Wednesdays plan were adopted, they would guarantee five week-ends off for the employees. These would be Victoria Day, Civic Holiday, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Easter Monday—all of which involve Monday holidays.

REJECT REQUEST

Mr. Daley, who had called the company and union representatives into conference, in a final effort asked the distributors if they could maintain six-day delivery and offer some increase. It is reported the dairy operators turned down this request, referring to a conciliation board finding that the dairies were financially unable to meet the union demands on their present basis of operation.

800 In Pen Rioting After Fire

$500,000 Blaze Roars Through Prison, Destroys Licenses

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — (AP) — Eight hundred state penitentiary inmates followed a $500,000 prison fire Wednesday night with cell-wrecking disorders that were quelled only after guards thrice sprayed their quarters with tear gas.

The outbreak apparently was kept to a minimum by prompt action of guards who herded prisoners quickly into their cells when 14 inmates began acting up at evening meal time. Dishes were thrown and chairs smashed as a group of "young but tough" men began misbehaving.

This occurred about two hours after an unexplained fire roared through the institution's metals plant, destroying it and over 1,000,-000 licence plates destined for use on Washington state automobiles in 1954.

Damage from the fire was estimated by deputy warden Al Rembolt at $500,000. No disorders accompanied the blaze which started after the plant had been closed down for the evening.

READY FOR UNREST

Officials were prepared, however, for unrest and acted quickly when the dining room melee broke out. Back in their cells, the men apparently became annoyed, Rembolt said, because the prison's ventilation system failed when the fire burned out part of the power circuits.

Soon the convicts began hurling materials and abuse out the barred doors of their cells.

Mattresses were set afire and tossed out windows which had been broken with fists or articles ripped from cell walls. Lavatories were broken from their supports and smashed.

Knife In Garbage Pierces Worker's Hand

A housewife's carelessness had painful consequences for a member of the city's sanitation department Wednesday morning. William Dyer, 255 Armour Rd., was collecting garbage on Queen St. When he picked up a bag of kitchen refuse set out for collection, a paring knife which had been left among some peelings went right through his hand.

3 Soldiers Remanded Counterfeit Charges

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Police collected more than 20 counterfeit $10 bills here in a tour of hotels and restaurants following the court appearance Wednesday of three soldiers charged with possessing and passing bogus bills.

The three, all gunners of 128th Anti-Aircraft Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, are Victor Paquette, 27, Jacques Arthur Despatie, 25 and Armand Breton, 32. They were remanded without plea to Sept. 17.

Ordnance Depot May Cost $50 Million

COBOURG (ENS)—The local ordnance depot may wind up as a 50 million dollar proposition instead of the 12 or 13-million dollar project first announced.

Councillor Otto Curtis told council Wednesday night that a moderate-priced housing set-up was essential and urgent, because he had been informed that the ordnance depot would be a 50-million dollar affair before it was finished.

Ray Bowen, Ontario St., asked council what was going to be done in regard to making a cinder path on Ontario St. so the children would not be exposed to the dangers of the highway. Council pointed out that work was stalled because some residents apparently didn't want a cinder path across their green boulevards.

Councillor Jeff Rolph observed that, if the boulevards belonged to the town, the cinder path was the town's business. Where the safety of children was involved, grass was a petty consideration, said Councillor Lillian Richards.

NO INTERFERENCE

On closer enquiry, council found that by running the cinder path from the CNR track to the hydro substation, it would not interfere with those who were worrying about their grass and would still satisfy residents who wanted a pedestrian path for their children.

Request of Cobourg Indians softball team for financial help was referred to the finance committee.

Council talked about the starling nuisance for a while and came to the conclusion that there was not much could be done about it, like Mark Twain and the weather.

The Sidbrook Housing Development Co. wrote council to remind them that, under the terms of the town's own bylaw, the subdivision officials did not have to build the approach to the street which runs through the property. Earlier, council told the company that the town did not have to foot the bill for the approach.

"I guess we were wrong," conceded Mayor Jack Burnet.

The mayor told council that the Department of Planning and Development had options on several hundred acres northeast of Division St. and, as the options would expire early next month the town should decide what was to be done about it.

In co-operation with the Dominion government, the provincial government would pay for utilities installations in the housing area and the town would be required to extend the services to the boundary of the area. Lots would be sold at cost to builders.

Because of the pressing need for houses, particularly in view of the ordnance depot, the opportunity should not be lost, he said. It was at this point that Councillor Curtis commented that his information was that the depot would end up as a 50-million dollar project. Council decided to have a man from the department come down to explain the housing plan further.

A bylaw was given two readings to authorize the issue of debentures of $16,000 for repairs to Central Public School.

In connection with the need for a fire hydrant closer to the oil company depot than the present one, the chairman of the fire, water and light committee, Councillor Charlie Johnstone, was asked to interview the oil companies concerned.

EXPERIENCE WITH REDS—Capt. Joseph Liston, inset, of Ottawa, the highest ranking Canadian officer captured by the Reds in Korea, Cpl. John Jollymore, of Toronto, left, and Gerald McKinney, of Melita, Man., tell of their experiences in Communist prison camps after their release by the Reds at Camp Britannia. Allied members of the Korea Armistice Commission Wednesday demanded of the Reds an accounting of 3,404 United Nations prisoners of war including three Canadians who were known to have been captured.

World's Markets Depend on US Stability

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ability of the United States to avoid depression will largely determine whether the world can achieve a free and stable exchange of goods and money, the International Monetary Fund declared today.

In its annual report to governors of the fund and the World Bank, representing 55 countries, including Canada, the fund reported substantial progress toward a balance of world trade—a pattern free from recurring dollar shortages abroad.

But the balance is precarious and can be upset, the report said, if the United States and other creditor countries maintain high tariff and other trade barriers or, because of recession, curtail their imports.

The possibility of "even a rather small decline in American business activity" gives concern to many countries, the report said. It emphasized that the decline of U. S. military spending need not necessarily cause a business tip, and noted that the U. S. government is committed to take vigorous measures to combat any slump.

"However, any short downturn would at once bring back the dollar problem in its full severity, despite any action taken by other countries in the meantime to strengthen their position," the report said.

The Canadian delegation includes Finance Minister Abbott; J. J. Deutsch, assistant deputy finance minister; Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, and Louis Rasminsky of the Bank of Canada and executive director of the fund and the World Bank.

Ivar Rooth, the fund's managing director, in a speech prepared for delivery on presentation of the report, echoed the appeal made Wednesday by World Bank president Eugene R. Black for a more liberal U. S. tariff policy.

If the fund's debtor countries are to achieve "convertibility"—that is, make their money freely unchangeable for dollars and other currencies—they must have more ready access to markets where dollars can be earned, Rooth said.

Steady progress toward elimination of dollar deficits in the last year, Rooth said, has brought the world to a point at which "the convertibility of currencies has become a practicable objective." He continued:

"Convertibility requires a willingness to permit considerably more free competition than is the normal practice today, not only with other exports in foreign markets, but also with imports in domestic markets.

"What the great creditor countries, and particularly the United States, do about their foreign economic policies is highly important for currency convertibility."

The fund advised European countries to look to western hemisphere countrids other than the United States as areas in which dollars can be earned. Canada, Colombia, Cuba, Mexico and Venezuela present no barriers to convertibility, the report said, and all have dollars available.

Early Migration Of The Tourists

Birds fly south from these parts in the autumn; Americans do it a month earlier—and, we believe, a month too early. When they leave on or before Labour Day they leave behind some of the most golden days of our year at the lakes, and, incidentally, some of the best fish. (Fish do not bite well in warm August water.) We hesitate to mention the beautiful weather and scenery of our September and early October because natives of this area have a private feeling about it. They have it all to themselves. If the tourists find how kindly and wonderful these coming weeks are, they may invade our tranquil beauty and solitude. Selfishly, many Kawartha residents like to have these days to themselves. However, in the interest of good neighbourliness and out of kind zeal to spread the gospel, we should make known to our summer visitors that they are missing some of the best days of the year by going home as soon as Labour Day, or by not taking their Ontario holiday in September or October.

* * *

There is also a commercial element of which we are not unmindful. Here in this resort area the facilities and equipment for housing, entertaining and feeding guests are used to capacity only during eight short summer weeks. If the tourist season were longer the overhead would be less and tourists could be provided more at less cost to them. Resort operators must now try to make ends meet, and a little profit, on only two months' business. Yet they are equipped to do business for at least five months. If the tourist season were prolonged, costs could be spread over five months, with advantage to both operators and the tourists.

* * *

There is no good reason, except stale custom, why Peterborough and the Kawarthas should not have a heavy tourist population from May until October. We note that already some tourists are realizing the advantages and pleasures which are offered here in the early Fall; there are more American cars and visitors about now than usual, judging from the streets, but they are still few enough to be remarkable. Let us promote our September and October as wonderful holiday months, and May and June as pure and fresh delights. When Americans hear of these wonders they are likely to respond, and to want to experience them.

Adenauer Victory A Mixed Blessing

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has won a great personal victory and vindication of his governmental policies of strength in Europe through friendship with the West: American money and German ingenuity and industry. In the last four years, under him, the Federal Republic of Germany has become the most buoyant and forceful country in Europe. Many millions of Germans who voted Sunday for Adenauer coalition candidates were registering their approval of success and realistically ensuring its continuation. The Germans are sharp-minded. Eight years after Western Germany lay prostrate in ruins her people are—even as tourists—again top dogs in Europe. Why deny the policies which have created this? German voters know that their golden future lies brighter with the West than with the East, with capitalism rather than socialism, with a form of parliamentary democracy rather than with Communism.

But millions of votes went to Adenauer and his supporting parties for another reason as well. The Adenauer coalition is nationalistic. It has gone farther to the Right and become more nationalistic in the last three years. This is not due primarily to Adenauer and the Chrisfian Democrats, but to other leaders and other parties supporting them. And neither Chancellor Adenauer nor Washington has yet found this support embarrassing.

Adenauer's announced first purpose is to achieve the reunification of Germany. There is a significant shift in his terminology, shown Monday in his post-election speech. "We have always talked about reunification of Germany. Must we not now talk about the liberation of the east?" The unanimity of opinion behind the coalition gives Adenauer authority to talk and act boldly. And the stakes are big. Already West Germany is dominant in Europe. How much stronger would it be with East Germany included in the Republic?

Unification is not an unusual national theme. All shades of Germans from black to red on both sides of the artificial boundary preach reunion. What is disturbing is the nationalism of the coalition parties supporting Adenauer; they are so far to the right and nostalgic for the old Reich supremacy that they seem like Nazis. The outright extremists who preached neo-Nazi doctrines have been suppressed by edict (as the constitutional ban against the "German Reichs Party") or by the Sunday vote. But many far-Right politicians support Adenauer believing in him lies the quickest road to achieve their ends, the aims of a master-race. They have penetrated the right-wing parties in the Adenauer coalition. The result is that some of these so-called moderate Right parties are far from being democratic or moderately national in outlook.

The Christian Democrats, the Adenauer party, won most of the seats, but even this party is tinged with extreme right-wing persons; its secretary is a former official of Himmler's security service. The three chief other parties in the Adenauer camp are the Free Democrats, the German Party and the Refugee Party, all of whom won substantial numbers of seats in Sunday's election and ensured the overwhelming victory of the Adenauer administration. They are strongly nationalistic parties, with a democratic veneer. Many former important persons in the Nazi regime belong to the German Party, have profitted from the increasing restoration of the traditional German upper stratum and think that democracy and a Western alliance are good gambits to restore their own influence. The Refugee Party has in its leadership former active Nazis, using the displaced, discontented refugees as tinder for their nationalist, old Reich spark. The "Free Democrats," who won 48 seats in the new Bundestag and support Adenauer, have also been penetrated by old and new Nazis.

The German elections Sunday were a personal victory for Adenauer, and a set-back for Communism. It was a satisfactory assurance that West Germany is solidly placed in the Western camp. But it was not as resounding a victory for democracy. Extremist parties of both the Right and the Left were ousted, but not before many of the Right extremists had shed their spots and slunk into the parties of the so-called moderate Right. It is an alignment which should occasion misgivings among democrats who are interested in the future course of Germany.

Prime Minister To Globe-Trot

Mr. St. Laurent has said he intends to visit India, Pakistan and other Asian countries next January. Good. What more finely characteristic and more important ambassador can Canada have than the Prime Minister and a Prime Minister so well endowed in appearance, manner and mind as Mr. St. Laurent? More than half a century ago another French-Canadian Prime Minister took the diplomtic and courtly heart of the world by storm in London and gained more prestige for Canada than half a dozen other ambassadors and cabinet ministers would have won together.

The visit is likely to be strenuous but Mr. St. Lurent has shown himself equal to arduous travel and crowded public appearances. During the last several years Ottawa has become a port of call for numerous elected heads of state; it is a proper compliment that our Prime Minister return the visits.

The presence and utterances of Canada's Prime Minister in India, Pakistan and other Asian members of the Commonwealth newly raised from colonial status will be a significant personal demonstration that the development from colony to nation can be achieved, handsomely, peacefully and bounteously within the framework of the Commonwealth.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mr. Doucett, Ontario Minister of Highways, says that there are 6,000 level railway crossing in Ontario. Yes, and 82 of them are right inside the city limits of Peterborough.

"After years of fuzziness," says the New York Herald Tribune, "the colour television picture is finally beginning to make sense." Wish the same could be said for ordinary black-and-white TV.

There is a new kind of Canadian pork barrel—the Spam barrel. To help the farmers overstuffed with pork, the Ottawa Government has bought 98 million pounds of the meat for canning. It bought at about 57 cents a pound, and sells at 37 cents. Farmers and meat-packers must know a good pork barrel even when they see it under another label. Well, it's one section of the community which should never damn spam.

Trot Or Pace

By BON VIVANT

SOME RACE HORSES in Nova Scotia have $8.00 of mine and I'm pretty upset about the whole thing. My money, I feel sure, was taken under false pretenses, and I hold certain nags responsible. Whether the trotters and pacers of N. S. gang up on strangers to bring a little Upper Canadian money into the Province is a mystery I am in the process of investigating. I'm more than a little suspicious of a horse rated to do the mile in 2:10 when it limps around the track in 4:00 flat.

✧ ✧ ✧

I REALIZE now I should have been on guard at the outset. My first bet of $2.00 on a spry young thing called Chibucto Delight netted me a gain of 80c. This, of course, was the come-on, and when the second race was won by Blue Bell of Scotia, returning me $3.40 for my investment of $2.00, I should have packed up and gone home, $2.20 ahead of the game.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FACT I didn't nearly reduced me to penury. Every indication pointed to the next four races being fixed against me. I'm sure the betting booth attendant signaled the stables soon as I got my money down. The horse I had selected was tipped off, and instead of running like a decent, self-respecting quadruped, proceeded to amble around the track, nodding to friends and acquaintances in the crowd, inspecting the advertising signs for various Maritime products which adorned the track fence, and pausing now and then to sniff at the flowering weeds which gave a dash of color to the infield. The drivers of these sauntering equinines lolled back in their sulkys, and made no effort to instil a sense of responsibility to an outland bettor in the soul of their alleged speedsters.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN A DESPERATE effort to recoup substantial losses I began asking questions of large, cigar-smoking men in sport jackets and squash hats who were cashing tickets by the handful. I had a sport jacket and a cigaret, but no squash hat, and as the latter seems to be the badge by which race track habitues recognize each other. I got either the cold shoulder or bad advice. None of the horses in the next two races, which these characters so confidently gave me, even threatened the first three. In this wise more of my money went to swell the coffers of the betting trust.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT WAS ONLY by accident I did not have to undertake a walking tour to get home. I had stopped to chat with a lady of my acquaintance when her husband, who did have a squash hat, rushed up, handed her money, and he had advised her how to to buy a ticket on Bound to Win for place. I was getting race wise by this time, and hung around until the lady had left to make her purchase. I didn't want hubby, if he was in with the gang to mulct me of my little all, to have a chance to double cross me by switching his bet as he was obviously on something hot. Once sure of my ground I took up my stand next the betting window, and just before it was slammed invested in a place ticket on Bound to Win.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT THE START of the race I didn't think much of B. to W's chances and for the first half-mile he played the old game on me. However, during the second circuit of the track his driver must have used his feaguing stick, as Bound to Win cut out a remarkable pace and bounded under the wire in second position. I was all agog to see what he would pay, expecting perhaps $4.00 or some such insignificant sum. Great was my elation when the tote board showed I had gathered in $13.60.

✧ ✧ ✧

AFTER THIS I didn't mind quite so much much when my selection in the next race finished eighth. A fortunate investment ment on the last canter of the evening further reduced my losses, but I still resent the barefaced way those Nova Scotia horses led me up the garden path in the earlier races.

✧ ✧ ✧

I MUCH PREFER a system which at one time was in vogue in those Caribbean islands where race tracks flourish. The jockeys decided the horses which would win, and if you had a private line into their confidence, betting on the horses became a sound investment. A friend of mine had such a line, and for several months, until the powers that be were seized with an urge for reformation, we did very nicely thank you on the daily double and the quinellas of each race meet. With this thought in mind perhaps I shouldn't be too harsh on those Nova Scotia horses, but then again $8.00 is $8.00, and I part with such sums reluctantly.

Good Neighbours

(Calgary Albertan).

On July 31 hail and wind swept through the Carbon, area, near Drumheller, levelling dozens of thousands of acres of crop and numerous farm buildings. Particularly hard hit were a number of war veterans just getting on their feet with VLA help. Some of them lost almost everything.

Unknown to the community, nearby Mennonites immediately sized up the disaster and went to work.

Three truckloads of these bearded, black-garbed men arrived at one veteran's farm early on the third morning after the storm. Without invitation or announcement they set to work with their own tools and built one good barn out of the wreckage of three demolished ones. They brought their own lunch.

By evening the job was done, and they left. Next day they repeated the performance at another veteran's farm. And so on. They are still at it, following a priority list which put the most urgent and difficult cases first.

This is all the more interesting since the Mennonites are mostly pacifists. They refused to enlist in the Armed Forces. They even resisted conscription, because of their religious principles.

But they are humble, honest folk. They readily concede the integrity and sense of loyalty that sent so many young men into the armed forces. They respect these war veterans, and they want to be good neighbours to them.

LIGHT LUGGAGE

"Always ask for money in advance when people have luggage that is over-emotional," said the hotel manager to his new receptionist.

"Over-emotional?" she queried.

"Yes," came the reply. "Too easily moved."

Letters To The Editor

MANIACAL DRIVERS

Sir: Twice this summer I have had to pull over to the shoulder of the road in order to avoid being hit head-on by a maniac trying to pass and get in where there wasn't any opening; the last time being last Sunday on the long curve just west of Cobourg. That driver pulled out across a double solid white line and drove on the wrong side of the road for several hundred yards in order to pass several cars in the line.

Our liquor laws were not effective enough to protect the innocent so we strengthened them by the addition of "Driving while ability is impaired." Can we not now save some lives by making it a criminal offence to cross the solid white line?

Thank you,
"SCARED STIFF."

A CUSTOMER'S VIEW

Sir: I am not a clerk and neither are any members of my family but I would like to write a few lines in defence of those harassed individuals.

I think it is high time that a union be formed for clerks so that they can demand better wages. Their work is more nerve-wrecking than industry workers, because they have to be pleasant at all times to their customers no matter how exasperating these latter get.

The factory workers have all day Saturday to do their shopping, so it certainly is not necessary to keep stores open Friday night for them. The statement that some of them go to Toronto on a Friday night to shop seems quite far-fetched. If there are any that do that they would probably go to Toronto anyway, even if Peterborough stores were open till mid-night on Friday. I, for one, don't intend to buy a single thing, either in the daytime or at night in any of the stores that are going to remain open, and I have heard quite a few people say the same thing.

So, come on, you clerks form a union. Your customers are with you, not against you, for better wages and hours.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
Yours,
"A CUSTOMER."

LACROSSE PLAYERS LEFT BEHIND

Sir: Why are our local lacrosse players being left at home? They have had a poor deal all season and this is the limit.

Tuesday night's letter mentioned other local boys leaving town. Why? They couldn't get a square deal here. If these boys had been born in North Bay or Timbuktu they would have been welcomed with open arms, but they were born too near the Bowl. Some of the players who are going west couldn't be bothered to play these games with Maitlands. The four kids could play those games.

I have heard this situation discussed all over. On buses and in stores and dozens say they are fed up and will never enter Miller Bowl again if these so-called kids are left behind. They certainly have more right to the trip than some of the executive or players brought in from other teams. Why do we sponsor minor lacrosse. They are supposed to be future senior material. Maybe. But not Peterborough Seniors.

I think Mr. Patterson and Louie Vitarelli are just wasting their time and money. There is no place for our own juniors when they are through. Don't say they are not good enough. They were all first class juniors and given the chance would make first class seniors, but nobody can improve their game keeping a bench warm.

Perhaps we can find out before they go west just what the situation is. I thank you for the space in the Examiner.

AN EX-LACROSSE FAN.

COLONIES FOR MORONS

Sir: The late Dr. Horne, Superintendent of this hospital [Ontario Mental Hospital in Orillia] until recent years, once said that 87 per cent of the patients were idiots or imbeciles. In America, we are accustomed to think of an idiot as a person with an I.Q. below 20 or 25 and an imbecile with an I.Q. of 20-50. In England the definition of an idiot is "a person who is unable to guard himself against common danger". That is; if an idiot were on a railway track and a train were approaching, he would not know enough to get off the track! An imbecile is, "a person who can guard himself against common danger but cannot provide for his own needs".

The Department of Health, wanting to be progressive, term this hospital a "Hospital School". This seems to be misnomer if only 13 per cent of the "students" are capable of being trained. Although much effort has been expended to improve the lot of the feebleminded, the low grade morons (I.Q.s 50-70,) are not really trainable for independent living. They need routine jobs with close and kindly supervision. These make up a large part of the 13 per cent.

Your contention is right, but as far as I know, you are the first newspaper with the courage to advocate it. The idiots and imbeciles have only sentimental value and very little of that. They are costing the province the time of skilled doctors and nurses and millions of dollars.

One pleasant thought is this—as far as we know, the low grade individual has neither worries nor cares.

There seems to be too much spent on the low grade individuals in Ontario. Hospitals are needed for a very small fraction of these persons. A simpler set up—Colonies—where they might be protected from dangers and where the brighter ones might be useful in doing routine tasks would appear to be a good solution.

Thanking you for your courage, I am sincerely yours.

W. G. S.

Toronto.

SMALL WAGES

Sir: I read your two articles in the columns of Letters to the Editor, and I might say that it is time we did get something done about it. It is not only store clerks, but hospital staff employees, hotels, restaurants, and a host of other forms of employment where they demand the utmost out of an employee but pay very small wages and the average of 48 hours per week, no benefits, and in one instance no unemployment insurance. As it happens I am talking from experience of 2½ years in which time I have had four different jobs and the highest pay was $32.50 per week. Even out of that small wage it was costing me and still is approximately $5.00 per week for meals, $2.15 per week income tax, so you see what my take-home pay is less than $26.00 per week providing I get the full 48 hours work. Remember the man who gets a small wage, has to pay for every thing the same as the man or woman who is getting a good salary, and we just can't go on forever this way.

So please let's get together and see if we can't better ourselves so we may be real citizens of Peterborough for I like to pay my way as well as the next person, but I can't do it on $30.00 per week. Also remember, our different duties have to be done just as well as the factory worker, engineer, or trademan of any kind.

They say that half a loaf is better than none, but did you ever try living on a half a loaf, the landlord doesn't say give me half the rent, or the storekeeper doesn't say, your grocery bill is $15.00, just pay $7.50. Try it some time.

DISGUSTED AND WORRIED.

MAKING SURE

Said a cowboy: "My partner and I are taking a trip through the desert. He's taking along a gallon of whiskey for rattlesnake bites."

"And what are you taking?"

"Two rattlesnakes."

How Time Flies

SEPTEMBER 10

1923—The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition opens today with a record list of entries.

The congregation of Knox Church holds a reception for the Rev. M. C. MacKinnon and his wife.

Havelock village and Belmont township war memorial at Havelock is unveiled by the Ven. Archdeacon J. C. Davidson.

The first annual field day of the Douro branch of the United Farmers Young People is held on the farm of William Garvey.

1933—A splendid concert by the band of His Majesty's Scots Guards gets the Peterborough Exhibition away to a good start.

Isobel Davidson and Herb Wilson win the mixed doubles championship in the district tennis tournament.

The temperature dropped so low last night that plants in the horticultural tent at the exhibition were frozen.

1943—Elmer Clark, police chief of Canton, Ohio, catches the season's largest muskie, 34 pounds, while fishing at Rice Lake.

Alex Walker, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, speaks to comrades of the First World War at the Legion Hall and stresses the need for a rehabilitation plan for the Second World War soldiers.

An all-day scheme for officers, involving a tactical exercise without troops, is planned for this week by the Prince of Wales Rangers.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me: that they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none else . . .

I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded. (Isa. 45:5, 6, 12.)

✧ ✧ ✧

But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.

But what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? Even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God. Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. (1 Cor. 2:9-12.)

Drink, Driving Meeting Opens

TORONTO (CP)—How to get the drinking driver off the road is being discussed at the second International Conference on Alcohol and Road Traffic which started Wednesday.

Addressing the delegates from 20 countries, Dr. J. K. W. Ferguson, head of the University of Toronto pharmacology department, said he believes many persons are violating the letter of the law by driving after leaving taverns and beverage rooms. He said protection for the public against "erratically-guided missiles from taverns" is needed.

"If there is sufficient outcry from the public, I am sure a reasonable answer can be found," he said. "The hazard of alcohol in road traffic is not going to be solved quickly. Intelligent planning is needed. The measures required are not going to be cheap or easy."

A report of University of Toronto researchers, presented to the conference, said that, if a Toronto driver has six drinks of whisky, his chances of becoming involved in a traffic accident are 10 times as great as those of a person who has not been drinking.

Fraserville WA Plans To Hold October Tea

FRASERVILLE (ENS)— Fraserville Women's Auxiliary made plans at its August meeting to hold an afternoon tea at Fraserville United Church on October 14. The society also voted a sum of money to help pay for gowns for the church choir.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. Flett, with nine members present. Mrs. A. Moncrief gave the Bible reading, and another reading was given by Mrs. K. Larmer. Prayer was led by Mrs. W. Waterman.

GIANT MAGNET

A magnet weighing 2,500 tons will be a Swedish contribution to a new nuclear research laboratory near Geneva.

IT'LL BE A LONG TIME—Jerry Leverson of Chicago, Ill., finally winds up in court to answer 74 traffic violations which police say he has ignored for three years. The citations included 20 for speeding, one for reckless driving and 53 lesser violations. Deputy Bailiff Teddy Mazola, right holds the warrants. Leverson was fined more than $5,000 and was sent to jail when he was unable to pay. Should the court decide to charge time for the money Leverson could technically spend nearly ten years in jail.

Anti-Aircraft Show Planned By Army

TORONTO: The Canadian Army will wheel into position some of its latest anti-aircraft weapons for a Sept. 19 firing demonstration at Toronto in connection with the National Air Show.

Crack marksmen of the Royal Canadian Artillery are in training for the event, which will see radar-aimed cannon blasting from the Canadian National Exhibition waterfront at targets towed aloft by bombers of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The National Air Show, an annual presentation of the Toronto Flying Club, is drawing together the greatest array of military and civil aircraft ever exhibited in one place, at one time, in the nation's history.

Fine Addition

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — A new chalet-type administration building for the Banff School of Fine Arts has been officially opened here. The building cost an estimated $335,000.

Shamrocks Set For Petes In Mann Cup Series With Fast Lacrosse Club

By JIM TANG, Victoria Sports Editor

VICTORIA (Special)—Victoria Shamrocks, a mixture of home-brews and imported players, are the western representatives in the 1953 Mann Cup finals. It is the first time for Shamrocks, who have played in the B.C. inter-city Lacrosse League for four years, won three championships and reached the playoff final three times.

The Shamrocks, a combination of players from a three-team senior "B" league, made their league bow in 1950 with nothing more than determination and enthusiasm. They managed to wind up fourth and battled their way to the league final in a surprising upset.

Back again in 1951, bolstered by several stars, including Archie Browning and Whitey Severson, well-known to eastern lacrosse fans, they won the first of three straight league championships only to lose out to Vancouver Combines in the playoff final. In 1952, they were upset in the semi-finals, but this was their year.

Shamrocks led from the start as they won the league title handily with 22 victories in 32 games although again hard hit by injuries. In a slump and minus several of their stars, they had a tough time in the semi-finals before ousting Nanaimo Native Sons, 3-2, in a limit series. They hit their best form in the final against Vancouver Pilseners, upsetting the favored mainland crew, 4-1, in surprisingly easy fashion.

TWO BIG STARS

Browning, who missed the last 25 league games because of a broken hand and came back just in time for the playdowns, and Severson, are the two individual stars of the Victoria club. Both have been recognized as standout players for several years but they hit their peak this season and their fancy passing plays, with Severson doing the tossing and scoring feats, and Browning pulling the trigger most of the time, have been nothing less than sensational.

Browning was off to a great start with a five-point average when he broke his hand. Severson went on without his partner to win the league scoring championship with 100 points for the 30 games he played.

Together again for the playdowns, this pair beat the powerful Pilseners with their peak scoring performance. Ruggedly checked by Vancouver's two best defensive players, they couldn't be stopped. Brown g wound up with 18 goals and five assists for the five games of the final while Severson had three goals and passed for 14. To top it off, their defensive play was almost as good as their offensive contribution and they played under the handicap of severe injuries.

Severson had his nose broken in three places in the third game of the series and again in the fourth, but missed only enough time to have temporary repairs made. Browning played the last four games with a broken finger, and scored 16 goals in four games. Severson's return to action in the fourth quarter of the third game after his nose had been flattened against the cement floor of Victoria's Memorial arena, in the third quarter, provided the 'Rocks with the inspiration they needed and was definitely the turning point in the final series.

Victoria had just seen a three-goal lead lost when Severson came back, then rallied for a 14-11 overtime win. That was the series as it turned out, the Rocks breezing in, 10-4 and 12-5 in the last two games.

EXPECTED BACK

Larry Booth, third member of the Browning-Severson line, missed the final through illnss but it expected to be back for the Mann Cup final. He is a Victoria product and a high-scoring rugged forward.

Veteran Arnold Ferguson, still one of the game's best; high-scoring Jack Northrop, and Sarge Sammartino, a Trail import who scored 51 goals in his first season with the Rocks, usually form the second line. However, if Booth returns to play, Al Gill, a highly promising rookie, will doubtless take Sammartino's spot.

Two veterans of Victoria's first club, Duff McCaghey and Norm Coates, are on the third line with Harry Irwin, still another recruit from senior "B" ranks.

Available for defense duty are Bob Anderson, Bob Monaghan, a shifty ex-forward who has been a revelation since being shifted to defense near the end of the season, rookies Bill Bamford and Jack Thompson, rugged Tom Druce, and husky Len Scott, back for the series after missing part of the season because of a broken hand. In goal is Jim Hetherington, who was a standout in the league, allowing only 37 goals out of 419 shots.

In addition to Browning, Severson and Sammartino, Gill, Northup and Anderson can be classed as imports. Gill hails from Armstrong, B.C., and is playing his first season in Victoria.

Northup is in his third season with the Shamrocks after starting in New Westminster while Anderson, another former New Westminster player, was transferred to Victoria this year by his firm. The rest are home-brew Victorians who served their apprenticeship in senior "B" lacrosse.

A FAST SQUAD

The Rocks are a pleasing club to watch in action. Not big but blessed with six or seven exceptionally good scoring forwards, they make up for their lack of size with a speedy, hard-running game featured by pin-point passing and clever screening. Their goals are more often than not on the sensational side and the result of brilliant passing, receiving and shooting.

The Victoria game is perfectly modelled for the large floor surface at Memorial Arena, which measures 210 by 90 feet and the Rocks have the advantage of being accustomed to the cement floor. They are still unbeaten at home this season, winning all 16 league games for their violently-partisan supporters, eliminating Nanaimo by winning three games in Victoria, and then taking three more at home from Vancouver Pilseners for a streak of 22 games without defeat at home.

Fan support is another factor. Victorians take their lacrosse seriously and this city has accounted for more than half the total league attendance for the past four seasons. Capacity crowds of 5,500 are not rare and their vocal support has lifted the Shamrocks to more than one victory. Peterborough will probalby enter the finals as favorites but they will meet a team which is right at the top of its game, plus hostile surroundings and playing conditions which have often been the downfall of opposing clubs.

It would seem that the result will hinge on whether or not the Shamrocks can play their forcing game or whether the Trailermen can slow play to their liking on the big floor surface. It could be quite a series.

Wisconsin Girls Drop Out In CNE Tourney

TORONTO (CP)—In the midst of a television broadcast, a beauty contest and about 3,000 eager fans, another team dropped out of play in the women's world softball championships during the three games played at the Canadian National Exhibition Wednesday night.

The West Allis nine from Wisconsin dropped a 2-1 heartbreaker to Toronto Gartens in eight innings—one over the scheduled seven, and were eliminated. The broadcast was the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's telecast of the Stratford, Conn.-New Orleans game, won 4-3 by Stratford. The beauty contest was the event which probably drew out the fans.

MISS SOFTBALL

Frances Wallace, 25-year-old brunette was chosen Miss Softball of 1953. Miss Wallace played second base for Atlanta before the Georgia crew were eliminated earlier in the day.

Orange, Calif., world champions for the last three years, suffered their first loss of this year's tournament 2-0 to Fresno, Calif.

West Allis was the fifth team eliminated Wednesday, leaving 11 teams still in the hunt for the world crown.

In morning play Linden, N.J., dropped out when they suffered a 2-1 loss to Toronto Kalyx and Fort Worth fell by the wayside, dropping a 1-0 decision to Buena Park, Calif.

In afternoon games Des Moines was eliminated 9-1 by Toronto Gartens, and Atlanta departed with a 4-1 loss to Bremerton, Wash.

COVERING MANN CUP SERIES — The Examiner is sending Don Grant (above) west to Victoria, B.C., this weekend to cover the senior lacrosse series between Peterborough Trailermen and Victoria Shamrocks for the Mann Cup. He will wire back full accounts of all games in the best-of-seven Canadian final playoffs, and will also take camera action shots of the defending champions and the western winners during the series. Don has had five years of experience covering various sports for The Examiner and was their photographer at the big series in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens last year.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Don Grant will cover the Mann Cup series for us, starting next Monday night, at The Examiner's expense. He will fly out with the Petes' Trailermen on Saturday and wire back on-the-spot stories of the best-of-seven Canadian lacrosse finals. Don has been on the staff for five years and has covered a wide variety of sports as well as news stories as a sportswriter, reporter and photographer. He will also send back action pictures of the series by air mail to give our readers full coverage. The Mann Cup series of '51 in Vancouver was covered too by The Examiner, as was the east-west grid final in Winnipeg last year. The series this fall is in Victoria.

Petes' puck followers will be pleased to know that the OHA senior "B" club here has been busy rebuilding in the off season, and should ice a strong contender in the 1953-54 campaign. They had rather indifferent success for several seasons, but folks can look for a real potent ice pack this winter. Four or five newcomers to the squad, plus the pick of last year's Petes and ex-Eagles. We should have something on the new players shortly, but do know now that a couple of chaps who took up residence here the past summer—Don Bark and Denny Peterson— will be trying for spots. No positions assured this year as everyone must earn his place. Drills start as soon as ice is available in Civic Arena.

Petes' New Puck Coach

Club prexy Ed O'Toole announced the other day that they had secured Eddie Redmond as playing coach. He's a big defenceman with a lot of AHL and senior "A" experience Hails from Kirkland Lake and he begins work here next week, moving in with his wife and two children. He may bring along a couple of more prospects for the team. Jim Ellis, who hadn't sufficient time for the piloting chore this winter, will aid Eddie in getting started and also continue to act on the Petes' executive. Kingston won senior "B" group honors last spring and went on to take the OHA senior "B" title. They'll find the bolstered TPT Petes much stronger onions this coming campaign.

* * * * * *

Lorne Cook of Kingston convened a senior "B" hockey group meeting here last e'en and 23 attended, including OHA first vice-prexy Frank Buckland. Five clubs entered: Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Orillia and Peterborough, and Stouffville was undecided. As they draw most of their players from Toronto, they preferred a Toronto setup but will enter this group if they don't get into a Toronto loop. That may be decided at a meeting tonight in Toronto. Clubs voted for a 40-game schedule, opening late in October. To aid clubs not drawing so well, each team kicks in 10 per cent. of gates to a pool, to be divided up later. On a 3-2 vote, 'twas agreed to have two refs at each game instead of a ref and linesman. Petes and Oshawa were defeated on this. Jim Ellis represented the Petes at the meeting, and Reg. Walton was one of the Kingston delegates. Walt Gerow of Belleville sat in, too.

Those Penalties Hurt

It was 7-0 for Orfuns over Cobourg Ghosts here last night in an impressive ORFU win, their second in two starts of the young grid season. First loss for Cobourg, pretty much a Toronto team under Art West. Actually, Orfuns should have had a couple of touchdowns instead of single points as they were rolling strongly deep in enemy territory when hefty yardage penalties shot them back. They drew more of the penalties in rugged play, had a good margin on first downs through a strong ground attack, and were about even on passing and kicking. The Ghosts' front wall didn't impress too much, whereas the local line was good. Our scatbacks, also, kept play driving well into the Cobourg zone much of the way in a tidy tilt before a good gallery.

* * * * * *

Bill Huntley and Blair Thomson were main ground-gainers for Tony Kotowski's team, with the former accounting for four points. Clive Naismith, a speedy smart end who can take a pass or tackle equally well, had two rouges. Don Bark got the other point and he kicked a fine game. Whole crew clicked well to indicate they'll be tough to stop in the group race, though both Oshawa and Cobourg may give 'em trouble ere schedule's end. Don't know yet about the Toronto Marauders. They're here Friday night at nine in Morrow Park in loop play, it being Toronto's "home" game as they haven't grounds yet. So, local booster ducats won't be honored at this fray. Vince Ford, who came up from the States and missed out with Argos, coaches the Marauders. They have a dozen Negro players aboard.

Off The Old Grapevine

We hear that 14-year-old Larry Lonsberry of Warsaw— defence star for the local bantam puckists last winter — will play junior "B" for St. Mike's this season; he leaves Tuesday to register....G. Gillespie had high single of 323 in the Major Bowling League...Belleville and Foresters clash at six tonight in the Bowl to settle their OASA intermediate "AA" series... Fastball final is tonight at six at Quaker Park betwixt Mt. Plesaant and Marines. Foresters and Postmen won Civic Loop tilts last p.m., and playoffs start Monday....Tough luck on our bantam baseballers, who lost their series to Oshawa, last game being an 8-3 one. Belleville and Cardinals are even now in OBA junior playdowns. In soccer, Merchants meet Belleville here Saturday, Scots go to Port Hope, and UEW travels to Kingston. UEW took the PMLA bantam lacrosse title. Other PMLA info is in this eve...Bob Hall last night presented pro yardsticks and downs box to Orfuns... But enough for now.

Ottawa's Trice MV Pitcher, Best IL Rookie

MONTREAL (CP)—Robert Lee Trice, Philadelphia-bound Ottawa righthander, today gained double distinction by winning the International Baseball League's most valuable pitcher award as well as being voted rookie of the year for 1953.

Vic Wall of the Springfield Union, president of the circuit's Baseball Writers' Association, announced the choice today through International League headquarters here.

Trice, with a 21-10 ound record, was first choice with 23 of 27 sports writers in the eight cities with International teams.

The 25-year-old Negro ran up a total of 211 points while Tom LaSorda, Montreal southpaw, was second with 162. Milt Jordan, Buffalo, was third with 145.

For rookie honors, Trice received 10 of 25 votes to top Tom Burgess, a London, Ont., player with Rochester, who got six votes.

Others to attract votes were Sandy Amoros, Cuban outfielder with Montreal who is currently leading the loop's batting race, and Walt Derucki, Springfield infielder, with three votes apiece.

Trice, one-time steelworker from Weirton, W. Va., was born in Newton, Ga. He stands 6 feet, 3 inches and weighs 190 pounds. He broke into pro ball as a third baseman with Homestead Grays of the Negro National League in 1948 and became a pitcher only in 1951 when he joined Farnham, Que., of the class C Provincial League as an infielder-outfielder-pitcher.

In 1952, he joined the Philadelphia Athletics farm club, St. Hyacinthe, in the same loop, going to Ottawa this year.

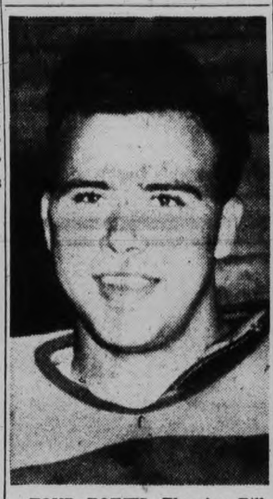
In 230 innings with the A's this year, he has issued only 83 walks. A long ball hitter, he appeared in 26 pinch-hitting rolls and had 25 hits, including four home runs and five doubles.

Trice joins the parent Philadelphia A's Friday and will pitch his first American League game against St. Louis Browns Sunday.

Gonsalves Strengthens Contender's Position

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Clever Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland strengthened his position as No. 1 contender for the lightweight title Wednesday night when he scored a 10-round unanimous decision over Henry Davis of Los Angeles in a furious bout at the Oakland Auditorium. Gonsalves weighed 136, Davis 137.

Gonsalves, a master boxer, piled up points with his stiff left jab and jolting right to the chin. Davis, game and willing, found Gonsalves an elusive target all the way. Davis staggered Gonsalves in the final round with two lefts to the jaw but the rally was too late.



FOUR POINTS—Plunging Bill Huntley continued his fine offensive work for Orfuns here last night as he ripped the Cobourg line repeatedly, and accounted for four points on a field goal and deadline kick with Orfuns winning out 7-0 over the Ghosts.

Grid Orfuns Win Another Downing Cobourg, 7-0 To Grab Top Spot In Group

Peterborough Orfuns downed Cobourg Galloping Ghosts 7-0 before a big football crowd here last night under the lights to take undisputed possession of first place in their ORFU intermediate "A" group standing. It was their second win in as many starts and Cobourg's first reverse in two tussles. Last year's Eastern Canada champions looked the better all the way in the low-scoring game. Tony Kotowski's team stuck mainly to a steady ground attack to rack up a lot of first downs, but penalties at crucial spots kept them from counting a major score. They led 1-0 in the first quarter, 4-0 at the half and 5-0 going into the fourth.

GROUND ATTACK

While Jim Milligan completed several passes—one a real important one—Orfuns didn't stress a passing attack. Led by Bill Huntley and Blair Thomson mainly, with Bus Jensen and Bev Groves helping at times, also, they kept tearing through and around the Ghosts' line (a team made up largely of Toronto players) to have a big edge on territorial play. But it was a rugged encounter and penalties hurt both sides frequently, with the winners being guilty most often as the referee reeled off yardage against them.

Don Bark started off behind his rival hoofer, Larue, but got better distance than the Cobourg hoofer through the second half, kicking some fine ones. Three intercepted forward passes by Floyd Ouellette and one by Huntley also proved a big help in stopping dangerous drives by the visitors. Joe Berthelot and Jack McIntyre did some deadly tackling, while Holman, Beatty and Giardino each inflicted losses on Ghosts with sharp tackles. Thomson, Jensen and Jerry McGillis featured with fine runbacks.

BEST FOR GHOSTS

Alexander and Reeves proved the best ground-gainers for the losers, Taylor also throwing some good forward passes, though not too many were completed as they got away from potential receivers. Then, too, the Orfuns' pass defence was clicking well. Harrison also threw a few passes, and Larue kicked a steady game. The visitors' backfield looked good, but their front line didn't match that of Peterborough offensively or defensively. Huntley and Thomson ripped through regularly on great thrusts.

Ouellette's pass interception set up the first point at the end of the first quarter, Don Bark kicking a single. Again in the second quarter, Oullette intercepted, and after bucks by Huntley, Fowler and Thomson, Huntley kicked a placement. Cobourg lost on downs at centre in the third, Blair bucked nine and then Bark's long kick resulted in Clive Naismith getting through fast to rouge Jim Irivne. In the fourth, an Orfuns' drive was halted and Bill Huntley, trying for a field goal, kicked to deadline for a point. They wound it up later on a hefty hoof by Bark, with Naismith again getting down for a deadly tackle on Irvine to rouge him and end the scoring.

The official kickoff to open the home season was by D. A. McGillis, with Dr. Roger Chenoweth holding the ball. A minute's silence then was observed for the late Earl Spencley, former Orfuns' player.

Cleveland Wins 20 Of 23; Trails Yanks By Nine Games

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Lo, those poor Indians! They kep winning and winning and where do they wind up? In second place. Twenty victories in the last 23 games is Cleveland's record during the last three weeks, but with the season's end a little over two weeks away they trail the pennant bound New York Yankees by nine games.

That's the way it was last year, too late and too little. The Indians won 18 of their last 21 games—and wound up losing a half-game to the Yankees.

The Yankees need only a combination of nine victories and Cleveland losses to clinch their record-breaking fifth straight championship following Wednesday night's 9-3 victory over Chicago White Sox. The Indians boosted their second-place margin to four games over the White Sox, edging Boston Red Sox 2-1.

DODGERS BLANK REDS

Brooklyn's National League-leading Dodgers reduced their "magic number" for mathematical elimination of Milwaukee to two, shutting out Cincinnati Redlegs 6-0 while Philadelphia was blanking the Braves 2-0. New York Giants dropped St. Louis Cardinals into a tie for third place, defeating them 8-3. Chicago Cubs won their sixth straight, defeating Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7 on Ralph Kiner's 31st home run with two aboard in the ninth.

The two twi-night doubleheaders in the American League ended in splits. Mickey Vernon's double scored Eddie Yost in the 12th inning to give Washington a 2-1 victory over St. Louis Browns after rookie Don Larsen had pitched the Browns to a 2-0 triumph in the opener.

A'S BEAT TIGERS

Marion Fricano hurled a four-hitter and Pete Suder batted in three runs with a triple and homer to give Philadelphia Athletics a 7-1 victory over Ralph Branca had pitched the Tigers to an 8-2 opening-game triumph. Home runs by Jim Delsing, Johnny Bucha and Steve Souchock helped Branca to his fourth victory.

Al Rosen's 40th homer was the big blow in the Indians' success. The slugging third baseman connected with a man on base in the eighth inning to enable Mike Garcia to gain the decision over Bill Henry. Garcia blanked Ted Williams for the first time since the slugger started in left field for the Red Sox. Ted had hit safely in 15 previous games.

Billy Pierce tried to become the first pitcher since Walter Johnson in 1908 to blank the Yankees three times in succession and failed—just as 12 others did before him.

The White Sox southpaw allowed seven hits and seven runs before he was mercifully removed from the mound—without getting a single batter out in the fifth. Mickey Mantle's homer highlighted the rout. Whitey Ford hurled a five-hitter for his 17th triumph.

TWO MORE HOMERS

Brooklyn's slugging crew slammed two more home runs, Nos. 193 and 194. Pee Wee Reese hit a grand slammer and Duke Snider cracked his 38th. Bob Milliken, replacing the injured Johnny Podres with two out and two on in the first, pitched hitless and runless ball for 8 1-3 innings to gain his seventh victory. The rookie right-hander walked one batter and retired 25 of the 26 men he faced.

Warren Spahn hooked up in a scoreless duel with Philadelphia's Bob Miller, but weakened in the ninth when Stan Lopata crashed a home run with one on to decide the battle. Miller had a three-hitter.

Don Mueller cracked four hits and Bobby Hoffman batted in four runs to help the Giants' Dave Koslo gain the decision over the Cards' Gerry Staley.

Footballer Dies Of Game Injury

OTTAWA (CP)—Jim Ambrose, 23-year-old tackle with Montreal Lakeshore Flyers, who was injured in a football game here Monday, died in Ottawa Civic Hospital early today.

The husky Montreal player was injured at Lansdowne Park here in a Quebec Rugby Football Union intermediate game between Ottawa Seconds and the Flyers which Ottawa won 13-6.

It is believed there will be an autopsy to determine the cause of death and that an inquest will follow.

It was reported that Ambrose was first injured Sunday in a game in Montreal between the two teams. However, he played in Monday's game and was taken out in the third quarter.

He was taken to hospital Monday evening and was placed under the care of the Ottawa Seconds' club physician, Dr. K. Drummond.

Batting—Al Rosen, Indians, hammered his 40th home run with a man on base in the eighth inning to give Cleveland a 2-1 triumph over Boston Red Sox.

Pitching—Bob Milliken, Dodgers, relieved the injured Johnny Podres with two on and two out in the first inning and pitched hitless ball the remainder of the way as the Dodgers blanked Cincinnati Reds 6-0.

Red Wings Clinch 12th IL Flag Beat Chiefs 2-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Red Wings clinched their 12th International League pennant and Buffalo righthander Frank Lary hurled a no-hit shutout to highlight play in the triple A loop Wednesday night.

The Wings took the flag with their 16th straight victory—a 6-1 triumph over Syracuse Chiefs—coupled with Montreal's 5-0 loss to Toronto Maple Leafs.

Rochester last won the pennant in 1950. Wednesday night's victory, Rochester's 27th in the last 29 games, gave the Wings a seven-game bulge over the Royals. Each club has six games to play.

Allie Clark rapped a pair of home runs for the Birds. Carl Moon also powered a homer and playing-manager Harry (The Hat) Walker collected four hits in as many trips to the plate.

NO-HITTER

Lary's no-hitter came in the seven-inning opener of a double-header at Ottawa, which the Bisons swept from the A's. The 23-year-old rookie blanked the home team 5-0, fanning three and walking four in collecting his 17th win against 10 losses. His masterpiece was the fourth in the league this season.

Team-mate Paul Foytack had a no-hitter going up until the seventh of the nine-inning second game when the A's jumped him for two hits. Buffalo took it 6-4.

Bobo Holloman, Toronto's big righthander who early this season tossed a no-hitter for St. Louis Browns of the American League, held the Royals to three hits. He fanned only three and gave up six walks, but his infield came through with four double plays. Bob Addis belted his seventh homer of the season in the eighth for the Leafs with a mate aboard and drove in another run in the fourth.

Baltimore Orioles edged Springfield Cubs 4-3 on Jack Mayo's single in the 12th with two aboard.

Buffalo can move into second position tonight ahead of the Royals—who hold a slim half-game lead. Toronto is 3½ games behind the fourth-place Orioles and still has a mathematical chance for that last playoff position.

Waterloo Faces Decisive Series With London

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors and Waterloo Tigers play a decisive game tonight.

The teams are tied 4-4 in the best-of-nine semi-final series of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League following Wednesday night's 4-3 victory for London. Waterloo will be on its home ground for the final game.

The winner of the London-Waterloo match will play either Brantford Red Sox or Kitchener Panthers. The Panthers staved off elimination Wednesday night by downing the sox 3-2. The Sox, however, lead the series 4-3.

The Majors scored two runs in the last two innings, the winning one coming from a double into left field by Jack Kinney, scoring Russ Evop from second base.

Kinney's hit broke up a tight hurling duel between London's Bill Best and Waterloo's Hank Biasatti. Best, who blanked the Tigers in two previous playoff starts, gave them only nine hits and struck out six. He picked up two himself at the plate.

HIT FOR 14

Biasatti relieved starter George Yorke in the first inning and was nicked for 14 hits. The Tigers scored their three runs in the first inning on three hits, including a homer by Freddy Thomas with two on. Best allowed them only six hits the rest of the way.

Kitchener used four pitchers. Cy Bricker started and looked good for six innings, but collapsed in the seventh when the Sox rallied for both their runs to tie the game 2-2. Three straight hits by Jim Wilkes, Stan Lipka and Ed Finney and two Panther errors gave them the runs. Bill Allen came in to face one man and then gave way to Chuck Fedoris.

Panthers scored a run in the fifth on Kvasnak's hit to left, a sacrifice by Psutka and three straight walks. Alf Gavey came on to finish and was the loser.

Boniface scored Kitchener's second run in the sixth when he walked and went the rest of the way on Dick Welker's double. The winning run was notched in the ninth.

Last Tuesday evening a skunk hunt was organized by six of the golf members to rid the course of these perfumed pests. Despite the mechanization of the striking force, the skunks suffered no casualties.

This Saturday the Midland League play is at Oshawa. This is the final of the tournament and a good local turnout is expected.

On Saturday, Sept. 19, the Tombstone Trophy competition is on and the committee is working hard. A fine trophy for the winner with other prizes for this last club competition.

This Sunday, the city championship will be played for the J. E. Girven Trophy between Les Reid and Bill Moulton at the Peterborough Club. They start the 36-hole match at nine a.m.

LADIES' SECTION

In the ladies' section the competition for 18-hole players this week was low gross and was won by Mrs. S. Williamson, the spoon going to Mrs. F. J. Hall. Low net was won by Mrs. J. Callaghan, second low net by Mrs. H. Bletcher and third tied by Mrs. C. Campbell and Mrs. S. Pearson.

In the 9-hole division, Miss Susan Graham took low gross and low net and the competition was won by Mrs. C. L. Upper.

Ten couples from the club are playing in the district two-ball foursome on Thursday of this week at Port Hope.

Finals of the club championship were played this week by Mrs. S. Williamson and Mrs. H. Baptie and turned out to be an exciting match which went to the 19th hole where Mrs. Williamson won the decision. Second flight of the championship, Morrow Tray final round was also played by Mrs. V. Selkirk and Mrs. H. Bletcher, the tray going to Mrs. Selkirk.

Other trophies played off in recent weeks, Aylmer-Hill, won by Mrs. Williamson, runner-up Mrs. F. Hollowell; Strickland Trophy won by Mrs. H. Baptie, runner-up Mrs. S. Williamson; H. A. Morrow Trophy, Mrs. S. Williamson, runner-up Mrs. C. Campbell.

The field day for the 18-hole ladies, player vs. par, was won by Mrs. H. Baptie, who also took low gross and net. The spoon went to Mrs. J. Callaghan, who tied with Mrs. C. R. Stacey for second net. In the 9-hole section, Mrs. C. L. Upper won low gross and tied with Mrs. Howson for low net. The competition was won by Mrs. E. Sheedy.

Lions Blank Tiger-Cats 15-0 In Jr. Big Four

HAMILTON (CP) — A hard-charging wingline and alert signal calling by quarterback Frank Chew paved the way Wednesday night for a 15-0 win for Toronto Parkdale Lions over Hamilton Junior Tiger-Cats in the Junior Big Four Football League.

Chew kicked four singles and threw two touchdown passes to Paul Zin and Barney Stratton for 14 of the winners' total. Fullback Tommy Urowitz scored the other point with a convert.

Singles Drawing Starts Play In Zone Finals

MONTREAL (CP)—Laird Watt of Montreal and Lawrence Baker of Washington, non-playing captains of the Canadian and United States Davis Cup tennis teams, draw today to decide opponents for the opening singles matches of the North American zone finals.

The series will be played at the Mount Royal Tennis Club Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

If selections run true to form, the names of Lorne Main of Toronto and Henri Rochon of Montreal will go into the hat for Canada. The U.S. is expected to put forward the two top players—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati—for Friday's matches.

MAIN VS. SEIXAS

The Canadians would probably like to see Main paired off with Seixas and Rochon with Trabert. Main, a two-handed player, has been polishing his volleying throughout the season, and would, they feel, be better able to meet the Wimbledon champion, an aggressive net player, on his own ground.

Rochon, a veteran of eight years on the Canadian team, took one set from Trabert when they met at Forest Hills, N.Y., in 1951, before the Cincinnati player entered the U.S. Navy.

A left-handed player, he depends heavily on drop shots and slices, calculated to slow down and confuse the hard-hitting American. But he won't have an easy time breaking through Trabert's powerful service, if he comes up against the tall American.

TOUGH OPPOSITION

Trabert, who beat Main in the U.S.-Canada Davis Cup matches in 1951, has the reputation of being a good all-round player, not easily disturbed by an opponent's style. He recently defeated Seixas in the finals of the U.S. national championships.

Bernard Bartzen of San Angelino, Tex., and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., are the other two members of the team.

Under the watchful eye of Watt, Rochon and Paul Willey of Vancouver paired off Wednesday morning, while Main took on Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., in the afternoon. Later, Main and Willey opposed the two Quebec players in a doubles match.

Willey, who made his debut this year in international tennis, is a hard hitter, but still inclined to be erratic. Bedard, a powerful player on his forehand, has until recently been weak in volleying and on his backhand.

Canada faces its toughest assignment in taking on the Americans. The Canadian team has already disposed of Mexico 3-2 and Cuba 3-2 to reach the zone finals. But the Americans, out to regain the Davis Cup they lost to Australia in 1950, are a team of a different calibre.

Argos Drop Moorhead To Hit Import Limit

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts Wednesday released Bobby Moorhead, leaving the Scullers one under the limit of 11 imports.

Georgia Tech's All-American defensive back will be drafted into the United States Army later this month.

Coach Frank Clair said: "I know Bobby's a fine defensive player and I hate to let him go. But we just have to have some one who can fit in offensively too."

INGERSOLL OUT

PETROLIA (CP)—Petrolia Ramsays eliminated Ingersoll from the making a clean sweep of the best-of-three series with their second win here Wednesday 8-2.

ROY CAMPANELLA of the Dodgers holds the weapons of his trade just before the game at Polo Grounds, Sept. 6th. Campanella equalled the home run mark for catchers and then bettered the record when he smashed out his 38th homer of the season. Then again he bettered his own mark with his 39th homer and at the same time set a new record for catchers in the Runs Batted In Department. Campy's 39th homer brought home three runs to make his season's toal 136 and better Bill Dickey's old mark for catchers of 133. Dickey's mark was set in 1937.

Thirty Boats Wait Signal To Start 10th Tuna Contest

WEDGEPORT, N. S. (CP)—Thirty boats were ready to head seaward at dawn today with deep sea anglers of a dozen nationalities here for the opening of the 10th international tuna tournament.

Wiry Acadian guides made last minute checks of equipment on their high-prowed boats before sailing for Soldiers' Rip, world's best fishing hole for the battling bluefins.

At stake for the 10 teams from 13 countries is the Sharp Trophy, emblematic of supremacy in this three-day world series of big fish angling.

20 TROLL RIP

Twenty boats, two from each team, were to troll the turbulent Rip and the others Lobster bay, at the mouth of nearby Tusket river. The bay was successfully tried for the first time last year when fishing was poor on the Rip.

Both places are being fished because of an Atlantic hurricane that postponed the tournament one day by brewing heavy seas that churned the Rip into angry white-capped waters and a swirling mess of seaweed torn from the bottom 12 fathoms down.

Schools of herring and mackerel on which the tuna feed left the Rip when the storm struck. The tuna followed them to cleaner water at sea. Guides here believe the fish leave because sand gets in their gills.

LANDS 555-POUNDER

Al Whisnant, Jr., of New York, United States team member, proved Wednesday that at least one of the bluefins had come back to its old feeding grounds by landing a 555-pounder on the Rip in 50 minutes. He used a mackerel trolled deep on standard 39 thread line.

Anglers may use any style of rod.

Competing are teams from Brazil, Cuba, Mexico, Venezuela, Chile The Netherlands, the United States, the British Commonwealth, France and Argentina. The Commonwealth team has members from England, Bermuda, South Africa and Canada.

Canada is represented by Cmdr. Duncan Hodgson of Montreal, and Don Henley of Toronto. Hodgson, son-in-law of J. K. L. Ross, one of the pioneers of tuna angling in Nova Scotia waters, holds the world's record with the 977-pounder he landed by rod and reel in 1950 at St. Anns Bay on Cape Breton island.

Scoring is on a point basis for each pound. There are bonuses for the biggest and most fish of the day and the match.

Lawyers Favor Legal Status Labor Unions

QUEBEC — Two motions QUEBEC — Two motions aimed at defining the rights and responsibilities of labor unions, were pushed through a section meeting of the Canadian Bar Association Wednesday. The motions will have to be approved by the CBA's executive council and by the full membership before final adoption.

After a hot argument the lawyers favored a compulsory, 48-hour notice period by unions intending to strike and also approved asking for legislation in all provinces declaring unions to be legal entities. Unions cannot sue or be sued, except through the naming of individual members.

Both contentious motions were debated at some length. Before the legal entity question was voted on, a word of warning was expressed by T. D. McCormick of Calgary, who urged that the members give the matter further study.

"We're not thought to be friends of labor," Mr. McCormick said. "If we pass this motion, then labor will think the Canadian Bar Association is in favor of unions being allowed to sue or be sued, and that we are anti-labor. We should think of what the newspaper headlines will say."

UNION ENTITY

The union entity problem was raised by E. Neil McKelvey of Saint John, who read a report from the New Brunswick sub-section on labor relations favoring legislation that would provide:

that unions may sue and be sued as entities;

That a union should be held liable for acts of its members in violation of a contract entered into by the union, and for torts (wrongful acts) committed by its members or agents while engaged in union activity;

For recovery of damages against a union be restricted to recovery from union funds in the same manner as damages may be recovered against a corporation.

The section meeting, under the chairmanship of M. M. Mcfarlane of Vancouver, finally adopted this motion: That unions should be legal entities and that the industrial labor relations section be asked to consider how labor's rights and responsibilities may be made effective.

'Let's go easy," urged P. M. Draper of Montreal, former chairman of the Ontario Labor Relations Board. He did not feel that passage of such a motion would help settle labor relations. "We're only a section of the Bar Association; the unions may think the Bar Association wants them to be sued."

John H. Osler, Toronto labor lawyer, said he "recognized that the day is coming, if it is not already here when the responsibility must be attached in some way perhaps I don't tell my clients that in just that way, but I warn them."

It was Mr. Osler who finally suggested a compromise motion, that "unions should be responsible entities at law" and that further study be given the matter. This was finally changed upon urging by company lawyers headed by Norman L. Mathews of Toronto.

Mr. McKelvie thought there was no valid reason why unions should be sued, or be able to sue. He said it was difficult to prove that an illegal act has been done by an authorized person in a union.

"Union leaders may have told their men to obey and then the men disobey," he said. "But unions should have to assume responsibilities for wrongful acts."

PENALTY CLAUSE

Mr. Osler favored collective agreements containing penalties for infractions but some one asked: "But how can companies collect?"

"There is resentment among unions against legislatic restrictions," said Mr. Osler during discussion of the 48-hour notice period. "Delay is the red flag in this motion." He suggested that "tempers would get hot" if there was a further delay.

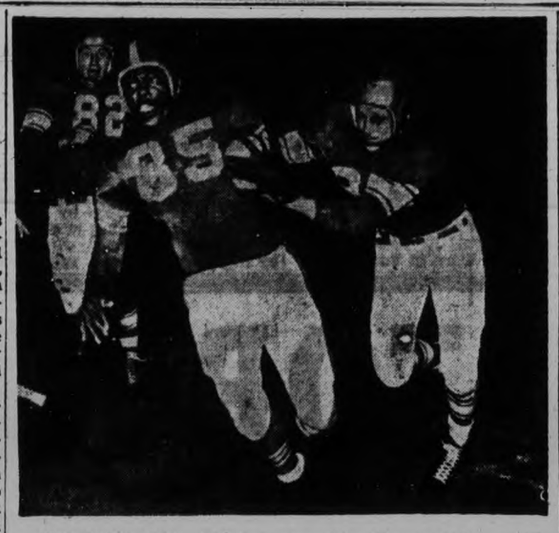
Ross Dunn of Toronto thought the motion "doesn't mean a thing." He said that if union members "are going to walk out they will do it anyway."

"If the employer is going to be able to use the 48 hours to recruit new labor it would inflame the situation," Mr. Draper maintained.

The motion was finally carried on a 17-6 vote. Discussion of another suggestion that there be a two-months' time lapse after which a strike could not be called was put over to the CBA's mid-winter meeting.

FIRST CHESS

Chess developed from a game first played in India before the fifth century AD.



ESKIMOS WIN—Hard-running John Henry (35), tower of strength for Calgary Stampeders, was cut short by an unidentified Edmonton Eskimo player when the Cowboys bowed 18-6 to Edmonton in a Western Interprovincial league game. Fullback Mike King (32), of Edmonton, moved in to make sure Johnson stayed put.

Foresters To Play Final Game Here

The Foresters softball club take on Belleville Northern Electrics for the third and final game of the intermediate "AA" series, the winners advancing to the finals meeting the western group in the OASA.

The Foresters took the opener 5-4 in a hard-fought game. Belleville had an easy victory down in Belleville, 15-2. Manager Art Reynolds thinks likely the heat had some bearing on the game, plus the long trip, the weather being 95 that day. In the early stage of the second contest catcher Ron. Tyndall had to be taken out of the game with an injury. He was replaced by Harold Jones who finished the game with with an injured finger, being broken in an earlier game. With the exception of Jones, all players are in good condition and are ready to start. The Foresters have had several workouts and have confidence that they can take this series with a win tonight here.

Game time is at six. The Belleville team did not want a late game under the lights, and under the OASA rulings the third game does not have to be played under lights.

Meadow Pace Wins Fox Stake For Pacers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Meadow Pace defeated Excellent Chief by four lengths in a raceoff Wednesday to win the Fox Stake for two-year-old pacers at the Indiana State Fair.

The $40,737.40 race was the richest feature of the five-day grand circuit program. The winner's cheque of $18,749.37 was three-fourths of the $25,000 Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif., paid for Meadow Pace as a Yearling.

Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, N.S., was the driver.

Edmonton Flyers Trek To Soo Training Camp

EDMONTON (CP)—The trek to training camp for Edmonton Flyers, champions of the Western Hockey League, is under way.

Coach Bud Poile left for the camp at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Wednesday.

Ray Hannigan, purchased outright from Chicago after a year at Edmonton on loan, is also expected to be an early arrival.

Flyers Jack MacDonald, Hugh Coflin, Len Haley and Jimmy Anderson are expected to fly to Sault Ste. Marie Saturday.

Yanofsky Undefeated After 4th Chess Round

WINNIPEG (CP)—Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg Wednesday remained undefeated after the fourth round of the Canadian championship chess tournament.

Two games of the four in the round were completed. The others were deferred until today.

Yanofsky beat Jack Taylor of Vancouver in 38 moves while Ross Siemms of Toronto defeated Tauno Saila of Vancouver in 48 moves. Siemms has two points.

Minor Lacrosse

The final bantam standing in the Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association:

In semi-finals, Parkway edged Legion 10-9, and UE beat Neill's 7-5. The finals saw UEW defeat Parkway 14-10 for the city title. The winning players were: T. Rankin, R. Grant, B. Heard, D. Rendall, J. Davis, C. Outwater, M. Cain, B. Burns, J. Cromie, D. Gaudry and R. Conners. The bantam all-stars are drilling to prepare for OLA playdowns.

The OLA juvenile "A" playdowns resume here this Friday night at Miller Bowl, the local team practising tonight. St. Catharines won the first of the home-and-home series 18-4.

The midget all-stars have been picked for OLA playdowns and await word on their first series.

Bob Allen's all-star peewees are also preparing for the peewee playoff tournament.

Civic Softball Loop

Foresters and Postmen emerged victorious in the final games of the regular men's Civic Loop softball schedule Wednesday night, at the East City Bowl, as they trimmed Fairviews and Sunshine Dairy by scores of 9-1 and 9-0 respectively.

As a result of Postmen's win a sixth place tie results in the final standing with the Mailmen and Fairviews; and this will be decided in one sudden-death game Friday night at seven p.m.

Foresters play their deciding game in the OASA intermediate "AA" series Thursday night (tonight) at the Bowl at 6 p.m. Belleville will furnish the opposition. Each team has won a game, so the winner tonight will advance further in OASA playdowns.

Civic playoffs begin Monday with a double bill.

Here And There In Sports

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

SEEK HOME FOR BROWNS

CHICAGO (CP)—A special committee of the American League will meet here probably next week to choose a new home for St. Louis Browns baseball club.

Toronto, Montreal and five United States cities have been mentioned as possible sites for the club's operations. The U.S. cities are Baltimore, Houston, Kansas City and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The seven cities were named by Browns' manager Bill Veeck. He told a Los Angeles sports writer that they had asked him to state their offers to the special league committee.

League president Will Harridge, however, said Veeck did not mention specific cities interested in getting the Browns' franchise.

The committee is composed of Chuck Comiskey of the White Sox, Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox, W. O. Briggs of the Tigers and Dan Topping of the Yankees.

"The four of us will analyze Veeck's data and determine whether interested cities are financially able to accept a major league franchise," said Comiskey.

DUTCHMEN BUY PAIR

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series announced Wednesday the purchase of centre Jack Taylor and defence man Bud Kemp from Brantford Redmen. They also said defence man Howie Lee has signed his 1953-54 contract.

✦ ✦ ✦

TRAFTON FINED AGAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Coach George Trafton of Winnipeg Blue Bombers Wednesday was assessed his second fine in the 1953 Western Interprovincial Football Union schedule.

League commissioner G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg announced that a $50 fine had been imposed on Trafton for directing abusive language at the time keeper when the Bombers played in Regina against Saskatchewan Roughriders on Labor Day.

Earlier this season Trafton was fined $25 for publicly criticizing game officials.

✦ ✦ ✦

NICHOLSON TO QUIT

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The major league baseball career of big Bill Nicholson, slugging Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder who made a comeback after a diabetes attack in 1950, will end this season, Nicholson said Wednesday.

Nicholson was a valuable pinch hitter and relief outfielder during the 1950 campaign when the Whiz Kids captured the National League pennant. He suffered a serious attack of diabetes a month before the campaign ended and missed the World Series.

✦ ✦ ✦

CUBS BUY ELSTON

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Cubs announced Wednesday the purchase of Don Elston, 24-year-old right handed pitcher, from their Springfield, Mass., farm team of the International League. Elston will report to the Cubs here during the week-end. He has pitched 18 complete games thus far to lead all International League pitchers in this department.

Max Bentley Reports To NY Rangers' Camp

SASKATOON (CP)—Max Bentley, New York Rangers centre obtained from Toronto Maple Leafs, reported to Rangers' training camp Wednesday to bone up for the National Hockey League season.

Frank Boucher, general manager, said Max looked as though "he had been skating with Rangers from the start."

"He'll be a big help to our team. We needed strength down the centre."

Weslock Wins Trophy In OGA Fall Tourney

HAMILTON (CP)—Nick Weslock of Windsor Essex paced a field of 150 Wednesday in the Ontario Golf Association fall tournament at Ancaster to capture the Birks Trophy with an even par 70.

Weslock posted a 34 and 36, coming home one up on Bruce Dorman of Chedoke. Johnson McCormack of Lakeview, Gerry Keselring and Gordon Ball of Kitchener Rockway, tied in third position with 73.

McCormack won low net honors with 68.

Accident Leads to Conviction Of Drunk Driver

An accident which sent one to the hospital and caused damages of over $2,300 resulted in a conviction on a charge of drunk driving against Lloyd Greenley, 33, of 293 Caddy St., Wednesday in magistrate's court.

Greenley was sentenced to seven days in jail while his driver's licence was suspended. He had pleaded not guilty on the charge, laid as a result of an accident June 27 at Otonabee St. and Armour Rd.

Three police officers and the driver of the second car involved, Ronald W. Bunting of Toronto, appeared to testify on behalf of the crown.

PC William G. Scott who investigated the crash described how he found Greenley's truck on the north shoulder of Otonabee St., facing east, just west of Armour Rd. Bunting's car was at right angles to Otonabee, facing north across the north lane of the highway.

DAMAGES HEAVY

The right side of the truck was damaged to the extent of $750 while Bunting's late model high-priced car sustained damages of $1,600 to the body and frame.

Upon arrival at the scene, he discovered Greenley in a "drunken" condition and described his walk as unsteady, his speech as incoherent, his eyes as bloodshot and his breath as smelling of alcohol.

The accused had to be placed in the police cruiser three times before he stayed there.

Both PC Bert Howden and Sgt. Claire McGillen described similar symptoms of intoxication.

Bunting testified he had been driving west into Peterborough from 30 to 35 miles an hour when he saw the truck turning in front of him without signalling. After the crash, his wife had to be taken to the hospital for treatment of cuts she received.

When Greenley got out of his truck, he stood beside the door and "swayed there with a very stupid look on his face."

Describing events before the accident, Greenley said he visited the Empress Hotel at noon, consumed three beers, had dinner, went shopping and returned later in the afternoon when he consumed "two or three" more. He started to drive home and was turning left when Bunting's fast-moving car struck him.

He attributed his seeming condition to the injury he received when his head struck and broke the car's windshield with the impact.

In spite of the defendant's evidence, however, Magistrate W. R. Philp found him guilty and imposed the penalty.

CELEBRATING THEIR GOLDEN wedding anniversary on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. James McKinnon are pictured at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Staples, Lakefield, on Sunday. The pre-anniversary get-together was for the immediate family and included the presence of their six daughters. Open house was held at the McKinnon home, Bethany, on Wednesday. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Mr. And Mrs. J. McKinnon Celebrate Anniversary

BETHANY (ENS)—Fifty years of married life were celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. James McKinnon on Wednesday.

The wedding ceremony of fifty years ago was a quiet one and took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Ingersoll. Mrs. Smith, now aged 98, is still living. The Rev. J. Hutt officiated.

Mr. McKinnon was born in Beaverton and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McKinnon, came to Bethany in 1874, purchasing the hotel formerly owned by Francis Hamilton. James continued in business in "The McKinnon House" until, with the coming of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1911-1912, this large building was torn down to accommodate the new railway.

The hotel stood almost where the CPR station is now and contained about 20 rooms. The commercial travellers used to bring their large sample cases there to display their wares for the local stores.

Mrs. McKinnon came to Bethany from Ingersoll to teach in the public school and remarks that she received the then princely sum of $275 a year. A number of her pupils are living in the district.

OWNED GRIST MILL

When the hotel was torn down, the family moved to a farm one mile west of the village, where they lived for five years. They later owned and operated the grist mill at "The Pond", now owned by Allan Gribble. Farmers for miles around brought their grain to be ground into feed and Mr. McKinnon worked long hours to satisfy his customers.

Sixteen years ago they returned to live in the village and for several years Mr. McKinnon was postmaster. Both comment on the busy life they have led: "Perhaps plenty of work and a big family keep you young."

Both are ardent sports fans and seldom miss a ball game. They have two grandsons who play on the local team. Last week when Bethany won the semi-finals from Millbrook, Mr. McKinnon sprinted down the street ahead of the players to hoist the flag at his home in celebration. He is 81 years of age.

Since retirement they have done considerable travelling. A year ago they spent several months in Vancouver, B.C. They travelled by plane to Montreal and this spring spent several weeks with relatives in Cleveland, Ohio.

They are noted for their lovely garden and flowers.

Mrs. McKinnon looks after their attractive home herself and keeps busy at her hobbies of sewing, knitting and fancy needlework. The dress she wore at the reception, a smart model in orchid crepe, was made by herself. Her corsage was of roses.

MANY VISITORS

All afternoon and evening a steady flow of visitors attended their reception. Their family of six girls were all present: Mrs. Cecil McGill (Jean), Mrs. J. Ahren (Muriel), both of Toronto, Mrs. Gerald Staples (Marion), Lakefield, Miss Evelyn McKinnon, Montreal, Mrs. Bruce Ryley (Helen) and Mrs. Vincent Jackson (Francis), both of Bethany. Their only son John died in infancy.

They have nine grandchildren: Mrs. Frank Price (nee Joyce McGill) of Quesnell, B.C., Miss Joan McGill, Peterborough, Miss Sandra Ahren, Toronto, Jeannette and Terrence Staples, Lakefield, Robert Ryley, Harry Ryley, John Jackson and Ronald Jackson, all of Bethany.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon received many cards and telegrams containing the good wishes of their many friends. The gift of their family and relatives was a television set.

The home was decorated with flowers for this occasion. The tea table with lace cloth was centred wtih golden mums and four gold candles. The wedding cake was made by Miss Lottie McKinnon of Camrose, Alta.

Pouring tea were Mrs. William Bailey of Ingersoll, sister of the bride, and Miss Lottie McKinnon, sister of the groom, Mrs. Fred Hathaway, Port Huron, Mrs. David Tuttle, Cleveland, and Mrs. Bruce Ryley.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Effie Morton, Mrs. Wellington Fallis, Mrs. Ross Carr, Miss Hazel White, Mrs. Gerald Staples, Mrs. William Phillips and Mrs. Mansell Wright.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon attended a family reunion at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Staples, Lakefield.

Government Puts Office Workers On 5-Day Week

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Wednesday put the bulk of its office workers on the year-round, five-day week and promised a similar step in the next few months for operating staffs.

The change from the present 5½-day week affects about 60,000 out of the estimated 85,000 office workers employed by the government. There are about 45,000 employed on the operating staffs.

Announcement of the change, made following a cabinet meeting at which the decision was reached, said the five-day week has been so widely adopted by business "that the government must follow suit."

The average 38.2 hours worked weekly by most federal civil servants will remain unchanged. But about 40 minutes will be added to their daily work period.

FOLLOWS PATTERN

The five-day week has been in effect in federal offices in Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver for more than a year. The extension was "in those areas and types of work where it is now the established pattern in private employment."

The Civil Service Federation which represents the bulk of Canadian civil servants said in a statement it receives the government's announcement "with some satisfaction."

The statement continued:

"We must, however, express disappointment that the government is not yet persuaded to consider favorably the granting of the five-day week to all civil servants."

A five-day week has been the subject of requests by various civil service associations for many years.

The five-day week is being extended to a number of communities, including these in Ontario:

Ottawa, Kingston, Oshawa, Sudbury, Fort William, Port Arthur, Cobourg, St. Thomas, Owen Sound, Woodstock, Barrie, Orillia, Brampton, Gananoque, Ingersoll, Leamington, Napanee, Picton, Port Colborne, Simcoe, Thorold, Weston, Wallaceburg and Oakville.

Won't Fly To Tokyo

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Mildred Dean has called off plans to fly to Tokyo to greet her repatriated hero husband after Maj.-Gen. William F. Dean telephoned her he would be home within two or three weeks. Dean, freed by the Communists last week after three years as a prisoner of war, is undergoing treatment in a Tokyo army hospital for amoebic dysentery, contracted in Korea.

Youth Admits Theft From Car

Pleading guilty to a charge of theft Wednesday, William Storms, 21, of RR 3, Lakefield, was given a two year suspended sentence by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for the suspended penalty after evidence by OPP Constable Wally Mohns who described how a motorist, directed by Storms to a garage, returned to his car on the highway to find his clothes and other articles had been stolen.

The accused was arrested on the theft and all the articles with the exception of a cigar which had been smoked, were returned intact.

Now on probation for one year, Storms is a veteran of four years in the merchant navy.

When the Quints Were Babies: 3

World Beat a Path to Ontario to See Them

WORLD © BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

CALLANDER was just a dot on the map on the shores of Lake Nipissing before the birth of the Dionne quintuplets put it in the spotlight.

Then the world beat a path through its streets to the Dr. Dafoe Hospital, which the Province of Ontario built on the outskirts of town near the house where the quints were born.

As the gates opened for visiting hours, eager throngs (like the ones in top left photo, taken in 1935) rushed pell mell for the nursery for a glimpse of the quints. The word of Dr. Dafoe was law as to whether they could be seen at specified times and often crowds were turned away if the babies had colds or were sleeping.

Visitors could see the quints at play—perhaps on a toboggan like the one at bottom left, into which they were bundled for a romp in the snow in 1936.

But what the visitors could not see was the quints having their own private fun, such as romping (right photo) with the twinkly-eyed man who played such a vital role in their lives, the late Dr. Allan Dafoe.

Fire Street Employees

PICTON (CP)—Street employees here were fired Wednesday when they went on strike for an equal wage of 90 cents an hour for all employees. Several workers had been granted increases. Woodrow Blakely, chairman of the town council's street committee, fired the workers and said those who wish to be rehired will have to apply to the committee.

3 Newspapermen Held In Contempt

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three members of the Cleveland Press editorial staff were convicted of contempt of court Wednesday by common pleas judge Joseph H. Silbert.

The case involved the taking of a photograph in judge Silbert's courtroom after the judge had told one of the defendants no pictures would be allowed.

The photograph, taken on Aug. 20 and published the same day, showed former probate judge Nelson J. Brewer being arraigned on a charge of embezzlement.

The three men, and the penalties imposed by judge Silbert were: City editor Louis Clifford, fined $500 and costs, and sentenced to the custody of the sheriff for one hour.

Reporter Sam Giaimo, fined $100 and costs.

Photographer James Thomas, fined $100, suspended.

Tom J. Edwards, general counsel for the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, said the case will be appealed.

Edwards argued there was no violation of a court order "because there was no order in the true meaning of the statute."

NAMED FOR PRINCE

Princeton in British Columbia was named in honor of the visit of the Prince of Wales, later Edward VIII, to Canada.

Visits Defence College

KINGSTON (CP)—Field Marshal Sir John Harding, chief of the imperial general staff, Wednesday started a two-day visit of defence establishments here. Sir John visited the National Defence College and went on a harbor cruise aboard a craft from HMCS Cataraqui. Today he is to visit the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engeneers' and Royal Canadian Corps of Signals' establishments.

Tobacco Curer Caught In Kiln

TORONTO (CP)—Louis Williams 42-year-old tobacco curer from Louisburg, N.C., described Wednesday how it feels to be locked in a tobacco kiln with the temperature at 140 degrees.

That's what happened to him the other day on Fidelis Maes' plantation at Mansfield, about 75 miles north of Toronto.

"I stepped into No. 4 kiln to check the leaves," he said in an interview. "The wooden latch on the outside of the door dropped and locked me in.

"I took out my pocket knife, stretched up and worked the knife through the gap in the top—and managed to nudge the latch out of place.

"But I sure was sweating when I got that door open."

This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field. A General Motors Value.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car . . .

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Isn't it a great day—the day you take delivery of a new car? You drive home cautiously and proudly, inhaling that wonderful new car aroma. Then you park out in front, while your friends and neighbors gather round to talk over your choice with you.

Naturally, you want that feeling of pride and satisfaction to last. So it's worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy. Let's consider the important reasons why people choose one make over another and see how Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on temporary fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, clean, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so many people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the lowest-priced, full size car in its field with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

Many of Canada's highest-priced cars feature Body by Fisher. Because of quantity purchases of materials and greater production, Fisher can—and does—build extra quality into the Chevrolet body and interiors.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an entirely new 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission there is also an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with an extra high compression ratio of 7.5 to 1.

A Great Gain in Gasoline Economy

Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

Chevrolet brought you the first automatic transmission in its field. And now Chevrolet brings you the newest and most advanced one. The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

One of the things we're particularly anxious for you to try out is the performance and driving ease of this new Powerglide.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

Chevrolet offers you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can seesaw in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars.

A Smoother and a

Comfort's a big consideration to almost every buyer. And almost every car claims to be exceptionally comfortable. Well, here are some facts bearing on comfort that you can judge for yourself.

To begin with, Chevrolet has ample weight to give a good, road-hugging ride. It isn't just weight that's been added indiscriminately, it's weight that comes from Chevrolet's extra strength, weight that means extra protection and safety because it's been utilized in strengthening body and frame.

Then, Chevrolet is the lowest priced car with Unitized Knee-Action. That means that the entire front suspension system is assembled and balanced as a separate unit. Only Chevrolet takes this extra step.

And as you go smoothly, so you stop smoothly. Chevrolet's new brakes with their 11-inch drums mean tremendous stopping power for emergencies—and easier, smoother stops at any time.

Chevrolet Is the Lowest-Priced Fine Car Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field. In fact, it is Canada's lowest-priced full-size car.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more cars than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want—more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? Believe it or not, there are a number of things we want you to know about the new Chevrolet that we haven't had space for here!

We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the road.

102-Pound Salmon Taken From British Columbia River

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Reports of catches this year show Canadian sport fishermen are managing to land some of the "big ones" that got away last year.

But because anglers will never yield the right to tell of the "giant that smashed the line" there must be even bigger fish getting away this summer.

And in keeping the tradition, no matter what lure is used the big 'uns always fall to something else. But their chances of getting away are going down, for many areas in Canada are reporting big increases in number of licences issued.

WESTERN MONSTERS

It's out west that they land the really big fish. It took four persons to land a 102-pound salmon in Northern Skeena river. Even that wasn't a record. The biggest salmon ever taken in coast waters was a 127-pound fish landed in Alaska some years ago. Best British Columbia fishing is in Kamloops and Cariboo—trout, bass, eastern brook trout, lake trout and char.

The game commission's scientific branch is studying the history of all B.C. lakes and rivers and has finished 375. Sportsmen will soon be able to get all the information they want about any stream that interests them.

The most productive waters in Manitoba have been the overflowing river on the northwest end of Lake Winnipegosis where pickerel have been abundant. Bait casting has been most successful and both plugs and feathered spinners have brought good results. There were times whe almost every cast produced a strike.

A top spot for lake trout has been Clearwater lake, north of The Pas. At this time they are on the surface and take almost any lure readily.

Alberta has issued more than 20,000 licences to date and expects the 1952 record of 32,000 to be broken before the season ends. Noteworthy catches include eight 12-pound lake trout caught in Rocky Mountain House area.

And to prove it's everybody's sport an 11-year-old boy landed a 28-inch 11-pound rainbow trout at Cameron lake in Waterton Lakes National Park for what is believed to be an all-time park record. A three-year-old, Everett Krohn of Medicine Hat—with some help—landed a pike weighing more than four pounds; the largest fish caught so far this season in Elkwater lake.

SASKATCHEWAN BUSY

Saskatchewan's northland still is proving its claim to be a fisherman's paradise. In each of the last four years one of the 10 largest lake trout caught in North America has been taken in Saskatchewan—at Lac La Ronge. This year the province stands a chance of having one of the top three. A 41-pounder was caught in Lac La Ronge and several of more than 35 pounds have been caught there. A 30-pound northern pike was landed at East Trout lake.

With catches like these, Saskatchewan's tourist fishing industry is booming. There were only 964 licences sold in 1931. In 1951 the figure had soared to 44,800. Last year it was an all-time record of 56,728 and this year the prediction is that it will top 60,000. The newstyle angler is also making more and more use of aircraft to get to the northern fishing spots.

SALMON IN N.S.

Nova Scotia, with about 1,500 licences issued, reports salmon and trout angling good. A local record 12½-pound brown trout was caught in Guysboro county's Salmon river on a plug. Some 3,200 salmon have been landed—about the same as last year. The best salmon spots have been Medway and Lahave rivers on the south shore and St. Mary's on the eastern shore.

Quebec expects a record licence issue. Salmon fishing in Gaspe peninsula has been spotty, but there have been good catches on the Matane river—opened to the public this year. The largest landlocked salmon caught this summer in Lake St. John was a 12-pounder landed at St. Gedeon.

Striped bass fishing in the St. Lawrence has also been popular. Antoine Baillargeon, from New Britain, Conn., is credited with catching a record 18-pound three-ounce bass near Riviere Ouelle.

But if the yardstick is the number of anglers, then the fishing province must surely be Ontario. Although this year's licence issue has not yet been compiled, last year the issue was 188,800 with 92,200 non-resident licences. Bass generally have been good and so have the pickerel and speckled trout, but lake trout takings have been down. Some good pike have been landed in the northern waters and there have been several reports of good muskies taken.

OLD BUT STILL EFFECTIVE—In all the modern fishing tackle, the old bamboo pole is practically forgotten. But the former mayor of Williamsville, New York, Don McClellan, put it to good use this week when with a frog for bait he caught a five and three-quarter-pound small mouth bass at Rice Lake. He hooked the big bass just off George Robertson's Elm Grove camp. George holds the bass (above) up for inspection.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Windsor Girl, 18, Selected Miss W. Ontario

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Connie Dorocher, 18, of Windsor, a brunette secretary, Wednesday night was named Miss Western Ontario in a split decision over a blonde farm girl from Wallaceburg.

Two of the three judges voted for Miss Dorocher, who placed second in Tuesday night's Miss Windsor contest, while the third favored Margaret Says, 17.

Margie Lowes, 16, the schoolgirl who captured the Miss Windsor title, was dropped from the Miss Western Ontario contest in the final round of eliminations before the winner and runner-up were selected.

Miss Dorocher takes with her title prizes valued at $1,500 and a trophy. The prizes include a secretarial course, a diamond ring and a fur jacket.

Miss Says recently placed second in the Queen of the Rose Trail beauty contest at Port Lambton. The Rose Queen, Dorothy O'Neill of Chatham, also was a contestant Wednesday night.

French Band Arrives For U.S.-Canada Tour

MONTREAL (CP)—The famed Garde Republicaine band of Paris and its conductor, Francois-Julien Brun, arrived here Wednesday aboard the liner Empress of Australia to start a tour of the United States and Canada.

On its first North American tour in 50 years, the band will make appearances in Canada at Montreal, Quebec, Trois-Rivieres, Rimouski, Chicoutimi, Ottawa, Toronto, Kitchener and Vancouver.

14th Daily Opens On Fleet Street

LONDON (Reuters) — London's newest daily newspaper, the first since the Communist Daily Worker started in 1930, will appear on Fleet street Oct. 27. It will be London's 14th daily newspaper.

The Recorder, now a strongly right-wing weekly with an accent on the personalities of big business, will be published for London and vicinity as a full-size morning newspaper with an initial circulation of 100,000.

A new company, the Recorder Limited, will open with a capitalization of $350,000 in ordinary shares and 25,000 $2.80 issues. The new daily will stress financial and Empire news.

Controlling stockholder will be William J. Brittain, publisher of 12 London suburban newspapers and industrial magazines. Brittain, who announced the new project Wednesday, began his career as a reporter in Hull, England, gained experience on Canada's Montreal Star and Toronto Star, and later returned to London as an editorial executive on Northcliffe and Beaverbrook newspapers.

Medicine Spreads Need For Control

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters) The spread of preventative medicine to the remote parts of the earth will necessitate the spread of birth control measures to prevent overpopulation, the closing session of the annual conference of the British Association for the Advancement of Science was told Wednesday.

Prof. T. H. Davey, professor of tropical hygiene at the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine, told the scientists western policy to help spread preventative medicine would result in large population increases—resulting in malnutrition and causing political instability.

He said the only immediate and direct means of lowering fertility is by deliberate family limitation, which is, however, rejected on social or religious grounds in many places.

Birth control can only be a factor in keeping populations down when the bulk of the people desire it, he said.

Watford Stays Dry

WATFORD (CP)—Watford voted Wednesday to stay dry. On the question of men's beverage rooms, there were 511 votes for the proposal and 486 against. For women's beverage rooms 497 for for and 500 against. Sixty per cent of the vote was necessary to pass the proposals.

If you suffer

NERVOUSNESS

get relief this drugless way

Postum helps millions to rest their nerves from tea and coffee

Do your nerves get jumpy? Do you suffer sleeplessness, indigestion or headaches? If so, this message is for you.

You may be a victim of caffein. That is the drug found in tea and coffee. You know of course that many people can drink tea and coffee without harm. But many others cannot — and YOU MAY BE ONE OF THESE.

Don't let caffein undermine YOUR nerves! The remedy is simple — try Postum for 30 days. Postum contains no caffein—you can enjoy as much Postum as you like as often as you like. Drink Postum instead of the beverages which bother you. Then see if you don't feel so much better and happier in much less than 30 days — that you never want to return to caffein in tea and coffee again!

And how you enjoy Postum! That distinctive cheering flavor—from roasted whole wheat and bran — has made Postum the favorite drink of millions. Easily prepared instantly — right in the cup. Saves you money too — 60% more economical than coffee. A Product of General Foods.

POSTUM

MOTHERS! Give your children Postum made with hot (not boiled) milk. They love it — a fragrant, grown-up looking drink. Even children who don't like plain milk like Postum — with milk. So nourishing too!

Attendance Up At Schools In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Enrolment in both public and high schools here shows an increase over the previous year.

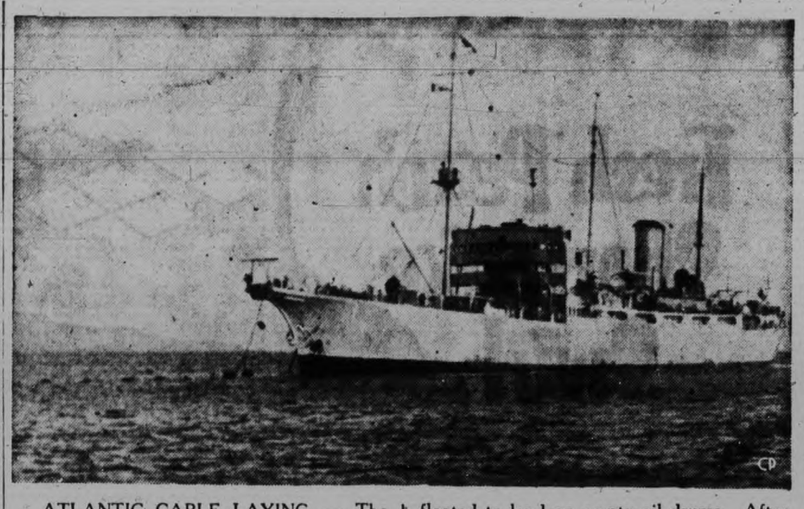
In the public school 337 pupils are attending compared with 310 last year. Principal E. G. Sloan reports room attendance averages 37 pupils with the exception of the kindergarten, which has 41. This class is divided, with half the children attending in the morning and the remainder in the afternoon.

One new room has been opened and is in charge of Miss Benton, of Peterborough, who will teach part of grades 1 and 2.

Lakefield District High School has 202 pupils enrolled this year. Last year enrolment stood at 168.

Three new departments have been opened up this term: Home economics, in charge of Miss Louise Evans, of Moscow, Ont.; general shop work, headed by Mr. D. R. Rintoul, of Orangeville, and a commercial department under Mr. Donald Campbell, of Toronto, former teacher at the Apsley division of the high school.

Apsley school has a registration fo 32 this term, compared with 29 last year.



ATLANTIC CABLE LAYING — The British Telegraph ship Monarch lies off Middle Cove, about six miles east of St. John's, Nfld., completing the western end of a new cable connecting Newfoundland with the United Kingdom. The cable was floated to land on empty oil drums. After completing the cable to a point 250 miles off Newfoundland, where it will be spliced to a line from Cornwall, England, the ship will complete the network by connecting Middle Cove with Halifax.

Birth Record

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—A total of 240 births here last August was the highest on record. It compared with 213 in August of 1952.

Lumsden Wins 4th Swim At CNE; Norris 2nd Again

TORONTO (CP)—Cliff Lumsden, husky 22-year-old swimming instructor from suburban New Toronto, Wednesday night won his fourth straight 10-mile Canadian National Exhibition swim marathon, coming from behind after eight miles to take it with 300 yards to spare.

In second place behind George Bevan, formerly of Winnipeg and now living in Toronto, after seven miles and with an upset in the making, the favored Lumsden put on a spurt that swished him past the tiring Bevan and into a clear lead. Lumsden pocketed $5,000 in first-prize money.

Bevan, who splashed into the lead almost from the start, slipped back and was passed by Forbes Norris of Winchester, Mass., Harvard University student who took up swimming after suffering an attack of polio a few years ago. Norris took second-place money of $2,250 and Bevan had to be content with $750 for third.

Charles Grover of Dorchester, Mass., was fourth with a time of five hours, 26 minutes, and five seconds and won $500. Fifth place and $300 was taken by Bill Goll, 40-year-old marathon veteran, of Landing, N.J., and Jack Rosen, Toronto, was sixth for $200 prize.

Goll's time was five hours and 30 minutes and Rosen made it in five hours, 36 minutes and 21 seconds.

The 20-year-old Bevan, who was pulled out of the water after seven miles in the 1952 swim, pocketed an extra $100 by going the fastest mile after the opening mile. He did it with a time of 24 minutes and 38 seconds on his third mile along the CNE waterfront.

Lumsden's time for the distance was four hours, 26 minutes, 46 seconds. Norris did it in four hours, 29 minutes, 40 seconds, and Bevan finished in four hours, 40 minutes and five seconds.

There were 39 official entries when mayor Alan Lamport fired the starting gun at 1:32 p.m. EDT, but a few seconds later 59-year-old Bill Currey of Toronto jumped into the 64-degree water "just to show these youngsters what clean living will do for a fellow." He was one of the first pulled out.

Currey's entry was refused by CNE officials because of his age.

Only 19 of the field were still in the water when the first three finished. Steve Wozniak, of Buffalo, N.Y., in fourth place most of the way, was dragged out of the frigid waters after swimming 7½ miles.

Rovers Return From Moot Of 4,000 In Switzerland

David Hatton, 527 Romaine St., has returned from a two month stint in Europe as a participant in the 1953 International Rovers Moot, this year held in Kanderstag, Switzerland. Another Peterborough rover, Ken White, RR 3, accompanied him.

Rovers, who are actually an extension of boy scouts in respect to age and training, have as their slogan "Service", and differ from the junior ranks in that they include social and cultural training to the extent that they are capable of teaching it to others.

More than 4,000 rovers, from 23 countries including 64 from Canada attended the 10-day convention. The first five days were taken up with acclimatizing, both physically and socially. The Canadian contingent as with contingents from the other countries, were split up into 10-man parties upon arrival at Kanderstag, and these parties were intermingled. "Our party was camped between French and New Zealand groups," said Hatton.

FOUR LANGUAGES

"Switzerland is a country with at least four national languages, German, French, Italian and Romanesque, which is a form of Latin. Our conferences, which lasted for two of the 10 days, were conducted in three languages, English, French and German, and interpretors were available for the period. Rovers from various countries made speeches depicting their countries interpretations of the rover movement and then discussions were held on the various ideas.

Another two days were spent in travelling about the country. Rover Hatton's group visited among other things, the capital city of Berne which is unique in its manner of representing its namesake. Berne, which is Swiss for bear, contains within its limits a number of man-made pits containing live bears.

"We also visited the top of Mount Nicen via the funicular." A funicular, he explained, is the name for the electric trains operating on the mountain slopes in Switzerland. "The car is designed to give the illusion of forward travel although in reality one is proceeding on a deeply inclined angle."

CLEARED PASTURE

The remaining day was spent collectively by the rovers, true to their motif, in aiding the people of Kanderstag. "In one day we cleared a pasture of Juniper shrubs and built a snow fence. The people of Kanderstag claimed it would take them a year to do the work that was accomplished by the rovers in one day."

"Switzerland is a quaint country with its international culture and tradition. It is peculiar to note that although the supply of material and the conditions are similar throughout—the country is visually dissected because of the three native stocks. Homes and building in the French section are of stone, in the German section they are composed of wood. The whole country is a system of valley towns encircled by towering, snow-capped mountains."

In addition to their stay in Switzerland, the Canadian rovers spent a week in Paris and the remainder of the time in England.

Six children made the acquaintance of the Primary room of the Public School at Deloro for the first time and three beginners were added to the number of scholars at Deloro Separate School.

EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES FOR OVER HALF A CENTURY

Too few WILLS

A competent legal authority has said that considerably more than half the people who leave estates neglect to make a will directing the distribution of their assets.

If a man dies without making a Will, the law steps in and designates those who are to receive his property, and says what shares will go to each. This rigid law, which is designed for "average cases", does not suit every family.

If you have no Will, see your lawyer. We believe that the drafting of this important document requires his professional knowledge and skill. We would be glad to co-operate with you and your lawyer in planning your Will. Our long experience in dealing with the problems of taxation, succession duties, investments, estate administration and distribution qualifies us to offer valuable practical advice.

With a sound Will drawn by your lawyer, and with The Royal Trust Company named as your executor, you may be sure your family will receive the maximum comfort and security to be obtained from your estate.

You are welcome to consult our officers without obligation.

Use Jergens Lotion — avoid detergent hands. Just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

It's Back-To-School Again For All The Youngsters. And I hope I'm not too late to give you a tip about back-to-school clothes. When you're making or remodelling your children's clothes for busy school-days . . . use LIGHTNING FASTENERS for convenience and safety. Convenient? Yes, Lightning Fasteners make getting dressed and undressed easy for any youngster. You see, Lightning is the zipper with the famous automatic lock. They're wink-quick to un-zip when you want to . . . yet when they're zipped-up — Lightning Fasteners stay put. And mother, just think! — when your youngsters' clothes are finished with Lightning Fasteners, you can forget the chore of constantly replacing buttons. Ask for Lightning Fasteners now . . . in a wide variety of colours and sizes.

Grape Jelly Is A Favorite with most of us. What a treat it is to spoon into that fresh-tasting royal looking jelly. And if your jellies are made with CERTO FRUIT PECTIN, the set will be right, the flavor and consistency delicious. Results with Certo, are always so sure, if you follow the recipes exactly. You'll see a fine recipe for grape jelly in the booklet, that's under the label of each bottle of Certo. Other grand recipes, too. And doing jams and jellies the Certo way, means you save 2/3 the time of the former long-boil method . . . and get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

I've Just Had a really exciting flavour experience — a cup of the NEW INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. Did you know? — it's 100% real coffee — made by a new process that keeps the flavour and aroma of freshly ground coffee. Yes, even the very colour and texture is the same. But there's that wonderful "instant" convenience that you like so well. New Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee dissolves like magic in hot or cold water. And it's extremely economical. It saves me up to 40c a pound compared with regular coffee. I'm sure that once you've sampled its marvelous real-coffee flavour, you'll want to make it your regular coffee.

I Can't Think Of A Better Month to think about better breakfasts . . . than the back-to-school month of September. And, sure enough — it's Better Breakfast Month. Well that means breakfasts with hot "CREAM OF WHEAT" as the main attraction. I don't need to tell you that a hot breakfast is better for you . . . and "Cream of Wheat" is such a delicious way to begin the day. Good for you, too. It gives you quick-starting food energy, plus iron for good red blood, and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in those elements. Make every month Better Breakfast Month. Give your family a quick start for the day with the cereal that's both nutritious and tasty: hot "Cream of Wheat".

It's Rich With The Flavour of Canada's best tomatoes . . . plus the extra touch of "magic" that the Heinz chefs add. No wonder HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP is the "one and only" with most folks. And now's the time to stock up on it. Yes, now the "New Pack Parade" of Heinz famous Tomato Products is at your grocer's. There's Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup (Heinz puts in the cream — you add only water!) Heinz Chili Sauce (makes plain dishes taste special!) and Heinz Tomato Juice (a delicious source of Vitamins A and C). All these and Heinz Ketchup are made of the finest tomatoes you've ever tasted — fresh packed by Heinz for your enjoyment all year round.

Once Upon A Time, my washing used to have a yellow tinge. I'd scrub and rub, with no success. Then I remembered something from my school-days . . . that seven colours combine to make white — and one of them is blue. So, of course, I said to myself, the answer to the problem of my yellow wash — is Blue. You know you must rinse your wash to get the clothes clean. Then simply put a dash of Blue in the water — to get them really white. Your sheets, shirts and table linens will fairly sparkle! What's more, Blue is kind to fine fabrics — won't harm them in the least. And it costs just a few pennies a month . . . a sound investment!

Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

Good News For The "Nursery Set" . . . FARLEY'S RUSKS are not only crunchy-sweet and good to eat, they're a scientific baby formula, as well. They're made from specially milled English wheat flour and other important nutrients. They can be eaten in hand or crushed and spoon fed in warm milk or fruit. No sugar necessary — because Farley's Rusks are sugar-sweetened for appealing flavour and quick food energy. They're fortified, too, with calcium and phosphorus to aid in bone and tooth development. A real discovery for children's, old folks' and invalids' diets. Ask for them in the yellow box with the cellophane top.

Favoured for home-made Pickles

"—used by more Ontario housewives than all other brands combined!"

Only superlative quality could win such whole-hearted endorsement. It's important to you, too—because it means better home-made pickles, catsup and relishes for your family, when they're made with Canada Vinegar.

Sparked N.B. Boom, Firm Merges With 3 Others

TORONTO (CP) — Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp., the company that sparked the base metals boom in the Bathurst area of New Brunswick, has announced a merger with three adjoining concerns.

Brunswick plans to issue its remaining 2,069,000 treasury shares for a 100-per-cent interest in the Anacon-Leadridge property, plus a group of 239 claims from Anacon Lead Mines and Leadridge Mining Co., and another 212 claims owned by M. J. Boylen and M. J. Boylen Prospector and Associates.

Recent work on the Anacon-Leadridge property indicated another large base metal ore body, the announcement stated, but little development work has been done on the 239 claims of Anacon Lead Mines and Leadridge Mining Co.

The merger announcement, over the signature of M. J. Boylen, president of Brunswick Mining and Smelting, stated that a loan of $7,500,000 has been made from Leadridge Mining Co. Mr. Boylen said that with his loan and additional financing up to $17,500,000, "the complete financing of your company to the point of volume production has been definitely assured. . . ."

Reject Beverage Rooms

PAISLEY (CP)—Paisley voters Wednesday turned down men's and women's beverage rooms. The men's question failed to pass by 17 votes of the 60 per cent needed while the women's fell 34 short of the 60 per cent required. Vote on the men's beverage room was: Yes 243; No 190; Women's beverage room—Yes 241; No 218.

Married 50 Years

AYLMER, Ont. (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kilmer, lifelong residents of the community, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday. Among the guests was Rev. A. E. Lloyd of St. Thomas who married them at nearby Corinth on Sept. 9, 1903.

ALSO WINS BURSARY

Another St. Peter's student who has won a $100 dominion-provincial bursary as she enters Grade XIII is Margaret O'Keefe of 426 Donegal St. Four other St. Peter's students got the $100 bursaries.

THREE NEW TEACHERS

St. Anne's Separate School which this term has a record enrolment, already listed at 242, also has three new teachers. They are Sister Gervase of Ottawa, Sister St. Peter who taught last year at St. Peter's and Miss Adele Sheehy, a normal school graduate.

BASEMENT WORKSHOP

A request by A. Dery of 449 Arndon Ave. to construct a workshop in the basement of his home for woodworking was approved by the city planning board Tuesday night. Appearing before the board, Mr. Dery said the shop will be used for building toys and other woodwork with the aim of selling them.

QUERY ARENA RATES

Convinced that $10 an hour is too much for minor hockey teams to pay for use of the Civic Arena, the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (TLC) are asking the arena board to consider reducing the rates. Mervin Williamson of Local 504, Civic Employees Federal Union (AFL), suggested the reduction.

TO DISCUSS TRAFFIC

After several problems relating to city traffic were discussed at the September meeting of the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (TLC) on Wednesday night, the delegates decided to ask for expert advice. They will ask permission for Constable Don Mackay to conduct a round-table discussion at the October meeting.

NINTH CASE OF POLIO

The second case of polio in two days was reported this morning by Dr. J. P. Wells, Medical Officer of Health. The victim is a 24-year-old woman. At present she is in the isolation wing of Civic Hospital and is reported to be in good condition. This brings the total of polio cases in the city and district to nine for the year.

ALLOW ADDITION

Reviewing the matter with a minimum of discussion, the city planning board approved a request by C. G. Gertley Tuesday night to construct an extension of 10 feet on the rear of his tinsmithing shop at Patterson St. and Monaghan Rd. Although the district is classed as residential the extension will be built on his own property in accordance with zoning regulations.

TWO NEW APPOINTMENTS

Dr. J. P. Wells, Medical Officer of Health, announced today the addition of two new members to the staff of the Department of Health. They are John C. Carruthers, 23, of 212 Brock St., a former graduate of PCVS as assistant to the Sanitary Inspector. The other appointment to the staff was of Miss Mary Stone, who has been appointed to the staff of the public health nurses. Previous to this Miss Stone has been on the staff of the Board of Education for the past seven years.

INDUCTED at St. James' Church, the Rev. Lloyd Shorten officially became minister of the church at a ceremony at the church Wednesday night.

Rev. L. Shorten Inducted At St. James'

A large congregation gathered last evening for the impressive induction service, when Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten, B.A., B.D., S.T.M., was inducted as the Minister of St. James' United Church.

Conducted by Rev. Arnold A. Mathews, minister of George Street Church and chairman of the Peterborough Presbytery, the service was attended by ministers and laymen representing the presbytery, in addition to the members and friends of the St. James' congregation.

The official board of the church attended in a body and under the direction of Mrs. Charles Renaud, organist, the combined senior and junior choirs provided special music.

Rev. H. B. Herrington, secretary of the Peterborough Presbytery, presented the new minister to the congregation for induction, after relating the steps of the call to the Church.

DIRECTOR OF YOUTH

Mr. Shorten, was for four years a member of the Board of Christian Education staff in Toronto. There he was Director of Youth Work for the United Church of Canada, with responsibility for boys' and young people's work.

Following the induction, the Rev. Melvin Butler, of Millbrook, addressed the minister and congregation. He emphasized the importance of the ministry of the Word and of the Sacraments. "The Ministry," he said, "is the gift of God to the Church, and the Church is the gift of God to the world." Mr. Butler called for co-operation and loyalty between minister and people, that the work of the Church might grow and be effective in all of its departments.

Both the minister and the congregation have responsibilities he said. The minister has the duty of proclaiming the word and celebrating the sacraments.

The congregation's most important duty in the words of Christ is to create a visible and sacred brotherhood. Without brotherhood and love a church will surely die.

He urged members of the congregation to live as Christians, proclaiming their faith and acting on it in their day-to-day lives.

RECEPTION

At the reception which followed the induction service, the newly-inducted minister and his wife had an opportunity to meet the members and friends who were present. As chairman, Ernest Kitney directed the program. Robert Aspinall sang two vocal solos, and Walter Davies contributed two coronet solos. Several members of the presbytery brought greetings and good wishes to the minister and congregation.

A. E. Prest and Roy Heard spoke on behalf of the St. James' Church. Mr. Heard read an address and presented Mr. and Mrs. Shorten, who were recently married, with a wedding gift from the congregation.

Mrs. Shorten, the former Miss Marion Daniels, and a Deaconess of the United Church, was presented with a beautiful bouquet.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shorten replied, expressing appreciation for all the kindness shown them since coming to Peterborough, and for the very useful gift. They both look forward to a happy and useful ministry among the people of St. James' Church. Following the serving of refreshments by the ladies, and a social half hour, the Rev. E. W. Rowland, Assistant minister at George Street Church, pronounced the Benediction.

Empty House Burns In Township

Second Blaze On Property In Eight Months

Flames burned a deserted North Monaghan township house to the ground Wednesday afternoon, doing damage estimated at between $2,000 and $2,500.

Owner of the house, Claude Cowan, is believed to be living in Haliburton, or somewhere in the district north of Peterborough county. None of the neighbors has seen the Cowan family since they left the house about a year ago.

Cause of the fire—second on the property in eight months—is unknown. Last February, a large barn on the property burned to its foundation.

The fire started about 2 p.m., and, whipped by a strong northwest wind, roared through the house and drive-shed about 30 feet from the house. Last timbers of the house collapsed at about 5 p.m.

THROUGH GRASS

The drive shed burned in a hurry. Sparks and flames from the house set tinder-dry grass afire behind the home, and the flames raced through the grass to set fire to the drive shed. It collapsed within an hour of the time the flames first touched it.

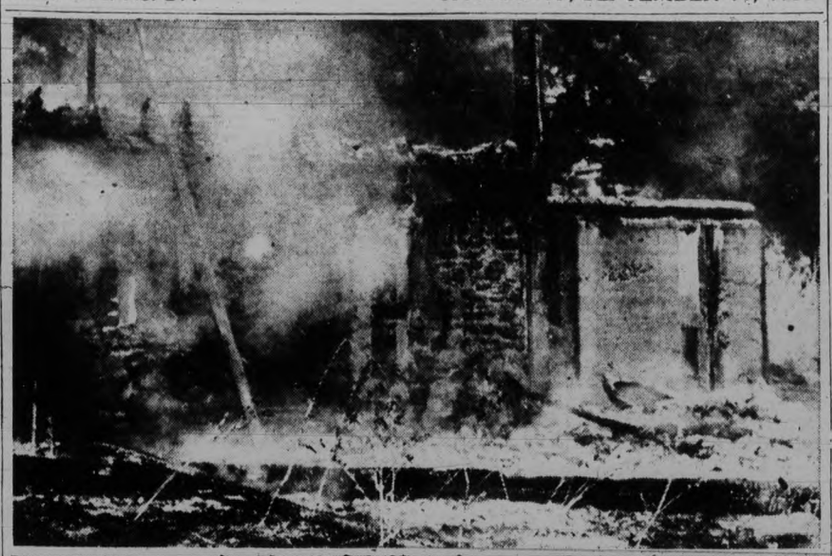
First to see the fire was Myron Hill, a nearby farmer, who with Harry Young, RR 5, hurried to the burning home to carry out furniture. There were few household goods left in the building, and the two men managed to rescue most of them.

Mrs. George Hewitt, who lives about a quarter of a mile east of the burned home, called her husband home from work to help carry their belongings into their front yard.

They feared the flames would spread across the long hay between the two houses and set fire to their home. The Hewitts plan to move this Saturday in any case, and, if it doesn't rain, will leave most of their furniture on the lawn, to await the movers' truck.

Early in the fire, it seemed that the flames would spread across the grass to the Hewitt home, but neighbors with shovels halted its advance. A lane provided an adequate firebreak to stop any further spread of the grass fire. Attempts to plow a firebreak with a tractor were unsuccessful.

The house was located on the concession road a mile south of Highway 28 and about a mile west of the city limits.



A DESERTED HOUSE and a drive shed went up in smoke and flames Wednesday afternoon, with damage estimated at between $2,000 and $2,500. The house, located just west of the city dump, started to burn early Wednesday afternoon. Cause of the fire is unknown. Top photo shows the foundation of the house, and the bottom photo the burning drive shed. The shed collapsed within an hour of the time it started to burn.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Workers Protest, Proud Of Movement

Members of the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (TLC) are hot under the collar over a Labor Day editorial in the Examiner that bluntly told organized labor that they had "No Cause to Celebrate."

The editorial said that times had changed since the Knights of Labor held their first parade in 1882. In Ontario there was the "humiliating appeal" of strike-minded Toronto milkmen to their American union leaders in Washington for permission to strike. And violence and lawlessness were obvious in the trucking strike in Western Ontario and in the gold strikes in Northern Ontario.

The labor council members were particularly angry over the following extract: "It is perhaps significant that the Labor Day parades of recent years have been thin celebrations. Are workers too ashamed of the pass to which their affairs have come to hold up their heads as Knights of Labor?" They felt it was a deliberate slap at them for not having a Labor Day parade this year.

NOT DICTATED TO

"We're proud of our labor movement—not at all ashamed of it," said Henry Nokes, secretary. "We're not dictated to by bosses across the border. The memberships run the unions here; we're not dictated to by anyone.

"It's a reflection cast upon the whole of organized labor in Peterborough."

Mr. Nokes said that this was the first year that the new Labor Council had taken part in Labor Day celebrations. (It was a program at Nicholls Oval, undertaken jointly with the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CIO-CCL).

"As it was our first effort I think we should have got a boost, not a knock," he said. "Next year we hope to have a parade."

Discussion followed on what was to be done about it. Finally, the delegates gave Mr. Nokes a free hand to draft a letter to The Examiner editor giving the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council point of view.

Enrolment In City Schools Hits 8,489 In First Days

Initial enrolment at city primary and secondary schools is 8,489 pupils. By the time all the girls and boys are registered the figure should go above the 8,500-mark. Here is the tally, in brief, for the first two days of the 1953-54 school year: 13 public schools, 5,094 pupils; 6 separate primary schools, 1,510; St. Peter's High School, 424; PCVS, 1,010; and Kenner Collegiate, 451. Total enrolment to date 8,489.

Last year between 1,300 and 1,400 pupils were registered at Kenner and PCVS; public school registration was about 4,800. The separate schools had 1,163 in the primary grades and St. Peter's High School had 375.

Here is a breakdown of initial enrolment:

Public Schools— King George 430, Central 509, Prince of Wales 914, Queen Alexandra 413, Parkhill 147, Queen Elizabeth 110, (no kindergarten), King Edward 472, Confederation 501, Mays 169, Cameron 120, Grove 313, Queen Mary 670, and Armour Heights 326.

Separate Primary Schools —St. Peter's 257; St. Mary's 234, Sacred Heart 242, St. John's 282, Immaculate Conception 253, and St. Anne's 242.

Secondary Schools — PCVS 1,010, Kenner 451, and St. Peter's 424.

FEWER STUDENTS

Fifty fewer pupils registered the first couple of days this year at PCVS than last year. Some of last year's first day pupils later transferred to Kenner and this year Grade XI classes have been opened at Kenner.

At the same time there is increased enrolment in Grades IX, X, and XI, C. S. Browne, PCVS principal said.

In the public schools there is crowding in the north end. Queen Elizabeth, brought into the city on Jan. 1, is packed with 110 pupils; and Queen Alexandra is also crowded and will remain so until more classrooms are built on it.

A larger enrolment than anticipated was reported at Cameron St. School.

In the Separate Schools there was a two-room addition at St. John's, bringing the total number of rooms up to 10; the enrolment is 282 in the southend school.

St. Anne's also brought into the city Jan. 1, has an initial enrolment of 242; and all classrooms are now being used.

53-Lb. Muskie Record Catch Of Past 10 Years

TORONTO (CP)—The 53-pound maskinonge Howie Epps of Ottawa caught near Peterborough Sunday was the largest taken by an angler in Ontario in 10 years.

The provincial Department of Lands and Forests said today it was the biggest since 1943, when William Walsh of Kingston landed a 54-pounder in the St. Lawrence River.

The record muskie for Ontario —61 pounds nine ounces—was caught in Cliff Lake in the Sioux Lookout district in 1940. The world's record muskie, weighing 69 pounds, 11 ounces, was taken in Chippewa Flowage, Wis., in 1949.

Mr. Epps caught his fish on a vamp plug and 15-pound test line. He had no net or gaff to land it, so he grabbed it under the gills and drew it into his boat. Later he cut it up to eat but saved the head, which measured 14 inches across, for mounting.

A. B. Young of the Lands and Forests department said the muskie was the biggest ever taken in the Kawartha Lakes district.

He said he hoped Mr. Epps had had the fish measured and weighed by a lands and forests official or some other authoritative person so that it could be entered in provincial records.

BICYCLIST ESCAPES INJURY

An 11-year-old student of Central School escaped serious injury this morning when she turned her bicycle into the side of a car on Water St. The girl, Gail Barnes of 189 Antrim St., was riding south on Water St. when she turned left into a car driven by Ralph Payne, 20, of RR 2, Lakefield. She was treated for a hand brush burn by the school nurse.

Should Prepare Voters' List In City—Labor

The Peterborough and District Labor Council (TLC) are going to ask Returning Officer Arthur McClellan to see that in future typesetting for the voters' list is done in Peterborough.

Ordinarily when an election comes around the local typesetters look forward to "a little gravy" by working overtime and helping the contract printer finish the voters' list. At the federal election this year the printing contract was awarded to Peterborough Printing Ltd. by Returning Officer McClellan. Max Swanston who is manager of the Peterborough Printing Co., was also Liberal candidate.

The actual printing was done here in Peterborough but some of the typesetting was done in Lindsay in what Glenn Price of Local 248, ITU, described as an open shop.

"We're not playing politics," said Mr. Price, who is also president of the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council. "But we do think that the Peterborough voters' list should have been done in Peterborough — regardless of what the Review's politics are."

(It is no secret that politics do enter into the awarding of the printing contracts. In the provincial election the Review, a Progressive Conservative weekly, gets the printing contract; in the federal election Peterborough Printing gets it.)

MONEY IN CITY

"The money should have stayed in Peterborough," said Mr. Price.

Returning Officer McClellan said today that he was only interested in getting the voters' list completed at the price laid down by the government and at the proper time. How Peterborough Printing got its type set once the contract was awarded was no concern of his, he said.

"Our job was to get the printing done on time and still make a dollar," Mr. Swanston, Liberal candidate in the last federal election commented.

Two Well-Diggers Burned By Electric Charge As Boom Touches Wires

Buckhorn Man Burned From Ankles To Hips In Critical Condition, Digging At House South of Lakefield

Two well-diggers were knocked unconscious and their clothing was set on fire when a bolt of electricity from hydro wires carrying 7,200 volts passed down a boom they were operating at 11 a.m. today. The two men were erecting a well-drilling machine when the boom came in contact with the wires and they were sent sprawling from the shock. The accident occurred on the Ralph Beavis lot, two miles south of Lakefield on the east side of Highway 28.

In St. Joseph's Hospital in critical condition is 61-year-old Murray Barr of Buckhorn. He is semi-conscious after receiving burns from his ankles to his hips.

Also seriously burned is Peter McNeeley, 42, of Buckhorn, a veteran welldigger, who is a former Peterborough resident. McNeeley also has severe cuts and bruises on his head that he received when struck by the spinning crank.

McNeeley and his helper, Barr, a pensioner, moved the well-drilling machine into the Beavis lot early today. They were putting up the boom and cranking the manually-operated drill cable when the boom touched the hydro wires.

The primary load of the hydro line is 7,200 volts and a charge of electricity passed down the metal cable into the ground. The bulk of the charge is believed to have been dissipated harmlessly but a portion of it struck the two men who were cranking a winch.

TWO MEN IN HEAP

William Bolton, the contractor, heard the boom fall but did not at first notice that anything was wrong. Then he saw the two men unconscious and sprawled in a heap. Their clothing was burning from the strength of the charge.

After throwing a pail of water on them to put out the fire Bolton phoned for help. Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield gave first aid at the scene and then he took McNeely, who by this time had revived sufficiently to talk, to hospital in Peterborough. Barr was brought to hospital by ambulance.

Had it not been for the metal cable leading to the ground—thus taking up the main force of the charge—it is believed both men would have been instantly electrocuted.

Barr, a pensioner, now does odd jobs and had just gone out with McNeeley today to help him erect the machine. His wife, Mrs. Lottie Barr, was waiting for him to come home to dinner when she heard from the Examiner that he was in hospital.

Retail Stores Agree To Stay Closed At Night

Members of the Retail Section of the Chamber of Commerce decided Wednesday at a special meeting that they would respect the city bylaw against night opening and remained closed Friday night.

Both the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the directors of the Retail Section and representatives from each classification, except the hardware and paint sections were present.

All were in accord with staying closed Friday night, except the ladies' wear classification. About 65 per cent of the ladies' wear group were in favor of staying closed on Friday night and the other 35 per cent wanted to remain open, said Don Lewis, chairman of the retail section.

About two weeks ago a group of ladies' wear retail stores, The Women's Wear Association of Peterborough, announced that beginning this Friday they would open Friday evenings.

City Clerk Outram said that he had received no petition from any retail store group asking for an amendment to the existing bylaw.

In an advertisement in tonight's Examiner, 13 ladies' wear stores state their intention to remain closed Friday night. Seven other stores which also handle dresses and other women's apparel have joined the ranks of those who intend to stay closed.

Penitent Burglar

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Lola Montez told police Wednesday her penthouse apartment was ransacked of $600 worth of valuables by a burglar who left behind this note:

"Lola—Please forgive me for recking (sic) your apartment in the manner which I did. I did not know this was your plase. I am an admirer of yours. Your very beautiful."

THE GENTLE TISSUE

TUNA TOURNMENT—Five members of teams competing in the 10th international tuna cup match at Wedgeport, N.S., admire two of the big fish they will be seeking. At left, leaning against a 562-pounder, is George Bass, Oxford, Mich., of the United States team. Between the two bluefins is Pablo P. Bardin, Buenos Aires, captain of the Argentine anglers. Kneeling in front of a giant 784-pound tuna is Pedro P. Kohly, Havana, captain of the Cuban team. To the right and behind Kohly is captain of the British Empire squad Major Cyril H. Frisby, Guildford, Surrey, England. Patting the big tuna, largest caught this season, is Miguel Barrenechea, Mexico's captain.

Parisian Asks Bar Ass'n. Defend Freedom, Dignity

QUEBEC (CP)—Canadian lawyers were challenged Wednesday night to remain "without respite or weakening, the defenders of that which is the essence of our common civilization—the defence of man's freedom and human dignity."

"We are all engaged in a spiritual war which knows no truce and in which we must remain always under arms," Georges Chrestell, batonnier of the Paris bar, said at a banquet of the Canadian Bar Association's 35th annual meeting.

Mr. Chrestell, who spoke in French before the predominantly-English-speaking gathering, said lawyers in a number of European countries he visited were solidly united in the fight.

"All are armed with a great purpose in the safeguarding of this solidarity necessary to the defence of the essence of civilization.

"Despite differences in languages, customs and constitution, I say lawyers and jurists fulfil a common mission, are engaged in the same battle and are members of the great family of servants of justice."

Leading today's schedule were meetings of provincial groups of the association whose week-long meeting was formally opened Wednesday.

Provincial meetings scheduled to be held today are those of British Columbia, Alberta, Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Ontario and Quebec.

Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island provincial meetings will be held Friday.

Also on the program today are committee meetings assigned to study such problems as administration of criminal justice, administration of civil justice, civil liberties, maritime law, legal educaton and training and taxation.

Wednesday's meeting of the industrial relations committee adopted a resolution asking that a legislation be enacted to provide a 48-hour strike or walkout notice in labor disputes.

It also adopted a resolution suggesting that legislation should be enacted to provide that trade unions be made legal entities. This would mean that unions could sue or be sued for damages resulting from labor disputes.

Marmora News

Mrs. Oakes, of Toronto, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Pearce and Mr. Pearce.

Mr. Earl Wilkes is a patient in Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Mrs. George Mantle left for Ottawa on Wednesday to visit relatives. She will later proceed to Montreal to embark on a trip to England to visit relatives in the Birmingham district.

Dr. R. Shatford was admitted to Belleville General Hospital on Monday for an operation for appendicitis.

Earl Blakely, who is employed at the Nepheline mine, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Blakely on Monday and attended Marmora Fair.

Marmora Council No. 279, Reliable Life Insurance Society, met at the home of the Chief Councillor, Mrs. I. B. Nichol, on Tuesday. Following business some readings were given and the hostess served refreshments.

Jimmy and Karen Nobes, twin children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nobes, received about 30 young guests on Friday at a party at their home marking their seventh birthday. Games were enjoyed followed by refreshments and a shower of gifts.

May Reclassify Cleaning Plants

Tentatively approving a city council request to reclassify dry cleaning plants as light industries, the city planning board will seek advice of the fire marshal and city engineer before okaying the use of a Park St. North building for cleaning purposes.

The building, 6 Park St. N., is of solid concrete construction and the prospective operator, Haley Windsor of Barrie, assured the board Tuesday night it would be equipped with all fire protections connected with the business.

Equipment in the structure will include 100 to 150 gallons of inflammable cleaning solvent but Mr. Windsor said it would be adequately contained for a maximum of protection.

The area surrounding the building is not classed as a light industrial area while dry cleaning establishments are specified as heavy industries.

It is on the request of the council, however, that the board is taking steps to reclassify the industry.

Asters, Chrysanthemums Flowers For September

By R. W. OLIVER,
Division of Horticulture
Central Experimental Farm

Gardening is never monotonous. You can even change your own preference for particular flowers from year to year without feeling that you are hurting anyone's feelings, or blushing over your fickleness. So in September you can swing from one of these three to the other for the main show. That is one reason why the nursery business is good: so many people throw out old plants and buy new ones.

From a gardening point of view September used to mean asters as far as I was concerned. Perhaps you prefer to call them Michaelmas daises to distinguish them from the China asters (which are midsummer annuals botanically called Callishtephus). I like them for their hardiness and sunny golden centers surrounded by flat rosy or purple ray florets. You can get them in such a wide range of tints of white to red or violet that combine well with the various yellow and orange flowers so common this month.

NEWER VARIETIES

There are the newer dwarf varieties like Marjorie which makes neat small mounds of rose daisies or Countess of Dudley which grows much more vigorously to 15" tall. Then there are numerous varieties of middle height (2' to 3') belonging to the group known as Nova Belgae, such as Beechwood Challenger which is a very live rosy red, Mount Everest for a white or Climax as a clear blue. In the mid height group if you like to be more venturesome try some of the Amellus group such as King George violet, Gen. Pershing a soft pink or Wonder of Staffa. The flowers are larger and brighter but they are less hardy and dependable.

Then there are the tall New England group like Ryecroft purple or Harrington's pink which are always good background plants in the border. They should be planted so far apart that there is always room around them for a group of tulips or daffodils for spring bloom.

Culture of asters is fairly easy too, if you dodge the tender and disease susceptible varieties. It is always wise to apply a fungicde to the foliage from late June onward to ward off mildew and other diseases and use rotenone or DDT to fight tarnished plant bugs and others; aphids too will take their toll unless you fight back with nicotine but this is common to most plants.

AVERAGE GARDEN LOAM

Good average garden loam is best, of course, though they grow in almost anything. Like all other plants they like moisture and food and while they prefer good drainage they do fairly well in moist spots.

Every three or four years at most the old clumps should be dug up in spring and torn apart, resetting the young healthy divisions from around the outside and throwing out the woody central portion. Tall and intermediate varieties should be set about 18" apart with 3-5 plants in a group to give mass effect. Dwarfs should be planted more thickly (8"-12".)

Asters are very useful still but no longer alone.

About twenty years ago Mr. Alex Cummings of Bristol, Conn. started to put hardiness into garden chrysanthemums to make useful garden plants for the north-eastern States. Others followed suit and we now have a great flood of new varieties on the market each spring. Since 1937 we have tried out hundreds at the Experimental Farm but precious few of them have proven even reasonably hardy. That means that new plants have to be used each spring, either purchased from nurseries or propagated from your own plants that have been protected.

FOR INSULATION

Dry leaves, straw or fibre glass blankets can be used as insulation with a box turned upside down over the top to shed moisture. At the farm we lift one clump of each variety to be saved in October and place it in a deep flat (4") in a covered cold frame where it remains until mid February. Then it is taken into the greenhouse where by the middle of March the new shoots are about 4" long. Cuttings are taken from the strongest shoots and rooted in sharp sand under cheese-cloth shade.

Early in April they are potted up into 2½" pots and moved on into 4" pots when ready. To keep them from forming bloom buds at expense of growth it is better to hang an electric light over the bench to be sure the light period is more than thirteen hours a day. By this practice you can have plants fully rooted in 4" pots by June first. If you have no greenhouse you will have to be satisfied with dividing the old clump in May rather than growing the larger number of plants from cuttings. Here too you should use only the young healthy growth from the outside of the clump and discard the old woody centre part.

Chrysanthemums make a great show when we have a suitable season without bad frosts in September, but they are a lot of work and cannot be depended on for a main show. A few in a garden are worthwhile. The following we have found among the most dependable in Ottawa:

Low—Cushion type, white, pink, yellow, bronze, apricot.

Medium 15"-20"—Harbor lights, maroon n' gold, Eugena A. Wander, glacier.

Tall 20"-30"—Avalanche, yellow Iowa, Sept. cloud, Sept. gold, Sept. bronze, huntsman.

SPECIALISTS FLOWERS

Dahlias aside from the Coltness gem and Unwin hybrids, are specialists flowers, but they are beginning to grow on me. In spite of the care they require and the troubles that hound them, they are beautiful when well grown and provide such a variable wealth of color and form that they demand recognition from all and become a very satisfactory hobby for a few.

By far the most exacting of the three, they require good loam soil well drained and well enriched. They need a lot of moisture, but quickly drop their buds and turn yellow of leaf if they stand in it. They grow tall on nitrogen, but again drop their buds and refuse to bloom unless the nitrogen is balanced by accompanying phosphorus and particularly potash. Rotenone spray should be their constant treatment to ward off tarnished plant bugs and flea beetles which are always trying to prevent buds from opening or make blossoms lopsided.

They should be allowed to bloom until knocked down by frost. Then the stems should be cut off an inch or two above ground and the roots dug up and turned upside down in the sun for a full day. This allows earth to dry out and moisture to drain from the hollow stem. The clumps of tubers should be stored in very slightly moistured sand or peat moss in a cool cellar over winter. Too much moisture will cause rot, but they must not be allowed to shrivel in a dry cellar.

In April or May the clumps should be separated. It is necessary to have a portion of the stem which contains a bud attached to each separate tuber. They may be started indoors in pots if early bloom is desired or set in the ground about May fifteenth.

There are countless good varieties, but we would suggest that the beginner start with the smaller flowered Coltness gem or Unwin hybrids grown from seed sown indoors in March or obtain plants in pots next May on the market. As the habit grows the large flowered types can be procured.

Picture is currently showing at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

Two Elderly Folk Die In Montreal Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—Two elderly persons were fatally burned and two others are in critical condition in hospital after an early morning fire Wednesday gutted a three-storey rooming house on east-end DeBullion St.

Dead are Mrs. Annie Murphy, 71, and Napoleon Brouillette, 72. They suffered third-degree burns in the fire. In hospital are Louis Dutilld, 58, and Mrs. Alphonse Gadoura, 58.

Some 16 persons in the house were forced to leap from second and third-storey windows as flames raced through the building.

Dr. H. W. Chamberlain Kelvin Physician Dies

NORWICH (CP)—Dr. H. W. Chamberlain, widely-known physician in the Kelvin district, five miles east of here, died Tuesday night in Brantford General Hospital in his 70th year.

Dr. Chamberlain was active in game and fish preservation. He was a director and past president of the Huron and Erie Federation of Anglers and Hunters and a member and past president of the Norfolk Fish and Game Association.

Mrs. Lewis Austin of South Porcupine, Ont., is a daughter.

Plan Agreements For Post-Death Pay

BRANTFORD (CP)—This city will draw up agreements with citizens who want to guarantee payment after their death for hospital, medical and ambulance services or for money owing to the welfare department.

Mayor Howard Winter said city council has authorized him and city clerk E. J. Campbell to draw up such agreements. The plan is for citizens to give the city assignments in the form of non-interest bearing mortgages for the amount of the debt incurred.

Ald. J. L. Pocock, finance committee chairman, said such assignments are voluntary and that there is no compulsion or pressure by the city for such an agreement.

Fall Proves Fatal

TORONTO (CP)—Two industrial accidents Wednesday resulted in one man being fatally injured and another so badly injured that he may lose the fingers of one hand. Dead is Frank Langdon, 52, who fell from a loading platform at the Maple Leaf Milling Company. Gordon Duncan, 25, was taken to hospital after both his hands were crushed in a rubber moulding machine at the Viceroy Manufacturing Company. Plant.

Town Planning More Modern In United States

CALGARY (CP) — Town planning in the United States is much more expressive of the motor age than in Canada, A. G. Martin, head of the Calgary town planning department, says.

"Generally, U. S. communities are much more concerned with technical aspects of the planning than we are and in this respect they are more modern than Canadians," said Mr. Martin, recently returned from San Francisco where he was an observer at the annual national meeting of the American Institute of Planners.

"The main feature of their planning is emphasis on decentralization."

U. S. town planning survey and research techniques were especially highly developed with respect to growth of commercial and residential areas.

ALL CONSIDERED

Various details such as buying power, psychology, extent and quality of transportation and recreation required by inhabitants all were considered while planning U. S. centres. Towns were planned the same way as large industrial plants.

On the other hand, in the aspect of administrative power, the U. S. town planner worked only as an adviser. The administration was often incapable of co-ordinating private developments.

"Legislation in Canada contributes to the co-operation with neighboring municipalities to an extent which is hardly possible in the U. S.," Mr. Martin said.

MORE SUCCESSFUL

As far as urban accomplishments were concerned, the U. S. was more successful in handling traffic than Canada. The Americans tackled the parking problem 10 to 15 years sooner, and their traffic regulations were more up-to-date than Canada's.

Mr. Martin said free and express ways, one-way traffic flow, prohibition of parking on many streets and strict enforcement of regulations should become models for Canadian traffic.

"Of course, cities cannot successfully handle the present and future traffic problem themselves. If we are going to develop express and free ways in the cities, we will need the help of senior governments. Today traffic is not only a municipal but also a vital national problem."

WATCH OUT FOR JAY-BIRD WALKERS—Two daredevil German acrobats nonchalantly travel by motorcycle and trapeze bar over a cable stretched between a Long Beach, Calif., hotel and the Municipal Auditorium, while anxious crowds watch. Running out of gas was their only problem.

Just Dropped In

PETITCODIAC, N.B. (CP)—Anxious neighbors flocked to the scene expecting a crash after they saw a light two-seater plane come to earth under a tree on Guy Killiam's farm. The pilot, Floyd Killiam, had arrived with a friend from Boston to visit his parents.

Formidable Visitor

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Night telegraph operators at the railway station here, Norman Scott, froze at his key in the early morning hours when he discovered he had a visitor. Scott didn't move a muscle while an inquisitive skunk gave the place a thorough inspection, then departed without incident.

Planning Board Turns Down Extra Apartment

Licencing to construct a fifth apartment in a duplex building at Downey and Simcoe Sts. was denied Samuel Moldaver by the city planning board Tuesday night, while a second request for approval of the construction of a double duplex at Dumble Ave. and Argyle St. was postponed.

Mr. Moldaver was originally granted a licence for a double duplex at his Downey-Simcoe site. Since then, however, surveys have given him an extra 540 square feet of property and he requested authority for a basement apartment, too.

Since, however, the extra apartment would put Moldaver's building out of a double duplex class and into the apartment house class, the request was denied for two reasons.

Apartment houses must be built on lots with a minimum of 9,000 square feet was one reason given. Moldaver's lot is slightly over 6,000 square feet.

Secondly, zoning laws in the area prohibit the construction of apartments. These two reasons pretty well threw a damper into the builder's plans.

His second request was shelved because the area where Mr. Moldaver planned to build has not yet been zoned by the city. Plans are underway to undertake the project, however.

Big Demand

REGINA (CP)—Growing demand for electricity was shown in cold figures when the Saskatchewan Power Corporation reported net kilowatt-hour production increased nearly 20 per cent in the first six months of 1953 compared with last year.

Happy Meeting

WOLFVILLE, N.S. (CP)—Sister and brother saw each other for the first time in 48 years here when Fred Mallam of Methuen, Mass., with his wife, came to visit his sister Mrs. William Harmon and her husband.

Slow Store Service, High Prices Noted By Boys Visiting Canada

LEEDS, England (CP)—Canada comes in for some complimentary statements from a group of 40 British school boys who spent a month touring Quebec and Ontario.

In letters to the Yorkshire Post, Bradford, Yorks, students along on the tour credited the Canadians they met with deep loyalty to the Queen and Commonwealth, overwhelming hospitality, foresight and independence.

On the debit side were "terribly slow" store service and high prices, the latter criticism tempered by acknowledgment of equally high wages and standard of living.

One youngster advised Britons to forget any notions they might have that Canada favors closer ties with the United States, at the expense of the Commonwealth.

In fact, he added, Canadians think the Queen should spend more time in Canada, and they lay heavy emphasis on their desire for more emigrants from the United Kingdom.

Hospitality was almost "unbelievable," as illustrated by the Vancouver pen pal who travelled to Toronto see his English counterpart. The distance involved impressed the party.

Also remarked on was the satisfaction of the Canadian with his own "very fine" way of life as compared with a Briton's. Noted, too, were air conditioning, a Montreal store's practice of providing a free taxi ride home for persons purchasing more than $10 worth of goods and the large number of Montreal and Toronto churches just completed or being built.

The group was drawn from English and Scottish cities under the auspices of the W. H. Rhodes Canada educational trusts, started by Bradford businessman W. H. Rhodes in 1938.

TENEMENT FIRE—Firemen in Chicago battle a tenement blaze which took the lives of at least 14 persons. Police say three other residents are "unaccounted for". Six of the known dead are small children.

Bees Take Over At School Opening

HARRISTON, Ont. (CP)—A one-room Minto township school near here, known to generations of students as the "beehive" school, failed to open Tuesday—but it was a hive of industry just the same.

Early comers to classes found swarms of bees in possession, so the teacher and her 15 pupils went on holiday until the insects are evicted—next Monday at least.

The school's name is said to have come about through the presence nearby, several years ago, of a number of apiaries.

The remaining bees are believed to have a cache of honey in the school walls.

Harrison is about 40 miles north of Stratford.

Seeks To Shed Husband

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Susan Hayward filed suit for divorce here Tuesday. The actress charged her actor husband, Jess Barker, with mental cruelty. The couple was married in 1944.

Struck By Car, Two Killed Near Toronto

ELGIN MILLS (CP)—Two persons were killed Wednesday night when they got off a bus here and were struck by a car.

The victims were John Brown, 70, and his housekeeper, Ethel Treloar, 65, both of Elgin Mills. Police said they were crossing the highway when the accident occurred. They said the driver was George McIntyre, 28, of Toronto.

Elgin Mills is 15 miles north of Toronto.

Armed Bandit Gets $1,500 At Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—An armed man Wednesday held up a north-end branch of the Royal Bank of Canada and escaped with an estimated $1,500.

The man handed a woman teller a note saying in French: "Hand me large bills quickly or I'll fire." Manager A. R. Kyle said the other tellers and customers in the bank at the time were unaware of the holdup until the teller began to cry.

Search Australian Wilderness For Lost Gold Coin

By JAMES TONKIN

PERTH, Western Australia (Reuters)—Adventure and the hope of solving a century-old mystery have lured William Grayden, young Australian member of Parliament, to lead an expedition into the wild uninhabited regions of Western Australia.

His expedition, comprising two companions, three aborigine porters and two well-laden jeeps with trailers, may bring back gold coins minted in England and left in the West Australia wilderness by Ludwig Leichhardt, German explorer, who disappeared while trying to cross Australia's dead heart in 1849.

First objective of the expedition is the Warburton and Rawlinson range country where natives have reported the presence of an iron box and the remains of wagon wheels.

If they meet with no success there, the searchers will press up toward the border of the northern territory.

Ludwig Leichhardt came to Australia in 1841 from Germany to continue his geological and botanical research.

After preliminary exploration work, he conceived the idea of crossing the continent from east to west. His first attempt began in December 1846 but by the following July he was back in Queensland, ill and half starved.

Two years later, Leichhardt organized another expedition and set out from the Darling Downs, Queensland, with a party of six white men, two natives and a large number of horses, mules, bullocks and goats. He intended to cross the continent to the Swan river, in Western Australia.

The last letter received from him was dated April 3, 1848. The fate of Leichhardt and his companions after that is unknown.

Leichhardt's expedition carried 200 gold sovereigns. In addition to the chest and remains of wagon wheels the natives — who have never seen coins—say that round pieces of metal are scattered in the Laverton area.

At Laverton, a remote gold mining centre, there is confidence that the expedition will find Leichhardt's last camp.

But others who also are familiar with the country say they doubt that Leichhardt ever got as far west as Western Australia.

Traces of him are more likely to be found, they say, in the Simpson desert, in the northern territory.

Even if he does not solve the Leichhardt mystery, Grayden at least will collect specimens of frogs and trapdoor spiders for Perth University's bilogy department and take motion pictures showing the life of native tribesmen in the area.

Former AP Editor Dies In Brookline

BROOKLINE, Mass. (CP)—Wilfred E. Playfair, 71, former editor of the Boston bureau of The Associated Press who got his journalistic start in Canada, died Wednesday.

He retired last January from the Boston Herald where he had served as city editor and Sunday feature writer.

Born in Playfair, Ont.—named for his great grandfather—he had his first job as young man on the Montreal Herald.

He joined the Boston Herald in 1907 and worked on papers in Victoria and Vancouver before serving with the Canadian Army in Siberia in the First World War.

Playfair was the first outside reporter to arrive in Halifax when an ammunition ship blew up and set the city afire in December 1917.

Playfair covered the Sacco-Vanzetti trial and was the only newspaperman to see them die in the electric chair at Charlestown state prison.

Teeswater Minister Huron Presbytery Head

SEAFORTH (CP)—Rev. A. J. Simpson of Teeswater was unanimously elected moderator of the Huron-Maitland Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church at sessions in first church here.

During the business session Rev. D. G. Campbell, outgoing moderator, reported on the budget and said the target for the budget of $1,000,000 was catching the imagination of the whole church.

Rev. J. R. MacDonald outlined a plan whereby congregations are asked to underwrite the cost of mailing the Presbyterian Record to every home.

Dionne Quints Spend Last Holiday Together

NORTH BAY (CP)—The Dionne quintuplets have ended what will probably be their last long summer holiday together for years.

Two of the 19-year-old quints, Annette and Cecile, left their nearby Corbeil home Tuesday night to resume studies at Nicolet, Que. Later this week two of the others will head eastward, Yvonne to specialize in art at Notre Dame congregation in Montreal and Emilie to join her two sisters at Nicolet.

Marie will leave for Quebec City in about two months to enter the convent of the Order of the Servants of the Holy Sacrament.

Grain Elevator Topples

CEYLON, Sask. (CP)—A 55-foot-high grain elevator, filled to capacity with 25,000 bushels of grain, toppled off its base Wednesday and crashed across railway tracks near the Canadian National Railway station at this small Prairie town, 71 miles south of Regina. No one was injured. The elevator was built about 1910.

Attendance of voters in Swedish elections has increased from 55 per cent in 1920 to about 80 per cent in 1952.

DUTCH "TREAT" FOR SCHOUWEN ISLAND—Tugs butt the last of dozens of huge concrete-laden caissons into place, as the last link in a protective wall against the sea is completed around Schouwen Island, The Netherlands. Many houses on the island, hard-hit by floods of last spring, are still partially submerged.

Buy Ranger Brewery

MONTREAL (CP)—Dow Brewery Ltd., Wednesday announced the purchase of more than 98 per cent of the outstanding shares of Ranger Brewing Company Limited of Kitchener. The Kitchener plant will be used in the production of Dow products.

The true Saltine. Thin as a wafer ... delightfully crisp ... specially blended for lightness and fresh, fine flavor. Extra tempting with soups, cheese and spreads.

Autumn Is Heyday For Vegetarians

BY MARY MOORE

Can you pickling friends bear it if for today I neglect you in favor of the desperate girl who writes this letter?:

"Dear M. M. : Help! Help! Beans! Corn! Peas! Tomatoes! Cabbage! Cauliflower! Cucumbers! Carrots! Beets! They are all ready to use now. Please suggest lunch and dinner menus planned around vegetables. "Thank you for the many excellent recipes in the past. I use a great many of them especially like those using skim milk and whole wheat flour.

"Have you seen the booklet published by the Ontario Department of Agriculture called "Your Money's Worth in Food". Next to your column it is the most helpful and healthful little booklet I have. (I have a drawerful too.) Also would you sometime publish a recipe for large tapioca—the "fish eye" variety—thanking you for past and present help—H. Marjorie C."

There are a few rules you should observe if you are going to be a successful vegetable plate cook: Serve at least one green, one red orange, one white vegetable to give the plate eye appeal; one soft and one crispy vegetable; only one strong flavored vegetable such as onion, cabbage or turnip; vary the shapes.

I believe the following menu conforms to all of these rules.

VEGETABLE PICTURE PLATE

Corn on the Cob
Cauliflower with Cheese Sauce
Baked Crumbed Tomatoes
New Green Peas or Shredded Green Beans

CAULIFLOWER WITH CHEESE SAUCE

Do not over cook the cauliflower. It should still retain a little crispness. Longer cooking results in sogginess, greyness and strong undesirable flavor. Serve with Cheese Sauce: For 1½ cups sauce melt 2½ tablespoons butter, stir in 2½ tablespoons flour and ¼ teaspoon salt and, if desired, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard. Stir in 1 cup milk until thick. (If milk is preheated this step is quicker.) Add ½ cup grated old cheese or cut up process cheese and heat and stir until cheese is melted. For a change cheese may be omitted and ¼ cup each chopped parsley and chives added. The latter is delicious on potatoes or finely shredded cabbage. Omit the mustard and add 1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice if you want to use the latter on fish.

BAKED CRUMBED TOMATOES

Peel and cut green core from large tomatoes and cut in halves crosswise. Sprinkle with buttered and salted fine white breadcrumbs. (If cheese is not to be used on another vegetable a little may be sprinkled on these.) Bake or broil until tomatoes are heated through and barely tender. It is safe to peel tomatoes for baking if they are served on the dish in which they are baked. If not don't peel them or they will break easily when being transferred to serving dish.

Another vegetable plate menu calling for the vegetables that H. Marjorie C. has in her garden is:

Breaded Fried Cucumbers
Shredded Steamed or Baked Beets (in covered casserole)
Buttered Spinach with Shredded Almonds
Stuffed Baked Potatoes with Cheese

Directions: The peeled raw beets are shredded on the fine shredder into a small casserole with a cover. Add 2 tablespoons each butter and hot water and a sprinkle of salt and pepper. Cover and bake about 40 minutes OR less if these are baked in very hot oven with potatoes. Please do try the shredded almonds on the buttered spinach. It makes quite a party dish and adds protein to this meal. Bake large potatoes until very tender. Scoop out centres without damaging the jackets. Mash with butter, salt, and grated old cheese, refill jackets, and heat through again, browning top.

Watch for your "fish-eye" tapioca dish in a few days.

SAVE 2½¢ on every cupful you use!

You save when you buy the big thrifty gallon jug instead of smaller bottles.

Leave For Timmins

Leaving today for Timmins to attend the four-day annual meeting of the Ontario Provincial Council, Catholic Women's League, are Miss Anne Sullivan of Ennismore and Miss Agnes Grant of Peterborough. Miss Sullivan, who is vice president of the Peterborough Diocesan Council, is the official delegate of the Council. Miss Grant is a provincial convener and is attending in this capacity. She is also an officer of the Diocesan Council here. The formal opening will take place Saturday morning, following a holy hour at which Most Rev. John C. Cody, Bishop of London and national director of the CWL, will speak on "The spiritual rejuvenation of marriage, parenthood and family life." Provincial president Miss Catherine Toal of London will preside at all sessions.

✧ ✧ ✧

George St. WMS Opens

The WMS of George St. United Church met on Tuesday afternoon with a fairly good attendance. Mrs. M. J. Fitzgerald and Mrs. S. Staples received at the door. Mrs. J. Schaffer opened with a hymn and prayer asking God's guidance and wisdom to help all to continue to make the missionary work a success. There were very satisfactory reports given by the conveners. Mrs. Wesley Shaw read the scripture and Mrs. Offa Williamson led in prayer. Mrs. D. A. McKinnon accepted the offering. Mrs. Charlton McBride was guest speaker taking as her theme, "We must preach the gospel." Mrs. McBride was a delegate for the Evening Auxiliary at the School for Leaders held in Whitby. She told several interesting stories given by the home missionairies who were present at the school, which proved that their work is not in vain and that there are ways and means of making the work reach farther. The new study book was also displayed, the title being "Where 'ere the Sun."

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Townsley of 58 Ware Street celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last Saturday by entertaining about 100 friends for supper and dancing. Mrs. Townsley was formerly Pearl F. Gray of Peterborough and they were married on September 5th, 1928 in this city. The bridesmaid, formerly Anne Townsley and now Mrs. Harold Withers, and the groomsman, Mr. Vert Reynolds, were both present, and the latter again proposed a toast to the bride. Mr. Stanley Bailey reminisced on his acquaintance with Mrs. Townsley since she was a little girl and Mrs. Walter Terrace told the guests of knowing Mr. Townsley all his life. An outstanding gift among the many the couple received was a green vase in the form of a horn of plenty which was filled with flowers and 25 silver dollars. The friends from out of the city who were present were Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnson and Mrs. Ethel Townsley of Hespeler, Mrs. Lillie Richardson of Pontypool and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bailey, Mrs. Alta Leggitt, Mrs. N. Sheckleton and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Withers, all from Toronto.

Knox Mission Band Meets

Thirty-four boys and girls met in the assembly hall of Knox Church Wednesday for the first Mission Band session of the new study. Leroy Sarginson was in the chair and Evelyn Simpson read minutes of the previous meeting. Nadine McGregor gave the treasurer's report. Using a visual-aid, Gordon Sarginson reported for temperance. Susan Gertley and Ann Londerville were "The Inseparable Twins," representing work and worship. A gold "W" mounted on a circular piece of red felt represents "worship," and a red "W" mounted on a gold felt represents "work." Two different work and worship twins are to be chosen for each meeting, and they wear these crests on the front of their sweaters for that day's meeting. In reading the stories from "The Round Window," the study book for the primary age, the authors of "The Inseparable Twins," a guide book prepared by Aileen Ratz and Miranda Brown, two United Church home missionaries, learned that "people cannot really worship God unless they were willing to work for Him and because "worship without the willingness to work is futile."

The Round Window is a book of stories telling how boys and girls work and worship in other churches around the world. The junior study book, "Many Hands in Many Lands," by Alice Geer Kelsey, will provide an opportunity to learn about boys and girls who really work as well as worship in the Christian Church—in lands like Burma and Mexico, as well as ones like Japan and Korea where the United Church does missionary work. The meeting was closed with a credo, "I believe in making this world a happy place for everyone, and I will do my part."

Leaders for the meeting were Mrs. D. Richardson, Mrs. C. H. Ross and Mrs. R. Hanscom.

MR. AND MRS. ELMER CHARLES BULLOCK, the bride formerly Miss Rose Marie Allen, were married Saturday at St. Luke's Anglican Church. —(Choate Studio Photo)

Bullock-Allen

At St. Luke's Anglican Church on Saturday Canon Walter J. Gilling performed the marriage of Rose Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Allen of RR 4, Peterborough, and Elmer Charles Bullock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bullock of Lakefield.

The bride was gowned in white satin, fashioned on princess lines, with an overdress of French rosepoint lace and nylon net, made with long sleeves and a nylon net yoke trimmed with pearls, the skirt falling into a slight train at the back, below the bodice, fastening with tiny covered buttons. Her veil formed a coronet headdress. She carried a bouque tof white roses.

Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by her sister, Miss Betty Allen, and Miss Barbara Marchen and little Jane Wyatt was flower-girl. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in ankle-length bouffant gowns of peacock blue taffeta with overdresses, stoles and mittens of powder blue net, and headdresses of the net caught with tiny seed pearls. The flower-girl was in a rose taffeta dress and wore a similar headdress of pink net. Each carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and white baby 'mums.

Mr. Sanford Bullock was groomsman for his brother, and ushers were the bride's brother, Robert Allen, and the groom's cousin, Harold Sage. Mr. Victor Coleman sang during the signing of the register.

The reception was held at the bride's home. Her mother received in a gown of sky blue nylon and wore a rose feather hat and a corsage of rose gladioli. The groom's mother wore navy sheer with a rose hat and her corsage was pink gladioli.

Leaving later on a wedding trip to points east, the bride was wearing a rose knitted suit with navy accessories.

The couple will live on Armour Road in Peterborough.

Gillis-MacPherson Nuptials

A lovely wedding was at St. Peter's Cathedral Wednesday morning when Noreen Cecelia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. J. MacPherson of Peterborough, became the bride of Mr. Daniel Joseph Gillis, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gillis of St. John, New Brunswick.

The Rev. Cyril J. Carroll of Norwood, cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Marian Best Aman, also a cousin of the bride. Miss Geraldine Collins sang "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

Bouquets of pink gladioli were on the altar and tall standards filled with pink gladioli decorated the cathedral.

The bride's gown was of white nylon French organdy over taffeta with inserts of nylon organdy lace. She wore a white chapel veil held with a coronet of seed pearls and her bouquet was a cascade of Shasta daisies and stephanotis.

She was given in marriage by her sister Miss Margaret MacPherson who was in a frock of coronation blue net over taffeta and wore a Juliet cap of matching material. She carried a bouquet of Colonial pink Butterfly roses.

Groomsman was Mr. John R. Rolston of Ottawa, brother-in-law of the groom. Ushers were J. L. Paquette and P. D. Scollard.

The reception of wedding guests took place at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Mrs. MacPherson received, wearing a navy crepe gown and matching hat and her corsage was of pink Dream roses.

The bridal couple are going to Ottawa and St. John, N.B., on their wedding trip. For travelling the bride chose a silver grey nylon shantung suit, a black picture hat and black accessories.

They will live at Terrace Bay, Ontario.

Mrs. C. Seymour Hostess To WMS

FAIRMOUNT—The Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Carmen Seymour, with 12 members present. In the absence of the pr[illegible] Mrs. R. F. McIndoo, the vice-president, Mrs. H. M. S. McBain, took charge. During the business session it was decided that the annual fall thank-offering will be held at the next meeting.

Mrs. W. J. Seymour conducted the worship service. Mrs. McBain completed the Study Book, and Mrs. Downes introduced the new book, "Where'ere the Sun." Jesus shall reign where'ere the sun. Even where there are no organized churches, you will find Christians, and the sun never sets on the Christian church, she said.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah. The hostesses served a dainty lunch and a social half-hour was spent.

The term "double cloth" referring to coating materials means that the fabric differs in color or pattern on each side. There is no lining in this case. These coats are warm, sometimes heavy and likely to be expensive.

Pot washing can be an easier chore if these tips are followed: Use hot water to soak pans that were used for cooking fat and sugar; cold water should be used for pans that contained milk, eggs or starchy foods.

LEAVING ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL following their marriage Wednesday morning are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Joseph Gillis who are going to live in Terrace Bay, Ontario. Mrs. Gillis is the former Miss Noreen MacPherson. —(Roy Studio Photo)

DOROTHY DIX:

Husband Aided His Wife Wonders If He Spoiled Her

DEAR MISS DIX: Linda and I have been married for ten years, during six of which we were very happy. We have six children, and while I realize a family is lots of work for the mother, I did everything I could to help, such as washing dishes, scrubbing floors and sometimes cooking. I worked hard at two jobs to make the money for the nice home we have. My wife has never been an efficient housekeeper, and admits this shortcoming. Recently, however, she is becoming downright neglectful of the children. Do you think it's because I've given her too much help and have spoiled her? I'm studying to get a promotion in my job, and at present haven't the time to do much work at home.

ROY J.

HUSBAND SHOULD HELP WIFE

ANSWER: Most emphatically, do not think you have spoiled your wife; get that idea out of your head. The mother of six children has so much to do that assistance from her husband isn't going to constitute pampering. Some women are naturally efficient, others must painstakingly acquire household skills and, at that, never approach the competence of their more capable friends. Usually they have other fine qualities for compensation, but you'll never remake a careless housekeeper into a paragon of domesticity. Naturally you are not going to condone flagrant carelessness, or slovenly habits, but your wife apparently doesn't go to this extreme. She is merely a middle-of-the road housekeeper who finds it more difficult to cope with a large family than other women might. She at least has a large family, and many a quite admirable home manager would be floored at the prospect of so sizable a brood.

Your job, I gather, is one with exacting requirements; perhaps you could introduce some of its short cuts into your own kitchen. There isn't too much you can do to change your wife's temperament, but by having your home equipped with such labor-saving devices as a washing machine, dishwasher, perhaps even a drier, and an ironer, you would reduce the physical requirements on Linda. It would leave more time for her to devote to the children. Work out a schedule for her, but don't expect it to be kept to the minute. Schedules should be guides, not driving masters.

Make a point of glancing through a couple of home magazines each month and direct her attention to new methods of housekeeping. Above all, don't forget a bit of recreation for the girl. She's quite bogged down with the burden of housekeeping and childbearing that came to her at quite an early age. An occasional evening out will do more than a month of nagging.

BABY'S CRY IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. The "pain cry" should have instant attention. If it is caused by the distress due to gas on the stomach or bowels or those common digestive upsets try Baby's Own Tablets.

As one Ontario mother reports, — "It used to be a worry what to use when my baby had an upset spell, needed a regulator. Well that problem was solved when my sister said, 'Give Baby's Own Tablets.' And during teething time—when babies are feverish, restless due to irregularity or have an upset tummy—Baby's Own Tablets not only relieve efficiently, but do it quickly. I wouldn't be without them."

Equally effective for constipation, digestive upsets, and other minor infant troubles such as the restlessness and fretfulness resulting from irregularity at teething. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Get a package today at your druggist.

Marmora News

Mr. and Mrs. Denis Healey, Mr. Frank Healey and Mr. Michael Cassidy of Stoco and Mrs. Donald Flynn of Kingston spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Philip Flynn.

Miss Ruth Bateman, daughter of Township Clerk and Mrs. T. J. Bateman left for Whitby on Wednesday to enter Ontario Ladies College there.

The Rev. K. J. Crawford and Mr. H. W. Sabine attended Presbytery at Selby on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. Long has returned to Fort William after visiting friends here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McWilliams of Hastings have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sopha.

Mrs. Stella Cairns has returned to Bloomfield after visiting her sister, Mrs. G. W. Henderson.

Master Charles McCracken has returned to Peterborough after spending summer holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sopha.

Wallace McCracken of Peterborough spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sopha and attended Marmora Fair.

Darrel Sopha of Cordova spent last week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sopha.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman of 40, divorced three years from a drunkard. I have two children, and when I saw the bad example that was being set for them, I left their father and moved to another state. Since then I have met a man I love, and have a two-year-old girl by him. The man is very fond of us all, but refuses to marry me since his first marriage was unsuccessful. I can see no future for us, but don't like to deprive the children of a father.

T. O.

ANSWER: You removed your children from one bad example, but I can't see where you are setting such a good one for them now. You have one illegitimate child, and have placed yourself in the unenviable position of having no claim on the man whatsoever. He can pack up and go anytime he pleases, throwing off whatever small responsibilities he has acquired, and you have no redress. Better have your position legalized, or leave.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going out weekends with a boy who works away from home during the week. I like him very much, and am anxious to know what he thinks of me. Would it be all right for me to write and ask him how he feels? I'm 16 and he's 18.

S. E.

ANSWER: Don't, by any means, force the boy into a declaration of feeling that he's not prepared to make. Give him time.

SEW-WRAP-GO

You're beautifully dressed in 1-2-3 . . . just walk in, wrap and button! Joy to sew—no fitting problems! Cinch to iron—it opens flat. As a bonus of charm, bind the novel pockets and bodice with contrast color. Make the shorter version too, for a cobbler apron.

Pattern 9364: Misses' Sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20; 40. Sizes 16 takes 4¼ yards 35-inch fabric.

This easy-to-use pattern gives perfect fit. Complete, illustrated Sew Chart shows you every step.

Frost's Refusal Frost's Reprisal

MONTREAL (CP)—C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) today criticized Premier Frost's rejection of his request that a labor-management conference be called to discuss issues in the current strike of miners in the Timmins, Ont., area.

In Toronto it was disclosed that the Ontario premier sent Mr. Millard a letter Wednesday stating he could see nothing to be gained in calling such a conference.

Addressing a national policy conference of his union here, Mr. Millard said he had tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to contact Premier Frost in Toronto. Mr. Millard said he knew nothing of the premier's letter until he got on a Montreal-bound plane Wednesday night and read it in a Toronto newspaper.

"From a company standpoint it could not have been a better letter than if the mine management had written it themselves," said Mr. Millard.

Strikers Return To Mine Jobs

TIMMINS (CP)—Employees at the strike-bound Broulan Reef gold mines near here continued to return to work today without any incidents.

Pickets ignored a caravan of cars as they entered the main gates. Mine officials said the cars contained more than 100 workers and that the mine was practically in full operation.

Despite the return to work, members of local 100 of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) were still on strike at the mine. Their action spread to Broulan Reef and the neighboring Hallnor mines.

The strikers walked out early in July to back up demands for higher wages and shorter working hours.

Worker Electrocuted

BROCKVILLE (CP)—Lorne Ferguson, 40, of nearby Mallorytown was killed Wednesday when he came in contact with a power line while painting a light standard in the village.

Mossadegh Said Hunger Striking In Iran Prison

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that Iran's ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh, is hunger striking in his jail cell near Tehran.

The Times said Mossadegh also demands to see a lawyer about drawing up a will.

Robert C. Doty, in a Tehran dispatch, quoted an "exceptionally well qualified government source" as saying Mossadegh violently protested his transfer from an undisclosed prison to the Saltanatabad army barracks near the Iranian capital. He was reported to have demanded that his captors "kill me now" and then announced his intention to refuse food.

The highly emotional old leader, who is in his 70s, faces charges of rebellion against the shah. On Aug. 16, Mossadegh ignored a royal decree ousting him as premier. Three days later a pro-Royalist uprising toppled Mossadegh.

The actions of Mossadegh and his supporters are considered punishable by death by the present regime of Premier Maj.-Gen. Fazollah Zahedi.

In Tehran, meanwhile, the foreign ministry announced Wednesday that it will strip decorations from six former Iranian diplomats, dismissed because they sided with Mossadegh during the shah's brief flight to Iraq and Italy.

The Iranian finance ministry issued a communique Wednesday complaining that $45,00,000 in promised U. S. emergency aid was "by no means enough to compensate for the unlimited destruction of Iran's economic and financial means."

Finance Minister Ali Amini said the grant would be used to meet budget deficits and not to wipe out the huge debt run up by Mossadegh.

Thieves Get Safe, $1,500

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Thieves entered the Canadian Tire Corporation associate store here Wednesday night and made off with a 600-lb safe. Police said it contained about $1,500.

SAFE! SURER! FASTEST!

Won't damage pipes. Clears completely even when water won't ooze through. Acts faster than any other product.

Fly 7 Polio Victims To Toronto Hospital

KENORA (CP) — Dr. L. M. Stuart, director of the Kenora-Keewatin-Dryden area health unit, announced Wednesday that seven local children, all polio victims, are to be flown to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

Arrangements are being made through the Ontario chapter of the Polio Foundation of Canada, which administers the polio fund raised by the March of Dimes.

Viennese Takes Course At McGill

MONTREAL (CP)—Gustav Haslehner, 22, of Vienna will take post-graduate studies in economics at McGill University this coming term under a fellowship provided by Canadian delegates to the May congress in Vienna of the International Chamber of Commerce.

This is the fellowship which has been described as replacing a cocktail party. Canadian delegates, meeting one morning in Vienna's Konzerthaus, where the international chamber's congress was held, to repay the hospitality extended to them decided "one more reception" of any kind would be superfluous, and the fellowship was provided instead.

They communicated their decision to Chancellor Julius Raab of Austria in the only personal reception given by the chancellor to any delegation, and the chancellor recently made his choice from among a number of applicants. Mr. Haslehner holds a degree from Vienna's University of Commerce.

Cobalt Fire Damage Set Near $100,000

COBALT (CP) — The machine shop of the Cobalt Foundry and Machine Shop was destroyed Wednesday night in a fire believed caused by a short circuit. Damage estimates ranged to $100,000.

Volunteer firemen in this silver-mining centre about 90 miles north of North Bay and from nearby Haileybury in a two-hour battle prevented the blaze from spreading to the adjoining foundry and grinding room. They were slightly damaged by water and smoke.

Garry Brown, 17, who was working in the foundry about 11 p. m., turned in the alarm after hearing an explosion among electric motors at one end of the building.

Within minutes the machine shop, which covers an area of 75 or 50 feet, was an inferno.

Most of the foundry's 30 employees turned out to help firemen.

Hog Quarantine Bars Lifted At Stratford

STRATFORD (CP)—The quarantine barring entry of hogs to the farm of Aaron Kapufer of Peffers, 20 miles north of here, was lifted today.

Officials of the dominion department of agriculture imposed the quarantine May 19 because of hog cholera, and destroyed 98 hogs there.

Carries Sad Wire

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—A telegram was handed to Glenn Smith, a Western Union messenger, for delivery Wednesday. Addressed to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Dock R. Smith, it reported that Pte. Robert L. Smith, the messenger's brother, was accidentally drowned Aug. 29 in Korea.

Scots Shocked By Thomson's Buying Of Paper

LONDON (CP)—World's Press News, journal of the British newspaper trade, says the purchase of the Scotsman newspaper by Toronto-born Roy Thomson came as a "shock" to many of the paper's middle-class business, professional and intellectual readers.

Thomson's acquisition of the Scotsman, the Edinburgh Evening Dispatch and The Weekly Scotsman was announced last Wednesday. In a lengthy article today from a "correspondent in Scotland" World's Press News says the Canadian publisher's intervention in Scottish journalism is regarded with as much suspicion as the earlier one of Lord Beaverbrook, also Canadian-born. Lord Beaverbrook publishes the Express group of newspapers.

"It is confidently expected that he (Thomson) will have further shocks for his readers," says World's Press News. "Among the first, no doubt, will be news on the front page." In common with some older British newspapers, the Scotsman now has advertisements on its front page.

CIRCULATION BATTLE

The World's Press News article also forecasts the possibility of a circulation battle between the Canadian Thomson and British publisher D. C. Thomson owner of the Dundee Evening Telegraph. World's Press News says there may be increased competition between the Evening Dispatch and the Evening Telegraph.

In the same issue of World's Press News is an editorial on the purchase of the Scotsman and a comment by the columnist "Sentinel," who says the acquisition of so venerable a newspaper by a Canadian sounded to many British journalists "like the lifting of the coronation stone in reverse."

(This was a reference to the theft by Scottish nationalists of the coronation stone, taken from Westminster Abbey Dec. 25, 1950.)

Seek To Link Theft With Two Escapees

HAILEYBURY (CP) — Police here today were attempting to connect the theft of a car Wednesday with the rumored presence of two escaped convicts in this northern Ontario town.

There have been reports that Joseph and Percy Coe, who escaped last week from Collins Bay penitentiary near Kingston, have been seen here.

Wednesday a car owned by Harold Brunette was stolen. Police said they thought the two escaped convicts may have taken it to flee the district. The Coe brothers' home is in nearby North Cobalt.

Farm Escapee Nabbed Soon After Break-Out

TIMMINS (CP)—Frank Henry, 23, was recaptured late Wednesday night in a box car near Porquis Junction six hours after he escaped from nearby Monteith industrial farm.

Henry was serving a five-month term for breaking and entering at North Bay.

Joan Mary Cavanagh

Requiem mass was celebrated Monday at Immaculate Conception Church by the Rev. J. J. Greenan for 10-year-old Joan Mary Cavanagh. The little girl, daughter of Patrick Cavanagh, 220 Munroe Ave., died Friday after a lengthy illness.

Pupils of the Immaculate Conception school formed a guard of honor at the funeral. Pallbearers were Ken Garvey, Terry Heard, Mel Innes, Jim Ayotte. Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery where the graveside prayers were said by the Rev. J. O'Sullivan.

Try RoK Officers

SEOUL (AP)—Three high ranking South Korean army officers, including a brigadier general, are being tried by a high military court at Taegu on charges of violating South Korea's national security law. Details of the charges were not divulged. The former chief of the RoK army intelligence bureau, Brig. - Gen. Kim Chong Pyung, was arrested with his father, Lt.-Col. Kim Bong Kil, and former chief of staff of the RoK 1st Corps, Col. Kim Wha San.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Georges Michel, the French baker, set a record of 11 hours five minutes for the English Channel swim 27 years ago today. Michel came to Canada the following year to place second in the 1927 Canadian National Exhibition 21-mile marathon swim at Toronto, won by Ernst Vierkotter of Germany. The listed record for the channel swim now is 10 hours 49 minutes by Abd El Rehim of Egypt in 1950.

New Motel In Otonabee Twp.

A ten-unit motel on Highway 7 about three miles east of the city is a project of a Cobourg man who has received Otonabee council permission to build.

Donald Deyell, assessor of the township and also building inspector, informed the Examiner today that he had not been consulted yet about a building permit.

Location of the proposed motel is said to be on the south side of the highway in the vicinity of the Town and Country restaurant, which is on the north side of No. 7. It is understood that the plans provide a central residence with five living units extending from two sides. A Cobourg man named Lacey is the only identification of the expected proprietor from enquiries in the Otonabee neighborhood of the Sixth Line. The site is described as lot 27 in the ninth concession.

Labor Leader Raps CMA Head

OTTAWA (CP)— Donald MacDonald, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, today accused the pesident of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association of making misleading statements that would cause resentment among low-income workers.

In a statement, Mr. MacDonald referred to a Labor Day message by J. D. Ferguson of Montreal, CMA president, in which Mr. Ferguson said that "labor is receiving its full share of the national wealth."

Mr. MacDonald said it is "obvious" to any one who has observed the financial reports of Canada's major corporations, industrial production records and the rising consumers' price index "that workers have yet to secure a just portion of the national wealth."

"Mr. Ferguson called for greater co-operation between labor and management. Organized labor has offered that hand of co-operation to industry on many occasions to assist with mutual problems. This offer has not always received the welcome response it merits."

He said there is room for considerable improvement before a just income for the majority of Canadians is reached in view of the census reports that 75 per cent of heads of Canadian families earn less than $3,000 a year.

Smokes Cost More

ATHENS (Reuters)—Greeks will pay more for their cigarets to help the 85,000 homeless of the earthquake-stricken Ionian islands under budget proposals announced by Finance Minister Constantine Papayannis. New houses, inland postage and totalisator betting will also be made more expensive to raise 172,000,000,000 drachmas (more than $5,500,000) for relief work.

Man Jailed Three Months On Fraud Charge

Roy Taylor, alias Roy Tyler, 31, of 51 George St., Trenton, pleaded guilty to a charge of false pretences in obtaining a car, and was sentenced to three months definite and one month definite by Magistrate W. R. Philp today.

Taylor's real name, Roy Durwood Tyler, appeared on another charge, now over three years old, dealing with a false cheque issued in Belleville, to which he also pleaded guilty.

According to Austin Morris, sales representative of Godson Motors, Tyler gave him a $265 cheque as downpayment on a 1950 model car he purchased August 27. Presented at the bank, the cheque bounced and a few days later, Tyler phoned the dealer from Trenton to say the cheque was phony and he was returning the car.

On his way back after a few days had elapsed, OPP officers picked Tyler up at Belleville.

RECORD TO 1941

Tyler's record dates back to 1941 and includes several charges of false pretences, uttering and theft. He has been given a total of three and a half years in suspended sentences, 31 months definite in jail, and four months indefinite.

SON NEEDED

Appearing on behalf of her son, Mrs. Tyler pleaded for a suspended sentence. She claimed the man's younger brother is invalided and her husband suffers from a heart condition.

"We need him badly," she exclaimed and blamed his record on eight motorcycle crashes he had while soldiering as a dispatch rider. "We only have Durwood left; he was alway a good boy . . . he hasn't done anything criminal, only foolish things."

Suspended sentence, however, was beyond the power of Magistrate Philp to mete. Tyler will serve the three and one sentence in reformatory and the two-month sentence on the Belleville charge concurrently.

Sell Ant Eggs

HELSINKI (Reuters)—Ant eggs have become a steady Finnish export, with Britain as the main buyer, customs figures published here stated. Last year 50,000 pounds of them were sold abroad to feed caged birds and aquarium fishes, as against only 25 pounds sold in Finland itself.

Studebaker Lay Off

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Studebaker Corp. announced today it will lay off between 5,000 and 6,000 employees this week-end because of a one-third cutback in passenger car production starting Sept. 14. Harold S. Vance, Studebaker president, cited slower deliveries as the reason for the cutback.

Anti-Reds Beaten

PUSAN, Korea (AP) — The United Nations prisoner command reported today five anti-Communist North Korean prisoners were beaten, one fatally, in a "non-political" feud among 77 internees en route to the demilitarized zone. The group, from stockades on Koje island, was held up while an investigation was made.

Right To Loiter

HOUSTON (AP)—A man of 84 years "has a right to loiter," mayor Roy Hofheinz exclaimed Wednesday. Hearing the appeal of an 84-year-old man arrested Monday in a pool hall, the mayor volunteered to pass a hat around and take up collection, should a fine be levied against the man.

2 Beauties Win Preliminaries

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A southern belle who can sing and a Pennsylvania lass who's a knockout in a white bathing suit led the field of beauties today in the race for the Miss America 1954 title.

Miss Virginia, 22-year-old Anne Lee Ceglis of Norfolk, and Miss Pennsylvania, Evelyn Margaret Ay, 20, of Ephrata, won preliminary contests Wednesday night before an enthusiastic crowd of 5,800 in Convention Hall.

Her rendition of "O Mio Bambino Caro" from a Puccini opera gave the brown-haired Miss Virginia the nod over 16 other girls in the talent test.

Miss Pennsylvania won out over 17 others in the bathing suit elimination. Green-eyed, like Miss Ceglis, but with ash blonde hair, she stands 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 132 pounds, has a 37-inch bust and a 24-inch waist.

These preliminary triumphs netted points towards the Miss America crown, which will be awarded to the grand winner Saturday night.

Canada's entry is Kathleen Archibald, a 19-year-old brunette from Kelowna, B. C.

Superintendent Quits Counties Job

COBOURG (ENS)—Jack Jordan, road superintendent for Northumberland and Durham counties since 1945, has tendered his resignation to the counties, effective in October.

Mr. Jordan leaves to assume a similar position in Waterloo county. He has been receiving $4,000 a year from the counties, plus $200 a year from the Trenton Suburban Road Commission and his scale of salary is lower than some counties smaller than the combined counties of Northumberland and Durham.

Mr. Jordan asked for a $500 increase last January and was turned down.

It is recalled that the former county assessor, Dick Hall, asked for a small increase, was turned down and took a job with a much larger salary, the same as Mr. Jordan.

The counties council here will advertise for a new road superintendent at a salary of $4,000 per year. Some members are pessimistic that there will be any response from experienced road engineers.

3 Sentenced To Death For Pacific Slaying

NIUE, New Hebrides (Reuters) Three South Sea islanders today were sentenced to death for murdering the resident commissioner of this remote island while he slept.

The three—Latoatama, Foliolu and Tamaeli—escaped from prison the night of Aug. 16, entered the home of C. H. W. Larsen shortly afterward, and hacked him to death with bush knives.

They also wounded the victim's wife as she slept beside him. Mrs. Jessie Larsen appeared in court Wednesday with her right arm in a plaster cast to identify the men.

Queens' Colt Still In Jumpy Mood

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—The Queen's thoroughbred, Aureole, was in one of his awkward moods today—despite secret nerve treatment from a bearded "healer."

The three-year-old chestnut colt, hot 11-to-8 favorite for Saturday's St. Leger at Doncaster, gave jockey Harry Carr plenty of trouble during a training gallop. Carr had to cajole and humor the colt before it would jump off for his seven-furlongs gallop.

Charles Brook, 65-year-old Londoner who calls himself a "human battery," has been trying to cure temperamental Aureole of his prerace restlessness. Brook said he places his fingers on Aureole's shoulders and transfers "healing impulses" to the colt's nervous system.

Trains Collide

AIX-EN - PROVENCE, France (AP)—A passenger train plowed into the rear of a freight train standing in the station Wednesday. Seventeen persons were injured.

Western Canada Booming F. Paterson Finds In Visit

"You can't imagine the booming development of western Canada. You have to see it," Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, said today on his return from a holiday trip to the Pacific coast.

"We know that we have come through a substantial expanson in Peterborough. And, that it is true. But, you ought to see Prince George. They have 30 hotels, and that is one of the smaller places.

"Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, growing tremendously, but what do we know here about Kimberley Their boast is the largest lead and zinc mines in the world, and their income tax averages higher than any other place in British Columbia. We have often heard of the Trail mining operations, another booming community. Kitimat expects to have a population of 50,000 in the next two years.

"Newcomers in Dawson Cre are living in anything; buildi can't keep up with the influx; a a lot of good homes are goi up, too.

"We got part way into the Pea River district, 200 miles squar the finest crops I ever saw It beautiful country. They have b crops of wheat and barley, and th grow a lot of the small seeds.

"Sexsmith is not much more tha a crossroads settlement, hardly village, but they have the reco for the greatest number of ca loads of grain in Canada."

Mr. Paterson made the trip b train, accompanied by Mrs. Pate son. They visited their marrie daughter in southern British Colun bia.

"It is too bad that our easter people are not really aware what is going on in the west. Ther is a great story about Edmonto and Calgary alone, their reachin out in all directions with new build ing developments.

GRAIN, OIL, MINERALS

"Grain, oil and minerals stan out in the picture, and the genera impression is the amazing growt of the country everywhere. Mayb it is too much to describe the Peac River district as a new empir in itself, and in other aspects yo find another such empire bein opened up in the heart of Britis Columbia."

Mr. Paterson said the new whea crop is about a month late in som sections. Weather conditions varie in seeding time last spring. Som farmers got their crop in betwee rains. They are now harvesting Not far from some of them ar other farmers who either waite or were otherwise delayed, an their grain was green when Mr Paterson saw it. Patchy is the de scriptive word for a lot of it.

Threat Of Fire In Boston Ends

BOSTON (AP)—The threat of explosions or fire from gasoline that leaked from an undetermined source over a half-mile section of east Boston was removed today.

Firemen continued to flush out storm drains and police kept a guard in the area but a main highway through the district, which houses 100 big fuel tanks, was opened this morning to traffic.

A five-square-mile zone was closed Wednesday night and residents were warned not to smoke or light matches. Most of the leaked gasoline was flushed into Chelsea creek.

Wednesday night Deputy Fire Chief John Clougherty had said: "If this thing goes, God help us all."

Buggy Driver Thrown At Fair Speed Tests

STIRLING (ENS)—At Napanee Fair Wednesday afternoon during the speed test John Sheridan of Stirling was thrown from his buggy when a horse driven by Mr. Gerow of Picton and owned by Mr. Sheridan caught the buggy breaking one wheel.

Mr. Sheridan was unhurt and took his buggy to Peterborough today for repairs.

WAR ANNIVERSARY—Fourteen years after Canada declared war on Nazi Germany, Sept. 10, 1939, more than half this country's 1953-54 expenditures of $4,473,000,000 are earmarked for defence. Some of the changes between fighting in the Second World War and today are shown: (top) a speedy F-86 jet of today is much faster than the propeller-driven Spitfire of the 1939-45 conflict; (centre) tank warfare of the Second World War was replaced to some extent in the Korean war by crawl trenches such as this one with Brig. John M. Rockingham, first commander of the 25th Brigade, inspecting it; (bottom) the gallant corvette on convoy duty is being replaced by a deadly destroyer-escort vessel shown at right in an artist's conception.

Present Preview of Progress At Peterborough Exhibition

Previews of Progress, a dramatic, admission-free, non-technical science show sponsored by General Motors of Canada, will be presented for the first time in this district at the Peterborough Exhibition, Sept. 15-19. The show has just completed a successful tour of Western Canada.

Theme of the 1953 production, which also is touring the United States, Mexico, Australia, South Africa, and Europe, is that there are unlimited opportunities awaiting youth in the fields of science and engineering.

Jet propulsion, according to the narrators of the show, is more than 2,000 years old. To prove that statement, they will present a replica of Hero's aeolipile, circa 200 B.C., which was the world's first known jet engine.

The modern application of jet propulsion will be illustrated in two ways. First, a miniature jet engine, operating on the same principle of the German V-1 buzz bomb, will be placed in actual operation after being anchored in place. The blast of its high pressure flame creates a roar that fills the entire tent.

Following this demonstration, models of a Douglas Skystreak fighter plane and a V-2 rocket will be driven at high speeds from one end of the tent to the other, propelled by tiny but powerful jets of compressed gas.

But the experiment that compares with any feat of magic is the manufacture of synthetic rubber. The demonstrator merefly pours two liquids into a pop bottle and shakes it for a few seconds. In less than a minute, out jumps a large ball of white fluffy rubber—12 or 15 times the volume of the bottle in which it was contained.

C. L. McCuen, vice-president in charge of General Motors research laboratories, said recently: "The pursuit of scientific knowledge is a search that never ends. Previews of Progress dramatizes this process in anunusual stage presentation that provides a glifmpse into the workings of free men in a competitive society."

Canada's Peacetime Force Largest In Nation's History

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada declared war against Nazi Germany 14 years ago today.

But the anniversary of the greatest military conflict in history does not find the world at peace. Relations between the non-Communist and the Communist countries are tense and Canadians are focusing uneasy eyes on many world trouble spots where Red agitators are at work.

Canada and her Allies went to war with Germany and later Italy and Japan to defeat the Nazi-Fascist dream of world conquest. The western powers won the struggle, but the conflict was hardly over before the threat of Communist aggression arose.

The western Allies, to protect themselves and to prevent the outbreak of a third world war, pooled their military resources under the North Atlantic Treaty. Formidable forces now are poised to meet any attempt to achieve world domination.

WAR DECLARATION

Canada's decision to join in the battle against German aggression was taken Sept. 10, 1939, at a special session of Parliament. It came seven days after the United Kingdom declared war Sept. 3, the day Hitler's forces marched across the Polish frontier.

The Nazi invasion of Poland signalled the start of a war which engulfed the world's major powers as well as a large number of lesser countries before it ended in 1945.

Canadian forces made a major contribution to the Allied victory. They fought on land, sea and in the air on most of the world battlefronts. And 41,901 gave their lives to preserve the democratic way of life.

The anniversary of the start of the Second World War came a month and a few days after the signing of the Korean truce. The cease-fire brought a tentative end to the first major conflict since the last war, but much remains before there is permanent peace in Korea. The task is the responsibility of the Korean peace conference set up by the UN General Assembly Aug. 28.

ROLE IN KOREA

Canadian forces played a major role in the Korean fighting. They included an infantry brigade of approximately 5,000 men, three destroyers and a squadron of RCAF transport aircraft. The defence department's latest casualty figures show that 294 members of the Canadian Army and three members of the navy died in action in the 37-month war.

But Korea is only one of the major international problems facing the world.

Communist-led Vietminh and French Union forces are continuing their war in Indo-China. Revolts and disturbances have broken out in Iran, Egypt, Malaya, Morocco and East Germany. Purges have occurred in Russia and other Iron-Curtain countries. And the NATO countries of France and Italy face shaky futures.

The anniversary also is observed at a time when Canada has large forces in Europe as its contribution to NATO. A 5,000-man infantry brigade is stationed in Germany and an air division of speedy F-86 jet fighters is bolstering western defences in Britain and in Europe.

MAJOR DEFENCE EFFORT

But the Canadian forces in Korea and in Europe represent only a small part of this country's defence build-up.

The three armed services now have a strength of 105,443 men, including 15,782 in the navy, 48,232 in the army, and 41,429 in the air force. This is the largest peacetime force in Canada's history.

This military strength called for a tremendous financial outlay by Canadian taxpayers. Defence expenditures declined after the end of the Second World War, increased slightly with the advent of the cold war and then rose sharply with the outbreak of the Korean fighting.

More than half of the government's 1953-54 expenditures of $4,473,000,000 are earmarked for defence.

However, Canada's current strength is small in comparison with the forces she built up to help win the last war. In the 1939-45 conflict the navy had a peak of 106,522 and the air force 215,000. The army's top strength overseas was 287,713 men, while the total intake was 730,625.

GAVE THEIR LIVES

The Canadian dead in the Second World War included 22,964 members of the army, 17,100 from the air force and 1,837 from the navy. These figures do not include Canadian merchant seamen.

The Royal Canadian Navy saw action in the North Atlantic, the Pacific, the Bay of Biscay, the North sea, the Mediterranean and on the north Russian convoy route. It operated more than 400 combat ships, including two cruisers and two British-owned aircraft carriers and about 600 auxiliary vessels of all types.

The main job was convoying supplies across the Atlantic. During the 2,060 days of war, the navy escorted about 181,643,180 tons of cargo from North American ports to the United Kingdom.

Canadian naval vessels alone or in company with other Allied ships sank 27 enemy U-boats and sank, destroyed or captured 42 other enemy surface ships. The navy lost 27 of its own ships and seven motor torpedo boats.

Canadian forces served in the United Kingdom, Africa, Italy, northwest Europe and the Aleutian Islands. They were among the Allied troops that landed on the Normandy beaches on D-day and participated in many raids along the west coast of Europe before the invasion. The most famous of these forays was the Dieppe raid on Aug. 19, 1942, in which 907 Canadians were killed. The total includes 71 who died in German prisoner of war camps.

Canadian troops were also stationed at the British colony of Hong Kong when Japan went to war in December, 1941. A total of 290 Canadians lost their lives when Japanese forces captured the fortress.

MIGHTY AIR FORCE

The air force became the world's fourth largest air power during the Second World War. At the peak of its strength it had 47 squadrons overseas and 40 in Canada. Canadian airmen played a leading role in Allied bomber attacks on continental targets and in the defence of the United Kingdom.

The air force also operated the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan in Canada. By the end of the war 131,553 aircrew had been trained, including 50,000 pilots, at 97 training schools.

Six enemy submarines were sunk by aircraft of the Eastern Air Command and one by those of the Western Air Command in conjunction with ships of the U.S. Navy.

One of the major jobs undertaken by the air force was the protection of convoys carrying vital supplies across the Atlantic. Constant patrolling and frequent attacks helped to keep enemy submarines away from the convoys.

The Western Air Command also helped in driving the Japanese out of the Aleutian islands.

Boy 2½, Killed Pinned Beneath Trailer Tongue

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Two-and-a-half year old Jackie McGee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGee, of Percy township, was almost instantly killed on Thursday when the tongue of a trailer on which the boy is believed to have been climbing fell on him and pinned him to the ground.

The little fellow was playing in the drive shed of his father's farm, about six miles west of Campbellford.

His mother saw him playing shortly before noon, but when dinner was ready, he could not be found. Mr. and Mrs. McGee started looking for the child, and Mrs. McGee discovered him under the tongue of the trailer in the drive shed. He was carried into the house. Doctors and police were called, but the child died before help could arrive.

The trailer on which the boy apparently climbed is of the two-wheel type. It was resting with the rear portion on the ground and the tongue extending at an angle into the air. The boy apparently grasped the end of this tongue, causing the weight of the trailer to come forward, pinning him under the tongue on the ground.

USED TO MACHINERY

The lad was used to being around machinery and was quite active in assisting his father around the farm.

He is survived by his parents and three sisters, Leona, 11, Dianne, 9, and Pauline, 7. Mrs. McGee is under a doctor's care, suffering shock.

Dr. F. M. Dure, coroner of Brighton, who investigated, said the child died of shock and other

Sailor's Wife Stows On Ship

MONTREAL (CP)—For a brief moment today Maurice Castle, 20-year-old seaman on the British freighter Cairnesk, held his pretty 19-year-old Scottish wife in his arms as he awaited the arrival of Canadian immigration officials to take her away.

The parting came 12 days after Christine Castle tossed caution to the winds and stowed away aboard her husband's ship at Grangemouth, England, without his knowing about it. They have been married only six months.

Christine, who said she believed that "when two people are in love" they ought to be together, surrendered to ship's officers when the ship was several days at sea. Today, after two hours on Canadian soil she was headed back to England—on another ship, the Cairndhu, bound for Newcastle and Leith.

"It wasn't exactly a honeymoon," Christine said, "but i'm not sorry I did it. It was well worth it."

Robbers Grab $6,700 Payroll

TORONTO (CP)—Armed men snatched a $6,700 payroll outside a downtown Richmond street office building today.

Police said two men took the payroll from an employee of Howarth and Smith, Richmond street firm, as he was about to deliver it to the plant.

Blast Under Street Kills 1, Injures 50

CLEVELAND (AP)—A gas explosion under a three-quarter-mile long section of West 117th St. late Thursday killed a woman motorist and injured at least 50 persons in rush hour crowds, some severely.

Mrs. Katherine Szabo, 40, died in hospital of injuries received when she was pinned in a concrete-crushed automobile.

Flying concrete and popping manhole covers caused injuries that sent 50 other motorists or pedestrians to three hospitals.

Fire chief Elmer Cain said "many things underground were broken—among them gas mains," but he would not pinpoint a cause of the blast which firemen at first said resulted from a broken natural gas main. An East Ohio Gas Co. spokesman said he was convinced sewer gas and not gas from his company's lines set off the explosion.

Reds Admit Holding Back UN Prisoners

Report 22 U.S. Fliers Kept In China To Be Used As Lever

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A Red source admitted today for the first time that the Communists are holding back some Allied war prisoners who want to go home.

A Communist correspondent, Wilfred Burchett, said a crack U.S. jet pilot and an undisclosed number of other Allied airmen are being held as special prisoners because the Communists say they were shot down over Manchuria—forbidden territory to Allied pilots in the Korean war.

A repatriated U.S. Air Force major, David F. MacGhee, of Tampa, Fla., said earlier this week he had learned from an "extremely reliable" Chinese Red that the Communists planned to intern 22 U.S. fliers in Manchuria "until the United States recognizes Red China."

Allied officers have said unofficially there may be other airmen still held by the Communists and one source said the number totalled about 35.

HOLD JET-ACE

Burchett of the Paris L'Humanite, who often reflects official Red thinking, said one of the prisoners is double-jet ace, Capt. Harold E. Fischer, Jr., of Swea City, Iowa.

Burchett said release of the airmen would have to be negotiated through "diplomatic channels," but he did not elaborate.

The Allied command demanded Wednesday that the Reds account for about 3,500 Allied troops—three of them Canadians — who were known once to be prisoners, but who were not released in the recent PoW exchange.

The Communists have indicated they would reject the demand, but have not said when they would reply officially.

Fischer disappeared last April 7. The Red Peiping radio said April 9 the 27-year-old flier was captured after being shot down in a dogfight over Manchuria. His wingman last saw him battling a Red fighter near the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria.

Miners Continue Return To Work

TIMMINS (CP) — Employees continued to return to work today at the striking Broulan Reef gold mine and mine superintendent John Girvan said that with more than 100 of the 205 hourly rated employees back the company has again set up two shifts.

Pickets ignored the men returning to work.

The strikers, members of Local 100 of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), walked out two months ago to back up demands for higher wages and shorter working hours.

Heavily-armed cruisers and officers on foot have been on patrol on the property and township roads since the Sept. 2 gun battle between two men and 30 police.

TUC Approves Red Motion Asking Big 4 Peace Talks

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (Reuters) Britain's "middle of the road" Trade Union Congress today approved a Communist-sponsored motion calling on the government to press for Big Four peace talks but threw out another Communist motion which asked for a re-armament cut.

Delegates representing 8,000,000 British trade unionists took the advice of their leaders in rejecting the rearmament demand after they were told it would commit Britain to unilateral action.

"We would support all-round disarmament but will not back a resolution which would weaken Britain while other nations grow stronger," said Arthur Deakin, congress vice-president.

The trade unionists, rushing through a piled up agenda on the last day of their week-long conference here, also rejected a demand by the Chemical Workers Union which asked the British trade union movement to take the initiative in creating a Socialist "third force" to "fill the vacuum between Russia and the United States."

R. Edwards, general secretary of the chemical workers, said the world was dominated by two mighty powers "snarling at one another."

"A mere incident can plunge our universe into a devastating war," he said. He declared that the recent West German elections were held with the Russians and Americans "trying to tell the German workers how they should vote—a deliberate, calculated intervention against our Socialist movement in Germany."

"The people of Europe do not need the gestapo of Russia or the witch-hunting of America to tell them how to vote," said Edwards.

Deakin opposed the proposal on behalf of the general council, the congress' policy-making body. It had never been part of Socialist policy to create a third force, he said.

A "third force" in conflict with the policies of the United Nations would be doing a lasting disservice to peace, he said.

Deakin said he shuddered to think what British Communists would have said if any government in the world had used the methods of the Communists in East Germany.

Thousands On Quake-Shattered Cyprus Kneel In Prayer As Sharp Tremors Cease

PAPHOS, Cyprus (Reuters) —Thousands of Cypriots knelt in prayer at dawn today in thankfulness for a quiet night after earthquakes which devastated the Paphos area of western Cyprus Thursday.

They had spent the night in the open away from their crumbling homes in 135 villages within a 20-mile radius of Paphos, where, according to legend, Venus first rose from the waves. Many villages were destroyed in a matter of seconds by the tremors.

The assistant commissioner had died in the Paphos region for Paphos, Achilleas Papadolpoulos, said today 37 persons and one at Limassol. An official communique put the figure at 40.

People in the fields outside Paphos looked, from a distance, like a large army encamped outside a besieged city.

Seen close up, the campers were frightened refugees sitting and leaning against pitiful bundles of belongings—beds, blankets, sewing machines and clothes.

Through the night trucks rumbled on the roads from Nicosia and Famagusta, bringing up tents and supplies of the homeless.

By tonight it is hoped many hundreds will be sheltered under canvas.

British servicemen have been ordered to give all possible assistance to the stricken islanders and the aircraft carrier Theseus, the destroyer Saintes and tank landing ship Reggio are on their way here from the Greek port of Piraeus.

In Stroumbi, a prosperous wine-making village, 500 buildings including the church have been reduced to rubble and debris. Thirteen women and children died here.

Ottawa Orders Investigation Of Charges Of Railway Slave Labor

WINNIPEG (CP)—The federal government Thursday ordered an immediate investigation of a charge by The Pas Chamber of Commerce that the Lynn Lake rail project in northern Manitoba is being built under conditions bordering on slave labor. The chamber said the story—denied in its entirety by the Canadian National Railways and its contractors—was brought into the Manitoba community by a group of immigrant workers who said they were fleeing from hardship.

Some 600 men are working on the project, a 144-mile CNR extension being carried out by the R. F. Welch Ltd. construction company from Sherridon to a new mining camp at Lynn Lake.

The appeal for a federal investigation was made by the chamber in letters to the departments of immigration and labor and to George Weaver, Liberal member of Parliament for Churchill, and F. L. Jobin, Liberal Progressive member of the Manitoba legislature for The Pas.

QUOTE CHARGES

The letters said, in part:

"We are informed slave labor conditions exist, with immigrants, unable to speak or understand English, being forced to work up to 15 hours a day, being fed an almost-exclusive diet of macaroni, and not receiving any amenities of life. . . ."

In Port Arthur, A. Moffatt, general manager of the Welch company, said the report "is not only false and not backed up by facts, it is only hearsay."

"We would welcome an investigation," he said. "Our camps, except for a couple of line points, are the best in Canada or the United States. Most camps are oil heated and have electricity and 90 per cent of the men sleep in single bunks.

"They work a 10-hour day, but may work as long as they wish with overtime as there is little entertainment. They are making from $300 to $400 a month."

He said the food was good.

A CNR spokesman said a recent official inspection of living and working conditions on the Lynn Lake line showed they were "exceptionally good."

Police Not Certain About Identification

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Police said today they are uncertain whether clothing found in Lake Superior 40 miles north of here belonged to two Detroit brothers missing since they set out in a light plane from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 30 days ago.

Meanwhile the search for the plane and its occupants, which was resumed Wednesday, continued today. Police took up the hunt again after a shoe and other articles were found in Lake Superior. Mrs. Harry Butler of Detroit, wife of one of the missing men, said the shoe is identical to one her brother-in-law had worn.

Walter and Harry Butler failed to arrive on an Aug. 12 flight to Wawa, 150 miles north of here.

Family Tradition

BLIND RIVER, Ont (CP) — Mrs. Paul Patrie gave birth here Thursday to her second set of twins in three years. It's practically a family tradition for an aunt of Mrs. Patrie and her mother-in law both have twins. With the new additions the Patrie's have seven boys. Blind River is about 65 miles southeast of Sault Ste. Marie.

Durkin Resigns As Secretary, Says Pact Broken

WASHINGTON (AP)—An uneasy political honeymoon between President Eisenhower and organized labor appeared ended today with the abrupt and angry resignation of Martin P. Durkin as labor secretary.

Durkin, a union leader and a Democrat, quit his cabinet post with a charge that the Eisenhower administration had broken an agreement with him on recommendations to be made in changing the controversial Taft-Hartley labor relations law.

Presidents George Meany of the AFL and Walter Reuther of the CIO quickly sided with Durkin and accused Eisenhower of failing to live up to promises made to organized labor.

There was no comment from Eisenhower, outside of a letter accepting Durkin's resignation and praising his service as secretary.

"It has long been a tradition in the labor movement that once an agreement is reached the parties abide by it," Meany said. "Mr. Durkin is schooled in that tradition. He resigned because he could not continue serving on a team where agreements are not kept."

DEMOCRAT SUPPORTERS

Meany and Reuther and their organizations, as did most of the rest of organized labor's leaders, supported Democrat Adlai Stevenson against Eisenhower in last fall's presidential elections.

After his victory, Eisenhower surprised nearly everyone by choosing Durkin, a staunch Democrat and president of the AFL's plumbers union, for the labor cabinet post. Durkin himself expressed surprise and the late senator Rob-

Trio Captured After 10 Days

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Three escaped prisoners from Collins Bay penitentiary near Kingston were arrested here Thursday after 10 days of freedom.

Percy and Joseph Coe, brothers, were arrested in a pool hall. The third escapee, James McCooey, walked into the police station and gave himself up about an hour later.

All were wearing new clothes and a quantity of new clothes were found along with money in a stolen car parked near the pool hall. Police said the clothing had come from a break-in Wednesday night at Kapuskasing. The car was reported stolen Wednesday at Cobalt.

"They were only in town about half an hour when we picked them up," said Inspector Charles Earl of the Fort William police.

The three men were taken to district jail pending instructions from the penitentiary, Kapuskasing police and the OPP.

They had been serving time at Collins Bay near Kingston Penitentiary for breaking and entering, Inspector Earl said. Each had a sentence of about two-and-a-half years to serve.

Stabilization Fund Plan Suggested

Think 4 Billions Could Steady Foreign Currency

WASHINGTON (AP)— Talk was revived at the 55-country financial conference here today of a "stabilization fund" of $4,000,000,000 or more to steady the ups and downs of foreign currency.

British delegates, as well as some American officials and others are reported interested in the possibility of such an arrangement.

It could only be created by Congress since prevailing high interest rates presumably would rule out private sources. It would supplement the currency resources of the international monetary fund in meeting the temporary dollar needs of some countries.

So far as is known, no formal proposal of this kind ever has been presented to the U. S. government or to the fund. The most discussed proposal, however, is that Congress set up a sum as "lending authority" rather than as an appropriation. The fund would use it as needed, repaying as its own money came back in. The money might be administered by the U. S. government corp if Congress were willing, by the fund.

RESOURCES NOT ENOUGH

Sir Reginald Maudling, economic secretary of Britain's treasury, told the eighth annual meeting of the governors of the monetary fund and the World Bank Thursday that the fund's resources are "not in our opinion likely to be big enough" for the job ahead.

The job is that of making British sterling and other restricted moneys of the world convertible—that is exchangeable into dollars and other "hard" currencies — as a major step toward freer international trade.

Sir Reginald did not elaborate. Representing Canada at the meetings which end Saturday night are Finance Minister Abbott; Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada; J. J. Deutsch, assistant deputy finance minister, and Louis Rasminsky of the Bank of Canada, executive director of the fund and the World Bank.

Heading today's conference agenda was a problem of more direct concern to the World Bank—the channelling of more private investment into underdeveloped countries.

Sir Reginald went further Thursday than any previous British spokesman at bank and fund meetings in asserting his country's desire and intention to join other nations in a "courageous and concerted move" toward freer payments and trade and, eventually, full convertibility of one country's currency to another's.

Jet Crashes At Arsenal

LONDON (Reuters)—A Meteor jet fighter crashed today into the grounds of Woolwich arsenal—centre of secret and priority production for Britain's armed forces—just missing buildings containing high explosives.

The plane, which plowed into open ground at the arsenal shortly before the lunch break burst into flames. The pilot was killed. One other person was taken to hospital severely hurt.

The crash came after a mid-air collision with a second Meteor during a rehearsal for a flypast commemorating the Battle of Britain.

The second plane landed safely at a nearby airfield. Its pilot was uninjured.

All-Night Session Dashes Daley's Hopes On Prosposal

TORONTO (CP)—Striking drivers today decided against accepting proposals aimed at settling Toronto's milk strike. Nearly 1,100 of the city's 1,700 striking members of the Milk Drivers Union (AFL-TLC) met in Massey Hall to consider proposals made after an all-night negotiating session between the union and the Toronto Milk Distributors Association. The vote was 508 to 361 against accepting the proposals. Several hundred drivers drifted away before the vote was reached.

Cheers greeted the result of the vote to continue the strike which began Thursday, tying up milk deliveries in the Toronto area.

No newspaper reporters were allowed to attend but the result was made public soon after the meeting.

The union had originally fought against a proposed five-day delivery schedule as opposed to a six-day schedule, contending the shorter schedule might result in unemployment.

BOARD ORDER

Last night, however, the milk control board of Ontario ordered a five-day-weekly delivery. The union held out for $8 weekly. This was an upgrading of original demands for raises ranging from $4 to $6 a week. The dairies say their drivers average about $62 a week.

Proposals on which drivers voted today would raise the guaranteed minimum wage for drivers and inside workers by $6.50 weekly. They would also have raised the commission on retail sales over 2,000 units a week from two cents to three cents.

Although the strike halted most deliveries to Toronto homes, many consumers stocked up, and today

Car Runs Down New Sultan Of Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (Reuters)—A high-powered car today ran down the new Sultan of Morocco as he was riding on horseback to pray at the Tourarca mosque here.

The 64-year-old ruler was hurled to the ground. His guards opened fire, killing the driver.

Unhurt, the sultan was helped to his feet and continued to the mosque, where he led prayers for the first time since his accession.

The sultan, Moulay Mohammed Ben Arafa, was appointed last month when the French government deposed the former sultan, Mohammed Ben Yussef, now in exile on Corsica.

Prominent Liberal Dies From Polio

BALCARRES, Sask. (CP)—Polio has taken the life of Richard Motherwell, 39, former private secretary to Agriculture Minister James Gardiner, and possible successor to the Liberal leadership in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Motherwell died Wednesday night in hospital here, after being rushed from his farm home at Abernethy, 70 miles northeast of Regina. He had taken ill last Sunday.

The Liberal leadership was left vacant by the resignation of Walter Tucker this spring.

MONTREAL —(CP)— Tony Trabert of Cincinnati today defeated Henri Rochon of Montreal 6-2 in the first singles set of the final North American zone Davis Cup tie.

Foote Orders More Care With Documents

TORONTO (CP)—The minister of reform institutions, John Foote, today ordered all senior officials of jails and reformatories in the province to pay strict attention to documents of inmates.

His instructions followed disclosures at an inquest Thursday night in Whitby into the death of Joseph Dudziec at the Ontario Hospital there.

Dudziec was buried last month without his parents' knowledge and hospital officials said they had no details about him and therefore could not inform the parents.

SAID INFORMATION THERE

A Toronto police sergeant testified at the inquest, however, that Dudziec's name, address and occupation were typed on a document sent to the hospital with him.

Mr. Foote's directive said:

"In the future, any admission to your institution, whether mentally ill or otherwise, must be fully and completely documented. In the event that all information is not immediately available, every effort by all available means must be made to secure this information.

"Any failure to comply with this instruction will result in severe disciplinary action."

3 Men Attack Truck Driver

HAMILTON (CP)—A 36-year-old Hamilton truck driver was treated for facial cuts and bruises at Hamilton General Hospital early this morning, after he had been attacked by three other men, also reported to be truck drivers.

Ernest Fenety, of Van Wagner's Beach, was the injured man. He is an employee of Consolidated Truck Lines Limited.

The incident was believed to have been the result of a minor group of truck drivers' dissatisfaction with the retroactive pay agreement recently reached between the General Teamsters' Union and the Ontario Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau. The incident took place at Duff's Corners, at the intersections of Highways 2 and 53.

James Groat, president and business agent of local 879 General Truck Drivers' Union, said today: "The union will not tolerate any wildcat strikes. If there are disagreements they must be discussed in orderly fashion."

Mr. Groat said he believed this morning's incident involved four "over-the-road" truck drivers.

New Zealand Invites St. Laurent To Visit

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (CP)—New Zealand would be happy to see Canada's Prime Minister St. Laurent.

New Zealand Prime Minister Sidney Holland said today that New Zealand invites the Canadian prime minister to call here on his world tour.

McCarthy Violates Secrecy

Senator Publishes Intelligence Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army said today an intelligence report on Siberia—portions of which were released by Senator Joseph McCarthy—was restricted information. It declared too that any conclusion it is Communist propaganda "is refuted" by a reading of the entire document.

Unauthorized release of restricted information is a violation of law punishable by up to $10,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment.

McCarthy showed reporters photographic copies of the first 70 pages of the 75-page document on Wednesday, contending it smacked of "clear-cut Communist propaganda."

He was acting as chairman of the Senate investigations sub-committee which has been looking into army security. This could pose questions of congressional rights in relation to the law. And in any event, it is improbable that a charge of violating the law as to restricted documents would be pressed against any member of congress in such circumstances.

FRAMED IN REPLY

The army issued a statement which made no direct mention of McCarthy but was obviously framed as a reply to his Wednesday actions.

In a statement, the army said that the document was intended for limited distribution to intelligence officers "to develop understanding of the Soviet people which will be militarily useful in case of war."

"It is obvious," the statement continued, "that the necessary instruction of officers and men in this field cannot proceed without attempting to enter the mind and thought processes of the Soviet citizen."

RESTRICTED DATA

An army spokesman showed reporters an original copy of the document containing on the inside cover this notation:

"This document contains information affecting the national defence of the United States within the meaning of espionage laws. . . . The transmission or the revelation of its contents in any manner to an unauthorized person is prohibited by law."

The army said that it declassified the document from its restricted status Thursday but emphasized that this was done only "as a result of prior disclosure."

"Restricted" is the lowest of several secrecy classifications the military services place on documents.

148 Doukhobors Have Weird Court Session

VANCOUVER (CP) — Charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency, 148 Doukhobors today began their first day in Oakalla prison farm following a "weird" midnight court session.

The prisoners were passengers aboard a Canadian Pacific Railway prison train which arrived here Thursday night from Perry Siding, 39 miles northwest of Nelson, B.C. They were occupants of the tent town of Polatka, ordered emptied by RCMP.

The accused, arraigned before Magistrate Graham Ladner in a small community hall in suburban Burnaby in a court scene described as "weird" by RCMP guards, were remanded until Sept. 17 for hearing.

On their arrival they were ushered from three CPR prison coaches to four express buses.

About 25 newspapermen from Vancouver, Victoria and Toronto watched as photographers fired dozens of flashbulbs and television cameras recorded the scene.

TAKEN BY BUS

From the downtown station, the buses, convoyed by city police motorcycles and RCMP radio cars, carried the accused men and women 10 miles to Jubilee Labor Hall, one mile from Oakalla.

The prisoners, guards, plainclothes men, newspapermen and interpreters crammed into the small auditorium while a large crowd gathered outside.

The Doukhobors, reputedly all members of the radical Sons of Freedom sect, sat quietly for nearly an hour waiting for the magistrate to arrive.

It was 10 p.m. when an unidentified woman began haranguing the prisoners from her seat near the front, shouting in Russian.

Over the stage, where the makeshift magistrate's bench had been set up, was the motto "Human Needs Before Property Rights," chiselled in stone.

PRISONERS CHANT

The harangue broke off and the prisoners began to chant, louder and louder as the RCMP guards—12 in uniform—moved restlessly up and down the aisles. A pigtailed girl of about 15, one of the prisoners, cried with her head in her hands and the crowd began to sing "Nearer My God to Thee" in Russian, eight-part harmony.

The crying girl collapsed into the arms of another teen-ager and was assisted by RCMP guards and a matron outside to the darkened buses. Perspiration rolled from the faces of the singing Doukhobors and guards doled out water from an old kettle and a coffee pot.

One guard, assisting an aged man, muttered "weird."

When order was restored, Capt. Vladimir Pogoretzsky, interpreter from Nelson, read the names of the 148 accused and the charge was read by crown prosecutor John Farris, Q. C.

"You are each charged that on Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1953, at Perry Siding, B.C., you did unlawfully and willingly do an act likely to make a child a delinquent—to wit, expose his or her naked body in the presence of a child contrary to laws and statutes so provided," the charge read.

Disorder broke out again when Mr. Farris said an additional charge of being nude in a public place would be laid next week.

A Doukhobor identifying himself as William Postnikof made an angry statement in Russian which was interpreted as a demand that Premier Bennett, Attorney-general Bonner and Doukhobor spiritual leader Stefan Sorokin be called to attend the Sept. 17 hearing "as mediators."

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 11-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Thursday's noon rate was 98⅝ cents. Pound sterling $2.76 5-16, against $2.76 7-16.

The pleasant sunny weather which southern Ontario has been enjoying for the last few days is coming to an end. A disturbance south of Lake Superior, along with cooler air pushing southward well into northern Ontario, has been causing cloudy skies with scattered showers and thundershowers this morning in Michigan and northern regions of the province.

This unpleasant weather began moving into the Windsor area this morning and by this evening it will cover all of southern Ontario.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Saturday:

Niagara, Lake Ontario, Haliburton regions; Toronto and Hamilton: Sunny, clouding over this afternoon with scattered showers and thundershowers beginning this evening and ending Saturday morning. Saturday cloudy with a few sunny intervals, a little cooler; winds light. Low tonight and high Saturday at Toronto, Trenton, St. Catharines, Hamilton 60 and 70.

Summary for Saturday: Cloudy.

Decide Youth Treated Kindly

WHITBY (CP)—A coroner's jury investigating the death of Joseph Dudziec, 20, said Thursday night the youth was treated with kindness and according to the usual procedures from the time of his arrest until his death at the Ontario Hospital here.

The jury recommended that more care be taken in the completion of official documents which accompany an arrested person from jail to a mental hospital.

The recommendation followed evidence by police sergeant George W. Russell of Toronto that Dudziec's name, address and occupation were typed on a document which came with him from a Toronto police station to the hospital.

Dudziec died and was buried without his parents' knowledge. Hospital officials, who said Dudziec died of virulent pneumonia, stated the youth was unknown and because no details had accompanied him they could not get in touch with the parents.

Prices Slip Sharply On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices slipped sharply in early afternoon stock market trading today and volume reached its highest point this month.

Western oils suffered a wide list of losses ranging to about 50 cents. Cal-and-Ed., Pacific and General A led the losses. Only a handful of stocks showed minor gains.

Higher-priced base metals had an unbroken list of fractional declines. Cassiar and Anacon led lower-priced issues downward.

New Larder U dropped pennies in a turnover of 80,000 shares and most other New Brunswick base metals also slipped. Uraniums traded lower, led by Chimo in active trading.

Golds drew little interest and seniors, juniors and holding companies slipped. Prospectors Airways resisted the trend with a good gain.

Industrials traded lightly for general losses, led by utilities—where Union Gas dropped more than $1.50—steels, textiles and manufacturing companies.

Passenger Hurt

Mrs. William Moisiuk of 580 McCannan St. was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment of a head laceration this morning after the car her husband was driving collided with a truck at Aylmer and Sherbrooke Sts. James Mackie, 56, of 376 Stewart St., was driver of the truck. Damage was set at $475 by investigating Constable Arthur Beardsmore.

LARGER CAFETERIA STAFF

Two senior assistants, Mrs. Marion Fitton and Mrs. Thelma Grierson, are helping Mrs. MacPhail run the cafeteria at Kenner Collegiate. This is one more senior assistant than last year. Mrs. Dorothy Kiff has resigned. Two part-time assistants are Mrs. H. Hooey and Mrs. E. Siddall; and two senior girl students are helping as well.

Korean Veterans Guests At Exhibition

TORONTO (CP)—The national horse show, one of the biggest annual features of the Canadian National Exhibition, today continues its three-day run with entries from as far away as Hollywood and Pittsfield, Pa., joining with horses from many parts of Ontario.

Theme of the day, second-last of the fair, is radio, television and service clubs. Seven of Canada's returned Korean war veterans are to be given the key to the grounds today as honored guests of the exhibition management.

The former prisoners of war are Cpl. James A. Pelletier of Chatham, Ont.; Cpl. Donald Orson, Ridgetown; Pte. George E. Griffiths, Brighton; Pte. Thomas Rothwell, Dundas; Pte. James W. Cranston, Hamilton, and Pte. Donald Cunn and Pte. Ronald B. Watson, Toronto.

They are to attend the directors' luncheon at which Joseph Sedgwick, legal advisor to a group of radio stations, speaks, and then tour the grounds and take in the grandstand shows.

Now that all the championship ribbons have been awarded for the 1953 agricultural show at the exhibition, cattle and sheep are being kept in show style for the visitors. At the end of the week, many of the bluebloods from the livestock pavilion will go on to other fairs and some may return later for the Royal Winter Fair.

On the exhibition waterfront Thursday, Canada's five-man "Y-flyer" sailing team beat the United States squad twice in succession to win the best-of-three series for the initial international Y-flyer team sailing championship.

There was good news for the future for exhibitors and fair patrons. The city property committee has recommended that the city underwrite the financing of a new $1,500,000 CNE food products building on the site of the present building. The new one would provide an additional 22,000 sqquare feet of exhibitors' space.

Plowmen Train For Fall Matches

Plowmen have their training workouts, too, especially when an international match is in the offing and in the neighborhood, and classes are open to aces of the the new technique of the tractor and the multiple plow.

In the practice at Henry Batten's farm in North Monaghan, conducted by Fred Timbers of Stouffville as coach, four Peterborough junir farmers, Paul Jopling, Roger Northey, Robert Jackson and Gordon Bradfield, concentrated on his operating advice. Their aspirations are pointing to honor and the prize money at the big match next month at Cobourg. There were some adults, too, but there was no rush otherwise of prospective Peterborough contestants.

Mr. Batten is president of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association.

Committed For Trial On Murder Charge

GUELPH (CP)—Jeffrey Robertson, 21, of Erin township today was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the shooting death of his uncle, John Mackie, during a family quarrel Sept. 5.

Ross Overland, stepfather of the accused youth, testified he was awakened late at night to hear Robertson and his 46-year-old uncle arguing. Overland went downstairs, where he said he found Mackie in a terrible rage.

Overland said Mackie threatened to kill Robertson, and Robertson left the room. Overland said he soon heard a shot and turned to see his stepson holding a gun. He said Robertson fired a second shot and Mackie fell to the floor.

New 50-Cent Stamp Issued November 2

OTTAWA (CP)—A new 50-cent stamp will be issued Nov. 2 representing Canada's textile industries, the post office department announced today.

The stamp, green in color, will display on the left a bobbin from which threads unwind through an old-fashioned spinning wheel to appear at the right as folded cloth.

The new issue will be the same size as the present 50-cent stamp, which depicts the oil industry.

Mystery Bombing

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A mysterious bomb thrower renewed his work Thursday night, tossing a bomb that caused minor damage to two business buildings on the east side. The bombing was the sixth in the last three weeks here. A glassware shop, two clothing stores, an automobile agency and a grocery store were damaged by the previous blasts. Police say they have found no reason for them.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans moved higher while corn weakened at the opening on the board of trade today. Dealings were active.

Soybeans were bought because the government forecast cut crop prospects more than the trade had expected. Wheat also firmed on a larger-than-expected drop in spring wheat crop prospects.

Wheat started ⅜-1½ cents higher, Sept. $1.92¾; corn was ¼-1¼ lower, Sept. $1.57¾-1.58, and oats were ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, Sept. 74. Soybeans were 1¼-2⅝ cents higher, Sept. $2.64.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices took on an easier tone in early trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange in sympathy with declines on American markets.

11 a. m. prices:

Oats: Oct. ¼ lower 71¼A; Dec. ⅜ lower 68⅝-B; May ⅜ lower 68⅞A.

Barley: Oct. ½ lower 1.08¾; Dec. ½ lower 1.02¾A; May ½ lower 1.02⅜B.

Hearing Set On Application

The Ontario Labor Relations Board have set September 22 as the date for the hearing into the application of the International Association of Machinists (AFL-TLC) to be the bargaining agents for some 45 production workers at H. B. McGinness Ltd., Cabin and commercial trailer manufacturers.

Dan Dean, IAM representative, claims that a substantial majority of the eligible employees have signed membership cards in the union. At persent there is no no union in the plant.

Earlier this year, after a strong campaign in Peterborough, the IAM were certified as bargaining agents for the production workers at the DeLaval Co. Ltd.

REDS ON SPOT

The Reds obviously were on a spot in the Fischer case—they previously had said they sent back all Allied prisoners who wanted to go home, yet their official Peiping radio had admitted he was captured alive.

Meanwhile, the first of 14,700 Chinese war prisoners who have renounced communism arrived in the Korean neutral zone shaking their fists and shouting, "death to the Communists," at Red observers.

Some 1,000 anti-Communist Chinese entered the newly-built stockades at the sprawling "Indian village" near Panmunjom, where they will be guarded by Indian troops.

Most wore undershirts stamped with the Chinese Nationalist sunburst flag. Many were tattoed with anti-Communist slogans.

The prisoners filed through barbed wire lines and were fingerprinted by the Indians.

WATCH OPERATION

UN and Communist observers watched the operation.

Some defiant Chinese prisoners, their faces flushed with anger, screamed and shook their fists at the Communist soldiers and reporters peering from outside the barbed wire. The Reds stood impassive.

An interpreter said the captives shouted: "We will go back to the China mainland and kill Mao (Premier Mao Tse Tung of Red China)" and "crush the stooges and running dogs of Russia" and "we are determined to go to Formosa."

The interpreter said some of the language was too strong to be printed.

Farmer Dies On Tractor Of Heart Attack

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)—A 55-year-old Warkworth district man, Leo Joseph Lonergan, died of a heart attack on Thursday while he was operating a tractor on his farm on lot 20 on the third concession of Percy Township. The farm is located about a mile north of Warkworth.

Mr. Lonergan apparently suffered a heart attack while he was driving the tractor. He slumped over the wheel and the machine continued on, coming to rest finally against some trees at the edge of a field.

Dr. R. Holliffe of Warkworth was called, but Mr. Lonegran was dead when the doctor arrived. Coroner Dr. F. M. Dure of Brighton investigated, and said no inquest would be held.

Mr. Lonergan was born on the homestead which he farmed most of his life in Percy Township. He was a son of the late William Lonergan and Frances Somers.

He was a member of St. Jerome's Church, Warkworth, and the Holy Name Society of that church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Marguerite Convey, two sons, Paul 9, and Larry 5; three brothers, Frank of Toronto, Thomas of Rochester, Bernard of Warkworth; four sisters, Sister Mary Monica, Estevan, Sask.; Monica and Margaret of Toronto and Mrs. A. H. Pegg of Toronto.

The funeral service will be held Monday at 10 a.m. in St. Jerome's where mass will be said by the Rev. H. J. Fitzgerald. Burial will be in St. Jerome's cemetery, Warkworth.

householders were able to buy up to four quarts each at dairies.

DETAILS OF SETTLEMENT

Details of the proposed settlement:

A $6.50-a-week increase for each of the 1,700 union members. Company officials said earlier drivers' wages averaged $62 for a five-day week before the strike.

A lump sum of $50 in back pay.

Increase in commissions to wholesale drivers to 1-3 of a cent on sales over 6,000 sales units weekly. The previous commission was ¼ cent.

Increase in retail commission from two cents to three cents over 2,000 units weekly.

A $2 premium for night workers.

Several dairies not directly affected by the strike took their trucks off the road today.

These dairies, whose workers are not on strike, delivered milk to their regular customers Thursday. Thursday night they decided not to risk violence at the hands of strikers today and declared a holiday for their drivers.

Largest of these non-struck dairies is Silverwood's, which reported three of its men "roughed up" as they made their rounds Thursday.

Dairies which will not deliver today, in addition to Silverwood's are Alliance, Daiter's, Rockcliffe, Rogers and Parkdale. Undecided, but probably not going out, are Prouse's, Sunny Farms and Walnut. Suburban dairies which plan to conduct business as usual include Lakeshore, Cooksville and Greenvale.

Immediately after the 1,700 drivers decided Thursday to walk off the job, the Ontario milk control board ordered elimination of Wednesday deliveries.

Union opposition to the dairies' proposal of milkless Wednesdays had been a major issue in prestrike discussions. The dairies have been delivering milk every day except Sundays.

At the same time, the board removed the ceiling price of 22 cents a quart on milk delivered to homes. This apparently left the way clear for a price increase to cover union demands for wage increases, a step the 13 distributing dairies previoulsy indicated they were reluctant to take.

George Barlow, international representative of the Retail and Wholesale Dairy Workers' Union (CIO), announced Thursday night that contract negotiations between his union and Silverwood's Dairy have broken down. He said the dispute will be submitted to arbitration.

Silverwood's is the only large Toronto dairy not on strike. Its employees are members of the organization Mr. Barlow represents, a rival of the striking union.

Dairies directly affected by the strike are: Acme Farmers, Blantyre, Borden's, Donlands, Fairglen, Findlay, Hall's, Highland, Oliver Farm, Roselawn, Valley View, Rutherford's and Uplands.

Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto said arrangements have been made to enable expectant mothers, babies and persons on special milk diets to obtain a supply of milk upon presentation of a doctor's certificate at a dairy.

Milk producers who normally supply the huge Toronto market planned to keep their cans of milk as long as possible, dumping them when necessary to make way for new supplies.

3 Canadians Known Held Still By Reds

VANCOUVER (CP) — At least three Canadians, at present listed on Canadian Army records as missing, are known prisoners of the Communists, returning prisoners said here Thursday.

The statement was made to The Canadian Press as five former prisoners of war, listed by the army as "the last", arrived here by air under a tight security ban.

One of the returned prisoners, who did not wish his name used, said the three Canadians were pressured into signing statements admitting participation in germ warfare. If released, they will be turned over to a UN commission, he said.

The arrivals were Capt. Joseph M. Liston, Ottawa; Pte. T. J. P. Allen, Montreal; Cpl. F. J. Jollymore, Toronto; L. Cpl. G. A. McKinney, Melita, Man., and Pte. R. T. Eakins, Toronto and Guelph.

Released with them, but held in Japan for medical reasons was L. Cpl. William Bell of Toronto.

DRILLED WELL

Evidence of tight security drilling imposed following their release was given in answers to even the most innocent questions.

The question "How did the Communists treat you?" was answered with another query.

"Sir, am I permitted to answer that?" the repatriated prisoner asked an officer.

"Oh, yes," the officer replied. "You may speak freely here."

"Not bad," the soldier said.

The officer, a lieutenant, stressed however, the prisoners could not mention the names of any other prisoners they might have met while in Communist hands.

ert A. Taft (Rep.-O.) called the appointment "incredible."

The selection was widely regarded as an effort by the new administration to woo union support, since they had comprised the largest single segment of the U.S. opposed to the Republics.

This opposition came mainly from union leaders. It was apparent from the size of the Eisenhower vote that many union members had voted Republican.

"WAIT AND SEE"

With Durkin's appointment most union leaders adopted a "wait and see" attitude toward the new administration. The statements of Meany and Reuther, accusing the administration of breaking faith with organized labor, seemed to indicate a parting of the ways.

The 59-year-old Durkin told a press conference Thursday he had submitted his resignation Aug. 31 when he became convinced the administration had "broken" commitments with him on proposed changes in the Taft-Hartley law.

"I feel they are not going to carry those agreements out," Durkin said. "In fact, I was told so."

He talked it over with Eisenhower, now back in Denver after a one-day return here, in a half-hour conference Thursday morning. He said Eisenhower asked him to stay on, but he refused.

Asked whether he would have remained had Eisenhower changed his views about the T-H law proposals, Durkin replied, "I think so."

The president attended one negotiating meeting on the matter, Durkin said, and he assumed Eisenhower "had agreed" to the suggested amendments later worked out.

Durkin told reporters he was uncertain whether Eisenhower had ever personally approved of the proposed amendments. He did not accuse Eisenhower personally of breaking any agreement.

St. Paul's Guild Gives Money To Parish

MARMORA (ENS)— Meetings of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild resumed on Wednesday evening, with the September session being held in the Parish Hall.

In the absence of Mrs. W. Lavender, president, the first vice-president, Mrs. H. Price, took the chair.

After the financial report as presented by Mrs. D. McInroy, the Guild voted a sum to the parish treasurer. Discussion took place regarding a chicken supper and a bazaar. The Guild decided the supper would be practical about the end of October. It was also felt that the other project could be carried out a month later.

The gift of some chinaware to the Guild was recently made by a former member of the congregation, Mrs. Roy Snell of St. Thomas.

The acting secretary was instructed to send a letter of thanks to the donor.

Use Ointments To Feed Skin Vitamin A

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CHICAGO (AP) — Ointments feeding vitamin A through the skin to clear up skin troubles are promised by findings reported today to the American Chemical Society.

Some of the lotions put on the skin even cured generalize a-min A deficiencies in mi Drs. Albert Edward Sobel and Abraham Rosenberg of Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Many skin ailments, including some forms of pimples, warts, rashes and inflammations, all show a common sign of vitamin A deficiency, the chemists said.

Big tablets of vitamin A taken daily help correct these troubles, but too much vitamin can cause other upsets. The skin troubles don't appear to be due to general lack of vitamin A, they find, but to some failure within the body to supply the skin with enough vitamin.

DIRECT TREATMENT

The chemists reasoned it would be better treatment if the skin could get vitamin A directly, from lotions.

They fed mice diets lacking in vitamin A. The mice stopped growing, developed an eye trouble and other signs of too little vitamin. When lotions containing the vitamin were placed on shaved spots on their heads, they recovered, showing that they absorbed the vitamin through the skin.

Most effective were the two preparations, often used on babies' skin, containing vitamin A. This method of treating skin troubles has not yet been tested on humans.

Vanishing needles which give off radioactive rays to kill cancers were reported by Cmdr. H. C. Dudley, U. S. Naval Hospital at St. Albans, N. Y.

The needles are made from a molten mixture of germanium dioxide and radio active titanium phosphate. Threads drawn from the mixture solidify into glass-like needles which can be put into a tumor in the body.

NO HARMFUL EFFECT

For about two weeks, the radioactive phosphorus stays put, delivering rays to hit the cancer. It can't wander off elsewhere in the body, where it could cause other damage until its rays are gone. Then the germanium part of the needle dissolves slowly and is eliminated from the body without harmful effect, Commander Dudley said.

Used so far only on animals, the needles permit radiating cancers at any desired spot with a minimum of damage to nearby healthy tissue, he said. They would be useful in treating tumors not reached by other forms of radiation.

Summer Trips Described To WA

BANCROFT (ENS)—The season's first meeting of St. Paul's United Church Evening WA was held at the church on Tuesday evening with president Mrs. A. Eddy in the chair.

After devotion, led by Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. F. Hibbard reported that the parsonage committee had purchased two bedspreads for the parsonage and Mrs. D. Grant tendered the treasurer's report.

The president showed samples of Christmas cards and it was decided to sell the cards again this year. A rummage sale is to be held on Sept. 26 in the church basement and a supper on Nov. 25. A committee for the latter to be appointed.

Mrs. Eddy announced that the guest speaker at the next meeting would be Mrs. M. Grylls of Lakefield, whose talk would be on "Child Psychology." Short talks were given by two members, Mrs. A. Smith told of a recent trip to Manitoba and Mrs. G. Wragg of a tour through New York state with a busload of school girls.

The meeting closed with the singing of the theme song, and a pot luck supper was much enjoyed.

St. Andrew's WA Plan Centenary Banquet

WESTWOOD (ENS)—Mrs. Wilbert Graham was hostess to St. Andrew's WA. There was a large attendance.

Mrs. Ernest Warner took charge of a worship service and program. Readings were given by Mrs. Jack Warner and Mrs. Sidney Warr. Miss Laura Hutchinson gave an account of an extended trip through the United States.

During a business discussion led by the president, Mrs. J. S. Sargent, plans were made for a banquet in connection with the centenary celebration of St. Andrew's Church in October.

Lunch was served.

Takes 1910 Buick On Detroit Tour

COBOURG (ENS)—Neil Kennedy, Cobourg merchant, whose hobby is restoring vintage automobiles, left yesterday for Detroit and the Glidden tour of antique cars.

On the trailer, built specially for the trip, was a 1910 Buick, completely restored to its original lustre.

Neil recently had this car at the Canadian National Exhibition, where it took a first in one class and a second and third in two other classes.

Expect Record Attendance At World Plowing Match

COBOURG (ENS)—Committee chairman for the international and world plowing match, to be held here next month, met Wednesday night to file progress reports on their committee activities.

Harry Campbell, former warden of the counties, was chairman.

It was the largest meeting to date. Before the last item of business was disposed of, it was almost midnight.

Still to be settled is the complex problem of traffic control. A meeting is scheduled for the weekend to map out a plan to handle the thousands of cars which will be parking at the site.

186 EXHIBITS

F. A. Lashley, of Toronto, secretary-manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, told the meeting that so far there were 186 exhibits entered and that the site would have 9,000 feet frontage. There will be 28 catering groups serving food. He estimated a crowd of 150,000 people during the four days of the match.

He said that the interest being shown in the competitions had never been equalled. The Flying Farmers of America were making arrangements to attend and a landing field would be established south of Highway 2.

Sanitation has been a source of criticism at previous matches but the santitation committee think they have the job well in hand. They have arranged for the installation of 75 chemical toilets, each in a separate cubicle.

Special buses will be run to the scene of the match, just north of Cobourg. Colonial and Burley Coach Lines are to work out a schedule.

Hubert Avery, of Brockville, OPA president, predicted that the match would be a record size. Pat Lappan, chairman of the tractor committee, stated that it would be advisable to have a tractor compound set aside, as he expected 200 tractors would be available. No time should be lost in building a suitable ramp, he said. Tactors and plows from several European countries would be on exhibit.

Next meeting is September 23 in the counties council chamber.

London's Frascati Restaurant Plans To Close Its Doors

LONDON (Reuters) — London's Frascati's Restaurant, one of the last stands of the Edwardian era, will shut its doors for good next June.

Thousands of tourists have flocked to this ornate, sentimentally-decorated cafe to conjure up lush memories of Britain before the First World War, when Gaiety girls finished up in the peerage and Rupert Brooke wrote of love eternal.

In those days Britain was still the head of the vast empire. There was plenty to eat and plenty to drink and plenty of gold-backed pounds to buy it with.

Frascati's has up to now stuck proudly to that sumptuous tradition, despite two world wars, the blitz of London and rationing. Wine connoisseurs say it still has one of the world's finest cellars.

It is one of the last of the outsize "modern" establishments that delighted the palate of King Edward VII.

Business sources said they believe Frascati's will be turned into an office building, to conform with its mid-20th century neighbors on Oxford street.

Mrs. Milton Drain Conference Delegate

WARSAW—(ENS)—The Warsaw Women's Institute held their monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at the Institute rooms. Mrs. Stewart Clysdale, president, was in charge. There were twenty-one members present, including one new member. Mrs. Arthur Carveth was a visitor.

Mrs. Milton Drain was chosen as a delegate for the Women's Institute Convention in Toronto in November.

Mrs. Clarence Payne was named convener to look after the Institute display at the Lakefield Fair and the Peterborough Exhibition.

Mrs. Clarence Payne read a poem, "Occupation Please", and gave a demonstration on how to fill a hot water bottle properly.

The hostess served lunch and a social half-hour was spent.

P.L. Quip of the Week
"Yes," the teacher explained, "quite a number of plants and flowers have the prefix 'dog.' For instance, the dog-rose and dog-violet are well known. Can any of you name another?"
There was silence, then a happy look illuminated the face of a boy at the back of the class.
"Please, teacher," he called out, proud of his knowledge, "Collie flower!"

Teachers' Standards Lowered

The number of students registered at the Peterborough Teachers' College (alias the Normal School) is down this year from last; 117 compared with 148. The situation is common to other Teachers' Colleges. The chief reason for the decline seems to be the summer course which the Department of Education offered for the first time this year. Through it young men and women fresh from High School underwent a six-week course in teaching methods and secured temporary teaching certificates. From June as a pupil in High School, therefore, a young person may step in September into a classroom as master, moreover, as a teacher earning the highest average starting pay ever offered in this Province.

* * *

The temporary certificate is good for two years; thereafter, the teacher whose only professional training has been a brief summer course, must take other pedagogical courses, if he or she wishes to remain in the profession. The summer course was provided to cover the shortage of teachers. If the shortage continues, will the temporary certificates become, in practice if not in name, permanent permissions to teach? The profession itself objected to the summer course substitute for the year at a Teachers' College, fearing that it would lower standards. Indeed, this must happen. How professional is a person whose only training for his work has been got in six weeks?

* * *

As if to provide a sop for this thin varnish, a two-year course is now being provided by Teachers' Colleges, in addition to the usual one-year course. This will extend the period of professional training. We cannot, however look on it as altogether good. In intention, it is a method of admitting young people into the Normal Schools who are not qualified academically for the usual course. Prospective teachers who have only junior matriculation in a few subjects may now go to Normal—for two years. In that time they will be exposed to more academic subjects than usual in the one-year course. The second year at Normal is therefore to be a substitute for senior matriculation. Judging by the curriculum planned, it will be a poor substitute. Thus even the two-year course lowers the standards of the profession. It may increase the amount of pedagogical training but it admits into the profession persons who are likely to be insufficiently educated in general studies. No matter how well trained a teacher may be, he cannot teach from a vacuum in his own knowledge.

* * *

The new system for training teachers will almost inevitably have a depressing effect on the standards of the profession, both because of the new short summer course which leads to a temporary certificate—an inadequate substitute for the full year at Normal School; and because of the new two-year course at Normal (Teachers' College) which circumvents Senior Matriculation and permits persons to become teachers who are not qualified academically. The one short-changes our schools and pupils on teachers' professional education; the other on their academic education. It is remarkable that at the time of highest salaries in the history of the Ontario public school system the qualifications accepted for new teachers are the lowest they have been in nearly half a century.

Stopper In The Milk Business

Toronto milk-rig drivers are on strike, and Torontonians will have to milk their own cows, use liquids from other taps or what is put up in other bottles. Such a strike is depressing; it should not happen to a commodity popularly judged to be important to health.

Strikes are never simple matters of black and white and the tortuous events leading up to them and the complexities of the issues during them cannot be lightly and summarily disposed of. Yet we have in Ontario special labour boards, experts and negotiators who should be fully capable of analysing complex labour-management disputes and bringing the opposite sides into agreement. Has the Toronto milk deliverers' strike happened because the experts are not good enough, or because the two sides to the dispute are unreasonable or stubborn?

Without attempting to analyse the issues or problems we feel that fault must be found with the principals in the dispute—management as well as labour, and perhaps also with the Milk Control Board which has issued the order making the five-day delivery in Toronto compulsory.

A chief point of contention seems to be whether the day off, the day of non-delivery, should be Wednesday or Saturday or Monday. The decree is for Wednesday, and that is what the companies want. The men want their free day Saturday. The companies have offered to make Monday a milkless day. We are not familiar with the weight and importance of milk deliveries in Toronto on Saturdays as compared with Mondays, but it seems just as preferable to have no deliveries on Saturdays as on Mondays. More consumers of milk are week-ending away from Toronto on Saturdays than on Mondays, and hotels and restaurants normally have fewer patrons on Saturdays. Fewer would therefore be inconvenienced by lack of a Saturday delivery than of a Monday delivery. The time-lapse is exactly the same—two days.

Our whole point is this: it is disgraceful that a large city like Toronto should be inconvenienced by a strike if the only issue creating it is the day on which a holiday will be allowed.

What Kind Of Indian Senator?

There is much newspaper talk that the Liberal St. Laurent Government may name some Conservatives to the Senate. The Winnipeg Tribune, a Conservative-minded paper, goes even further. It suggests that an Indian be named to the Senate. In doing so it is only repeating a suggestion made by John Diefenbaker, Conservative member for Prince Albert. This is very, very interesting, in view of the fact that Mr. Diefenbaker has just been made Chief Eagle of the Starblanket reserve in the West. What kind of Indian do they advocate for the Senate?

Fall Fairs

Now is come the season of Fall Fairs. The big show in Toronto scares the smaller fry away for its two weeks, but the CNE ends tomorrow, so the others can come out from under cover (or the woods). Lakefield even enters the Toronto preserve by holding its fair tomorrow. The Lakefield Fair Board probably reasons—with propriety—that the last day of the Toronto show is naught compared with its own all-open Saturday stand, and only freethinkers and fatheads would prefer Toronto above Lakefield on September 12th. A few bravely independent shows even dare to take possession of some of the Toronto days. Port Hope held its exhibition on Labour Day Friday and Saturday, and Port Perry showed its stock on the Saturday and Labour Day itself.

Some Fairs try to steal CNE thunder by opening—and closing—before Toronto pitches its tents. Belleville, for instance, held its exhibition from August 17th to 20th. We have not heard that it benefitted from this early venture. Oshawa likewise preceded Toronto, without pre-eminence. Distant Ottawa, ploughing a lonely furrow in its remote valley, pretends to be unconcerned about the Toronto Ex. It exhibited August 22-29, overlapping by a day the Toronto show. Ottawa pretends to be a big show in itself, having the high-sounding name of Central Canada Exhibition. The real reason for Ottawa holding its fair early is that the Ottawa exhibition must be over and done with before Parliament convenes; the Ottawa show would be no match for the Ottawa parliamentary circus.

Peterborough dallied with pre-Toronto dates for several years but without notable success. Mid-August is too hot for hot-dogs and other midway smells; too holidayish a month to command the faithful attendance of city people; too busy a month for farmers; and even tourists are not to be beguiled from their lakeside retreats to see a Ferris wheel or a guinea fowl. Now Peterborough's exhibition is a real Fall Fair again; in the fall, when the evenings are crisp and one wonders how the girl on the flying trapeze keeps her thighs warm. Peterborough Exhibition begins next Tuesday and is in full feather the rest of the week.

The latest Fall Fair in this district is, we believe, that of Norwood. It is scheduled for no fewer than three days, October 9th, 10th and 12th, but everybody knows that Norwood blows its horn, and fills it, for the Monday—Thanksgiving Day, October 12th.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Bridge playing encourages conversation, according to an expert. He may be right, but it is not always polite conversation.

The Ottawa Journal says that "television in the English pubs is known as 'The Telly', a word with a gruesome sound." The Toronto Star, looking out its tower windows towards Bay and Melinda corner, probably agrees about the sound of that word.

A "municipal personnel service manager" says that "Given a well-managed record system, it is possible for the administrator to analyze the 'rates' of turnover in terms of age, sex, education, pay level, department or supervisor, or other factors." What kind of jargon is this? What is "turnover" in age, sex, education, or, for that matter, of pay level? We'll stick to the kitchen turnover, filled with apple.

Literary Pilgrimages

By HAROLD NICHOLSON

(Ed. Note: The Hon. Harold Nicolson of Sissinghurst Castle, Kent, is a literary critic, biographer of Tennyson, Byron, Swinburne etc., diplomat, journalist and M.P.)

IF I were asked to write a series on "How to spend your holidays," I should assume that my advice was not required by young men and women with fast motorcars and elastic muscles, but by elderly people only, who desire to combine leisurely comfort, a change of climate and diet, with a feeling in the end that they had added to their stock of knowledge and understanding. To such people I should recomemnd a literary pilgrimage, as being of all voyages the most profitable and entertaining.

✧ ✧ ✧

I SHOULD BEGIN by warning them that such a project is not to be lightly undertaken, but that it requires for perfect fulfilment many months of study and preparation. It is little good, for instance, just dropping in one afternoon at Hughenden and glancing indolently at the Disraeli relics: one must first read up all about the hero, and know exactly what was worrying him as he strolled down the lawn to throw sponge cake to the ducks that bobbed and clattered in the pond.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS little good, again, just calling in at Haworth, making a slight and fleeting diversion from the Great North Road: one should be steeped in Bronte literature before one is worthy to absorb the stark horror of the parsonage and the tombs.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE VISITOR who turns aside to glance at Somersby, or Farringford, or Aldworth, misses the whole sense of his expedition, unless he realises that these three houses commemorate the three great stages in the life of Tennyson—the harsh and shaming intensity of his boyhood, the sheltered middle period of creation, and the final apotheosis set high among the laurels and geraniums on the hill.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOW VALUELESS a pilgrimage to Germany, unless we know in advance the nature of the great ascension from the Goethaus at Frankfurt (now so admirably restored) to the Goethehaus at Weimar (now, alas, in partibus infidelium!) It is little use your going on a pilgrimage unless you have studied the lives of the saints before you go.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE IDEAL literary pilgrimage is one that takes us to distant and beautiful places, well supplied with food and wine, and at the same time offers the greatest variety of personal associations. It is not enough just to read something about Wordsworth and Coleridge and then to motor off to Dove Cottage or Nether Stowey; such visits are too incidental to inspire excitement; a pilgrimage should always be an expedition.

✧ ✧ ✧

IF YOU are short of time, and wish—assuming you are British—to keep within the sterling and the eggs-and-bacon area, you can go to Hauteville House and stand at the window from which Victor Hugo would gaze down in fury at the trim Guernsey landscape. Or you can go off to Chambery and see the strange cottage where Rousseau lived with Madame de Warens and feed at the neighbouring temple gastronomique, Mont Carmel. If you are interested in Madame de Stael and her circle, there is certainly much value to be derived from a visit to Coppet, Colombier and the many pretty villas that dot the borders of Swiss lakes.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT if you really wish to undertake an extensive literary pilgrimage in 1954, I beg you to devote the coming winter to a study of the Byron-Shelley-Keats literature and in the early summer to start on your way to Italy.

✧ ✧ ✧

YOU CAN BEGIN by a visit to Well-Walk and Wentworth Place in London's Hampstead, and follow Keats on that sad journey which ended in the little back room of the Piazza di Spagna and in the grave beside the pyramid of Sestus. You can pause at Geneva and go out to the Villa Diodati—the most untouched, perhaps, of Byron's many habitations—and stand on the balcony from which he would call to Shelley as he struggled up the grass from Montalegre. At Pisa you will find the Piazzo Lanfranchi almost unchanged since the days when it housed Byron, the Guiccioli, and the whole Leigh Hunt family, and can glance across the river to the Casa Frasi where the Shelleys, Medwin, and Trelawny lived. The Casa Magni at San Terenzo remains a solemn memorial to the last weeks of Shelley's life.

✧ ✧ ✧

IF your enterprise be great, you can go on to Missolonghi and see the lagoons and mountains among which Byron died. Believe me, these expeditions are the most rewarding of pilgrimages in that they combine the excitement of a quest, the stimulus of the unfamiliar, and the recognition of places associated with men and women with whom we have become intimately acquainted.

Will Manitoba Premier Look Out His Window?

(From the Winnipeg Tribune)

That sign just erected by a well-known local brewery at the intersection of Broadway and Osborne will probably become a Winnipeg landmark in a short time.

Thousands of Winnipeggers passing the corner every day will undoubtedly consult it for time, temperature and weather forecasts. Incidentally they will also be made aware of the name of the maker of the well-known local beer.

We would like to mention the name of the brewery and the beer, but that would probably be against the law in Manitoba.

Under the law in this province, brewers may erect multi-colored signs as high as the Golden Boy at the point of sale, giving product identification. They may advertise to their hearts' content in newspapers and magazines that circulate in Manitoba, if these newspapers and magazines are published elsewhere.

But brewers and distillers may not under the law advertise in Manitoba publications.

Perhaps Premier Campbell, as he glances out his office window in the Legislative Building at the new brewery sign, may decide like Mr. Bumble that the law is an ass.

He may ask himself why a sign identifying a product at the very spot where it is being sold should be any more legal than an advertisement in the East Overshoe (Man.) Weekly Bugle.

COOKING UP A HOT DISH

Letters To The Editor

BELIEVERS IN "MERCY KILLING"

Sir: I would suggest that the conditions described in your editorial of Sept. 2nd, entitled "2,231 Idiots"—that are living in a mental institution in Orillia—is due to a conflict between the ancient and the modern in line of thought. The ancient which is religious in texture says: "Only God who gave life can take it away". The modern, which is scientific in approach may say "These congenital idiots are dead. In fact they have never lived at all; let us destroy them before their increase destroys us."

Reform along these lines has been attempted, time and time again; but always to the fore and against it has been the church; for according to the beliefs of the Christian church human life is precious though it did not always think that way and must take responsibility for the numerous dead in long forgotten wars.

According to a recent editorial in The Examiner, the earth has doubled its population in the last hundred years, and if this is so, it is enough to make one shudder trying to look into the future. Should we not pause, and give this very grave social problem which is affiliated with the so-called "Mercy Killing" (in which I am a firm believer) some thought; and if a practical solution can be found, place in the hands of skilled men the tools they need.

There is little difference between ancient times and these only that the wars are more destructive and tend to become even more so. The citizens of ancient Sparta, to remain the splendid fighting force they were, had to destroy their imperfect children.

FRED HORN.

CHILDREN TRAINED AT ORILLIA

Sir: I am a graduate nurse, registered in the Province of Ontario, and received my training at The Ontario Hospital School at Orillia, with affiliation at Toronto East General and St. Michael's.

. . . . The Peterborough Examiner asks the question "Is society just which supports the empty, unlit life in Orillia hospital?" Life is not empty and unlit. There is a staff of school teachers, and each child is trained and taught to the degree of that child's level of intelligence. There is a routine of activity and all those patients, who are able, are encouraged to participate. There are Church services on Sunday; academic school on school days of the school year; training in domestic work, sewing, etc., for older girls; training in the various shops for the older boys, such as shoe-making and repair; electrical, carpentry, farming, etc. There is also plenty of recreation, such as ball-games, skating, horse-shoes, walking parties, etc. I wonder if the person responsible for the editorial in The Peterborough Examiner has ever attended a Christmas concert at The Ontario Hospital School at Orillia, put on by the patients, under the direction of their teachers and instructors?

There are two sides to the economic angle of The Ontario Hospital School at Orillia. Has he considered the employment the hospital provides for men and women in a town like Orillia? Has he considered how much domestic help is supplied to the homemakers by the girls from The Ontario Hospital School? Or has he considered how much revenue is brought to the town of Orillia, because of The Ontario Hospital School Staff? Also, did he ever consider the shortage of nurses which exists today, and the fact that the shortage would be greater, were it not for our Ontario Hospitals with their training schools for nurses? . . .

Yours very truly,
Toronto. AGNES J. HORAN, Reg.N.

OBJECTS TO FRIDAY NIGHT OPENING

Sir: I would like to express one housewife's opinion regarding stores being open Friday nights.

I think these "Women's Associates" are expecting a great deal from their staff, who already work five and a half days per week, and at wages that do not compare with factory rates, in a majority of cases. They have no chance to enjoy the long weekends that factory and office workers enjoy, and in busy seasons, such as Christmas, they are on hand to give the public the best possible service.

When the stores ceased to remain open on Saturday nights a few years back, people arranged their shopping in the daytime without any hardship, and can continue to do so. We housewives can plan our work so as to leave time for our shopping, and factory and office workers have all day Saturday. It seems to me that the only people who have very little time for this are the store clerks themselves.

I can't see what "Women's Associates" hope to gain. We don't have any more money to spend just because they are open Friday nights; but perhaps they hope to grab a few sales away from the other stores which are not open.

I think the best way to show them what we think of their scheme, is by refusing to patronize them either Friday nights or any other time. How about it, folks?

HOUSEWIFE

Not For Canada

(Le Canada, Montreal)

In an article in the Saturday Evening Post, General Omar Bradley, former American chief of staff has just proposed the integration of the military forces of Canada and the United States under the supreme authority of a unified command. There is already a consultative council of Canadian-American defence, but this council is sufficiently flexible so that both governments —while collaborating on the building up of a common defence on a continental scale—maintain, each one, absolute independence of action in the matter of foreign policy. If the Bradley plan were accepted by Ottawa and Washington, it would be equivalent to political integration. Instantly, Canada would be literally committed to the political decisions made by the United States. Since the first days of Confederation, successive governments have always resisted the conception of an imperial staff whose decisions would have engaged Canadian headquarters. And when it happened that a Conservative government strayed from that line of conduct it was overthrown at the next election. In such conditions, we are certain that Ottawa would not accept in 1953 what the partisans of our sovereignty rejected in 1867.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase (Prov. 3:9.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. (Matt. 6:19-21.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Charge them that are rich in this world that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rcih in good works, laying up in store for themselves a good ready to distribute, willing to communicate; foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life. (I Tim. 6:17-19.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. (Matt. 16:24.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Two young doctors met for the first time since college.

"I'm specializing in nerve treatment," said one.

"And have you had any success?" asked the other.

"I should say so," was the reply. "When I'd finished with my last patient he asked me to lend him $50."

NOT QUITE RIGHT

One girl seemed to be just what the film producer interviewing applicants for the heroine's part, wanted.

"Yes, you're just what we need," he told her. "Right face, right coloring, right voice, everything called for in the part. By the way, what salary are you expecting?"

The girl named her figure.

"Sorry, said the producer, hurriedly, "you are too tall."

Fence At Lake Louise

(Calgary Herald)

We really cannot feel that there is justification for all the fuss that is being raised about the new fence around the terraces at the Chateau Lake Louise. We certainly would not stand by while anybody—including the Canadian Pacific Railway—enclosed great chunks of the national parks, which belong to all the people; but it does not appear that any such great principle is here involved.

The CPR has fenced in the terrace and gardens of the Chateau for the obvious purpose of enabling its guests—who pay handsomely for the privilege of being its guests—to enjoy a certain amount of peace and quiet while they sit in those gardens.

No attempt has been made to deprive the public at large, whether guests of the hotel or not, of the pleasure of walking along the shores of the lake and viewing what has rightly been described as one of the most perfect views to be enjoyed anywhere.

We do not believe that the public at large have any inherent right to park themselves in and about the gardens which are provided at the CPR's expense for the benefit of its own customers.

We do not believe anyone can reasonably deny that a guest who is paying for his room at the hotel is entitled to enjoy the amenities of the hotel without interference from people who are not registered.

Bath Big Christmas Gift Given By Reds

OTTAWA (CP)—Four Canadian prisoners of war received a Christmas gift from their captors—one bath apiece—the only one they got in 10½ months behind enemy lines, an army dispatch said Thursday.

In a Tokyo interview, the four released prisoners discussed their experiences behind the Bamboo Curtain. All four were members of Baker company of the 1st battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, which bore the brunt of a heavy Chinese attack on Little Gibraltar last Oct. 23.

Pte. Tom Allan, 22, of Ville Emard, Que., said he received an extra Christmas bonus—after the bath, he had a haircut.

The other three are L.Cpl. Ron Eakins, 28, of Toronto and Guelph; L.Cpl. Gerald McKinney, 21, of Melita, Man., and Cpl. Fred Jollymore, 23, of Toronto.

CONSTANT QUESTIONING

McKinney and Eakins were both at the same North Korean prison camp until June, when they were taken to an interrogation camp.

They spent two months there under constant questioning in solitary confinement. They said that one of the Chinese methods was to make them sit at attention for hours at a time.

"But it wasn't the interrogation in solitary that got me," grinned Eakins. "It was 67 days on a diet of dried green beans and rice."

Jollymore and Allan spent the last seven months together in a camp near the Yalu river. They said they were confined to a small room with two American prisoners-of-war. Through November and December last year, they said, they were kept in solitary confinement at an interrogation camp.

SURVIVE ROUGH TRIP—Harry Tippett (left), 16, and Ron Beckett, 22, of Saint John, N.B., survived an accidental trip through the famous reversing falls at Saint John. They and a third youth, Kenneth Doherty, 20, are believed the first to shoot the 1,000-yard run and live.

Ask Increase In World Price Of Gold

WASHINGTON (CP) — Gold-producing South Africa Thursday proposed an increase in the world price of gold from its present fixed base of $35 an ounce in U.S. currency.

The proposal was promptly rejected by the United States, the world's biggest gold buyer.

The proposal was made by Michiel Hendrick de Cock, governor of the South African Reserve Bank, in an address to the international monetary fund meeting here.

De Cock said a gold price increase would be logical now that trade is more normal, that special assistance programs have declined and there is a world desire to achieve adequacy of reserves and ensure the maintenance of international financial liquidity.

AID CONVERTIBILITY

He maintained that an increase in the gold price would greatly facilitate the attainment of currency convertibility in a large part of the world.

He said he hoped the "countries which still oppose the readjustment of gold prices will not wait until a world recession or depression causes them to bring about what could have been done in advance with much less destruction."

Replying for the United States, Randolph Burgess, deputy of the U.S. treasury, said his country could not approve of an increase.

He said such a move would be inflationary and would undermine not only programs of the international monetary fund but the "sound money program" of the U.S.

"Tampering with the price of gold would be a step backwards and would add to the difficulties in many countries which are still struggling to establish sound currencies."

New Radio Series On How Prayer Heals

A new series of weekkly 15-minute radio programs illustrating the power of prayer in everyday life will start September 19 by the Christian Science church, it was announced today.

Each program presents a first-hand, documentary narrative in which a guest tells of his own religious experience—how his problem was solved or how he experienced physical healing through prayer in Christian Science.

Following the narrative a short inspirational message will be presented on how the listener can solve his own problems through prayer.

The programs—will be heard on about 600 radio stations throughout the United States, Canada and Australia, and at points in Latin America, Africa, Europe and New Zealand.

The opening program presents a shipyard worker who tells how prayer brought his release from a fuel tank in which he was trapped.

Was BA Oil Official

TORONTO (CP)—J. H. Ibbotson, 62, former central region safety supervisor for the British American Oil Company, died here Thursday. A native of Oshawa, he was connected with British American for more than 30 years. He joined the company as a sales clerk. Later he held positions in the marketing department, serving as resident manager in Stratford, Owen Sound and Galt.

Mrs. Charles M. Butler

Gertrude E. Butler, wife of Charles M. Butler, formerly of Peterborough, passed away at her home in Denver, Colorado, Aug. 29.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Clunan and was born Feb. 4, 1879 at Lindsay. The family moved to Peterborough about 1900. She was married to Mr. Butler in Nelson B.C. in 1906 and went with him to Denver where the family has lived since. Surviving are her husband, two sons, Charles E., librarian at the University of West Virginia at Morgantown, W. Va., and Francis H. of Denver, and one sister, Mrs. Edith McSeveyn of Los Angeles. Interment was at Denver, Sept.1.

Foresters Ousted In OASA Intermediate "AA" Set By Quinte Crew In 3rd Tilt

Belleville eliminated Foresters from further intermediate "AA" softball playdowns Thursday night, by defeating the fraternity men 7-3 in a clean, hard-fought duel at the East City Bowl before a fair-sized twilight crowd. Thus the last local team involved in OASA playoffs has bowed out to outside opposition for 1953; and softball is over except for the Civic League playoffs commencing Monday night with a twin bill.

Bruno McCurdy, husky right-handed slinger for the visitors, opened hostilities and toiled well for five innings, giving up five hits and a single run to Foresters. Ken Hall greeted Bruno with a homer to deep centre in the sixth; Ron Tyndall followed with a double, and when Jiggs Roberts was safe on a fielder's choice, successive walks to Art Tyndall and Bob Walling filled the bases and the Quinte skipper decided to send his ace pitcher Art Holmes to the rescue. The latter proved effective in relief to squelch further trouble.

BUILD UP LEAD

Meanwhile, the eastern lads were piling up a small but comfortable lead on their own part as they pecked away at Hall, who endured an offnight on the mound, to tally doubles in the second, third and fourth innings. Bunton's homer in the second with Bone aboard started the ball rolling. His bat and those of McBride and Cousins led n subsequent attacks as well.

The victors earned their victory playing smart ball; while the losers earned plaudits also for a fine team effort in a tough struggle. Bob Walling's sensational fielding in centre for Foresters featured, and a neat double play, Miller to Cousins to Locke was a thriller, to end the game.

Small Tuna Gives Argentina Lead

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP)—The little tuna that grabbed Pablo Bardin's herring-baited hook Thursday gave Argentina a slim opening day lead in the 10th international tuna tournament here.

The Buenos Aires angler brought the 158-pounder, the day's only catch, to gaff on Soldier's Rip in 16 minutes, giving his country a 558-point lead over nine other teams in this three-day world series of big game angling.

Although Bardin, Argentina's captain, was a bit embarrassed at bringing a baby tuna back from the Rip, where some of the world's biggest have been caught, none frowned upon the catch. A small docile tuna won a tournament two years ago.

The British Commonwealth gained its first victory in the post-war series of tournaments when Major Cyril Frisby of Guidford, Surrey, landed a 269-pounder after a 28-minute battle on the closing day of the 1951 matches.

There were no other strikes Thursday.

TEAMMATES?—Montreal hockey fans are hoping that this versatile trio will be seen together again soon. Once, not on the golf links. They are, left to right, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard, of the NHL Canadiens, and Jean Beliveau, of the Quebec Aces. Beliveau hasn't announced his plans for the 1953-54 season but Montreal fans would like to see him with the Habs. In a friendly golf game Lach and the Rocket defeated Believeau and Boom Boom Geoffrion. Gerry McNeil played too, but quit after nine holes when he found there are no shutouts in golf.

Mount Pleasant Takes Title From Marines

Mount Pleasant defeated Outboard Marines 7-6 last night in Quaker Park to capture the Industrial Fastball League championship and the G. K. Fraser Trophy. They took the fifth and deciding game of the final series in a fine scrap, having won the first two games and dropping the next two of a hot series.

The Mounts had to come from behind a six-run Marines' lead built up in the first three frames, and they counted two in the sixth, three more in the eighth and the tying and winning markers in the top of the ninth.

Marines started strongly with a run in the first, three next time to bat and two more in the third, but were held scoreless from then on as Mt. Pleasant steadied down. Jamieson went the route on their mound while Doris on the other slab gave way in the sixth to Halliday, who was charged with the loss. The winners' hits were well spread around, while White led the losers with a triple, double and single in four times. Teams:

Mt. Pleasant—Jamieson, p; Dracup, 3b; Crawford, cf; Byers, rf; K. Bryan, 1b; Crary, ss; Mitchell, 2b; Hickson, c; C. Bryan, lf.

Marines: White, lf; Mongraw, c; Halliday, ss, p; Corrigan, cf, ss; Downer, 3b; Morgan, 2b; Gordonier, 1b; Fennell, cf; Blakely, rf.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Local bowlers did a mighty fine job in Lindsay on Wednesday. They took all of the major honors. It was a mixed doubles tournament held in honor of the late James Mackey. The beautiful trophy was donated by members of the family of the late Mr. Mackey. This was the first season for this event. A capacity entry made up the tournament.

First, and James Mackey Trophy—Mrs. H. Northrop and G. Coleman, skip.

Third, for 3 wins—Mrs. J. Cullen and N. Routley skip.

Fourth, for 3 wins—Mrs. R. Penrose and R. Hutchinson, skip.

If we have fine weather tonight, the invitation night will go over big. Bowlers are asked to bring as many of their friends as will come. The fun starts around 7:30 o'clock.

The ladies will continue their doubles competition on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Reimbursement Issue Shelved

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association Thursday night shelved for further study legislation to reimburse junior A hockey clubs for the loss of over-age players.

At a recent council meeting, junior clubs decided that players becoming too old for junior status should remain the property of their original clubs until Dec. 15 of the following season. They also decided that these players could be released to senior A clubs upon payment of $500 a player.

The senior clubs opposed this plan.

Neil Hezzlewood of Oshawa, who with Stafford Smythe of Toronto presented the recommendation to the parent body, said the junior clubs are justified in demanding payment.

OHA executives said they are not opposed to the proposal but added it may lead to disturbing complications.

Black Velvet Wins Trophy In Jumper Stake

TORONTO (CP)—Black Velvet, a six-year-old jumper as black as its name, Thursday night won the Charles Loveless Challenge Trophy in the open jumper stake at the national horse show, outclassing a field of 25.

Black Velvet, owned by Charlie Armstrong of the ABC farms at Brampton, and ridden by veteran Lorne Siegle, took the first-place ribbon in a three-way jump-off with Kzar d'Esprit and Kro-Flight.

The jumper stake, open to all and run over an eight-jump course, was the prime event of the opening of the three-day show at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Kzar d'Esprit, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy of Ste. Marguerite, Que., placed second in the jump-off.

SINGLE TROTTERS

Patricia Volo, owned by Dr. E.E Foster and Son, Galt, won the class for single trotters under 15.2 in the light harness horse division. King's Counsel, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McMillan, Georgetown, was judged best of the singles heavy harness horses, up to 15.2.

Knight Rose, owned by Miss F. Millar, Long Lane Farm, Brantford, was best of the saddle horses, under 15.2.

Peter Pan, owned by H. A. Knight, Guelph, was second in the class for hunters, suitable to become lightweight hunters.

Plays To Stalemate

WINNIPEG (CP)—Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg, recent winner of the British chess championship, and 18-year-old Ross Siemms of Toronto played to a stalemate Thursday in the fifth round of the Canadian chess championship.

6 Teams Still In Running

TORONTO (CP)—Six teams of the original field of 19 today remain in the running for the women's world softball championship after a day highlighted by a triple play and an 18-inning game climaxed by home runs for each team in the final inning.

Knocked out of the double-loss elimination tournament Thursday at the Canadian National Exhibition were clubs from Regina, Bremerton, Wash., Toronto, Fort Worth, Tex., and New Orleans.

The survivors are Toronto Gartens, Orange, Calif., Phoenix, Ariz., Ramblers, Fresno, Calif., Stratford, Conn., and Denver Soopers.

Regina was defeated 4-1 by the Gartens for their second loss.

Film Of City Shown With Lacrosse Shots

A number of lacrosse scenes are depicted in an unnamed film previewed Thursday afternoon at the Public Library. Mayor Hugh Waddell, Librarian Wm. Graff and several senior lacrosse club officials saw the film run off by Christopher Smith for the Davart Productions Ltd. of Toronto, of which Dave Price is president.

Along with various shots of Peterborough industries and tourist attractions, the reel pictured many of the Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association boys in action under Coach Don Ashbee. Also, part of a Mimico-Petes' game was seen. It was an interesting screening of the city's most popular sport.

The company is seeking to sell this film, taken during the summer, to the city or any industrial firm interested as a potential advertising agency with a local background, stressing the popular game of lacrosse here.

Civic Loop Series

Civic League manager Fred Maybee has announced that four teams will be eligible in the coming playoffs for the league title as follows: Foresters, Bill's Lunch, Seabrooke Electric and Bell Telephone.

Semi-finals will commence immediately with a doubleheader Monday night at East City Bowl beginning at 7 p.m., and will pit the IOF against Seabrooke Electric in the first game; with Bill's Lunch opposing Bell Telephone in the nightcap. The 8:30 curfew is automatically suspended. All games must be decided, weather permitting.

The semi-finals are a best-of-three series.

Games will continue Wednesday night. The finals will be a best-of-five series.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cincinnati and Brooklyn played the longest scoreless-tie game in the major baseball leagues seven years ago today. The National League contest at Brooklyn went 19 innings before it was called by darkness after four hours and 40 minutes' play. The Reds had 10 hits and the Dodgers eight but no one crossed the plate.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Comes a bulletin from the AHL to remind puck fans that their sport is edging onto the scene. This six-team loop starts its 70-game schedule on Oct. 10 and goes through till Mar. 21, plus playoffs. The circuit is grouped into a single division with top four in playoffs. A 10-minute sudden-death overtime period is again in vogue to cut down on tie games. Cleveland Barons open in Pittsburgh and two of the local senior lacrossers will be in action for the Barons, unless Ike Hildebrand moves up to New York Rangers of the NHL. He will try out for the team but, even if he makes it, will not step up unless paid what he wants. Don Ashbee also joins the Barons this season.

* * * * * * *

And a hockey item from Kingston: "The local Goodyears, champions of the OHA senior "B", will be managed this season by Art Casterton and coached again by shrewd Johnny Carr-Harris. Joe Corkey has retired for business reasons, and the popular Art Casterton—former OHA referee—is ideally suited for this new venture he has undertaken. It is expected that all of last year's players with the exception of Al DeLuca (stationed in North Bay) will be available. If Joe Levandoski, formerly of NY Rangers, joins the locals he will add strength to a potent defence." Yes, the K's will be strong again, but will find the Petes this campagin much stronger than a year ago.

Orfuns Face Marauders

Peterborough Orfuns will be gunning for their third straight ORFU intermediate "A" victory at nine tonight in Morrow Park. They tackle Toronto Marauders in loop play, this being Toronto's "home" game. Couldn't obtain a Toronto field for the fixture, so they'll take the receipts here. Booster ducats, of course, won't be honored at this one. Coach Vince Ford had a rugged pack (about half of 'em Negroes) and they put several of the Ghosts out of action in Cobourg a week ago, Cobourg winning the tilt. Ford came from the States to try out with Argos but didn't make it. Look like maybe the Marauders are an unofficial farm team for Argonauts.

Canadian Lacrosse Association holds its annual meeting in Victoria on Sept. 14. Before the Mann Cup series opens out there, a meeting will be held of referees, coaches and managers to discuss rules and interpretations of the series. Session will be Sunday aft. CLA has okayed Ken Croft and Derry Davies as local replacements for Jerry Fitzgerald and Ike Hildebrand. This is the first time Victoria have been in cup finals since they won it at Winnipeg back in 1920. Reports are that Victoria fans filled their million-dollar arena in all home playoffs with Vancouver and expect a sellout for all Mann Cup tussles. We trust games will be staged there only and not have some moved to various Vancouver arenas. Petes fly west from Malton Airport on Saturday eve.

Best Of Luck To Team

Good luck to the Trailermen. We wish them well as they hit the final stretch in the western trail seeking their third Canadian senior lacrosse championship. A fitting climax to five months of play and a few previous months of planning for the season—not to mention the building job of the past several years to reach the peak in the gutted-stick game in the country. It may not be an easy task on the big arena floor in Victoria. They will be in strange surroundings after a long trip, playing a fast team which will have the vocal support of rabid home fans. And they'll have coastal refereeing. But we feel confident that the eastern champs will retain their title if they play up to form. Our best to you, fellows.

OASA play for Peterborough teams wound up for the semester here last e'en as Belleville ousted Foresters in intermediate "AA" competition two games to one. Won this one by 7-3. Two Quinte hurlers saw slab service, while Hall toed the home mound. Art Reynold's local crew had seven hits to six, each side booting one, but the visitors clouted with ducks on the pond, once having a two-run homer. Walling shone afield for the losers. The Civic Softball League best-of-three semi-finals start Monday night at seven in the Bowl, IOF vs. Seabrooke's, and Bills vs. Bell Telephone. No games Saturday. They resume then next Wednesday p.m. Finals will be best-of-five.

Brooklyn Bows 6-5 To Cincinnati After 11 Innings

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn Dodgers, the culprits who kept the Braves from winning it, are going to give the Milwaukee fans a chance to see the National League pennant clinched. It could be tonight or Saturday but if the Braves are really inspired, the brewing centre population may not get to see it at all, since the Dodgers are in town for only two games. Since an eventual Brooklyn victory ranks close behind death and taxes as a sure thing, the Dodgers almost owe it to the Milwaukee faithful to win before their eyes. More people have seen games in Milwauke this season than in any other National League city.

Any combination of two Brooklyn victories and Milwaukee losses will seal the deal for Charlie Dressen's club. Since a Brooklyn victory either tonight or Saturday automatically would mean a Milwaukee loss, things look bright for the Dodgers.

SLIPPED UP

Brooklyn could have had at least a half share in the pennant nailed down already but the Brooks slipped up in Cincinnati Thursday and got beaten 6-5 in 11 innings. The Redlegs battered three Dodger pitchers for 18 hits and finally won on a gift run in the 11th. With the bases loaded and none out Clem Labine walked home the winning tally.

The Dodgers broke two home-run records although they hit only one homer. Wayne Belardi's blast in the eighth was the 1,101st homer in the National League this season, breaking an all-time loop record. And it was the 195th Brooklyn home run this year, a high for the club.

In the only other National League game Thursday, St. Louis edged New York 7-6. New York Yankees moved closer to the American League title with a 1-0 triumph over Chicago and Cleveland bowed to Boston 14-4 in the only junior circuit action.

OUTDUELS CONSUEGRA

Eddie Lopat outduelled Sandy Consuegra for the Yankees' victory with the winning run coming on Gene Woodling's second inning home run into the lower left field stands at Yankee Stadium. Lopat scattered four hits in winning his 15th game, his fourth over Chicago and his third shutout. Chico Carrasquel got three of the four Chicago safeties.

At Boston, Cleveland's stretch drive was halted for the fourth time in 24 games and the Indians fell 10 games behind the Yankees. Any combination of seven New York victories and Cleveland losses will give the Yankees their fifth straight pennant.

Ted Williams hit his 10th and 11th home runs, raising his slugging percentage to 1.017. In 60 times at bat he has collected 26 hits good for 61 total bases—11 home runs, two doubles and 13 singles. Slugging percentages are determined by dividing the number of times at bat into the total bases.

The Cardinals regained sole possession of third place from the idle Philadelphia Phillies with their victory over the Giants. Enos Slaughter's home run in the eighth proved the margin of victory as the Giants rallied for a pair in the ninth.

Salmonacs Victors

WINNIPEG (CP) — A six-goal performance by captain Cliff Sepka gave New Westminster Salmonacs an 18-7 victory Thursday night over Winnipeg Terriers in the second game of their best-of-three western Canada junior lacrosse final.

Royals Shade Maple Leafs In 2-1 Triumph

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Royals strengthened their hold on second place in the International League Thursday night, shading Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 at home to move a step farther ahead of Buffalo Bisons who dropped a 5-2 decision to Ottawa Athletics.

In the only other game scheduled, Baltimore Orioles closed out their home season with a 4-3 victory over Springfield Cubs, clinching at least a tie for fourth place and a berth in the playoffs.

At Montreal, the Leafs were practically eliminated from the select circle as starter Hal Hudson walked the first three batters, two of whom crossed the plate.

CHARGED WITH LOSS

Hudson was relieved by Ray Shore in the seventh but was charged with the loss, his second against four victories. Tom LaSorda, Montreal's ace lefty, went the distance for the winners to give him a 17-8 record.

At Baltimore, a pinch homer by Stan Jok and a two-run double by Russ Kerns enabled the Orioles to overcome a 2-1 disadvantage in the eighth. Howie Fox received credit for the win after starter Jack Sanford was pulled for Jok in the eighth.

At Ottawa, the Athletics scored all their runs in two big innings. In the first, two walks, three singles and an error gave the home team three runs, a lead cut to a single run by Buffalo who got singles in the fifth and seventh.

The A's scored their final two runs in the eighth on singles by Walt Rogers, Lou Limmer and Fred Gerken.

Rochon To Meet Trabert In Davis Cup Zone Finals

By BOB JOYCE

MONTREAL (CP)—A 29-year-old salesman from Montreal today faces one of the world's top tennis players in the North American zone finals of the Davis Cup between Canada and the United States.

Henri Rochon, southpaw veteran of Canadian Davis Cup teams, meets Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, U.S. national singles champion, at the Mount Royal Tennis Club in the opening singles match of the three-day series.

Later Lorne Main, 23l of Toronto and Vancouver faces Vic Seixas, 1953 Wimbledon champion, only member of the U.S. team which beat Canada 4-1 in Montreal in 1952 to make the squad this year.

Both captains put forward their top names Thursday, and the Canadians counted themselves lucky when Richard Butrick, U.S. consul-general in Montreal, matched Rochon and Trabert first in the draw.

DREW NAMES

Butrick drew the names out of two shining challenge bowls—one for the nominees of each team.

Canada's non-playing captain, Laird Watt, his face wreathed in smiles, said after the draw: "We're very satisfied. We were hoping Rochon would draw the first match; it always suits him better."

"We really had no great preference as to who played first," Lawrence Baker, the non-playing American captain said.

The U.S., with victories over Japan and the West Indies, has sent its top team to Montreal to challenge the Canadians.

"We have a healthy respect for the Canadian team," Baker said. "And we've nominated our two top players to open for us."

Canada defeated Mexico and Cuba on the trail to the finals. Winner of this tie meets Belgium, European finalists, for the right to take on Australia, Davis Cup holders.

LEFT BY DRAW

The draw leaves two Americans, Bernard Bartzen of San Angelino, Tex., and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., and two Canadians, Paul Willey of Vancouver and Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., on the sidelines.

But one of them, the 23-year-old Willey, will probably see action in the doubles Saturday with Lorne Main.

Main and Willey represented Canada in the doubles against Cuba and Watt said Thursday they would likely be his choice Saturday.

"They gave a pretty good account of themselves in Boston last month when they took a set from Seixas and Trabert," he said. "We took some time deciding whether it would be Willey or Rochon for the singles duty today."

70-Game Schedule Announced By AHL

NEW YORK (CP)—The American Hockey League, reduced to six teams this season, today announced a 70-game schedule starting with three games on Saturday, Oct. 10.

The defending champions, Cleveland Barons, open in Pittsburgh while Providence is at Hershey and Buffalo at Syracuse.

The league will operate in a single division this season due to the reduced size resulting from the withdrawal of Indianapolis and St. Louis.

The regular schedule, providing for 35 home games and 35 on the road, will end March 21 with the post-season Calder Cup playoffs involving the top four teams due to start either March 23 or 24.

NHL Governors Hold Meeting

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League held its semi-annual governors' meeting here Thursday with representatives of all six teams attending.

President Clarence Campbell said discussion covered the league draft, the forthcoming all-star game, the NHL schedule, and protection of players on minor-league teams that have dropped out of competition.

The schedule, to be released later, was approved by league governors.

Campbell said the all-star game will be held Oct. 3 in Montreal with Lynn Patrick coaching the dream team against last year's Stanley Cup winning Montreal Canadiens.

Imperials To Use Lee As Quarterback

SARNIA (CP)—Coach Red Douglas of Sarnia Imperials will use Bobby Lee of Detroit in the quarterback slot Saturday for his club's Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union game against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen. The winner will move into sole possession of first place.

Lee was quarter for the ill-fated Windsor Royals last season. His game Saturday in Imperial uniform will qualify him for his third year in Canadian football. He is working in Ottawa.

Sarnia has also signed Bill Pattemore, a former Calgary Stampeder lineman.

Fair Price Shops

KARACHI (CP)—A large number of "fair price shops" have been opened by the civic administration in the capital of Pakistan. These shops sell only commodities at controlled prices.

CHARGE SLAVERY IN NFL

OTTAWA (CP) — Charges of "slavery" in the United States National Football League and in Cleveland Browns in particular were made here in a legal document filed Thursday by lawyers for John Kissell, controversial U.S. import tackle.

Faced with an action by Cleveland to keep the big lineman from playing with Ottawa Rough Riders, Sam Berger, a director of Riders and counsel for Kissell, filed a statement of defence which also alleges the National League is a combine.

It charges that "a scheme exists between the Browns and other teams in the National Football League to keep all players in its employ in a state of servitude."

The statement indicated the line Kissell's counsel will take if Cleveland is successful in obtaining an Ontario Supreme Court hearing of its injunction proceedings to prevent the former Cleveland star from playing with Ottawa.

It charges the NFL "is by its organization and practice a combination in restraint of trade, and alternatively violates the anti-trust laws of the U.S. and that "Kissell's contract with the Browns is invalid and illegal."

SARNIA MEETS SCARBORO

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia Beavers and Scarboro Maitlands will open a best-of-five series Saturday for the Ontario Lacrosse Association intermediate A championship. Second game will be in Scarboro Tuesday. The Beavers gained the final by ousting Dundas Hornets while Scarboro eliminated Alliston Athletics.

✦ ✦ ✦

BUYS GOLF COURSE

GEORGETOWN (CP) — Magistrade Kenneth M. Langdon of Georgetown has bought the 125-acre J. A. Willoughby golf course here for $125,000, it was announced Thursday. The nine-hole course will be retained for the use of the rapidly-developing communities of Georgetown, Acton and Milton.

WIN FUTURITY EVENTS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Tripler, owned by K. D. Owen of Houston, Tex., and driven by Frank Ervin, won the $13,199.50 Hoosier Futurity for two-year-old pacers on the grand circuit program at the Indiana State Fair Thursday. Harlan won the $12,049.50 Hoosier Futurity for two-year-old trotters. He was driven by Del Miller and is owned by C. M. Provost of Pittsburgh.

DAVIS WHIPS ARAUJO

BOSTON (AP) — Teddy (Red Top) Davis, 130, of Hartford, Conn., became the New England lightweight boxing champion Thursday night by storming from behind for a unanimous 10-round decision over George Araujo, 135½, of Providence, R.I.

It was Araujo's first start since being knocked out by lightweight titlist Jimmy Carter in June.

DOPING CHARGE FALSE

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Lawrence B. Sheppard, president of the United States Trotting Association, said Thursday a lie detector test had shown that Wayne (Curly) Smart, suspended trainer-driver for Castleton Farms of Lexington, Ky., is innocent of a charge of doping a horse.

Smart, one of the leading grand circuit drivers, last Monday was suspended for a year by the Michigan state racing commission.

Sheppard said the record shows the horse Abbasong was given a medicine prescribed by a licensed veterinarian.

Doesn't Think Football Injury Caused Death Of Ambrose

OTTAWA (CP)—A football injury apparently was not the cause of death of big Jim Ambrose, Montreal football player who died in hospital here early Thursday, an Ottawa coroner said.

Dr. W. T. Kendall said that in his opinion Ambrose, 23-year-old tackle who collapsed during an intermediate game here Monday, was "a sick man before he went into that game."

"On examination so far it does not seem that a football injury was the cause of death," Dr. Kendall said Thursday following an autopsy.

Ambrose played from 1950 to last year with Montreal Alouettes in the Big Four. He joined Lakeshore Flyers in the intermediate Quebec Rugby Football Union this season. A six-foot one-inch tackle weighing 240 pounds, he also helped coach the Flyers' line.

He collapsed coming off the field during the last half of a game with Ottawa Seconds.

His coach, Bill Davies, in a long distance telephone interview said he "didn't see any play in which he (Ambrose) could have been injured."

Dr. Kendall said it probably will be 24 hours before the complete results of his autopsy are known. He will decide then whether to hold an inquest.

$500,000 Fire Destroys Plant

MONTREAL (CP)—A two-alarm fire in Montreal's northeast Rosemount district Thursday night destroyed a stone-manufacturing plant and a garage, causing damage estimated at $500,000.

No one was injured.

Flames destroyed the Martineau Cut Stone Co., Ltd., and a garage owned by Raymond McDonnell Contractors. Ten gravel trucks in the garage, valued at $15,000 each, were also destroyed.

Cause of the blaze, which was brought under control within an hour, is not known. Firemen said the buildings were a "mass of flames" when they arrived on the scene.

The flames are believed to have broken out in the stone company's one-storey building and spread quickly to the nearby garage.

A Martineau company official estimated damage to the plant at $200,000. Cranes and other smaller equipment in the plant were destroyed.

Stirling Rink Wins Trebles Tournament

STIRLING (ENS)—Mrs. W. T. Elliott's rink won high honors in the Ladies' Doubles tournament here Wednesday with three wins and a score of 46 plus one.

The other players on her rink were Miss Rosa Spry and Mrs. Gilbert Finkle.

Mrs. Thompson's rink, of Belleville, was the two-game winner and Mrs. Cross' rink, of Belleville, won the one game prize. Only eight rinks participated.

List Russian Strength

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist interior ministry's Ta Tao news agency said today Russian forces in Manchuria include 17 army divisions, two armored divisions and 10 air force groups. The news agency, which claims underground contacts on the Communist mainland, gave no source.

Jails Are Used As Homes

BRECON, Wales (Reuters)—Children play around the gravestones of murderers here because the housing shortage has landed their parents in jail.

But their parents are glad to be in Brecon prison, long since turned into five comfortable, three-celled flats—though the bars are still at the windows and there's a peep-hole in the massive kitchen door.

Mrs. Bella Williams has made her family's home in the old "condemned cell." There's linoleum on the floor, attractive wallpaper on the thick walls and gay curtains at the iron-barred windows. Mrs. Williams has left the iron cell-gate intact at the entrance to her room.

SHIP EELS BY AIR

The fisheries research board is shipping young eels by air from the Maritimes for planting in Saskatchewan lakes.

Marmora WI Donates $50 To Library

MARMORA — (ENS) —The Women's Institute met at the home of secretary-treasurer Mrs. Percy Gordon. The president, Mrs. M. Kourie, was in the chair.

In her treasurer's report, Mrs. Gordon revealed receipts as good from the operation of the booth at Marmora Fair. A $50 donation was made to Marmora Public Library, to be followedf by another donation at a later date.

Sketches of the recent convention in Toronto of the ACCW were given by the president and Mrs. L. R. Green. Also noted was the reception given by the district at Madoc to delegates at this convention from other lands who stopped at Madoc en route to Ottawa and other points.

A discussion was held on ways and means of raising money.

Mrs. H. P. Nayler won a tree contest staged by Mrs. Gordon.

The next meeting, Grandmother's Night, will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Brady. The committee for the month severed refreshments.

WA See Demonstration Of Girls' Club Work

STIRLING (ENS).—St. Paul's WA program featured a demonstration by the Girls' Club under the leadership of Mrs. Bronson. Their project was summer dishes.

The club was represented by Patsy Donohue, Patsy Fraser, and Miss Dalrymple.

Lunch, which included the girls' salad and fruit cocktail, was served. The meeting closed with prayer.

Stirling Students Win Scholarships

STIRLING (ENS).— The Hon. J. R. Cooke scholarship of $50 for the best eight papers in Upper School examinations at Stirling High School was won by Miss Mary Robb.

A Dominion-Provincial student aid type A bursary of $100 for Grade 8 general course was won by Miss Marion Asselstine of Frankford, a student at Stirling High School.

Mrs. Thomas Howland

REGINA—Mrs. Essie Jane Howland, 76, pioneer of the Wascana district in 1899, died recently at her home, 1222 Fifteenth avenue.

Mrs. Howland was born Essie Jane Carveth at Lakefield, Ont., in 1877. In 1898 she married Thomas Howland at Lakefield and the family came to the Wascana district near Lumsden the next year. Mr. Howland died in 1945.

Surviving are four sons, George of Lumsden, Robert and Thomas of Regina, Lewis of Calgary; two brothers, Percy Carveth, Edmonton, and Joseph, Regina; two sisters, Mrs. John McClenaghan and Mrs. Lyla Davis, Vancouver, and seven grandchildren.

Joint Thankoffering Meeting Planned

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met in the primary class room of the church.

The president, Mrs. I. Sexsmith, presided and opened the meeting with a meditation. A psalm was sung followed by scripture reading by Mrs. William Golloher. A hymn was sung, followed by prayer by Mrs. R. D. Duncanson.

Mrs. A. Aitchison took the last chapter of the study book, "Africa's Religions — Old and New" It dealt with the need of Christian teaching and guidance in that continent.

It was decided to hold the fall thankoffering meeting on October 6 jointly with the Young Women's Auxiliary.

Investment Dealer Arrested On 22 Counts

TORONTO (CP)—Police Thursday arrested investment dealer Walter Laughlin McKinnon at his home on 22 charges of theft and fraud.

McKinnon, who operated an investment firm in Toronto, went bankrupt last year when it was discovered that approximately $250,000 in savings of Lanark county residents had disappeared.

The arrest followed the issue of a warrant and the laying of 22 charges by R. S. McCurry, an investigator for the Ontario securities commission.

McKinnon is to be arraigned in court here today, but the trial will be transferred to Perth to make it more convenient for the many witnesses.

When the Quints Were Babies: 4

The Camera Remembers Some Famous 'Firsts'

IN EVERY family album are specially precious pages recording baby's "firsts." And as historic as any "firsts" were those of five little girls named Dionne—the quintuplets the world watched grow up.

Here are Marie (left photo) and Yvonne (second from left) taking their first steps, for instance. That was back in the spring of 1935. Today those same two quints are about to take their first steps away from the family fireside in Ontario.

First of the quints to talk was Emilie, and for the Dionne family album, they decked her out in a new hair-ribbon for the silent photo (centre) of Emilie saying "Ma-ma," way back in October, 1935, at two and a half.

Her first ice cream cone was a big event for Cecile (second from right), and that cold nose and chin must have felt mighty nice on the 1938 summer day.

And for any little girl, the first doll's bed is something to remember. If Annette looked back to 1939 in her family album, she'd see herself (right photo) oblivious to everything else as she tucks dolly in for the night under the tiny blankets.

Pipeline To Bring Black Gold To B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A thin stream of black gold will begin to flow across the Canadian Rockies on or about Oct. 1, tapping the oil fields of Alberta for the rapidly-increasing needs of the west coast.

Trans Mountain Pipeline Company has set that date to open its 718-mile line, stretching from nine miles east of Edmonton to Burnaby mountain, near here, and tidewater.

Just what the development will mean to British Columbia probably will not be known until the operation is well under way, but major oil companies are making elaborate preparations for the change.

One oil official, stressing the importance of the pipeline, estimated B.C.'s yearly consumption as one-eighth of the Canadian total, with a population of only one-twelfth.

Although recent figures were not available, he said B.C.'s demand a year ago was 54,100 barrels monthly compared to 455,200 for all of Canada.

TO OPEN REFINERY

Imperial Oil, the biggest company here, will open its enlarged refinery Sept. 16, capable of handling 22,500 barrels of crude oil daily, compared to the current 12,000 barrels.

Imperial now takes 5,000 barrels daily from Alberta by rail, the rest of its requirements coming from California. With its new plant and the pipeline, it will get its full requirements of crude from Alberta, although some "middle-distillates," such as household fuel oil, will be imported from the south.

Standard Oil Company has broken ground for a new refinery, with completion scheduled for late next year or early 1955. Capacity of the old plant, 8,350 barrels a day, will be increased to 10,000, with all crude coming from Alberta.

An official explained, however, that the daily production will likely run at about 8,250 barrels in the beginning as the plant won't be operated immediately at full capacity.

Shell Oil, now handling from 9,500 to 10,000 barrels daily, will boost the present total to 15,000 by 1954.

The crude oil processing in B.C. now includes two per cent from Alberta and the balance from California. When the pipeline is in operation the processing will be 100 per cent Alberta oil.

120,000 BARRELS DAILY

A pipeline spokesman said the 24-inch line will carry 120,000 barrels a day when it opens, with three pumping stations along the way. Approximately Dec. 1, a fourth station will increase capacity to 150,000.

The $94,000,000 pipeline will be tapped at Kamloops, in the B.C. interior, by Coyalite Products Limited's new 5,000-barrel daily refinery. In addition, an offshoot line will in time feed refineries in Washington state.

"Published tariff rate" for carrying the oil over the pipeline will be 45 cents a barrel from Edmonton to Burnaby, and 2½ cents a barrel for loading tankers. Compared to rail transport, pipeline tariffs run "very broadly" to about 25 per cent, a spokesman said.

"Worship Ends" Statue Returned

LONDON (Reuters)—A statuette of a slim nude by the French sculptor Auguste Rodin was back with its rightful owners today after four months of lonely worship by an art student who stole it from a London gallery.

"There was no mercenary intent behind my abduction of this exquisite creature," said a note accompanying the returned figure, which stands only 13 inches high and was insured for nearly £300.

"I merely wished to live with her for a while. Auguste Rodin would have understood."

The note, signed "Impecunious Art Student," enclosed a 10-shilling contribution toward a national fund to buy for a public gallery the life-size Rodin marble, "Le Baiser" (The Kiss).

The statuette, entitled Psyche and showing a nude with head turned to one side and hands on her hips, disappeared from a downtown art dealers four months ago. It was never traced, and the insurance was paid.

Wednesday the dealer received a telephone call telling him to send a messenger to a room in the Victoria and Albert Museum. There in a darkened corner, Psyche was found.

The Comstock Lode, famous silver mine in Nevada, was discovered in 1859.

Social Security Demands Parley Topic

OTTAWA (CP) — Demands for extended social security measures are expected to be at the forefront of the annual convention of the Canadian Congress of Labor opening Sept. 14 in Montreal.

The congress, Canada's second largest central labor body, will renew pressure for a comprehensive national health insurance scheme financed from the federal treasury. It likely will call also for improvements in existing security measures such as old age pensions.

A concept new to Canada which is expected to receive considerable attention at the week-long session is that of a guaranteed annual wage for labor. It should receive some impetus through the presence at the convention of CIO president Walter Reuther, whose United Automobile Workers are pushing the idea.

From advance indications, internal struggles for power in the big congress will take a back seat at this convention.

A year ago, there was sharp jockeying for the presidency and a hot scrap for the key job of secretary-treasurer. Veteran president A. R. Mosher eventually went in by acclamation and Donald MacDonald was confirmed as secretary treasurer—he had held the job earlier by executive appointment.

The 72-year-old Mr. Mosher, CCL founder in 1940 and its chief ever since, says he will be in the running again, and present prospects are he will get an acclamation.

New Comic Star Now Arrived; Rivals Lift Gags

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Paul Gilbert, the young comic star of the Hoagy Carmichael television show, believes now that he has arrived.

The Carmichael show was a summer replacement for Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca but one appearance turned it into an all year deal for young Gilbert.

After his first bit on the show, NBC signed Gilbert to a seven-year exclusive TV contract. Plans are under way to star him in a comedy series for the network.

Paramount, which only a few months ago heard some rumblings of dissatisfaction from Bob Hope, called Gilbert in for a screen test. Some people have even noticed a facial resemblance between Hope and Gilbert.

But none of the foregoing convinced Gilbert that he had arrived in the comic big leagues. He knew he had made it when other comics started lifting some of his material.

EVERYBODY STEALS

"There isn't a comic living, and that includes me, who hasn't lifted a joke or a gag," admits Gilbert.

"But I do resent it when they send their secretaries down to lift a routine in shorthand."

This, he says, has recently happened to him. Gilbert admits that it is very hard to get original material. He solves this by writing most of his own.

Gilbert is hailed as a new comedy find. However, a check discloses that Gilbert, though still in his late twenties, has almost as much show business experience as Sophie Tucker.

Born of vaudeville parents, he made his stage debut at about the age that most kids start kindergarten. At the old age of seven, he was apprenticed to a circus aerial act. Next came comedy dancing in vaudeville, light opera, nightclubs and now television and movies.

Review Of Mental Regulations Sought

TIMMINS (CP) — Magistrate Stanley W. Gardner of Timmins Wednesday told members of the Ontario legislature's select committee on penal reforms he was not satisfied with mental committal regulations in the province.

He said he was reluctant about committing anyone to mental hospital on the mere word of a relative. He said he knew of several cases where families just wanted to get rid of an individual and had a justice of the peace sign the committment.

Wisconsin Scientists Test Canada's Sub-water Camera

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—University of Wisconsin scientists will use a submersible television camera to snoop on the private lives of fish—and possibly gain information of aid to commercial and sport fishing.

They'll head out today on beautiful Lake Mendota, bordering the university campus, for the first United States research trials of an underwater television system developed by the National Research Council of Canada.

The Canadian equipment was brought here for exhibition at the annual convention of the American Institute of Biological Sciences which ends today.

Canadian demonstrators of the equipment said it's possible to observe a diver's whole body and that the apparatus has many possible applications, including commercial and naval salvage operations. They said biological explorations have been carried on with "excellent results" to a depth of 100 feet.

The Wisconsin scientists will use the equipment for several days.

"Conceivably," said Dr. A. D. Hasler, one of the researchers, "we might gain information that might not only aid fish production and management in this and other lakes where fishing is for sport but might also establish principles of value in connection with commercial fishing in the ocean."

"I believe that this new research tool would be of great aid in observing the spawning conditions in the springtime—something about which we know virtually nothing. Also, we don't know anything about the behavior of fish under the ice in wintertime. Some types are never caught in the winter. Where do they go? Maybe television will help us find out."

Sleepy Man Fined $25 For Disturbance

OTTAWA (CP)—Can a sleeping man create a disturbance?

As Bernard Lahaise found out Wednesday night, the answer is "yes," if:

He picks the wrong apartment hallway for a snooze; he takes off everything but his socks; and if he gets caught.

Police found Lahaise in such straits and Thursday he was fined $25 and costs for creating a disturbance.

Millbrook Plans Changes To Village Water Supply

MILBROOK (ENS)—The village council has formed a committee of its own members and the two hydro commissioners to look into costs, plan for alteration and improvements of the present water system.

It has also passed a bylaw putting control of the village water system into the hands of the Hydro Electric Commission.

Additionally, council has passed a bylaw designed to cut down traffic hazards on the main street and has renewed its agreement with Cavan township for leasing and management of the town hall.

Bylaw 795 requires traffic to stop at red blinker lights at King, Union and Anne Sts. and at King, Tupper and Distillery Sts. The reeve and clerk were instructed to sign and seal the bylaw and forward a copy to the Department of Highways.

Council also accepted and instructed the reeve and clerk to complete a bylaw entrusting control and management of all water works and distribution system to the Hydro Electric Commission until a Public Utilities Commission is established.

HALL AGREEMENT

Council also instructed the reeve to sign the agreement between the village and Cavan township regarding management and leasing of the town hall. The agreement is to be effective for five years, retroactive to May 31 of this year.

The town hall belongs to Cavan township but is used by both municipalities. The first agreement was signed in 1880 and was for 20 years. After three 20-year periods, the length of the agreement was lessened to five years.

The agreemnt provides for a four-member committee, two from the township and two from the village. In the event of a disagreement a fifth person would be chosen by the committee.

The committee will control management, minor repairs, rental and caretaking of the hall. Any major repairs will be decided by the two councils.

Both municipalities will continue to have offices in the hall, which will be cared for, heated and lighted. Both parties will have priority in the use of the council chambers and main hall over other parties for council sittings, public meetings, elections and the transaction of public business.

SHARE FINANCES

The village clerk will keep the committee's books. Both councils will share receipts and expenditures on a 50-50 basis.

Other items of business were transacted by village council at its regular meeting.

A cheque for $68.85 was received from the Department of Municipal Affairs, representing the Fire Departments Act subsidy. A cheque for $83.66 was received from the Welfare Department covering payments under the Children's Protection Act.

The usual grant of $50 was made to the Millbrook Agricultural Society.

Accounts totalling $795.68 were ordered paid.

Fire Chief Douglas Sheppard reported practices on August 10 and September 1. Equipment is in good order.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By CHARLES H. SPEARIN

Scouting generally has become a year-round activity. There is really no end to it. There is, however, a climax in the year's Scouting activities which is marked by the annual summer camp.

During the summer months many of our local Scout troops have enjoyed camps lasting from one to two weeks at their choice camp sites; some at Sandy Lake, others near Manvers, Ont., and other favourite spots.

Eight First Class Scouts from various troops in the city attended the Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree at the Connaught Ranges in July and, in August, two members of the Rev. Kibblewhite Rover Crew represented Peterborough at the World Rover Moot in Switzerland.

Some of the proceeds from Boy Scout Apple Day and paper drives is used to help finance such trips and Scout camps, though the greater part of their expenses is met by the boys' own industry and effort.

NASSAU CAMP

Several of our local Cub Packs made use of the camp grounds and buildings at Nassau for well organized and properly operated weekend camps. In many instances, it was the first time away from home overnight. Away from the watchful eye of Mom and Dad, these lads of 8, 9, 10 and 11 years are no longer boys but regular jungle wolves, albeit under the guidance and authority of their pack leaders, Akela, Balloo and Rackshaw.

There has been evidence during the summer months of other, between camp, visitations to the Nassau Camp buildings by a low grade type of vandals whose main purpose seems to be to spoil it for the other fellows. Perhaps the solution would be to hire a dog—a short-haired, long-toothed terror, preferably a little on the hungry side.

As we enter the fall and winter phase of Scouting, troops and packs are being re-organized, new boys coming in, others "going up" to Scouts, and still others who may drop out temporarily under pressure of increased school work and activities, perhaps to return in the future as leaders.

The date for Boy Scout Apple Day has been set for October 17. Yes, there will be a Boy Scout paper collection in the not-too-distant future. The date is not set, but the Paper Drive committee is working on it and those good folks who have been saving their paper for the Scouts are requested to hold it for just a little longer.

In the meantime, for the Cubs and Scouts, fall hikes and corn roasts are the order of the day . . . after school, of course.

Marmora News

Mr. and Mrs. David King, of Sault Ste. Marie, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. E. Belanger and Mr. Belanger, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gordon attended the Wannamaker-Fox wedding in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, Saturday.

Weekend guests of Mrs. P. Gordon included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wannamaker, Stirling, Mrs. Ed. Wannamaker, Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. Richard and Arnold, Miss Thornby and Mrs. Robert Warren, Eric and Mary, Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dowler, Roseneath.

Potent Pigeon Trap

HAMILTON (CP)—Corn soaked in whisky will be used to try to catch pigeons infesting downtown Hamilton. The mixture is supposed to knock the birds out for an hour or two so that they can be picked up and put in a bag. A loft on top of a central building has trapped only 78 since it was put there last May.

You can't go "ALL-OUT" If you feel "ALL-IN"

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Cattle Market Prices Out Of Bad Slump

TORONTO (CP)—Cooler weather and general rainfalls pulled the cattle market out of a slump at the Ontario stockyards this week. Trade was active on lighter offerings with cattle prices gaining 50 cents to $1 and $1.50 in spots on steers. Calves were down $1 while lambs were $2 down. Hogs were unchanged. Holdover at the close was 400 cattle.

Cattle receipts totalled 4,909 head including 1,600 westerns while 1,200 head were carried from last week. Choice light and weighty steers $19.50-20.50; a few up to $21; good steers $18.50-19.25; mediums downward to $17; plain steers and heifers $11-15; good heifers $18.50-19; good cows and bulls $11.50-12.50; canners $5-8 and plain bulls as low as $8; choice fed yearlings $22-23.50; mediums downward to $18; good light stockers $18.50-20; a few stock calves at $20.25; common to medium $14-18.

Calves were 2,123 head including 500 westerns. Veal calves sold at $21-23 for choice with medium to good $15-20; grassers $10-14.

Hogs totalled 2,537 head. Prices were $33 for grade A with dressed rows $22.

Sheep and lambs were 1,574 head added to 500 carried from last week. Lambs closed at $21 for good ewes and wethers, a few at $22 delivered by rail; bucks $1 discount; heavies $2-4 discount; cull lambs $15-20; good light ... eep $8-10; culls downward to $4

PILES UP ON COAST—The Panamanian freighter Evgenia lists heavily to starboard and pounds against the rocks on Peaked Hill Bar, near Provincetown, Mass., after being driven ashore by heavy seas kicked up by hurricane force winds. A United States Coast Guardsman, left, prepares a breeches buoy line used to rescue 17 of the 25-man crew. The rest of the crew stayed aboard the stricken vessel to aid in salvage attempts.

Liberal Winner Of By-Election

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Liberal Harold P. Smith won the Fourth Queens provincial by-election Thursday, retaining the seat made vacant by appointment of former Premier J. Walter Jones to the Senate.

With all polls reporting, Mr. Smith had 1,087 votes against 452 for his only opponent, J. Leo Praught, who entered as an independent farmer.

The victory gives Liberals under Premier Matheson 24 seats in the provincial house. The Progressive Conservatives have six.

Substance Is Subject Of Lesson Sermon

"Substance" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world including First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was "For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. Thy faithfulness is unto all generations: thou hast established the earth, and it abideth." —(Psalms 119:89, 90).

Selections from the Bible included the following from Isaiah 45:5, 6, 12: "I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me: That they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none else. I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following: "Spirit, God, has created all in and of Himself. Spirit never created matter. There is nothing in Spirit out of which matter could be made, for, as the Bible declares, without the Logos, the Aeon or Word of God, 'was not anything made that was made.' Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God."

ANNUAL DINNER AND DANCE

The Rice Lake Tourist Association will hold their annual dinner and dance this coming Wednesday at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

NEW LICENCE PLATES

The new 1954 licence plates arrived today at the Chamber of Commerce. The new plates' numbers will be blue, with a white background. The reverse from this year's plates.

SPEAK TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Pete McGillen, Outdoor Editor for the Toronto Telegram, will be guest speaker this coming Wednesday at the general meeting of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce. It will be held at the South Beach hotel.

UNIVERSITY CLASSES

Classrooms will be available at PCVS on Saturdays for University of Western Ontario and Queen's University classes. The University of Western Ontario is conducting two classes in economics and two in philosophy; and Queen's is conducting two classes in psychology.

CHOIR PRACTICE ROOM

A room at Confederation School will be made available for the St. Giles Presbyterian Church choir to practice in. The Board of Education granted the request Thursday night; the only condition is that the regular fee for the janitor service be paid.

FIRE CHIEFS MEET

Fire Chief William Sorrie, of the Peterborough Fire Department, will attend the combined convention in Toronto, September 14-18, of the International Association of Fire Chiefs and the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs. It is expected that 2,500 chiefs and others will be at the convention.

LABOR COUNCIL LEVY UP

A notice of motion has been recorded by the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (TLC) stating that at the October meeting a resolution will be introduced raising per capita tax from three cents for each union member in the affiliated locals. A debate is expected on whether or not this should be voluntary, and when it should go into effect, if at all.

TEST REUNION

Somewhere up to 400 graduates of the Canadian General Electric's test course from all parts of Canada will attend a test reunion dinner Saturday in Peterborough. There will be golf at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club for those who are interested and dinner at noon at the plant. In the afternoon there will be a special outing to Chemong, followed by a supper at Ennismore, and an evening of reminiscing.

ASK BELL TELEPHONE HELP

The Bell Telephone Co. are going to be asked to take over the maintenance of the nearly five miles of telephone lines running into the county forest, north of Norwood. The Peterborough County Council erected their own line but they haven't proper facilities for keeping it in repair; so they hope they can make some sort of arrangement with the telephone company.

Came Too Close

Two accidents in Peterborough Thursday resulted in minor damage. A North Bay man's car sustained $25 damage when the driver, Clarence Sullivan, 37, struck a parked car while he was pulling into a parking space. Vehicles driven by Mrs. Vera Johnson, 29, RR 3, Peterborough, and Robert Robbins, 17, RR 3, Peterborough, collided, causing $40 damage when the drivers attempted to pull into the same service station at Monaghan Rd. and Lansdowne Ave. at the same time.

1953 Exhibition Better Quality And Quantity

Opening day of Peterborough's 44th Exhibition is fast approaching, and reports indicate a substantial increase in quality and quantity of all facets of the show over previous years.

Beef cattle entries, the only department from which first reports indicated a let down over last year, has revived in the last two days. At present 11 entries are listed with a total of more than 100 head and there are still some known entries to be registered.

The dairy cattle, which will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday, are more numerous than ever before. Last year's registration of Jersey cattle totalling 20 head, has to date been increased five times with more than 100 head now listed. Other dairy breeds are listed today as, Guernsey 52, Ayrshire 39, and dual purpose 84. These cattle will be judged Wednesday and most of them will have departed by Thursday to make way for the beef cattle to be shown and judged in the latter part of the week.

Horse entries are also up, especially in the heavy class which at present number 74, with more to come in. Light horses and racers remain about the same as other years.

Sheep show an increase over past years, while swine remain constant. Poultry entries are high, with about 700 birds in so far.

All classes will receive some of the $18,000 prize money. It has been arranged by the exhibition board to pay 50 per cent of the cattle awards immediately upon request, the remainder to be paid at a later date.

Clarence Bacon, in charge of grandstand entertainment, promises a big change in that department this year. "One of the chief complaints of recent years, he said, has been the constant interruption of grandstand vaudeville by races, judging, etc., but this year it will be an uninterrupted two and a quarter hour show."

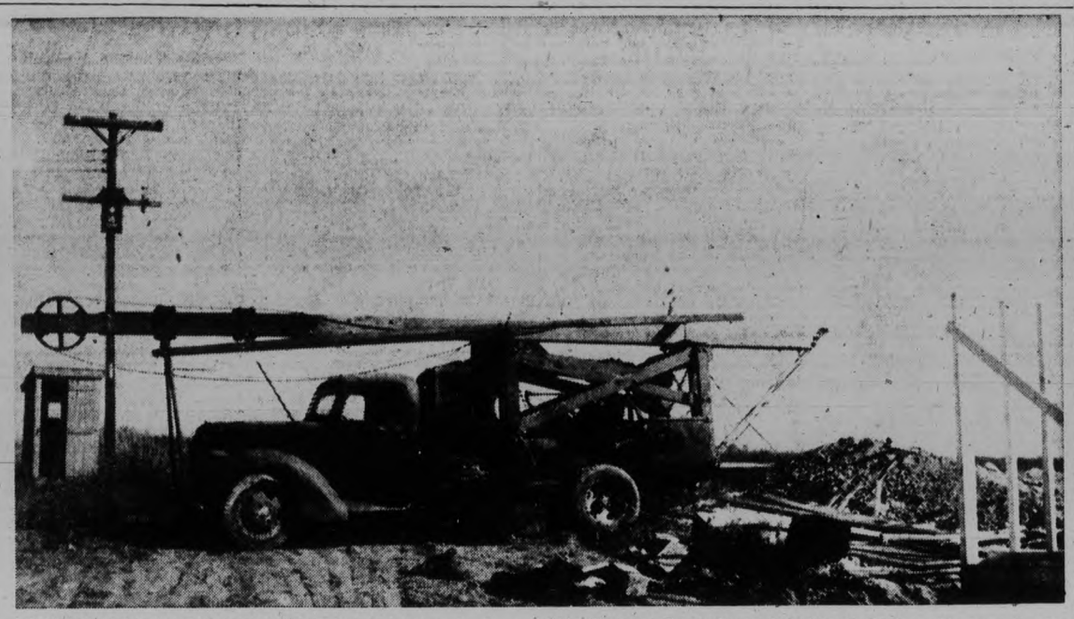
There will be one race at 7:15 each evening, and all judging will be completed before 8:00 p.m., which is the time set for the beginning of the grandstand performance. "Entertainers from all parts of the world will be on hand, including a balancing act from South Africa. Another feature will be a group of 12 who will put on a review made up of four productions."

The platform for this show has been doubled to accommodate the various acts to be presented.

Motor City Shows have been contracted for this year's midway, and among numerous concessions they are reported to be bringing 14 rides, a number not often brought to this city.

The Ex. will offiically open its gates on Tuesday, September 15, and run until Saturday. Tuesday will be children's day, and special tickets have already been sent to all rural schools in the vicinity. City pupils will also receive the special tickets upon demand at the gate the same day.

With the increase in livestock entries, the well arranged grandstand show, and the diligent labor of Norm McConkey and his fair board staff, this year's Peterborough Exhibitin should be a sparkling event.



CONDITIONS OF TWO BUCKHORN MEN injured when their well-digging machine touched 7,200-volt hydro wires Wednesday morning near Lakefield was described as "a little better" by St. Joseph's Hospital authorities today. The pair, Murray Barr, 61, and Peter McNeeley, 42, were hoisting the boom on their machine (shown here) when it touched the wires above. They fell, their clothes burning, to the ground at the end of the machine. Both spent a "fair" night. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Rugby Players To Be Insured Against Injury

Rugby players on PCVS and Kenner Collegiate teams will be insured this year against injury. The insurance account will cost the Board of Education $3 a player, or about $225 in all.

Board officials emphasized that this is a service to the players; without the insurance the players or their parents would have to pay any doctors' or hospital bills that were incurred. However, this arrangement does not mean that the Board assumes legal liability in case any of the students are injured.

The plan was submitted to the finance committee of the Board by Paige Rowell, insurance agent. It covers the players while they are travelling to and from practices and while they are practising and playing rugby games.

In brief, the plan provides that the first $10 of medical expenses will be met by the player. Other provisions: $250 in case of death or disablement; $5 a day in hospital expenses for a month; special hospital expenses up to $50; and maximum surgical benefit $200, according to schedule.

PREVIOUS PLAN

G. Wilson Craw, chairman of finance, explained that some years ago all students were insured against injury but because of higher rates and lack of support by students and parents the plan was dropped. And the Board couldn't previously get a suitable plan to cover players.

The trustees, in arriving at their decision to accept the plan, felt that it would encourage students to try out for the team. This year there is a falling off as either the prospective players or their parents think that the risk of injury is not worth the fun.

"I'd like it made clear that the Board is not admitting any liability for injury," W. B. Gordon said. "And I wouldn't like parents to come to the conclusion that the Board was assuming any legal obligation."

The insurance is intended as a financial help—eliminating the necessity of the player paying his own out-of-pocket expenses if he is unlucky enough to get hurt.

3 Postal Men Dismissed Others Given Reprimand

Events at the local post office leading to an investigation by the post office department may have been serious enough to warrant prosecution. Reversing an earlier refusal to confirm rumors that several members of the local post office staff had been suspended, a senior post office official has stated in a letter to The Examiner that it is possible further disciplinary action will be taken.

NO INTERNAL POLITICS

The official also spiked rumors of any internal politics behind the investigation.

"The rumor that a departmental man in Ottawa is personally pressing the investigation so that he may get himself the posmastership at Peterborough may be completely disregarded," it was said in the letter. "When a vacancy does occur, the department takes every precaution to make sure that the candidates are rated on their merits so as to obtain the best practical candidate, solely in the interests of the public service."

The offences which had been proved were "of a very serious character," he said, and involved such items as bringing intoxicating liquor into the building and consuming it on the premises, some of which are said to go back several years to Christmas time.

"In addition, there were cases where mails had been violated," it was stated.

RESULT OF INVESTIGATION

"So far, three men have been dismissed, one has been suspended for two weeks, and a number of others have been suspended for three days. Other employees have been severely reprimanded and it is possible that further disciplinary action will be taken. It is conceivable that in some cases sufficient evidence may be forthcoming to justify prosecution.

"We shall take every action to make sure that the public service is efficiently operated and that the public mail is maintained inviolate."

Rumors of the investigation and subsequent staff suspensions were at their height in the city about three weeks ago, when the Examiner telephoned the post office department in Ottawa to discover if their was any truth in the reports.

At that time, the inspector of post offices said the people were "not interested in it." People would hear talk of an investigation, he said, and they would be satisfied that their interests were being looked after.

UNEASINESS FELT

Dissatisfied with this reply, the Examiner wrote to the department, pointing out that the people of Peterborough felt some uneasiness about the situation.

In a written reply received today, the chief executive officer of the department said: "The complete picture and the pattern of the investigation over the last year or so are rather complex and it is not possible to give any adequate description in a few words . . .

"Our actions are naturally hampered to some degree by the fact that Peterborough is an old office and has not the facilities for observation which are found in newer offices. The congested conditions also made things more difficult. As you are aware, a new building is in course of erection and we hope that this will be ready in the not too distant future."

85 Cattle Sold, Average $146

In the dispersal of his Shadybrook Guernsey cattle, Jack Stewart sold 85 head Thursday afternoon for an average of $146.50.

The catalogue had listed 82, but since its printing several more of the "golden" cattle appeared on the scene within the last week. And one was a premium. It was born shortly after its dam appeared before the crowd of some 1,500 people.

Most of the buyers were from out of town, and within a range of country from Brampton to Brockville. J. Howard Miles cleared out everything, the farm implements in the morning, and the herd in the afternoon, the last calf at 6 p.m.

One of the men there said to the Examiner: "It was just like the fair, next week. A lot of people, a big tent, in case it rained, the seats around the sales ring, very comfortable, and a refreshment booth, hot dogs sizzling, aromatic—just like th "Ex", and grand weather.

A team of Belgian horses sold for $450; side delivery rake brought $285; top price cows were $285; the Shadybrook herd sire $390; the milking machine parts; motor and piping $245, four units $72.50 each; eight-can milk cooler $255. Calves averaged $80, including the newborn.

Courthouse Caretaker Resigns After 23 Years

The resignation of James Brownlee, 74, county courthouse caretaker for 23 years, was accepted today with expressions of regret by the Peterborough County Council. His successor will be Samuel J. Southward, 60, of Havelock.

Warden Ernest Leeson and Deputy-Reeve David McIntyre, the latter chairman of the property committee, both paid tribute to Mr. Brownlee's conscientious work while an employee of the county. In recognition of his services Mr. Brownlee will receive a cash donation of $500.

Mr. Southward, who has previously held jobs as janitor, should begin his new duties in a couple of weeks. At that time he will move into his new brick home at 55 Murray St. which is provided rent-free by the county; his light and water bills are also paid.

Collection Days Of Garbage Altered For Some

Garbage collection days for many Peterborough householders will be changed next week.

Although there will continue to be two collections a week in the city, the sanitation department will operate on a five-day week, starting Monday.

Collection days will be substantially the same as they were a year and a half ago when the department last worked a five-day week. At that time, it was found the incinerator was unable to dispose of all the garbage in only five days and so a six-day week was instituted.

Now that the landfill method of garbage disposal is being used, it is once again possible to operate on a five-day week.

START MONDAY

Starting Monday, those sections of the city within the following boundaries will be collected Mondays and Thursdays: all west and including Park St., from Lansdowne St. to Lake St. and from Stewart St. W. (the Chemong Road) to the boundary and all south from and including Lansdowne St. All other sections of the city will be collected on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Sanitation Superintendent J. E. Pierce warned today that, on collection days, all garbage and ashes must be set out for the collectors before 7.00 a.m.

Company Seeks Licence To Build TV Station To Broadcast From City

CBC Board of Governors To Consider Six New Applications Sept. 24 Including Peterborough, Kingston

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC board of governors will consider six new applications for privately-owned television stations at a public hearing in Winnipeg Sept. 24. The board announced today it will hear representations on new applications from Kingston, Kitchener and Peterborough in Ontario, Charlottetown and two from Saskatoon. A similar number of applications on which the board deferred action at its last meeting also will be considered. These include three from Edmonton, and one each from Calgary, Kitchener and Saskatoon.

The board also will consider applications for new radio stations at Kingston and Brampton, Ont., and Drummondville, Montmagny, Three Rivers and Chicoutimi in Quebec.

Other business includes a series of applications for share transfers and re-capitalization, a licence transfer and for power increases at Orillia, Ont., and Montreal radio stations.

One of the eight privately-owned television stations, licensed earlier this year, has applied for a power increase. The Windsor station seeks a power increase to 250,000 watts video and 140,000 watts audio from 103,000 watts video and 81,800 watts audio.

NEW APPLICATION

The new applications for privately-owned television stations were:

Peterborough—Brookland Company Ltd., for a station on Channel 22 with a power of 18,300 watts video and 11,000 watts audio. This is the first application to come before the board on the ultra high frequency on which the CBC's Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto stations now operate.

Kingston — Brookland Company Ltd., for a station on Channel 11, transferred to Kingston from Ottawa last May by the transport department. The station would have a power of 99,000 watts video and 54,000 watts audio with a directional antenna.

Kitchener—Grand Television Ltd. for a station on Channel 13 with a power of 32,400 watts video and 16,200 watts audio. Another application on this channel, transferred to Kitchener from Hamilton last May, was made by Central Ontario Television Ltd., but deferred by the board at its last meeting.

RADIO EXPERIENCE

Most of the new television applicants have had previous experience in radio broadcasting. The Brookland Company, applying for stations in Kingston and Peterborough, is formed by Senator W. Rupert Davies and Roy Thomson and Associates. Both men have newspaper interests and the Brookland company has holdings in radio stations CKWS, Kingston and CHEX, Peterborough.

The new Kitchener applicant, Grand Television, is composed of a large group of men with radio and newspaper interests including Senator W. D. Euler of Kitchener, Senator Arthur Hardy of Brockville, J. E. Frowd, Kenneth R. Thomson of Galt, and Frank Squires of radio station CJCS, Stratford.

The application for a new 250-watt radio station at Brampton was made by E. F. Job, president of the Peel Gazette and formerly with radio station CKEY, Toronto.

The Kingston radio station applicant, St. Lawrence Broadcasting, is headed by R. S. Grant and recently was granted a radio license on the board's recommendation. The latest application from St. Lawrence is for a 250-watt frequency modulation station.

Radio stations seeking power increases include station CFOR, Orillia to 5,000 watts from 1,000.

Parade Starts Lakefield Fair

Lakefield's annual fair will start with a bang at 1 p.m. Saturday, with a colorful street parade consisting of decorated floats, cars, bicycles, motorcycles.

The street parade is being sponsored by the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce.

There will also be prizes for the best decorated float, car, motorcycle and the best decorated girl's and boy's bicycle in the parade. A special prize will be given to the oldest married couple parading.

The fair will be officially opened by F. A. Lashley, of Toronto, provincial Director of Agricultural Societies. All the exhibits haven't arrived yet, but there are excellent displays of plants, flowers, vegetables, cooking, fancy work and exhibits from the Lakefield district schools already on view.

Cattle and other entries are expected to arrive Saturday morning. Officials are looking for a particularly good entry in the Ayrshire cattle exhibit.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough Exhibition Next Week, Major Agricultural Event of Year — M. H. Johnston Reports on Hog Marketings — Orville Clements Winner of Corn Crop Competition — Barry Wilson President of 4-H Winter Wheat Club.

As its directorate and the members of its committees indicate, Peterborough Exhibition next week is largely promoted by farmers of the county and adjoining district. For that reason alone, the success of the Exhibition should attract the rural community as a major agricultural event of each year.

However, before glancing over the agricultural background and essential value of the show, it should be said that the directors have lined up programs of entertainment that should appeal to the public.

For the grandstand attraction, they went back to the Hamid booking agency of New York city for vaudeville artists who used to please capacity crowds. In the days of Rollie Denne, R. M. Glover, Chris Graham, Reg. Turner and others, to whom this important detail, especially in public goodwill, used to be referred, the Hamid quality of acts was invariably satisfactory. It is still a recommendation and even a guarantee of interesting entertainment. So much for that phase of the "Ex."

For the children, there will be no repetition of the abbreviated midway that disappointed so many people a year ago. The directors have corrected that phase of attraction for the young folks. Furthermore, the entire space of the manufacturers building has been taken, and the advance list of entries in the agricultural classes appear to be highly promising.

So, the directors are expecting the support of the people of the district as well as of the city during the five days next week that begins Tuesday as Children's Day.

President N. M. McConkey expects 100 or more Holstein cattle. The Jersey breeders have listed approximately 80 head in the entry book. Seven breeders of Dual Purpose Shorthorn will bring out around 70 head. There should be at least 50 Guernseys, including the Ringwood Farm herd of Whitby, owned by Ralph and Mina Parker with 16 entries; Mrs. R. S. Robertson of Rennwood Farm, north of Cobourg, 19, and J. C. Wilson 17.

The exhibit of horses looks large in the secretary's books, and the other livestock sections are also well filled.

Thursday is Junior Farmers Day with probably as many of the rural youth of eight counties as last year. This list was closing yesterday, and some of the entries from the district were being expected in the closing mail.

Farmers have caught up on the season's work, not overlooking the seeding of fall wheat, and with good weather a big attendance from the Peterborough countryside is expected.

$4,000 Holstein

The Holstein bull, Hays Historian, owned by J. H. Hosford, South Edmonton, Alta., has been sold for $4,000 to Robert Jessop, California. Two heifers brought $500 each. Mr. Hosford is president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, and Mr. Jessop owns one of the largest dairy herds in the United States with 1,000 registered Holsteins. He supplies milk to the Los Angeles market.

✦ ✦ ✦

Liked Robson Bull

Offsetting the decrease in the number of cattle shown at Holstein breeder's county Black and White Day at Keene was the fine appearance of the 83 head that were shown.

Fieldman Jerry Nelson said they came out in good bloom, and the tops were better than he had seen previously in this competition.

Of Ira Robson and Son's "Donwood Major", grand champion bull, the judge, Roy Ormiston said it had developed a lot from last year when it was reserved grand. "He has become a deep, smooth well-balanced animal, and a worthy champion," Mr. Ormiston said. "Major" is three years old.

✦ ✦ ✦

Corn Crop Winner

Orville Clements of Dummer township was the winner of the standing field crop competition in ensilage corn conducted by the East Peterborough Agricultural Society (Norwood Fair).

Charles Lobb was second, Austin Sampson of Dummer third; Ralph Cuthbertson fourth, (he was first last year); George Shoniker 5th; John Knox 6th; Gordon Stevenson 7th and William Forestall 8th. There was 17 boys in this project.

Norwood Fair directors also sponsored several other projects this season: a competition in oats; English Yorkshire club, and the Hereford heifer club. This is quite a round of activities for Norwood district juniors.

✦ ✦ ✦

Sam G. Sims Dead

A judge in his prime at most of the major exhibitions in Canada, Sam G. Sims, Stonewall, Man., died August 16 at the age of 83. He was one of the best known Holstein breeders in this country.

Mr. Sims imported many famous animals from Ontario into Manitoba and the other prairie provinces. One of them was Canary Korndyke Alcartra, which still holds the world record for butterfat production of 1,080 lbs. of fat in the 305 day division in the senior four year old class. This record was made in 1928 when "Canary" was in the herd of B. H. Thompson, Moose Jaw, Sask. Mr. Sims also imported the foundation animals for the Hon. T. A. Crearer herd at Clandeboys, Manitoba. Many of them are represented in the blood lines of the Rockwood Holstein herd at Norbert, Man., now one of the most noted black and white herds in Canada.

✦ ✦ ✦

Wheat Club Officers

Barry Wilson of Smith was elected president of the 4-H Winter Wheat Club, organizing for 1953-4, Monday night. William Chamberlain is vice-president, and Neil Whitfield is secretary. The Club leader is Alan Drummond.

These officers with the retiring president, John Sanderson, were appointed a committee to arraneg for an entry in the inter-club exhibits at Norwood Fair.

The top three members showing on Achievement Day are eligible for a Peterborough county team to compete in the inter-competition at the Central Ontario Spring Show. Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative, is planning to enter a team in the inter-county judging competition in Guelph in October. This is the Ontario preliminary round from which provincial entries emerge for the national titles during the week of the Royal Winter Fair. The boys finished their meeting Monday night with wheat judging practice.

Hog Marketing Report

Some hog producers are "slipping back" into the old method of selling, Melville Johnston, told the directors of the Federation of Agriculture Wednesday night.

"Not enough hogs are going to the Toronto market to establish prices every day," Mr. Johnston said. "They are going direct to the packing houses instead of through our marketing board. Prices have been pretty fair all summer. Our six months of testing time is ended, and we can get a look at the results of our selling plan. Auditors are examining the books and we should known soon how we stand. I have a notion the prices will stay good through the fall. It would be too bad if our producers fail to carry through our marketing scheme. We'll know more about things before long."

Henry Sharpe was chairman of the meeting which backed away from a reminder of the Federation's annual grant of $100 to the Holsten championships here in October. W. W. Dawson recalled the decision of the board in the spring not to make grants to commodity groups this year. One of the applicants had been the district Shorthorn breeders.

Norman McConkey said that the dairy herds were maintaining income in this county, and were standing up against the vegetable oils business. However, Braden Bullock seconded the Dawson motion, and Mr. Sharpe declared it carried. Apparently his vote decided a tie. He asked for a second show of hands, made a silent count, and announced that the motion carried.

Federation will have a booth at Peterborough Exhibition, and commodity groups are invited to make whatever use of it they can.

765 Farm Forums

Grey county led the province last winter with 101 Farm Forums and also in the total collection-contribution of $2,256.27, as reported yesterday by Wellington Sutton, Ontario chairman.

Bruce was second in the summary with 89 Forums and their contributions of $1,919.20. That neighborhood on the west frontier created a wide margin between their Forum activities and their nearest rivals, if such they may be called.

Wellington listed 60 Forums and with $1,203.07 was the third county in the four-figure brackets.

Lambton was next with 47 Forums and $750.50 for their season's collections. Perth county was fifth with 34 Forums and $851.83 cash.

Total membership fees for the season of 1952-3 was $16,966.88; average contribution per Forum was $22.18; total number of reports from all Forums 8655; total number of Ontario Forums 765 of which 88 were new and 12 re-organized.

The report for this district was: Victoria county 13 Forums and $304.55 paid to headquarters; Peterborough 17 Forums, $375.63; Durham 10 Forums, $308.04; Hastings 6 Forums, $108.85; Northumberland 18 Forums and $452.12.

Some of the secondary group $433.89; Simcoe 26 for $559.34; of counties were: Dufferin 24 for Middlesex 26 Forums and $647.37; Huron 27 and $750.50; Oxford 27 Forums, $715.14.

Here are some more: York 8, Norfolk 12, Peel 15, Lennox-Addington 14, Halton 15.

The Peterborough Forums had a respectable showing in the year's statement, and in this district was second to Northumberland by a small margin.

Dual Purpose Sale At "Ex" On Wed. Sept. 16

A consignment sale of 25 head of Dual Purpose Shorthorns will be held at Peterborough Exhibition in the evening of Wednesday Sept. 16, Edmund Ruth of Emily told the Examiner yesterday.

This offering includes four good bulls. The sale begins at 7 p.m. with Gordon Hancock as auctioneer. It follows the day's judging of dairy cattle. Mr. Ruth said consignors are from Bath, Tamworth and Madoc, east of Peterborough, from this county and also from the Omemee district.

"These Duel Purpose Shorthorns are all being shown at the Peterborough Exhibition, but we can't say before hand how many of them will be top winners," Mr. Ruth said. "Catalogues are available at the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in Peterborough.

Dave Kerr Sells Herefords And 210 Acre Farm, Deciding Family Problem

David A. Kerr, manager of the Empress Hotel, has sold the farm of his dreams and more than five years planning. It is situated on the south side of the 4th line of Smith township, the Peterborough-Lindsay Highway.

The buyer and succeeding owner is Clarence B. Neal, 593 Weller St., president and general manager of Outboard Marine & Manufacturing Co. of Canada, Ltd.

Mr. Kerr is retiring from country life in retreat from some unidentified element to which his only daughter is allergic.

"So, on the advice of our family doctor it became a matter of choice between our family life and the farm," Mr. Kerr remarked to the Examiner today in summerizing the problem that faced Mrs. Kerr and himself.

"When our daughter, Barbara, came home from a private school for the vacation time, some irritant affected her in a manner that suggested hay fever. We satisfied ourselves it wasn't that. Whatever the cause, the condition cleared up when my daughter came into the city to live at the hotel for a few days. But, it appeared again when she returned to our home in Smith."

That was a continuing experience during most of the summer. Finally it became evident, together with the physician's advice, "that there was something about the farm to which Barbara was allergic."

ATTAINED AMBITION

Mr. Kerr said that country life had long appealed to him, with an ambition to own a farm and raise good cattle and feel the sod beneath his feet. Essentially he had been planning the Kerr home of the future, as attractive and agreeable to the other members as to himself. But, if there was some elusive cause of discomfort and distress to one member of the household, the well-being of the other members was involved, and it was no longer a desirable home.

So Mr. Kerr folded up his dream, for himself and his wife, his son, David, Jr., and, with frank regret that it apparently had to be, he turned his thinking back to the city.

Even when he had bought the place, and gradually began to improve it, he found that Mr. Neal was interested in it both as a home location and experiment. He had enquired whether it might be then for sale.

Mr. Kerr recently remembered that interest of his friend, and a week or so ago he informed Mr. Neal he had to sell, and explained to him the circumstances. Briefly, out of that conversation came a verbal agreement, soon reached, by which Mr. Kerr vacates the farm on Thursday, September 24.

JOYED IN PLANNING

"Just planning the farm as I hoped to see it take shape was a pleasure with its own little thrills; building up a herd of Herefords, altering the house to what we wanted . . . I hope Clarence Neal is going to like it as much as I did; I feel certain he will."

So much for Dave Kerr's five-year plan, not that he had set a time limit on his project in the first place.

Mr. Neal comes into possession of one of the outstanding herds of Hereford cattle at least in Ontario, and perhaps farther afield. It is based on the blood lines of the stock which John Stuart Jr., imported from the United States when he established Old Orchard Farm, two miles east of the city, on the old Norwood Road

ROYAL GRAND CHAMPION

The herd sire is the five-year-old "Old Orchard Cymbal", imported in dam by John Stuart. The sire was WHR Monarch 60th (Wyoming Hereford Ranch) that sold at the Old Orchard herd dispersal to Reicheld of Stouffville for $2,500, at ten years of age. The dam was O. O. Dorothy, a winner at the Denver show, and in 1946 grand champion female at the Royal Winter Fair.

Of the present 35 Herefords at the Kerr farm, all but one cow trace to Monarch. On the maternal side Mr. Kerr founded his herd on Old Orchard females, that are of WHR breeding.

LARRY DOMINO STRAIN

The exception to that parentage is a daughter of Larry Domino 50th, and for one of his high-priced sons McCormack Farms of Chicago paid $105,000 for a half interest. That McCormack Hereford bull is thereby a half-brother of the cow Mr. Kerr singled out as a variant to his WHR main stream.

These several animals indicate the quality of cattle with which Mr. Kerr stocked his farm in laying the foundation of the herd that had been his hope.

He said that Mr. Neal has already chosen the name "Kayvale Farm" and intends to retain the Old Orchard symbol of registration.

"I think we've done a pretty fair job for Mr. Neal," was Mr. Kerr's smiling comment. "I wish him the best of luck, and hope that he gets as much enjoyment out of the farm as I did."

Mr. Kerr bought the place about four years ago, and had been living there exactly two years on September 6. His herd manager is Orland Kidd.

"The farm had been a long time in the Moore family on the 4th line, and was owned by the uncle of Charles E. Moore who worked it after his uncle's death.

BARNS NEARLY NEW

The barns are practically new. They were burned in 1936 during a threshing. One of them was rebuilt seven years ago, and the other only two years ago."

Obviously the property is in excellent shape, and the farm provides a lot of good pasture.

The Hereford Breeders of Eastern Ontario are going to miss Dave Kerr. He was actively interested in their affairs, was a consignor to the annual June sale they have established, and they knew the merit of his herd. Incidentally, Mr. Kerr was most helpful to the Norwood Fair directors in securing the 30 Hereford heifers that were bought from the McIntyre herd of Alberta last spring for Junior Farmers of East Peterborough.

$160,000 First Report From Set-Aside

Receipts from the June advertising set-aside were recently reported at more than $160,000 in a bulletin of the Dairy Farmers of Canada. The objective for this year's June was $400,000.

The highest deducation fr... June milk and cream cheques was $344,000 in 1950. This annual contribution by the producers of Dairy Farmers of Canada is used for the promotion of sales of dairy products, also for the extension of a public relations program and for research.

Current research is investigating certain life-giving factors in butterfat which have not yet been isolated by scientists. For the first time in the history of the Canadian dairy industry, all of its branches are jointly financing a program of fundamental research.

Participating in this project at Macdonald College, Quebec, are Dairy Farmers of Canada, National Dairy Council, the Associated Milk Foundation and the Canadian Dairy Industry Suppliers' Association.

Commenting on results of the comparatively recently adopted program for the promotion of dairy products, the Dairy Farmers bulletin says the 1952 per capita consumption of cheese in Canada reached 5.8 pounds in 1952, after a slow but steady climb from 4.8 pounds in 1948. It is expected that this consumption record will pass the six pounds per capita mark this year. The corresponding figure in the U. S. is 7.8 lbs. per capita.

Canadians have long neglected their excellent Cheddar cheese. The October dairy products campaign will be featured by emphasis on the high nutrition value of cheese at a low cost to the consumer.

The $160,000 is the first amount reported since the June deductions were made.

Sam Fletcher Of London Inspires Forum Leaders At Toronto Conference

"Live and Help Live" was a paraphrase of a familiar social motto proposed by Sam Fletcher of London, Ont., to the 60 representatives of Ontario Farm Forums at a pre-seasonal conference in Toronto Wednesday.

It impressed the rural assembly as expressing in four short words virtually the spirit and idealism of the Canadian Farm Forum.

Wellington Sutton of Otonabee, chairman of the Ontario Farm Forum committee, presided at the morning and afternoon sessions. From Peterborough also were Harold Lewis, county Federation of Agriculture fieldman, and Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative.

Mr. Best was particularly interested in one of the morning topics: Working closer with the Ag. Reps.

The conference was a series of "pep" talks for the Forum delegates as the new winter season and its Monday night meetings and broadcasts approach. "How to organize new Forums in the county and the possibility of the county committee establishing a township competition on these lines", was a sample subject.

Sam Fletcher was the principal speaker in the afternoon, and sent the company home fired with fresh enthusiasm for the enlistment of more farmers than ever, and farm families, in the national educational work of the Forum.

WITH DALE CARNEGIE

It should be sufficient to report that Mr. Fletcher, who conducts a public speaking institute of his own in London, has been an associate of Dale Carnegie. The Peterborough trio admit that th are not soon likely to forget the Fletcher message, and it is their hope that they may engage him for some meeting here during the winter.

"Live and let live" lacked the positivism which Mr. Fletcher packed into "Live and Help Live". And, as a slogan Forums might adopt, their members will likely agree that it is the kernel of their association and group meetings.

Mr. Fletcher stressed the importance of that first verb: "Live". He said life at best was short, and intelligent people should strive to make the most of it.

In all his human contacts, a man was not only rubbing shoulders with people, but he was conveying some influence of himself to others, at home, at work, wherever else he may be. He is "selling" ideas, personality, services and enthusiasm. So, the phrase and concept, public relations, was of primary importance.

"Take the U and I out of public relations and you have human relations," Mr. Fletcher said in his epigramatic manner.

MANY BIG TRIFLES

Public relations involve a lot of little things, cheerfulness, sincerity, attitudes, appearance, grooming, mannerisms. The tone of voice often conveys more than words, Mr. Fletcher said. How many arguments arise not from what is said, but from how it is said! Personal frictions often flare from trifles that are hardly recognized in the moment.

And, enthusiasm, — that was the emanation of mind and spirit, and heart and courage, which Mr. Fletcher emphasized. There could be no genuine success without enthusiasm, and also the ability to impart it and arouse it in others.

It applied not only to the job of earning a living, but in full living, with oneself and others, at home and abroad.

Some of the Fletcherisms, in part, were: "It takes only .0014 seconds to say please or thanks." "The power to think as we wish to think is the only power over which we have absolute control". "Our life is what our thoughts make it." "Material things do not bring happiness."

Mr. Fletcher usually receives a fee of $250 for his address. But, he made no mention of remuneration in accepting the invitation of the Ontario Forum committee. It was his contribution to what he considered a great rural service and opportunity.

Oatis Tells Story of Czech Prison In Series To Appear In The Examiner

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's not quite the way it was. . ."

William N. Oatis, AP correspondent freed by the Czechs after two years' imprisonment, was discussing an angle of his own story, soon to appear in the Examiner.

An editor, as editors will, had suggested that perhaps a certain passage in Oatis' original draft was too long. Couldn't it be abridged by saying such-and-such?

"No," said Bill Oatis, "that's not quite the way it was."

He was insisting that his own story be, in every fact, his own story. He insisted on that throughout the several weeks he was at work on the series of articles.

Oatis started preliminary work on the story while he was still undergoing medical treatment. Doctors suspected he had tuberculosis, aggravated by months in jail cells that many times were cold in winter. First he was forbidden to work; then the doctors said he could work one hour a day—no more.

THINKS FOR 23

"But they can't keep me from thinking the other 23 hours," he said at the time. Many of those hours he spent searching his memory along the tortuous route he had followed. He had brought no notes out of prison. He had only his own reporter-trained memory to go by.

There were things to look into, too. Oatis needed detailed maps of the Prague area, to orient himself. He had to study the transcript of the trial as it had been prepared by observers for the U.S. state department (which denounced his trial as a travesty of justice). He wanted also to see the texts of some of the Czech laws that ostensibly provided the basis of the case against him. He referred frequently to a Czech dictionary, and called upon his own command of the language.

KEPT QUIET

All this time Oatis was, in effect, back in prison. He could look out at the trees on the nearby Westchester hills, but not venture among them. Doctor's orders.

Finally, after a month's treatment, the tests all showed negative. Oatis came down a broad highway alongside the Hudson river one sunny afternoon and took up life in a Manhattan apartment. In the hospital he had dictated some preliminary material to his wife, Laurabelle, seated before a typewriter at his bedside. Now he manned the "mill" himself, and he was back in his element.

When he entered newspaper work in Marion, Ind., 20 years before, he had never dreamed of writing such a story. Reporters are expected to report the news, not to make it. But here, through a sequence of unusual developments, he had a story of his own that needed to be told. And he insisted, as he went along, that it be as accurate and objective as he could make it. He changed many a word to get just the meaning he wanted. He rewrote many paragraphs in an effort to make the account as clear as possible.

Today the story is complete, and Oatis is looking into vacation timetables. Later he will undertake a new assignment for The Associated Press.

U.S. Wheat Crop Less Than Forecast

WASHINGTON (CP)—The U. S. agriculture department in a near-harvest-time report Thursday estimated this year's wheat crop at 1,169,307,000 bushels, 33,522,000 bushels less than last month's forecast.

The corn crop was estimated at 3,216,007,000 bushels, down 114,411,000 bushels from the estimate of last month.

The wheat figure compares with last year's crop of 1,291,447,000 bushels and with the 10-year average of 1,088,548,000 bushels.

In 1951-52 Canada reported 719,139 mink pelts worth $12,832,657.

Wind, Fog Drove Six Men Off Course

(Editor's Note: The Rev. Maurice Metayer and the Rev. Henri Tardy of France were rescued by air last week after a 21-day search following their disappearance with their Eskimo crew of four on a boat trip from their Roman Catholic mission at Holman Island more than 1,000 miles north of Edmonton, to Coppermine on the south shore of Coronation Gulf. They were on their way to pick up winter supplies. This is Father Metayer's story.)

Written for The Canadian Press
By REV. MAURICE METAYER

COPPERMINE, N.W.T. (CP)—Father Tardy, myself and four Eskimos—Jack and Wallace Goose, Jim Mimmorano and Frank Kudluk—left our mission at Holman island Aug. 8 for Reid island on the first lap of an annual trip to pick up winter supplies. Following the coast, we arrived at Reid island Aug. 10.

Our boat, a 30-foot Vancouver-built fishing craft, rode the sea well.

After taking on supplies, we left Reid island Aug. 12 on a southwest course for Listen island.

Toward evening we became aware of the strength of the current. Hours passed, but the shores of nearby Lambert island seemed always to keep their distance ahead of us.

TERRIBLE WIND

With the current came a terrible southeast wind. Within 45 minutes, a dense fog fell. The land was gone. We continued into the wind and current for at least three hours. We must have blown off course.

That evening, to save what fuel we had left, we decided to stop our engine. The strong winds and current carried us northeastward. From that time on our course was a mystery.

The fog lifted early on the morning of Aug. 14 and we saw land about two miles away.

We were almost ready to leave again when Jim Mimmorano spotted a caribou. We could almost taste it. A few hours later the boys were back with three caribou.

We all made camp in a small cabin Jack Goose and I found shortly after landing. We then dug out a compass we had found and concluded we were near one of the rivers that empty into Amundsen gulf west of Coppermine.

After the night's rest we clambered aboard and set our course almost due east. But the sea grew rough and long swells came along.

Fog overtook us as we made our way in. We saw the mouth of a river facing northwest. We had just entered it when we ran out of gas.

Thinking we were about 30 miles from Coppermine, we elected to walk there for gas. Jack Goose, Jim Mimmorano and I started out with our small compass, binoculars and a rifle with 20 rounds of ammunition.

ALL-DAY WALK

We dozed off on a bed of soft moss. At 3 a.m. rain awoke us and we started an all-day walk. We managed to kill five ptarmigans and ate them raw, having nothing to make a fire.

We had walked so far our footgear turned to tatters, but we finally reached the shore of a deep bay.

We then retraced our steps back to the boat, which we found the next day.

On Aug. 23 we tried to go out with our boat but the wind drove us back on the rocks, breaking our rudder.

Two days later Father Tardy and the other two natives started out in the opposite direction along the shore. They had the same hardship as we but luckily they found a camp.

On Aug. 31, after a break in the dense fog, we heard a plane. An RCAF Canso aircraft had spotted us and circled for about an hour, dropping food and cigarettes. They left when the fog closed in again, but we knew they would help us.

Canada-U.S. Understanding Sets Example For World

QUEBEC (CP)—Canada and the United States have shown the world how international understanding may be reached by depending upon international law as the basis for their dealings with each other, a leading American lawyer said Thursday night.

Robert G. Storey, immediate past president of the American Bar Association, said it is the responsibility of Canadian and American lawyers to co-operate with British and French bar associations towards "better mutual understanding."

Discarding a text he had prepared for a banquet of the 35th annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association, the Dallas, Texas, lawyer said that in Iron Curtain countries, power was above the law, while in western countries, power gave way to the law.

Legal systems in the U.S., Canada, France and Britain were "independent" of power, not "dependent" upon power.

SEEK LEGISLATION

Earlier Thursday, the industrial relations committee agreed sympathy strikes should be rendered illegal by legislation. A resolution introduced by Tom Ellis, Vancouver, suggested that an employer should have the right to obtain an injunction against sympathy strikers who picket his plant.

A resolution also suggested that arbitration board reports should be made binding in disputes involving public services and their employees, because workers in this class may not strike legally.

The committee on the administration of civil justice adopted a resolution calling for a committee to study constitutional reform "in the light of changing economic and social conditions."

Two Couples Mark 25th Anniversaries

STIRLING (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Don Haggerty marked their 25th wedding anniversaries this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Donnan entertained some 75 friends in their honor.

The Rev. W. H. V. Walker acted as chairman. After the program, Mrs. Clifford Clancy read an address to the honored guests and Mrs. Belshaw and Jack Haggerty made a presentation of a bedspread to each couple.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants.

Criticizes Magistrate For Jail Sentences

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Controller Lawrence A. Deziel Thursday criticized magistrates for jailing rather than fining persons convicted of keeping liquor for sale illegally.

"When these persons are sent to jail," he said, "they become an additional financial burden on the city while, if they were fined, it would mean a substantial boost in revenues for the city."

Mr. Deziel estimated about 100 such convictions were made each year in Windsor. If such "blind pig operators" were fined $500 it would pour $50,000 annually into the coffers, he said.

Crown attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald, a member of the police commission, said such a system might lead to demoralization of the police department, causing a system of bribes to seep in.

Emergency Polio Clinic

WINNIPEG (CP) — Announcement that an emergency clinic for paralyzed polio victims will be set up at suburban Deer Lodge Veterans' Hospital was made Thursday as Manitoba's 1953 polio case total reached 1,500 with 50 deaths. Thirty-eight new cases and two more deaths were reported.

Sees Trouble Selling 1953 Wheat Crop

OTTAWA (CP)—Though Prairie farmers have produced a near-record grain crop this year, many may have to fall back on the earnings of last year's record harvest to tide them over the critical months ahead.

Trade Minister Howe, announcing a $100,000,000 Canadian wheat board payment to farmers on 1952-53 grain, today made clear that the farmer's chances of disposing of wheat this fall are not as good as they were a year ago.

But he said in a statement he believes the current wheat board payment added to previous earnings by the Prairie farmers on last year's crop "would materially assist in financing producers during the difficult fall months when producers' deliveries of grain would of necessity be smaller than during the preceding fall."

Mr. Howe gave no indication of any special government assistance to encourage farm storage, though he said it is "inevitable" that with a large crop being harvested, farmers will have to carry "unusually large stocks of grain on farms until adequate storage space is cleared."

THREE BUMPER CROPS

The critical problem results from the fact farmers have produced three bumper crops in a row, causing a storage congestion at country and terminal elevators. Canadian sales of wheat also have dropped sharply and the immediate outlook for large-scale sales is not promising.

The $100,000,000 wheat board payment includes $64,000,000 covering an interim payment of 12 cents a bushel on all grades of the record 533,000,000 bushels of wheat for the 1952-53 crop year.

It also includes $36,000,000 to cover the close-out of the 1952-53 oats and barley pools. Mr. Howe said the payment of each bushel cannot be worked out until pool accounting is completed.

Wheat cheques start moving Oct. 1, followed by oats payments and later by barley cheques. Payments will be completed by the end of the year.

Because of a heavy carryover of some 363,000,000 bushels of last year's wheat—much of it unsold and still in storage—the pool, which last year closed in mid-November, may not be terminated until early in 1950. Then farmers get a final payment out of whatever surplus remains in the board's treasury.

Prairie farmers may harvest about 1,100,000,000 bushels of grain, including a near-record 574,000,000-bushel wheat crop this fall, but Mr. Howe estimated they may not be able to deliver more than 275,000,000 bushels to the board between Aug. 1 and Dec. 31, 1953. In that period last year they delivered about 395,000,000.

KIT FOR A DUKE—The Duke of Kent is kitted out by Regimental Quartermaster-Sergeant A. C. Burton at the Royal Military Academy, Sandhurst, England, on his first day in the British Army. The Duke joined the army as a private on a regular engagement as opposed to a short term conscription period.

Britain Protests Attack On Ship

LONDON (AP) — Britain protested to Red China today against a Communist vessel's attack on a motor launch of the Hong Kong defence force.

Informed sources reported that British charge d'affaires Humphrey Trevelyn delivered a note to the Peiping government expressing this country's outrage at the incident.

The attack took place 40 miles south west of the Hong Kong island colony Wednesday and resulted in the deaths of six Royal Navy sailors and the injury of five others.

The note was said to have complained that the attack took place on the high seas—that is, outside Chinese territorial waters. After being fired on near the estuary of the Pearl river, the motor launch limped back to Hong Kong in a badly damaged state.

Britain called on the Chinese Reds to accept full responsibility for the incident, the informants said.

The foreign office is expected to issue the text of the note later today.

Officially Open New Hospital

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The $2,500,000 Hotel Dieu Hospital was officially opened Thursday. The 125-bed, six-storey institution is the city's second hospital.

Like the 19 other Hotel Dieu hospitals in Canada, it will offer its services to all citizens, regardless of race or creed.

The blessing and dedication of the hospital, which is to be administered by the religious hospitallers of St. Joseph, was conducted by James Cardinal McGuigan, archbishop of Toronto, assisted by the Rt. Rev. H. J. Callaghan of Toronto and the Rt. Rev. A. E. McQuillen, dean of Niagara.

Health Minister Martin, who officially opened the hospital, said that through an "impressive" increase in hospital building, Canada's country-wide deficit in hospital accommodation now is "largely overcome."

However, federal grants for hospital construction will continue for a second five-year period to assist the provinces in filling gaps in their hospital facilities and in meeting the needs of Canada's rapidly-growing population, Mr. Martin said.

Songwriter Ordered To State Hospital

CHERTSEY, England (AP) — Songwriter Jimmy Campbell was ordered to a state-supported hospital Thursday, described by his lawyer as the victim of drink and "a penniless, tragic figure."

Campbell, whose real name was James Tyrie, wrote "Show Me the Way to go Home."

Early reports also identified him as the author of "Let Me Call you Sweetheart," but the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers said in New York that song was written by Leo Friedman and Bess Slater Whitson.

When Campbell was charged with obtaining a credit from a hotel by fraud, the judge put him on probation for three years on condition that he undergo hospital treatment.

Bird gave the call to worship and Mrs. E. M. Davis led in prayer. Mrs. N. Brown read minutes and called the roll, each member answering with the number of books read during the summer and the number of calls made. Treasurer Mrs. R. B. English presented a financial report on the first six months of the year. New books on this year's study list were reveiewed briefly by Mrs. E. Kent, literature secretary. Mrs. W. K. Sloane, supply secretary, reported packing two bales of good used clothing, weighing 210 pounds. The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. H. F. Doig. Worship was on the theme "The household of faith" and was led by Mrs. E. Johnston. Scripture was read by Mrs. C. H. Rowe, Mrs. Bird and Mrs. W. Atkinson and prayers were offered by Mrs. English and Mrs. E. Hunter. Mrs. Johnston introduced the new study book, "Where'er the Sun", and the same group of members presented the first program, following the sun as it touched India, Africa, Mexico and Canada.

Fall Project Underway

New president Mrs. Cameron Craig presided at the Kinette Club dinner meeting held at the Empress Hotel Tuesday evening. Project for the fall is a bridge and fashion show which will be held at Club Aragon on Wednesday evening, October 14, and plans for this were made. Mrs. J. Burns told of the four diabetic children which the club sent to Ilalee Lodge for the summer, commenting on their improved state of health on return. Minutes were read by secretary Mrs. George Stone and a financial report was given by treasurer Mrs. Robert Hamilton. A sing song with Mrs. Clayton Selkirk as accompanist ended the evening.

Change Tea Date

Mark St. Baby Band's meeting for this month was held Wednesday evening in the church parlors. President Mrs. H. Hamley opened with a thought for the month. A new date for the fall tea and bazaar was set. It will be on Wednesday afternoon, October 14. A rummage sale will be held this coming Saturday morning. Mrs. C. McKeiver was in charge of devotions. Mrs. F. Lang read scripture and a reading was given by Mrs. J. Southgate. Speaker was the new minister, the Rev. Dr. N. D. Patterson and his topic was "The world I want to see." At close of the program, refreshments were served in the basement with Mrs. McKeiver in charge, assisted by Mrs. D. Dorsett, Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Southgate, Mrs. K. Armstrong and Mrs. Hamley.

To Have Booth At "Ex."

Friendship Group of St. Gile's Presbyterian Church is to have a booth at the Peterborough Exhibition which will be under the convenership of Mrs. Lionel Monk. Final plans and arrangements were made for this at the meeting held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ross Armstrong, Arndon Avenue. Various other conveners reported on the progress of their committees with regard to the busy schdule set up for the coming months. Words of encouragement and of commndation for all members of the church were expressed by the minister, the Rev. D. G. Smith, who emphasized the co-operation and work needed in order to erect a new church. President Mrs. Wm. Clark opened the meeting with a welcome to the ladies and read a poem, entitled "Success." Mrs. Adam Sands Jr. led the singing for the evening. Scripture from Luke was read by Mrs. N. Stevenson and Mr. Smith led in prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess with the social committee assisting.

Receives Life Membership

Mrs. H. H. Graham was presented with a Dominion Life Membership certificate in the Baptist Women's Misisonary Society at the meeting of Mary Nicholls Mission Circle of Murray St. Church, Tuesday evening. Presentation of the certificates and the accompanying pin was made by Mrs. Ivan C. Morgan, who expressed the appreciation of the Circle for Mrs. Graham's work, not only in the Circle, but also in the Association and the convention. Mrs. I. G. Pollock, who has spent seven years in Capetown, South Africa, where her husband served as a minister, was guest speaker. She told of the difficulties of living side by side with different races and peoples, and observed the great difficulties experienced by the black people in striving to obtain something better than the menial tasks to which they are assigned Mrs. Pollock feels that Canadians should surely appreciate the freedom they are blessed with in this country. She was thanked by Mrs. Walter Kidd. Mrs. S. Malsch presided for the meeting and the devotional was taken by Mrs. H. Sellon and Mrs. A. H. Campbell.

BIRTH DATE

Travel Pictures Interest Trinity Mothers

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Howes showed the colored pictures taken on their winter trip to Jamaica at the meeting of Trinity Baby Band Mothers Wednesday evening. They were introduced to a keenly interested audience by Mrs. E. Malcolm.

First pictures on the film were of snow and ice in Canada, and the next were taken, after a few hours travel by air, in the Bahamas showing a profusion of tropical flowers and plants and blue ocean. Next were at Montego Bay, Jamaica, where they spent most of their vacation, and included were pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Thompson and family, formerly of Peterborough, at their home there.

From this travelogue the ladies were interested to learn that the central part of the island of Jamaica is mountainous and that there is a rainy season of two or three weeks in spring and fall, marring the otherwise constant climate. Also that the tropical flowers have no perfume.

Thanks was expressed to Dr. and Mrs. Howes by Mrs. Wm. Taylor.

Billy Edmondson, small son of Mrs. Eric Edmondson, sang two solos, "Planting Rice" and "Go Tell Aunt Nancy." His mother was accompanist.

Following reports of various committees and other business conducted by Mrs. Taylor, a paper on missionary life in Angola, Africa, was given by Mrs. R. M. Elliott. The paper had been prepared by Mrs. M. McCullough and stated that "interests of many nations, including Canada, are involved in what happens in Africa today. It is the duty of Christian leaders in schools, hospitals and world projects of all kinds to release the African people from the bonds of fear, poverty, superstition, ignorance and disease, by promoting their welfare. Missions are the chief aid to brighten the picture."

Mrs. K. Barltrop and Mrs. John Davern volunteered to convene a rummage sale to be held later this month.

Mrs. Malcolm's group was in charge of the program and refreshments. A scripture selection was read by Mrs. J. Skitch.

Wilkinson-Foster

Of interest in the Peterborough district is the marriage of Mr. John Wesley Wilkinson, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson of Oakwood and formerly of Warsaw and Havelock, to Miss Helen Jean Foster of North Bay. The ceremony took place last Saturday in the First Baptist Church at North Bay with the groom's father officiating, assisted by the Rev. Harold Bridge, minister of the chruch, and the groom's sister Miss Margaret Wilkinson was soloist.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Foster of North Bay and was given in marriage by her father. She wore a redingote of imported scalloped nylon lace and tulle over a strapless floor length gown of white taffeta. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a small hat of lace, and she was carrying a bouquet of white gladioli petals, stephanotis and sweet peas with roses.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Lawrence J. Rosen of Toronto, matron of honor, and Miss Marilyn Foster, sister of the bride, gowned alike in periwinkle blue nylon tulle over matching taffeta with boleros and hats to match. Groomsman was Mr. H. Alvin Tait of Toronto and ushers were Ralph Hills of Enniskillen and Lawrence Rosen.

The bride and groom are both graduates of the Queen's University, Kingston. They are going to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, where the groom will take further post graduate study.

Going away the bride wore a white coat over a navy boucle suit with navy and red accessories.

Power-Kirby

STIRLING — (ENS) — St. James' Church, Stirling, was setting for a pretty wedding last Saturday morning, when the Rev. J. L. Edward Lamarde assisted by Rev. E. Briceland of Read and the the Rev. W. McGee of Kingston united in marrige Mary Kirby of Ivanhoe, daughter of Mr. Mitchael Kirby and the late Mrs. Kirby to Harold Power of Read, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Power.

Mr. William Hanley of Read played the wedding music and Miss Reta McCoy sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" and "Panis Angeleus." Mr. Hanley also sang "Ave Maria."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and her sister, Miss Helen Kirby, was bridesmaid. Twins Brian and Brennan Stewart, of Madoc, were ring bearers.

A wedding dinner for 70 guests was at Lang's Hotel, Stirling, and a reception at the home of the bride, followed.

For the trip to points east and St. Anne de Beaupre, the bride chose a two tone gray suit with navy accessories. The couple will live on the groom's farm at Read.

Mary E. De Nure Wed At Oshawa

The marriage in Adelaide House, Oshawa, last Saturday afternoon, of Mary Eleanor DeNure, daughter of the late Mr. Calvin DeNure, of Peterborough, and of Mrs. Fred DeNure, of Port Perry, to Mr. Adolphus Lawrence Nicholls is of interest to the many who knew her in this city. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Nicholls, of Little Britain.

The Rev. R. H. Wylie, of Port Perry, performed the ceremony. Mrs. A. E. DeNure, of Peterborough, aunt of the bride, played the wedding music and Miss Jean DeNure, also of Peterborough, cousin of the bride, was soloist. She sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "My World."

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore an original gown of ice pink bridal satin. The surplice-effect bodice was complemented by soft pleats and long lily point sleeves. The hooped skirt in redingote style revealed pink pleated tulle and the scalloped hem was accented by clusters of pink rosebuds. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion net was held by an original shell-shaped headdress of pleated ice pink satin. She carried a white Bible and a bouquet of pink sweetheart rosebuds and stephanotis.

Bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Doris DeNure, whose gown was of turquoise and pink shot taffeta styled with a sweetheart neckline and softly shirred sleeves and the skirt of unpressed inverted pleats falling over hoops. Her headdress of the taffeta was shirred and trimmed with matching veiling and she carried a crescent bouquet of glodioli petals shading from pink to burgundy.

Groomsman was Mr. Everett Nicholls and ushers were Fred DeNure Jr. and Donald Nicholls.

The bride's mother received in a two-piece dress of mink brown crepe trimmed with bronze beads and wore harmonizing accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother was in navy crepe and lace with matching accessories and wore pink sweetheart roses.

The bridal couple are honeymooning in northern Ontario and on return will live in Seagrave. The bride went away in a blue-grey suit with matching hat and navy accessories.

If your clothing catches fire, roll in a rug or heavy blanket.

Belsey-McKenzie

At the Elim Tabernacle last Saturday afternoon, the Rev. B. C. Evans performed the marriage of Helen Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs. Margaret McKenzie, and Earl Clinton Belsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Belsey, all of Peterborough.

Gladioli and palms decorated the church for the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Lewis Parks and Miss Lerleann Belsey sang "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. C. Gardner. She wore a gown of white imported lace over white satin, made with a bouffant skirt and the fitted bodice finished with a net insert outlined with seed pearls and a round collar. Her veil of net with a deep lace border was fingertip length and caught to a half crown of the satin. She was carrying yellow roses in a star design.

Miss Jean McKenzie, sister of the bride, and Miss Carol Belsey, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. They were in similar strapless ballerina length gowns of nylon net over taffeta with bolero jackets. Miss McKenzie wore shell pink and carried a nosegay of turquoise carnations and Miss Belsey wore turquoise and carried shell pink carnations. Their headdresses were of matching flowers.

Groomsman was Mr. Robert Belsey and the ushers were Robert Gardner, cousin of the bride, and Pat Belsey, brother of the groom.

The reception was held at the YWCA in the Green Room. Mrs. McKenzie received in a gown of charcoal grey ticatina and was wearing a navy velvet hat and a corsage of pink carnations and ostrich tip feather. The groom's mother assisted, gowned in navy with matching accessories and wearing a corsage of pink roses with ostrich tip feather.

When going away later, the bride was attired in a dusky rose crepe strapless sheath dress and matching bolero and wore navy accessories and a corsage of white baby 'mums.

The couple will live at 412 George St.

JEANETTE SCOTT CHAPTER

An article titled "Thoughts on Democracy" was read by Empire and world affairs convener Miss Mary Medd at the Jeanette Scott Chapter IODE meeting Tuesday evening at the YWCA.

It was decided to hold a rummage sale in October. Mrs. H. Wilson convener of the 1954 spring fashion show announced the show will be on March 3 and 4.

Mrs. J. Currelly read a letter from provincial headquarters on services at home and abroad, giving work suggestions. It was asked that knitted and sewn articles be continued as they are much needed overseas.

As Mrs. R. Pow has left the city to live in Calgary, Mrs. G. Harrison was appointed assistant treasurer.

Refreshments were served at the close.

Fake fur pants are the thing for campus wear this year. Some plain fabric pants are covered with felt polka dots just for fun.

Theatre Group To Be Formed Under Rec. Comm.

It was decided that a community theatre group will be formed in Peterborough when a meeting which evidenced considerable interest in the project was held Thursday evening in Ashburnham Hall under auspices of the Recreation Commission. Alex. Sinclair, recreation director, was chairman.

A definite name for the group will be decided shortly by a small committee appointed last night for this purpose.

A committee was elected to carry on business of the group until the beginning of 1954. Chairman is Mrs. John Campbell; secretary, Mrs. Franelda Gibson; treasurer, Mrs. Harry Silver; publicity and advertising chairman, John Macdougall; telephone conveners, Mrs. Eric Howard and Mrs. Graham Donaldson; advisors, David McKnight and John Campbell.

It was decided the immediate objective should be to enter a one-act play, directed by John Campbell, in the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival being held in the city in November. Tentative plans for other one-act plays were made and it is hoped to have a three-act play ready in the spring.

Others present at the meeting were: Mrs. Fritz Heilingbrunner, Mr. Eric Howard, Mrs. David McKnight, Mrs. Frank Sullivan, Misses Germaine Sampson, Christine Crabb, Mary Clifford and Marion McTeague, Mrs. Noreen Gill, Mrs. Robert Macdougall.

Messages stating regret that they were unable to attend but expressing interest were received from Mr. and Mrs. John Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Swartz, Messrs. Stan McBride, George Booth, Harry Silver, Misses Caroline Littlefield and M. Jory, Mrs. H. T. Bletcher, Mrs. Ken Strasser and Mrs. L. J. Belanger.

Tea Welcomes Teachers

The second tea to welcome new teachers on the city staff was held Thursday afternoon with the YWCA Green Room as the setting. This event was considered even more highly successful than last year's which was held at City Hall.

The 39 new teachers, all but one of whom were present, were received by Dr. E. P. Ray, chairman of the Teacher-Board Committee, and Mr. S. R. Adamson, chairman of the Board of Education.

The Teacher-Board Committee, which was formed just two years ago, is responsible for the holding of these teas for the purpose of having the teachers become acquainted with one another and with members of the board. However, the teas were started as the result of a suggestion by the teachers and it is found they do feel much more at home in the city after an introduction such as this.

Others on the Teacher-Board committee are Mr. McNeill, Mr. Bolton, Miss Lewers and Miss Stenton of the Public School staff, Mr. McQuarrie, Mrs. Warner and Mr. C. S. Browne of the High School staff, and Mr. K. S. Wightman, Mr. P. D. Windrim, Mr. G. W. Craw, Mr. W. B. Gordon, Mr. Chas. Huffman, Mr. R. Pitchford, Mrs. Paige Rowell and Mrs. Blake Bell.

Lady members of the committee convened the tea and served, assisted by Mrs. Craw, Mrs. Pitchford, Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Gordon. Mrs. Ray and Mrs. Adamson presided at the tea table which was attractively set with the centrepiece of zinnias in the glorious fall shades.

There were about 90 guests.

The new teachers on the High School staff are: Mr. W. E. Bergey, Miss Marcella Buck, Mr. R. J. Wright, Mr. R. D. Hodgins, Miss Elaine Moore, Mr. Kenneth Wass, Miss Margaret A. Rodger, Mr. Arthur F. Vogt, Mr. Raymond Curry, Mrs. Muriel Elliott, Miss Ruth Sinclair, Miss Elizabeth Hennigar, Mr. Arthur J. Currie, Mr. Chas. Ward, Miss Joan G. Martin.

Twenty-four new teachers on the Public School staff are: Miss Marion Bigelow, Miss Marie Sharpe, Miss Dorothy Stinson, Miss Erma Burris, Miss Mary E. Rose, Mr. L. James Edwards, Miss Elaine Spence, Miss Joan Walden, Miss Evelyn Doherty, Miss Isabel Cruickshank, Miss Evelyn Goheen, Miss Marilyn Hamilton, Mr. Rodger T. Hendren, Miss Elfrieda Jenkins, Miss Marilyn Murphy, Miss June Adams, Mr. Walter Downes, Miss Barbara Bryant, Miss Elizabeth N. Scollard, Miss Margaret McGee, Miss Dorothea Ferrier, Miss Elda E. Wilson, Mrs. M. J. McIntyre, Mrs. William Dawson.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX:

Elderly Don Juan's Conceit Arouses Ire Of Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: What can be done about a husband who was once fairly good looking, though he thought himself quite handsome, and now, at 63, bald and weighing over 200 pounds, considers himself such a gallant that he's sure all girls gaze at him with admiration. I'm 5 years younger, have kept my appearance quite well, wearing a size 16 dress and retaining my black hair, yet he claims I look so old he's ashamed to go out with me. We have five children all married, and have been a happy family except for my husband's obsession concerning his looks. He spends hours every day dolling up.

MRS. N. D.

SHOULD ACT HIS AGE.

ANSWER Since you have lived with this situation for almost forty years, you certainly know that it won't change. By now you should have learned to make a joke of your husband's failing. If he humiliates you in public with comments regarding your looks you certainly have enough on him to make a comeback. If he's reminded of his paunches and pouches, his lost hairline and his foolish attempts to maintain the pace of a teen-ager, it might wake him up to the fact that his age is the time to relaxing. His big trouble, I think, is the fact that you've kept your looks better than he has, and the realization is rather a galling one to him.

Make a special point of introducing to the household any widely advertised items to improve his appearance— such as tonics "guaranteeed" to grow hair, aftershave lotions, and other toiletries. Put him on a diet so he'll regain his boyish figure. If you can carry this out with a straight face, he may catch on to the fact that he's a bit rediculous in his family's eyes.

Your present attitude of accepting his folly as tragic will get you nowhere. By now he's fed up with tears and recriminations; try new tactics. If they work, fine; if they don't at least you're no worse off than you were before. The cooperation of some close friends will help accomplish the purpose of putting dad back with the middle-agers. Do remember, though that a man who is over-fussy about his appearance isn't nearly as aggravating as one who is careless and sloppy.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Sometime ago I wrote to Jack, inviting him to a party. We had dated for about three months, but there was nothing serious between us. He never acknowledged the letter, I was heartbroken. Now I'm dating another boy, but still think of Jack most of the time. Would it be all right for me to invite him to another party?

C. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't overlook the possibilitiy that he never received the letter; perhaps you have jumped to conclusion regarding his indifference. Why not ask him point blank, one of these days, and at least settle that part of your dilemma. Or, write inviting him to another party, if you wish, mentioning the fact that your previous invitation had undoubtedly gone astray since he never acknowledged it. Whether his actions were dictated by rudeness, careless neglect, or failure to receive the letter, you'll have to figure out for yourself. If he is being deliberately rude, he certainly isn't worth all the heartbreak, is he?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 and my girl friend is 17. My problem is that I'm not sure she loves me as much as I love her. How can I be sure?

M. R. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A measuring stick for love has yet to be invented, but there are so many ways—simple and important— by which we can judge another's feelings with fair accuracy, that you shouldn't long remain in doubt. At your respective ages, love is extremely difficult to pin down, so I suggest that you continue seeing the young lady as a friend, and bide your time before insisting on pledges of undying affection from her.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Good Fashion Year For Fat Women

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The wider aspects of fashion received a thorough going over at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

Each day Lillian Foster, Toronto fashion reporter, has presented a fashion show for fat women.

The forthright Miss Foster doesn't say pleasingly plump, or matronly, when she means fat. She'll tell without hesitation that she takes a size 44.

"Don't let's be too particular about hiding a pound or two," she says.

"Remember, fat women are asked out just as much as thin women. We don't need clothes made especially for us, we just need clothes made big enough for us."

Miss Foster blasts the ideas long held by fat women that black is the only color they can wear and that "separates" and light colored party dresses are taboo in the fat woman's wardrobe.

With large-size models emphasizing her points, Miss Foster shows a beige dress, a simple camel-hair coat and a rosy gray taffeta with diamente appliques.

A model wearing a black skirt and white blouse confirms Miss Foster's opinion about separates.

The skirt hangs beautifully and that's a feature Miss Foster advises all fat women to watch carefully.

"We need all the grace we can dander up—we fat women," she says.

This is evidently a good fashion year for heavy women. Although the emphasis is on the contour line, the variety of styles does not confine the latest clothes to one type of woman.

Miss Foster notes that fat men are well catered to by their tailors and get the same styles as other men but with those added inches.

She says it is getting easier every year for fat women to get a better choice of clothes, but "there's still room for inches of improvement."

Lakefield WMS Gets New Study Book

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Mrs. Earl Orr introduced the new study book, "Where'er The Sun" by Samuel H. Moffett, when the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. W. J. Charlton

The topic of the meeting, "The Church, the Household of Faith," was taken by Mrs. Orr Mrs. E. J. Millage gave the scripture reading.

Dealing with the opening chapter of the study book, Mrs. Orr pointed out that Christians have been kept apart by diversity of doctrine, differences in church government or narrow denominational loyalties. Now, through the World Council of Churches, a better understanding will be brought about.

The business period was in charge of the president, Mrs. H. J. Brown. It was decided that the "holiday money" should be brought in at the October meeting when there will be a sale of jam, pickles, etc., and reports of the Leadership Training School at the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, will be given.

The Society will adopt the "birthday box" with Mrs. J. McKerchar as convener.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Percy Spence, Mrs. E. Dunford and Miss Ora Dunford in serving afternoon tea.

Hadassah Builds New Bridge Africa To Israel

The Youth Aliyah movement in Israel, which to date has brought over 62,000 Jewish children from Europe, the Middle East and Africa to Israel, is now engaged in building a human "Africa-Israel" bridge which, if successful, could completely revolutionize life for over 300,000 Moroccan Jews.

Mrs. D. P. Gotlieb, national president of Canadian Hadassah who provide funds for Youth Aliyah rescue operations, learned, while recently in Israel, of a scheme to bring to Israel one child from each family in North Africa.

"That child will build a bridge. When the rest of the family arrive he will already speak Hebrew, know the country, and have learned something. He can explain to his parents the new forms of life. They will believe him while they would be wary of professional social workers," explained Mrs. Gotlieb.

NATIONAL CONVENTION

Costs involved in the project are expected to be reflected in the budget for Youth Aliyah that will be submitted to delegates at the forthcoming National Convention of Canadian Hadassah, slated for October 30 to November 2 at the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal.

Israeli government authorities are heart and soul behind the new Youth Aliyah venture as a hopeful solution to the hosts of social problems created by the influx of North African Jewish youngsters and their families.

These youth, said Mrs. Gotlieb, are from the poorest classes, and must be given new attitudes towards education, which their parents find unnecessary; towards agriculture, which they despised formerly as an occupation; towards women, whom they regard as inferiors; and towards democracy, which they never before experienced.

The key to Youth Aliyah's problems today is the Westernization of Oriental immigrants, who comprise well over half the fourteen thousand youth in the organization's care today.

"Canadian Hadassah women, 15,000 strong, will be thoroughly informed of the scope, the urgency, and the heavy costs of this program when they meet in convention. It is no easy task to advance an entire population by two or three generations in that many years . . . but it must be done," she said.

As an indication of the size of the task, Mrs. Gotlieb gave the figure of 10,000 as representing the number of teen-agers, between the ages of 13 and 17, who neither work nor study at schools today. They were the children of new North African and Mid-eastern immigrants, who have an unsympathetic attitude towards modern education for their youth.

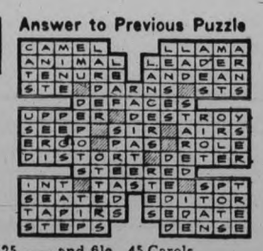
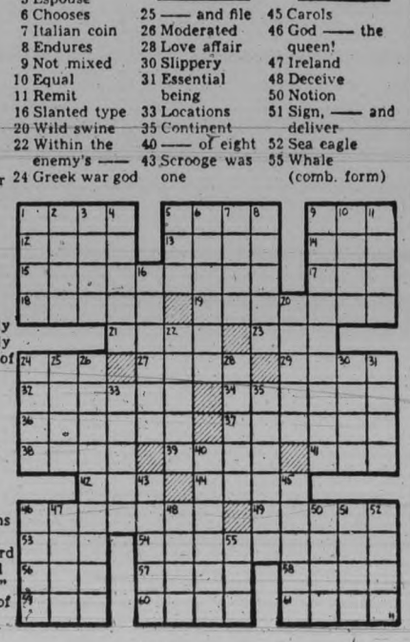
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: First I must tell you how much I enjoy your column . . . it is so much more interesting and useful than those written by Americans . . . this year I planted my first garden and it has been successful beyond my wildest hopes. I have already frozen over one hundred cartons of vegetables and still have corn and squash to do . . . my problem is what to do with the dozens and dozens of vegetable marrows that grow and grow and grow! I can't give any more away and there is a limit to the amount our family can eat, much as we enjoy it, particularly baked with brown sugar, salt and pepper and margarine (please, never boiled) . . . I am told that marrow jam is delicious, but I am unable to find a recipe . . . I believe ginger is among the ingredients . . . when I first started to bake I had to use a coal and wood stove and cake failures were unknown . . . now I have an eletric range and I can't depend on making good cakes until they are angel food. That never fails. I can't honestly say that this began with the new stove. It used to be fine but now I usually find a hard, closely packed layer on the bottom . . . this comes with chiffon quick-method or creamed type cakes, and I am at a loss to explain it . . . I use cake flour and have bought new baking powder but to no avail. . .

DOROTHY H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: When we were up north we paid 35 cents for a vegetable marrow. Is there any chance of you selling a few to your local grocer. You might interest him if the price was low.

MARROW JAM

Wash, pare and seed marrow and put through course knife of food chopper. Weigh. You should have 8 lbs. To this add 4 lbs. sugar and ¼ lb. finely cut candied ginger. Cover when it is stirred, and let stand overnight. In the morning add the juice of 4 large lemons and the finely grated yellow rind of 4 lemons. Cook slowly for about 2 hours or until marrow is clear and mixture is of jam consistency. Pour into sterile jam jars and seal with double coating of paraffin.

I have an appointment with the head baker of a large bakery firm. He has agreed to answer any questions I put to them about these new flours that are causing so much grief. Watch for my report on this talk.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Have you a recipe for carrot wine. I would like to make some to use for Christmas. It's nice to use things from one's own garden. Last year I made your Beet wine. It is very good.

Mrs. W. H. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am sorry that I do not have a recipe for Carrot Wine. I have a German cousin by marriage who makes it though and he used the recipe that I printed last year for Beet Wine. I have not tasted it but he was very happy with the result. Maybe you would like to try the Beet Wine recipe using carrots.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I wonder would you be so kind as to put in the paper the recipe for Marmalade Jelly, as I put mine that I cut out of the paper somewhere and I just can't find it. . . . I think there was preserved ginger in it with apples

Mrs. J. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You've stumped me. I can find no recipe in my files for a Marmalade Jelly. Since you mentioned apples I wonder could it be Apple Marmalade. That recipe contains ginger.

APPLE MARMALADE

(Incidentally I have not made this.) Use 4 large tart apples and 2 large quinces, the juice of a large lemon, sugar, 1 teaspoon powered ginger or 1 oz. chopped candied ginger. Pare, core and slice the fruit. Steam it until it is tender. Let any water that clings to it drain and dry off. Measure the fruit and add 2-3 the quantity of sugar. That is if you have 6 cups fruit add 4 cups sugar. Add the lemonjuice and ginger and cook quickly, stirring, until fruit is clear—about ½ hour. Pour into sterile jars and seal.

If there are any readers who have the Marmalade Jelly recipe Mrs. J. L. is seeking I would be grateful if they would mail it to me.

6—In Memoriam

KIMBALL — In precious and loving memory of Max Godfrey Kimball, who died September 11, 1948, in his fifth year.
—Mother and brother John.

MILLAR—In loving memory of Arthur Henderson Millar, who was accidentally killed Sept. 11th, 1935.
In fading summer, on the heavenly shore,
Loved ones await us, who have gone before.
There no flowers wither, and no pleasures cloy,
In that land of beauty, in that home of joy,
In the misty gloaming, death awaits us all.
Silent is His coming, sure the Master's call,
And the angel footsteps mark the upward way,
Till the twilight merges into heavenly day.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital, attending doctors and nurses; also Rev. H. B. Herrington and all kind friends and neighbors who sent fruit, flowers, cards and other kindness, during my recent illness.—H. A. Cruikshank.

Mrs. Roy Lawrence wishes to thank the attending doctors, nurses and staff for their kindness; also friends and neighbors for cards and flowers during my stay in Civic Hospital.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, and beautiful floral tributes received from neighbors, relatives and many friends, also thanking the attending doctors and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital and especially thanking the Rev. Shorten of St. James' United Church and Major Roberts in the loss of a loving mother.—Family of the late Mrs. Amy Martin.

Successful Year Ends For Quin-Mo-Lac Camp

Quin-Mo-Lac Camp on Moira Lake has completed its third and most successful season.

The camp is owned by the United Church of Canada and operated by the board of directors of the Bay of Quinte Conference to promote the Christian education of youth.

Close to 700 young people have attended the camp since it opened June 20. It has accommodation for 125 campers. The modern dining room, seating 200, kitchen, seven cabins and other buildings have a total estimated value of $38,000.

Eight organizations from six counties used the camp this summer, including the CGIT, cubs, Girl Guides, young people's organizations, and playground supervisors. The average camping period was a week, although three groups of campers spent 10 days at the camp.

Toronto Military Band To Play At Lindsay Ex

LINDSAY (ENS)—The directors of the Lindsay Central Exhibition have announced plans for some of the features of this year's show.

The exhibition will be opened by Premier Leslie Frost, Q.C., on Wednesday, Sept. 23. The opening day feature will be the Dufferin Park Purse for $1,000, a three-year-olds race, sponsored by Fred Orpen of Toronto.

Harness races will also be the feature of the afternoon program on the next three days of the exhibition.

The Governor-General's Horse Guard Band of Toronto will be one of the main attractions of the grandstand show. Ronald Rogers will m.c. the show as well as being the feature attraction.

The agricultural committees have reported large entries in all classes, and one of the features will be the annual Victoria County Black and White Day.

Plan To Lay Off 125 At Arsenal

LINDSAY (ENS)—Col. Miller E. Shields, manager of the Lindsay Arsenal, said Thursday 125 workers were scheduled to be laid off but would be let out in small groups, over the next week and a half.

The lay-offs, he said, were result of the end of a munitions contract at the Arsenal. There are other contracts expected and the workers might be called back when these were let, he said.

At the National Employment Office here, Manager H. C. Brown said Thursday some of the Arsenal workers had been placed in jobs and positions were waiting for a few more. He stated, however, that the office could not supply jobs for all those being laid off.

United Church Gets Gift Of $100,000

TORONTO (CP)—A gift of more than $100,000 and another of 20 acres of land have been received by the United Church of Canada church treasurer Dr. Victor T. Mooney announced today.

The money was donated by a Toronto woman who wished to remain anonymous. She asked that it be used to build 10 houses for retired ministers and missionaries and their wives or widows.

The land which is on Lake Ontario near Beamsville, about 18 miles southeast of Hamilton, was given by a retired United Church minister, Rev. C. R. Albright.

A committee has been appointed to study the housing project. Dr. Mooney said it would probably accommodate 20 couples.

Brakes Faulty, Driver Fined

Facing dual charge of failing to produce a licence and having faulty brakes, Robert Jones of RR 9, Peterborough, paid a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs in magistrate's court Thursday. The licence charge was dismissed but Jones was convicted on the brake count.

The charges were laid after an accident August 10 investigated by PC Gerald Emmons. The officer testified that he tested the brakes by driving the car and found the vehicle "very unsatisfactorily equipped."

BROUGHT IN PERMIT

Jones failed to produce his licence at the time but testified he brought it into the police station shortly after the crash. Although the constable claimed he hadn't seen the permit, the licence charge was dropped.

The accused showed the court a receipt for a brake job done on his vehicle two weeks prior to the crash but upon questioning by the crown attorney, admitted his emergency brake had not been working.

On that basis, Magistrate W. R. Philp registered a conviction.

Ottawa Makes Survey Of Funds

OTTAWA (CP)—The external affairs department announced today that a special survey will be made of the government's program of using blocked European funds to permit Canadians to study in Europe.

The survey will be conducted by Jan Desy, former director-general of the international service of the CBC and onetime ambassador to The Netherlands and Italy. He will visit Italy, France and Holland.

The government's overseas awards program was approved by the cabinet in June, 1951. Under the program, blocked funds owing to Canada by several European countries are used to grant scholarships and fellowships for advanced studies to students selected each year by the Royal Society of Canada.

In Rome, Mr. Desy will take part in the negotiation of a cultural agreement between Italy and Canada. Provision for the agreement was made under the civilian relief agreement between Italy and Canada which was ratified by the Italian Parliament last April.

N.Y. Engineers Study Power Project Model

TORONTO—(CP)— Engineers from the New York state power authority Thursday examined a huge model of the St. Lawrence river power project.

The engineers, here for talks with top members of the engineering staff of the Ontario hydro commission, toured the model at suburban Islington prior to starting discussions aimed at hammering out design details for the power development.

Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario commission, said he hopes to be able to comment on the possibility of speeding up a start on the project after the visit of the New York officials.

Violent Floods Wreck East Morocco Dam

RABAT, Morocco (Reuters) — Violent floods today swept away dams and bridges in north and east Morocco, causing more than $1,500,000 damage.

The river Mouloya, swollen by torrential rains, broke a coffer dam on the site of the barrage under construction at Mechra Oamadi and swamped the barrage's foundations.

Near Fes, two streams burst their banks and swept away a 30-foot bridge.

Another stream destroyed the scaffolding of a bridge being built at Sefrou.

Blondes Leading For Beauty Crown

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The gals that gentlemen prefer—blondes—have the edge so fa rin talent and swim suit preliminaries for the Miss America 1954 crown.

Three of the four lovelies who won in the last two nights of competition in the two divisions are golden-tressed. The fourth is a brunette.

Tonight is the last round of preliminaries before Saturday night grand finals, when one of the 52 entries will be given the crown and robes of Miss America—plus $50,000 in awards.

Winners who picked up coveted points Thursday night were Miss South Dakota, Delores Jerde of Spearifhs, and Miss Wyoming, Elaine Lois Helkenbrink of Torrington, blue-eyed beauties of 19.

Miss South Dakota and Miss Wyoming won in the talent and bathing suit categories respectively.

Stratford Indians Sign Don Emms

STRATFORD (CP) — Stratford Indians bolstered their roster for the 1953-54 Ontario Senior A hockey season when they announced today the signing of Don Emms.

Emms was top scoring forward for Sarnia Sailors last season. He is a nephew of Hap Emms, Barrie Flyers coach. Don Emms played with Flyers when they won the Memorial Cup two years ago.

Wants Gov't Aid Prisoners

TIMMINS (CP)—If the government won't give an ex-prisoner a job it can hardly expect others to hire him, says Magistrate W. Stanley Gardner.

At a meeting of the select committee on reform institutions here Thursday Mr. Gardner asked John Foote, minister of reforms institutions, if his department of the civil service in general would employ an ex-convict.

Mr. Foote replied: "It has not been our policy to do so."

"What's the use of building outstanding vocational training buildings when even government garages, plumbing shops and other departments won't give the ex-inmate a job when he finishes his sentence?" Mr. Gardner asked.

Turf Syndicate Buys 7 Yearlings

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) —Max Bell, probably the first Canadian to race horses in three countries concurrently, said today his turf syndicate, Alberta Ranches, has already bought seven yearlings at the sales, which opened Wednesday, and may acquire a few more today.

Bell is one of four equal partners in Alberta Ranches. The others are Calgary oil men Frank McMahon and Wilder Ripley and American trainer Vance Longden, son of Johnny Longden. McMahon and the Alberta-raised Longden are attending the Doncaster sales along with Bell and will watch Saturday's 177th running of the St. Leger Stakes, first run in 1778.

Among the horses picked up by Alberta ranches at the current sales are yearlings by Dante, Nearco, Donatello II and Hyperion. One of the top prices, 4,100 guineas, was paid for a chestnut filly by Big game out of Careless Nora.

Bell and his partners have reason to be enthusiastic about British Bloodstock. On a visit to England last year, Bell bought Indian Hemp and Royal Serenade, which have since won about $250,000 in the United States.

Australia Eases Import Ban

CANBERRA (Reuters(— Australia will allow more goods from non-dollar nations to enter the country beginning Oct. 1, Prime Minister Menzies announced today.

The relaxation of import restrictions—first imposed in March, 1952—is another indication of Australia's improved economic situation. Earlier this week the government announced tax reductions.

Menzies said import quotas for non-dollar areas will be raised by 10 per cent. In addition, an extensive list of items, ranging from earth-moving equipment to coffee and tea, will be put on a "no quota" basis provided they can be imported within a year.

The Australian prime minister laid special emphasis on the need to take more goods from Japan. He pointed out that Australian exports to Japan last year were about 15 times more than Japanese exports to Australia.

Investment Dealer Remanded To Sept. 17

TORONTO (CP)—Walter McKinnon, 71, Toronto investment dealer, was remanded Thursday night to Sept. 17 on 22 charges of theft and fraud arising from losses police said were incurred by clients in Lanark county.

McKinnon, arrested Thursday, was freed on $10,000 bail. Trial Sept. 17 is to be held in Toronto.

McKinnon went bankrupt last year, when it was discovered that some $250,000 in savings of Lanark county residents had disappeared.

Ask Ottawa Adopt Scholarship System

OTTAWA (CP) — A resolution asking the federal government to adopt a national system of university scholarships "without further delay" was adopted by the executive of the CCF Youth Movement at a three-day meeting ended Thursday.

The executive said the youth organization will undertake a campaign this year to promote establishment of student aid funds by federal and provincial governments. These funds would provide interest-free loans to students wanting to enter university, agricultural college, nursing school or normal school.

Criticizes Minorities Interfering With Plans

KITCHENER (CP)—Dr. A. E. Berry, director of sanitary engineering for Ontario, Thursday night criticized "loud minority groups" who interfere in problems of public health.

He told the annual meeting of the Ontario Association of Plumbing Inspectors and Affiliates that fluoridation of water is one of the vital issues where pressure groups are trying to influence public opinion. Some communities in Canada have been introducing fluorine compounds into water supplies to prevent tooth decay.

Dr. Berry said scientists, medical men and dentists are the people whose opinions should count in the fluoridation issue, "not the loud minority groups with no scientific backing whatever."

Elect J. H. McMinn President Of Plumbers

KITCHENER (CP)—J. H. McMinn of Toronto today was elected president of the Ontario Association of Plumbing Inspectors and affiliates at the annual meeting.

Other officers: vice-president, J. H. Roberts, Leaside; secretary-treasurer, V. S. Baker, London; directors, Albert Airey, North York; Fred Johnston, St. Catharines; Herbert Posner, Windsor; L. M. Brown, Kitchener; T. E. Ellicott, North Bay, and William A. Willis, North York.

Living Costs Up In 6 Cities

OTTAWA (CP) — Cost-of-living indexes for six of nine regional centres across Canada rose during July while indexes in the three others declined, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The declines were registered at Montreal, Winnipeg, and Vancouver. St. John's, Nfld., Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Toronto, Saskatoon and Edmonton saw increases.

Meat prices were generally stable, eggs continued a seasonal advance and fruits and vegetables were mostly lower. Bread prices were up at Toronto and Saint John, N.B. Clothing indexes advanced in seven centres but showed no change in Edmonton and Vancouver. Five cities reported higher fuel prices. Rents were up in five centres and unchanged in the remaining four.

A general advance in gasoline prices resulted in a rise in the index of miscellaneous items in all nine centres. Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Edmonton reported higher rates for hospital accommodation.

Challenges Right Of Workers To Form Union

LINDSAY (ENS)—Ralph Carlin, staff representative of the United Steel Workers Union said Thursday that application had been made to the Labor Relations Board for verification of his union as bargaining agents for the workers of the Canadian Arsenals plant here.

The union was notified this week, however, that the scheduled hearing which was to be held Wednesday, had been cancelled, since the matter had been turned over to the attorney general's department. Nothing further had been heard, to date.

Mr. Carlin said the union's chief legal adviser and its Canadian director, C. H. Millard, would probably act when negotiations were carried out before the board.

The organization of the Arsenal workers began shortly after the union established in town, despite a government order-in-council which forbade such a move. At the organizational meeting, this order-in-council was the target of attack by C. H. Millard, head of the union.

Since coming to Lindsay, the union has organized three plants, and received recognition as bargaining agents for two.

Keep Up To Date

LONDON (Reuters)—"All About Atoms" and "Journey To The Atom" are among the titles of new children's books published by the state publishing house in Moscow this year, according to a Tass agency report. Altogether 8,000,000 copies of new books for children have been issued this year, said Tass.

Steelworkers Plan To Demand Wages Equal U.S.

MONTREAL (CP)—The United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) will demand higher wages in all new contracts to establish parity with United States wage rates, it was indicated Friday at the union's national policy conference here. The 250 delegates to the conference found the buoyancy of the Canadian economy can stand the higher demands adopted "in principle" in a resolution, but referred it back to committee for redrafting because of objections by some delegates to the wording.

Delegates objected to the limitations placed on wage standards by an objective of parity with rates in the U.S., saying that with an expanding economy like Canada's no union should be tied to wage rates paid in the United States.

Other objectives would be a 40-hour week, reduction and eventual elimination of geographic wage differentials, protection against dividing work normally done by the bargaining unit, extension of the co-operative wage study system of job classification and establishment of Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, as a statutory holiday.

MAY BE DEBATED

Political action also came up for debate but no resolution was passed before adjournment.

Representatives of 75,000 union members discussed a resolution urging that the steelworkers "continue to support the CCF as a political arm of labor and that we urge all locals to participate in their provincial federation PAC (political action committee) funds."

It was the last open session of the three-day conference, with today's conference to be a closed one for discussion of internal policy. Debate on the political action resolution will be concluded then.

Henry Weisbach of Toronto, political action director of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said in support of the resolution that "every one of our economic battles is rapidly becoming a political battle."

Doukhobors Put Four More Homes To Torch

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP) — Four homes were put to the torch in pre-dawn darkness today as a weird offering by Doukhobors to 148 of their number who were jailed this week.

Radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, who seldom deny responsibility for home-burnings, make up almost the entire population of this settlement.

The owners, also members of the radical Doukhobor sect, claimed they knew of no reason why they should be singled out for the burnings.

With the passive attitude that is part of the religious cult, the Doukhobor victims stood by the fires in almost complete silence.

At one of the blazes, no one was in evidence, although it was surmized the owners had retired to a small shack nearby.

Home - burnings are no longer novel in the area of the Kootenays, in interior British Columbia, where the unhappy Doukhobors have staged violent protest for nearly 50 years against man-made laws, claiming these are an affront to God.

Two of the outbreaks occurred on the Krestova plateau, a barren, rocky piece of land where the "sons" eke out a marginal existence about 20 miles from Nelson. Two other homes were destroyed at nearby Goose Creek, an equally desolate neighborhood.

Paul Tarasoff, about 65, stood by the flaming embers of his home when reporters arrived. His wife stood weeping by his side, but there was no one else to help or share their loss.

"I was sick, but my wife saw a red glow in the sky," he said. "When I came out I found it was our house on fire."

He took a reporter to a ramshackle outhouse nearby, where he had removed his grandson, aged 3, and left him to sleep on some boxes.

Sea Cadet Bus Goes In Ditch

GEORGETOWN, Ont. (CP) — A chartered bus carrying members of the Stratford Sea Cadet Corps to the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto turned over on its side in a ditch near here today, injuring one cadet and shaking up the others.

Provincial police said the accident occurred at Norval, about two miles south of here, when the bus went out of control coming down a long hill. It plunged through a guard rail and slid down a 15-foot bank on its right side.

The injured cadet, said to be suffering from a broken shoulder, was taken to hospital at Stratford. He was not identified. Another bus took the cadets home when officers cancelled plans for their CNE visit.

Strong Pressure Used On U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government appeared to be under strong pressure today from other countries' fiscal representatives to lead the way to convertible currencies and freer trade.

The 55-nation World Bank and monetary fund came to the end of an annual meeting, but Reginald Maudling, United Kingdom representative, is staying here until Wednesday. Maudling's extended stay aroused speculation that he hoped to learn in private talks with U.S. treasury officials what help Britain can count on from the United States if she drops restrictions on free exchange of the pound sterling.

Another bank-fund governor remaining was Hassen Polatkan, Turkish minister of finance. Polatkan's aims were thought to centre about his country's new program to attract private investment, particularly dollar investment.

The bank governors gathered for a closed meeting to consider a recommendation from the bank's committee on finance and organization for the possible suspension of Czechoslovakia, only Soviet bloc member of the bank and fund. The committee recommended that the governors vote to suspend Czechoslovakia unless by Dec. 31 she has paid the remaining $625,000 of her capital subscription to the bank.

Failed To See Truck Following Car

Anson House Resident Suffers Head Injuries, Shock

An elderly Anson House resident suffered head injuries and severe shock at 1:30 p.m. today when he was hit by a truck at Water and Hilliard Sts.

John LeBarr, about 70, was rushed by ambulance to Civic Hospital, where he was taken to the emergency operating room. His condition could not be determined immediately.

LeBarr, according to eye-witnesses, was running from the east side of Water St. to the west in an effort to catch a southbound bus.

One witness, Guy Wallace, of Warren, Ohio, was driving south on Water. He said LeBarr didn't look to the south at all. "He was watching my car all the time, just as though he thought I was going to hit him. I don't think he had any idea the truck was coming."

Driver of the truck was George Irish, 56, of Coe Hill.

"I didn't have a chance," said Irish. "He ran right out in front of the truck, and I didn't see him until just before I hit him."

LeBarr had waited until one northbound car had passed, then ran out into the road, witnesses said. He apparently didn't see the truck following the first northbound car.

Constable Don Erskine investigated.

Lindsay Thief Busy With Lingerie Raids

LINDSAY (ENS)—A youthful funmaking Lindsayite may be taking a leaf from the book of U.S. college boys, according to Chief John Hunter of the town police.

A wave off thefts of women's underthings has been reported from the north ward of the town in the past week. Most of the thefts have taken place from clothes lines where washing has been left out overnight.

According to the chief, some of the stolen articles were recovered this week under some brush and identified by girls from a nearby rooming house. The chief discounts the possibility of any maliciousness from the thefts and thinks they are the result of practical joking probably by boys who know the girls.

Constable Percy Mark is working on the case, according to the chief.

Arrest Four After Holdup

TORONTO (CP)—Armed detectives disguised as parking-lot attendants Friday arrested three men and an attractive blonde near the Canadian National Exhibition grounds a few hours after a $6,700 payroll snatch in downtown Toronto.

Philip McQuade, 28, and George McGroarty, 24, both of Toronto, have been charged with armed robbery and Douglas Dodds, who was with the pair when they were arrested, has been charged with vagrancy. Officers said two pistols and $3,100 were found when the men were arrested.

The payroll was stolen from James Sullivan, 19, as he was about to deliver it to Howarth and Smith Monotype Limited on Richmond street.

Police Begin Search For Young Mother

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Toronto and provincial police Friday were called in on a search for Mrs. Norman McLeod, 23, of Simcoe who left her parents' home near Trenton Aug. 30 to visit the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and has not been heard of since.

Wife of a Simcoe milkman and mother of two little girls, Mrs. McLeod was left at the CNE by her brother-in-law and said it was her intention to stay for a few days at the home of a Toronto friend. She did not show up at the Toronto household.

WHO'S WORRIED?—"Even without this trim I'll walk off with all the ribbons at the Peterborough Exhibition." Glenwood Lord Nelson appears to have reason for his lordly confidence. Owned by Clarence Coons of Lakefield the Ayrshire youngster born last November will compete in the Junior bull division at the Peterborough Exhibition which opens Tuesday.

Premonition Captures St. Leger Race

DONCASTER, England (CP) — Premonition, a 10-to-1 longshot owned by Brig. W. P. Wyatt but handled by the Queen's trainer, today won the famed St. Leger race, oldest of Britain's flat season horse racing classics.

Three lengths behind in second place was French-owned Northern Light II, at 5-to-2 odds, while Queen Elizabeth's chestnut colt Aureole, the favorite at 5-to-4, ran third. The race is over a distance of one mile, six furlongs, 132 yards.

The Queen was among a record crowd of nearly 250,000 which jammed the Town Moor course here to watch the race, first run in 1776.

Mountain King, ridden by Sir Gordon Richards, the world's winningest jockey, was fourth.

GIVEN LITTLE CHANCE

Premonition, a brown colt by Precipitation out of Trial Ground, is trained by the Queen's personal trainer, Captain Boyd-Rochfort. Early this year he won the Irish Derby but had been given little chance in this historic race.

Premonition, a stable companion of Aureole, won £14,246 ($39,888) for his victory in the seven-furlong race.

The St. Leger is unlucky for reigning monarchs, none of whose horses have won the classic.

In the Royal box with the Queen was Prime Minister Churchill.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Alfred Vanderbilt said today his 3-year-old champion, Native Dancer, has been withdrawn from the $50,000 Sysonby Mile Sept. 26 due to a foot injury. The Dancer was to have met Tom Fool in a long-sought race.

300 Warships To Take Part In Combined Manoeuvres

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 300 warships from nine countries, including Canada, will put to sea next week for the biggest combined manoeuvres in peacetime history. A navy spokesman said Friday the operation, designated "Exercise Mariner," will involve about 500,000 men. It will begin Wednesday and continue for 19 days "all over the North Atlantic ocean."

Nine of the 14 member countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be represented. They are the United States, Canada, Britain, Belgium, Denmark, France, Holland, Norway and Portugal.

Ranging in size from tiny coastal patrol craft to giant aircraft carriers, the ships will practice virtually every phase of naval activity. There will be convoy escort drills, "offensive" sweeps, fleet manoeuvres, anti-aircraft and submarine defence.

Purpose of the exercise is to improve co-ordination among the NATO fleets. Efforts will be made to simulate wartime conditions.

Under over-all command of U.S. Admiral L. D. McCormick, the exercise will be carried out simultaneously in widely separated areas of the North Atlantic.

Canada will be represented by the aircraft carrier Magnificent, the cruiser Quebec, the destroyer-escort Algonquin and two frigates, the Swansea and La Hulloise.

Police Arrest Guide In Stabbing Case

QUEBEC (CP)—Andre Bernard, 22-year-old guide wanted for questioning in connection with alleged stabbing of a Vermont angler at St. Michel des Saints, Que., was arrested today at Price, Que., a St. Lawrence river south shore town about 215 miles east of here.

Capt. J. Alphonse Matte of the provincial police said Bernard was found hiding in the cellar of a home in Price.

Hull Succeeds Gen. Mark Clark

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. John E Hull, a desk officer for much of his 36-year military career, leaves the Pentagon (defence headquarters) soon to command troops along the uneasy truce line in Korea.

The tall Ohioan was named by President Eisenhower Friday to succeed Gen. Mark Clark as supreme United Nations commander in the Far East. Clark retires Oct. 30.

Hull, 58, has not seen combat since the First World War when, as a junior infantry officer, he won the Silver Star for gallantry during the Aisne-Marne offensive.

His Second World War years were spent in the less dramatic but vital jobs of handling operations for all the far flung overseas theatres. In this he worked closely with Gen. George C. Marshall, then army chief of staff.

Hull became something of an expert on atomic weapons five years ago when he had charge of atom bomb tests conducted at the Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific. He also is given credit for playing an important role in the development of the army's giant atomic cannon, one of the world's newest and most potent weapons.

Long Guerrilla War Ends In Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A bloody four-year guerrilla war against Colombia's Conservative government has been reported ended with the negotiated surrender of most of the insurgents. The fighting caused an estimated 5,000 deaths and millions of dollars damage.

Reliable informants said Friday night 1,500 guerrillas surrendered this week to armed forces commander Brig.-Gen. Alfredo Duarte Blum in the eastern plains district around Monterrey. Earlier, 600 gave themselves up at Tuaramena, according to the newspaper El Spectador.

Most of the guerrillas were Liberal party politicians and sympathizers. They began their battle in 1949 after accusing the Conservative party of trying to intimidate them in a presidential election won by former chief executive Laureano Gomez. The Liberals boycotted the vote.

Call New Meeting As Milk Crisis Drags In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Labor Minister Daley called dairies and union into conference this morning in a new bid to end metropolitan Toronto's milk strike, now in its third day. He and Louis Fine, chief conciliation officer, are to meet with negotiators for the Milk Drivers' Union (AFL-TLC) at 10 a.m. He scheduled a joint meeting with both the union negotiating team and representatives of the Toronto Milk Distributors' Association an hour later.

Some 1,700 Toronto area milk drivers went on strike Thursday to enforce demands for increases of $4 for drivers and $6 for inside workers without elimination of Wednesday deliveries.

The Ontario milk control board then ordered elimination of Wednesday deliveries and of the ceiling price of 22 cents a quart on delivered milk. Then the dairies and the union worked out a tentative agreement that was rejected Friday morning by the union rank and file, who voted to stay on strike in protest against the board's action on Wednesday deliveries.

Premier Frost met with his cabinet Friday night and held two hours' discussion with the distributors. He announced the five-day delivery order by the milk board will not be revoked.

Meanwhile, the 1,300,000 residents of the metropolitan area, cut off from deliveries by the drivers' strike and by the decision of non-struck dairies to take their wagons off the street rather than risk violence from the strikers, bought milk from dairies' retail stores, drove as much as 30 miles into the countryside to buy from district dairies, or switched to canned or powdered milk.

Child care experts advised mothers canned or powdered milk is just as nutritious as the fresh product.

Farmers who normally supply the Toronto milk market dumped thousands of tons of milk or fed it to their pigs.

One estimate was that the farmers had lost $50,000 up to Friday night because of the strike.

Police issued a warning to all stations to protect the dairies and thwart any attempt at violence.

Calls Red Shelling Wanton Attack On Boat

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced today its protest to Red China described a Communist gunboat's shelling of a Royal Navy launch near Hong Kong Wednesday as a "wanton attack." Seven Britons were killed and five wounded in the shooting.

The note, delivered to the Chinese foreign ministry in Peiping, declared the British government "holds the Chinese government responsible for the tragic loss of life and injuries and reserves the right to claim appropriate compensation."

The launch was fired on as it patrolled 40 miles from the British crown colony of Hong Kong, near the estuary of the Pearl river. The British contend the attack occurred outside Chinese territorial waters.

The captain, 23-year-old lieutenant G. C. Merriman, had refused to heavy-to when ordered by the Chinese vessel. The Reds opened fire when Merriman turned his craft and started to dash for home.

Farmer's Wife Wins $45,000 On St. Leger

MONTREAL (CP)—A hard-working farmer's wife today won $45,000 on the running of the St. Leger race at Doncaster, Eng.

Mrs. Eva Compartnat of Lawrenceville, 90 miles southeast of Montreal, held an Army and Navy Sweepstake ticket on Premonition, winner of the annual classic.

In a telephone interview she said:

"I'm still too nervous to even think what I will do with the money, but I certainly need it."

She lives on a farm with her husband. A former resident of Montreal, she said she has been buying sweepstake tickets for more than 25 years.

WIN LARGE SUMS

Two other Canadians—both from Montreal—won large sums in the sweepstake.

Sonja Beauregard of Montreal held a ticket on second-place Northern Lights and will collect $27,000. Dr. Albert J. Desparois of Montreal won $17,000 when the Queen's horse Aureole placed third.

Dr. Desparois, a 65-year-old retired Montreal medical man, took the news of his good fortune calmly.

"The amount is reasonable," he said, "and it will help a lot."

He had no immediate plans for a vacation but indicated he may donate some of the money to charity.

"I'm not sorry I won," he said.

Dredge Sinks, Rescue 2 Men

WHITBY (CP) — Two men were rescued from a sunken dredge in Whitby harbor today after clinging to part of the craft sticking above water for more than half an hour while heavy waves frustrated rescue attempts.

Keith Surridge of Tiverton and George Thomas of Toronto managed to climb girder supports as the dredge sank about 7 a.m.

Charles Salter of Brockville tried to reach the men several times in a power boat, but heavy waves threatened to smash his launch against the sunken dredge. Bill Hatch of Whitby finally reached the stranded pair in a dinghy and brought them to shore.

The dredge, valued at $100,000 was engaged in deepening Whitby harbor.

Company officials said they would be able to raise the Canadian Firms Given Some Of Country's Atom Secrets

CHALK RIVER (CP)—Seventy-five representatives of Canadian companies concerned in power production headed home today after being given the most detailed account of atomic energy research results ever issued to private industry.

During a three-day period they heard 28 papers by members of the staff of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited covering atomic energy research in its application to the development of atomic power plants by private industry.

The symposium was the start of what will presumably develop into a series of discussions of the development of atomic power plants by private industry. Trade Minister Howe told the last session of Parliament that the government intends to leave this phase of the atomic program to power companies.

An Atomic Energy of Canada spokesman said that whether and how the results of the government's atomic energy studies will be employed by private industry is up to the companies concerned.

MAKE OWN ARRANGEMENTS

"They will have to make their own arrangements for the continuing receipt of information from the government. Presumably some of them will." Presumably, also, some would begin to conduct their own experiments.

Among the companies represented—they included both power companies and firms manufacturing heavy power equipment—were four of Canada's leading utilities, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, the Quebec Hydro Electric Commission, the Shawinigan Water and Power Company, Montreal, and Calgary Power Limited.

At the Chalk River laboratory, study of the feasibility of using atomic energy to produce electric power has long been emphasized. In the United States, "feasibility studies," as they are called, have occupied a smaller proportion of the country's atomic research efforts.

In the U.S. also, the government's research results have been made available only to a small number of concerns. Some six companies now are conducting specified feasibility studies.

Officials said, however, that the Canadian group invited to Chalk River was a select one, cleared by the RCMP.

20 Young Bullocks Stampede In Town Citizens Flee As Furniture, Cars Smashed

BRIDGEND, Wales (Reuters)—Twenty young bullocks which stampeded down a crowded market street Friday couldn't have caused more damage if they had crashed into the proverbial china shop.

They smashed furniture, shattered windows, kicked autos and sent terrified women screaming in all directions.

Housewives and farmers from outlying villages were chatting in the town's main square when the bullocks escaped as they were being driven from a railroad siding to a slaughter house.

Bellowing loudly, the animals lumbered into the square. The gossipers ducked into doorways for safety.

Newly-purchased furniture being loaded into a truck was crushed beneath the herd's hooves. Plateglass windows splintered as the beasts bumped them going by.

Local cowpokes finally rounded up the shorthorns and drove them back to slaughter.

Colourful Pageantry

Former Princess Presents Colors To Her Troops

CALGARY (CP)—A former British princess who made a special trip from England presented colors Friday to her troops.

The new 2nd battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry received the Queen's and regimental colors from Lady Patricia Ramsay, regiment colonel-in-chief.

The PPCLI was named after Lady Patricia when it was formed in 1914, just before leaving for overseas service in the First World War.

Lady Patricia then was Princess Patricia, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, governor-general of Canada. She was dropped from royal rank when she married her husband, now Admiral Sir Alexander Ramsay.

FULL-SCALE TROOPING

Thousands watched in bright sunshine at Currie barracks, Canadian home of the PPCLI, while the regiment put on a 2½-hour review. As Lady Patricia presented the colors, the 1st Battalion performed a full-scale trooping of the color.

The review was the first time that two battalions of the same Canadian regiment paraded together in honor of their colonel-in-chief. It was the first time Lady Patricia had reviewed the regiment on Canadian soil.

The ceremony, carried out with superb precision, is as old as the battle of Hastings in British history. The regimental color is a symbol of the regiment's past achievements and victories. The Queen's colors represent the Commonwealth.

Trooping the color involves carrying it slowly down the ranks. It is in tradition with a 17th century order that had mercenery soldiers, who varied their allegiance, identify their latest commander.

The PPCLI carried its colors—affectionately called the "ric-a-dam-doo"—through the First World War. Lady Patricia spoke reverently of those who gave their lives in battle. She said she was confident the honor of the regiment would be safe in the 2nd Battalion.

Defence Budget For 1954 To Be Unchanged

OTTAWA (CP)—Next year's defence budget is expected to call for about the same amount of money as this year's—around $2,000,000,000—informed sources said Friday.

This was the general outlook given by Prime Minister St. Laurent during the summer election campaign and officials said there is no evidence to contradict that view now.

Pressure will probably be put on the cabinet to cut defence spending. Some other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are talking along those lines. But any reduction in Canada probably would mean only an infinitesimal saving to the individual taxpayer.

TO DETERMINE DIVISION

Defence planners now are figuring out how appropriations should be divided but the matter still hasn't been discussed by the cabinet, which makes the final decision on how much will be spent.

If there is no reduction next year, or only a relatively small one—say about $100,000,000—there might be a substantial cut the following year. That is, provided the world situation doesn't get any worse. Officials said they can't can't make commitments that far in the future.

Cattle Rustler Gets Six Months

COBOURG (ENS) — Vincent Hartford, 21, of Colborne, who pleaded guilty two weeks ago to theft of a steer on August 20 from Floyd Murphy, Haldimand township, was sentenced to six months definite and three months indefinite Friday.

Murphy's steer was butchered in the pasture field. Only traces of the beast left were the head and hooves.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter said he had taken Hartford's background and record into consideration and he felt the only course for him to take was to return him to the reformatory.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.:

Synopsis:

The weather disturbance centred over northern Lake Huron gathered considerable force as it moved across lower Michigan during the night. Thunderstorms and rain spread across central regions of Ontario and a narrow belt of thunderstorms is moving eastwards across the lower lakes regions this morning.

This disturbance will move across the province today and strong northerly winds in the wake of the storm will blow cold air which covers the northern half of the province, across southern Ontario.

Freezing temperatures and snowflurries were reported from some stations in northwestern Ontario early this morning, and although the air will be modified on its journey southwards southern Ontario will experience a drop in temperature of some 15 degrees as the mercury falls to 50 tonight. Cool cloudy weather with temperatures in the low 60s will prevail across southern Ontario on Sunday.

Northern Ontario will continue to experience a cold spell of cloudy weather with scattered showers during the day and some snowflurries in the early morning throughout the weekend.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday:

Eastern Lake Ontario, Haliburton, northern Georgian Bay, Kirkland Lake regions; North Bay and Sudbury: Cloudy with scattered showers today and Sunday; occasional thunderstorms ending early this afternoon, cooler tonight and Sunday; winds south 15 shifting to northwest 15 this afternoon; low tonight and high Sunday at Trenton 50 and 60, Killaloe 45 and 60, Earlton 40 and 50, Sudbury and North Bay 40 and 55. Summary for Sunday: Cloudy and cool.

The Christian's

Paul was in the warfare of the spirit, fearless, undaunted, no matter what the odds.

Is the Christian life still a warfare today? It is a significant and important question.

Hostile forces and temptations are no less real, though they may seem less evident and more subtle.

I think it may be said that we do not think of the Christian life as a warfare as precisely, and as much, as it is set forth in New Testament days.

But I wonder whether this may not be because we lack something of the vision that inspired Paul and the early disciples; that we do not see, as they did, the need of warfare, with the call of duty and the call to greatness.

An eminent English preacher, the late Sylvester Horne, once wrote a little book on "The Life That Is Easy." He described the Christian life.

But Horne himself was a fighter, and he wrote of that life as easy only through mastery, completeness of commitment and the sort of strength that Paul found made perfect in weakness.

Find Fanatics In Every Group

HAMILTON (CP) — "In any group of men we have the fanatics—the ones who are quite sure they know the will of God and what the church should do; but who are constantly confusing their will with that of God," the Rev. Dr. G. P. Gilmour said today.

He was speaking to United Church laymen at their first men's forum of the Hamilton conference, being held today and Sunday at McMaster University.

In his address of welcome, Dr. Gilmour challenged the laymen and clergy present "to be sure you don't confuse what you want to do with what God wants you to do. This is fanaticism."

He urged those present to be sure that this conference itself was "God-made and not man-made."

Backed Out, Collides With Passing Car

LINDSAY (ENS) — Charges will be laid following an accident on Lindsay's main street Friday night that caused damage of $350 to the two cars involved.

According to PC John Henley who investigated, Culbert Cresswell of Lindsay was driving east on Kent St. when his car met in collision with a vehicle driven by Morley Rettie, who was backing from an angle parking spot on the south curb.

Damage to Cresswell's car was estimated at about $300 and to Rettie's about $50. A charge will be laid against Rettie.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was quiet and prices held to a narrow range on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Friday.

Flax displayed the best tone under light offerings and routine processor and seaboard demand. Oats and barley trade was mostly a domestic nature. Rye attracted some American interest.

26 Fires Burning In Ontario Forests

TORONTO (CP)—Some 26 fires were reported burning today in northern Ontario's forest region. The department of lands and forests reports five more were extinguished in the last 24 hours.

The 26 fires are located in the districts of White River, Sudbury, Tweed, Geraldton, Parry Sound, Pembroke and North Bay.

John A. Faiers

The funeral service for John Albert Faiers, 37, 829 Lansdowne St., who was killed in a car accident Monday, was held Thursday at the Nesbitt funeral home.

The Rev. A. Roblin, of Park St. Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were all brothers, Ernest, William, Harry, Thomas, Fred and George Faiers.

OBITUARIES

LOUIS J. LECLAIR

An old-time football player and hardware salesman, Louis LeClair died Friday in hospital after a lengthy illness. Born in Mitchell, Ontario, son of Adolphe and Elizabeth Bowie, Mr. LeClair spent 50 of his 78 years in and around Peterborough.

He began working in Kingan's Hardware in 1902 and stayed there for about six years before accepting a position as a wholesale traveller for a hardware firm. He returned to Kingan's in 1942, and remained until retirement until 1948.

His latest residence had been 495 Aylmer St.

His wife, the former Isabel Menzies, predeceased him and he is survived by one son, Adolphe, of Picton.

Funeral service will be from the Lane funeral home at 8:45 to the Sacred Heart Church for requiem mass at 9:00 a.m. After the mass the body will be sent by train to Brockville for burial.

MRS. ALICE LOUISA DAVIS

The death occured Friday of Mrs. Alice Davis at her home, 561 Walnut St., after a short illness.

Born in Warminster, England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fielding, she came to this country and has lived in Peterborough for the past 42 years. Her husband George Davis predeceased her.

Surviving are William Croft, Toronto and Bert Croft, Peterborough, sons by a previous marriage, and Mrs. Reginald Field (Amy), London, England, Mrs. Jack Wolstenholme (Phyllis), Mrs. Clark Shannon (Primrose), Mrs. William Hales (Daisy) and Alfred Davis all of Peterborough.

There are also two sisters surviving. Mrs. Walter Pierce and Mrs. Rose Dennison, both of England.

Mrs. Davis was a member of St. Luke's Anglican Church. Her funeral will be Monday at 2.00 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home with Cannon Walter J. Gilling officiating.

Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

SHOCK VICTIMS

Murray Barr, 61, and Peter McNeeley, 42, both of Buckhorn, who were recently hospitalized because of injuries received when the well-digging boom which they were handling made contact with some high tension power lines on the Ralph Beavis lot, two miles south of Lakefield, are reported as being in fair condition today. Improvement has been shown, said the hospital authorities, but it will be some time yet before the two are released.

No Complaints Told Official

OTTAWA (CP)—A labor department official said Friday a departmental representative visited the Lynn Lake rail construction site in northern Manitoba last month and found that German and Italian immigrant workers had no complaints of working conditions.

A new investigation into conditions there has been launched by the labor and immigration departments following a charge by The Pas, Man., Chamber of Commerce that the Lynn Lake project is being built under conditions bordering on slave labor.

W. W. Dawson, director of the labor department's special services branch, said a departmental representative, R. B. Campbell of Winnipeg, made a routine tour of the area between Aug. 10 and Aug. 20. In his report to the department he said he asked the workers if they had any complaints and they said they had none.

The department undertakes periodic visits to all camps where immigrants are employed.

Cheese Industry Plans Studied

TORONTO (CP)—Everett Biggs, Ontario dairy commissioner, said Friday suggestions for improving conditions in the Ontario cheese industry made at a conference earlier in the week at Belleville are being considered by the Ontario government.

He said no decision has yet been made on which recommendations will be put into effect.

Some of the suggestions made at the two-day meeting of 75 men representing all phases of the industry called for:

Packaging cheese in smaller units and in shorter, blunter wedges, because consumers bought more this way.

Establishing retail outlets near border points to sell more cheese to United States tourists. It was felt only the best cheese should be sold in such outlets.

"Give-away" samples to create a demand if supplies were also kept for sale.

It was also suggested the Ontario government should advertise cheese on auto licence plates as the state of Wisconsin does.

10 People Injured In Turnpike Accidents

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP)—Ten persons were injured early today in two separate chain-reaction accidents involving 11 vehicles on the smogbound New Jersey Turnpike.

The crashes, occurring in opposite lanes within minutes of each other, took place about a mile from the spot where 20 vehicles piled up in a chain reaction crash in smog a week ago today.

The superhighway was closed to traffic in the area for almost two hours due to the crackups.

State police said that fog, thickened by smoke from a nearby dumps fire, reduced visibility almost to zero. Turnpike warning signs advising that fog was ahead, and warning motorists to slow down, were alight at the time, the police said.

Attempt To Get Milk Ends With 2 Arrests

TORONTO (CP)—An attempt by a Toronto restaurant owner to get milk from a west-central dairy early today ended with the arrest of two striking milk drivers.

Jack Stagg, 29, and William McMillan, 26, are being held on charges of intimidation by threat and assault. Both were remanded to Sept. 18 on their own bail.

Police said the dairy was being picketed when Alexander Christoff, the restaurant owner, drove up to get milk. The picketers sent for more men and threatened Christoff and dairy owner Robert Pappas.

No One Interested

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Alfred Kinsey, the sexologist, evidently leaves this city cold. The Celebrity Guild of Los Angeles hired a hall here for a panel discussion tonight on Kinsey's recent book on female sexual behavior. But the event has been cancelled. Nobody bought any tickets.

Baja California Newest State Of Mexico

WASHINGTON—Mexico's Baja (Lower) California, one of North America's most scenic yet least known regions, is emerging from its wilderness state.

Throughout the 810-mile-long "back door" to the United States, sandwiched between the Pacific and the Gulf of California, a development boom is under way. In less than a decade the population has doubled. Towns are expanding, and paved highways are being rushed to completion.

Fishing and canning industries have stepped up production, and irrigation projects promote agriculture. Resorts and dude ranches have sprung up along both coasts. Nine airfields are in operation.

TOURIST PARADISE

Baja California has an array of vacation attractions. Sun-swept white sand beaches nestled in mountain-rimmed bays offer fishing, swimming and yachting. Hunters bag deer, wild turkey, quail and mountain sheep. Stores are stocked with duty-free and untaxed European and South American goods, as well as native silver and leather products, pottery, baskets and textiles.

The northern district of Baja California, covering almost 500 miles of the fingerlike peninsula, is the Republic of Mexico's newest state, its 29th. It contains about seven-eighths of the region's estimated 270,000 population and three of its four main towns.

Mexicali, the northern capital, lies in the fertile irrigated delta plains watered by the Colorado River. Cotton, grapes, olives, tomatoes and peppers are leading crops. Cotton ginning and cottonseed oil production are major industries.

Tijuana, on the border near San Diego, and Ensenada, 65 miles farther south, are the most popular resorts with visiting Americans.

La Paz, near the southern tip, is the peninsula's other important centre. Capital of the southern district, the port was world-renowned for its pearl industry until a mysterious blight attacked the oyster beds 15 years ago. The southern district is still administered as a territory by the Mexican Congress.

WARM, DRY CLIMATE

Although Baja California extends southward into the tropics — its southernmost latitude matches that of Arabia — the climate is generally temperate. In the Ensenada area, the average temperature is 68 degrees in summer, 60 degrees in winter. Rainfall is rare between May and November.

Peninsula waters have long been recognized as one of the world's finest fishing grounds. Commercial fishermen harvest tuna, sardines, mackerel, shrimp, lobsters, and turtles. Sharks yield valuable vitamin oils. Sportsmen battle deep water marlin and swordfish. Along both coasts yellowtail, corbina, striped perch, bonita, and white see bass abound.

Baja California is also rich in minerals. Gold, silver, copper, iron, manganese and semi-precious stones have been found in the cactus-spiked hills. Gold rushes of 1870 and 1889 took out some $15 million worth, but lack of adequate transportation facilities has hindered large-scale mining attempts.

W. G. Henry Retires From CGE

An employee of the Canadian Generay Electric for the past 41 years in the Machine Shop, William George Henry, of 187 Bethune St., retired Friday from the company.

Mr. Henry was born and raised in Durham county, and started to work for the CGE in 1912, in the armature department. Since then he has worked successively in production, rate setting and the punch press shop for brief periods, but has always returned to the machine shop.

During his 41 years with the company Mr. Henry has seen a great many changes. He recalls when he started with the company the machine shop was only a fraction of it's present size.

Mr. Henry's plans for the future at present are vague, but he intends to have a good rest at home and do a little bit of gardening.

MORE ABOUT—

Doukhobors

Asked whether he had seen the arsonists, Mr. Tarasoff said "no."

Asked what he would do if he had caught them, he replied: "turn them over to the police."

The length of three city blocks away the home of Philip Pereverzeff was burning. Philip and his wife managed to save a good supply of their belongings, and put up for the night in an old-model car. His six children were accommodated elsewhere.

The arsonists had slipped away like shadows into the dawn. The owners made no mention of trying to track them down.

Earlier, a non-Doukhobor source, commenting on the mass arrests last Wednesday, declared the radical Doukhobors have "gained 1,000 recruits" since then.

The 148 Doukhobors were arrested on charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency by parading in the nude.

The source, an official who has lived among the Doukhobors to study them at close hand, said in times of crisis the Sons invariably gain strength.

At Oakalla prison farm in Burnaby, meanwhile, the 148 Doukhobor prisoners entered the third day of a hunger strike which they say will end with a "message from God."

OLD TAKE SOUP

The prisoners refused to eat supper Friday night although a prison official said the very old were taking a little soup "to keep them going."

The fast began at 5 p.m. Wednesday when the Sons were seized at their tent village near Perry Siding and put on board a Canadian Pacific Railway prison train to Vancouver.

The exact number of Freedomites in British Columbia is not known, but has been estimated variously between 1,500 and 2,500 of the province's total Doukhobor population of 10,000.

Numerous meetings are scheduled in the Kootenays for the weekend at which silent, brooding men and shawled women hope to receive inspiration directly from God for their next move.

It is often after such meetings that the Doukhobors set out on fire raids, dynamitings and nude parades.

"A whisper in the ear of a man who is emotionally upset can have strange consequences," said the official, who once had his own "shack" burned by the people he was trying to help. "Hoping to receive a message from God, a man may be prompted by a rascal instead," the official added.

"These people mean no harm in what they do, but need guidance and help. Arrests are not the answer."

Many of those arrested Wednesday left good jobs to join the protest, which was aimed at the provincial government's insistance that they send their children to school.

MOH Reports 4 Polio Cases

Four more cases of polio in the last 24 hours were reported today by Dr. J. P. Wells, Medical Officer of Health. This brings the total of polio cases in the city in one week to five.

The victims are an 11-year-old boy, a two-and-a-half year old-boy, a boy two and a 16 month-old-girl.

All four at present are in the isolation wing of Civic Hospital and are reported to be in good condition. This brings the total of polio cases in the city and district to 13 for the year.

Power Commission Visits New Station

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Members of the New York state water power authority and the Canadian group of the international joint commission visited here Friday, touring tunnels of the new Sir Adam Beck generating station No. 2 and the remedial dam above the falls.

Among those making the trip were Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the international joint commission and Beverly Baxter, Canadian-born British member of Parliament.

Underground Storage Held Solution For World's Over-Production Of Oil

By CARL BELL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—"We take oil out of the ground, so why can't we put it back into the ground until we need it?"

That line of reasoning, expressed by a large independent producer, may be an answer to one of the petroleum industry's problems—storage of oil when production exceeds demand for later use in peak seasons and in event of war.

Oil can be produced much faster than it is consumed. There is not ample storage space for surplus oil. Even if sufficient steel were available, the cost of enough tanks to store all the oil which could be produced would be fantastic.

Oil men now are thinking of underground storage as a solution.

Surplus production would be put into depleted wells, which would be sealed. If a greater demand for oil occurred, it could be pumped out of these natural storage places quickly.

Underground storage is not an untried proposition. Sweden, which has no domestic oil reserves and a critical shortage of steel, is storing oil and allied petroleum products underground in abandoned mines and specially blasted rock basins.

In the United States, underground storage has proved successful for liquified petroleum gas.

The Lion Oil Co. and other companies have stored liquified petroleum gas when the demand for these heating and cooking fuels was low.

Before the start of the selling season last winter, Lion had stored more than 2,500,000 gallons of liquefied gas below the ground. This supply proved helpful during the winter fuel rush and the storage caverns are being enlarged for future use.

Esso Standard Oil Co. is planning to store home heating oil in abandoned slate quarries in northeast Pennsylvania.

A question of oil men right now is: Why not use underground storage to establish a stockpile of oil, just as steel and other strategic materials are stockpiled?

Experiments to date indicate such an undertaking would be so big that the major oil companies or the government would have to handle it.

Perhaps, one producer suggested, the government could subsidize the oil companies in creating underground oil stockpiles.

Then, in event of a sudden war, the U.S. would have a ready supply; it would not be caught short of oil before production could be stepped up.

In addition to unerground storage offering greater capacity and costing less than above-ground steel containers, experts say the loss of oil in storage would be far less. There would be no evaporation; neither would oil so stored present a fire hazard.

And oil stored underground would be safe from bombing attacks, although, of course, it could be fired intentionally from the ground.

Timmins Man Held In Bogus Money Case

TIMMINS (CP)—Ronald Roderick, 40, of Timmins was arrested here Friday and charged with having counterfeit money.

Police picked up Roderick after reports were received that two counterfeit bills were passed at local business establishments. Fifteen counterfeit $10 bills were found on Roderick when he was arrested.

Two women and another man arrested in connection with the case were not charged, police said. Investigation is continuing.

Arsenal Loses Lopsided 7-1 Decision

LONDON (Reuters) — Arsenal, champions of British soccer last season, lost a lopsided 7-1 decision to Sunderland today and remained without a victory in eight games played this season.

Arsenal, a powerhouse over the years with a record number of seven English League championships, opened the scoring on a goal by Doug Lishman after 25 minutes of today's match. But the lead was short-lived.

The 1952 leaders were down 2-1 at the half and after the interval Sunderland's forwards played havoc with the London team's defence, pouring in five goals. Welsh international forward Trevor Ford scored a hat trick. It was the second Sunderland victory this season.

While Arsenal was getting trounced, another London club, Charlton Athletic, racked up an 8-1 victory over Middlesbrough. The South African inside forward trio of Sid O'Linn, Stuart Leary and Eddie Fermani scored six goals.

West Bromwich Albion, setting a hot pace at the top of the first division, had an easy time defeating second-place Burnley 4-1.

Clergyman Dies

HAMILTON (CP)—One of Hamilton's most beloved clergymen, who served mountain area parishioners for 32 lean, difficult years, Rev. Michael Taylor Griffin Thompson died Friday at Milton Private Hospital. He was in his 80th year.

Workers Busy Erecting Booths For Exhibition

There is plenty of activity on the grounds and in the various buildings in Morrow Park these days with fast approach of Tuesday, September 15, opening day for the Peterborough Exhibition.

Carpenters are busy building platforms and partitions in the manufacturing building and a number of displays are nearing completion. The CGE have already finished their display including the latest models of refrigerators, television sets and sundry home appliances in the electrical field.

Friday a crew of men were busy erecting tents and flags and the empty fields are quickly taking on the appearance of a small, but bustling town. The barns are receiving last minute attention and a great deal of labor has resulted in cleaner, tidier live stock shelter throughout.

George Hetherington, the Exhibitions' electrician is scuttling from fuse box to transformer, high tension wire to light switch, in his anxiety to have the lighting well under control by Tuesday. "Maintenance work keeps you busy enough once the Exhibition is under way," said George.

PUT DOWN DUST

Much of the dust arising from dry roads, which has been a problem to all concerned in past years, will be eliminated this year with the application of calcium chloride to the various dust areas.

The influx of livestock is expected to begin today. Although the board has requested that entries be in sooner this year to relieve last-minute congestion, the majority of arrivals are expected on Monday. This year all straw and feed will be purchased on the grounds from a specific concession which has been contracted by the Exhibition board.

Muskie Season 2 Weeks Longer

District sportsmen will have two extra weeks this year to try for that record-sized muskie.

The open season for muskies in this part of the province is two weeks longer this year than last. It has been extended to October 15 to coincide with the end of the open season for other species.

This may come as a bit of a surprise to holders of non-resident angling licences. The extract from provincial fish and game regulations printed inside the licence gives the end of the season as October 1.

But this is wrong, according to district officials of the Department of Lands and Forests. The summary of regulations issued by the department in pamphlet form give October 15 as the last day of the muskie season.

How the error was made hasn't been discovered. But it's possible the licences were printed before the regulations were changed this year.

Threatens UN Force With Serious Defeat

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Gen. Peng Teh-huai, Chinese Communist commander in Korea, today threatened to inflict "a more serious defeat" on United Nations forces if the United States wrecks the armistice.

He made the statement at a meeting of the government council of ministers. It was broadcast by Peiping radio.

The general said that if "United States aggressive elements" try to torpedo the Korean political conference, they will face more serious and determined opposition from North Korea and Communist China.

CNE Attendance Down 90,000 From Last Year

TORONTO (CP)—The 75th anniversary Canadian National Exhibition ends tonight after a run that started Aug. 28.

Officials are hopeful that a last-minute surge of visitors will push up attendance at the big annual fair. To date it is 90,000 less than in 1952.

One of the worst heat waves in Toronto's history kept turnouts down last week, even on Children's Day. This week cool weather helped to keep many persons away.

The Exhibition management has proclaimed today "Family Day" and lined up special attractions for both adults and children.

Aimed at pleasing the young fry are such features as five-cent midway rides, the Coronation coach exhibit, high divers, aerial show, armed services demonstration, women's world championship softball, wildlife exhibit, junior swimming races, table tennis championships, circus and vaudeville acts and outboard motorboat championships.

GREAT VARIETY

For the grown-ups there are a $15,000,000 diamond exhibit, fashion shows, farm equipment display, bicycle championships, tropical fish display, water ski show and the grandstand performances.

Late in the day, marathon swim greats George Young, Ernst Vierkoetter and Ben Gazel are to compete on the waterfront in a special swimming race for $750 in prize money.

A new closing event is expected to wind up this year's exhibition in a blaze of glory. At the end of the grandstand show, the performers will march across the grounds to the bandshell for special ceremonies including speeches and fireworks.

Harwood WI Hear Convention Reports

HARWOOD —(ENS)—Attendance prizes were won by Mrs. J. Robson and Mrs. Hilton Graham at the Women's Institute in the community hall.

Mrs. Sidney Stephens was hostess and gave an address. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Garnet Isaac.

Report of the Country Women of the World meeting in Toronto was given by the delegates who attended. Mrs. R. E. Drope spoke briefly on Canada Day. Mrs. A. Lawton spoke on Dominion of Destiny. Others who spoke on the triennial conference were Mrs. T. Cheyne, Mrs. G. U. Isaac and Mrs. Ellis Isaac.

An expression of thanks was voted to Mrs. William Montgomery for her flower arrangement at the previous meeting.

The October meeting will be Wednesday, September 30.

Plans were laid to cater to the dinner for 200 at the plowing match Oct. 6. Further plans will be made on Wednesday next at an executive meeting.

Mrs. Frank Stephens spoke on the Girl's Club. Mrs. J. Robson was named leader of the Girl's Club for the coming year. Mrs. Cheyne gave a humorous paper.

There were 18 present.

90 Students Enroll In Keene Schools

KEENE (ENS)—With opening of the fall term, 90 pupils began their studies in SS 4.

The lower school, consisting of grades 1, 2, 3, and 4 taught by Mrs. James Elmhirst, has 48 boys and girls, ages 6 to 9 years, 14 of whom are beginners. The upper school, grades 5, 6, 7, and 8, teacher Mrs. Thomas Gall, has 42.

The following 11 students graduated from grade 4 to grade 5, thus entering the upper school: Gayle Anderson, Katherine Comrie, Patsy Eason, Carol Fletcher, Betty Godfrey, Donna Mae Stewart, Harry Wismer, Donald Hawkes, Jim Gall, Billie Renwick, Bill Shearer.

Beginners entering grade 1 were Janet Lowe, Julie Nelson, Kathryn Blackbourn, Ruth Ann Nelson, Marion Hawkes, Barbara Ann Plunkett, Lorna Renwick, Elaine Coones, Peter Mackness, Donald Comrie, Kenneth Stewart, Charles Brown, Jackie Belfry, Brian Fletcher.

Three who graduated from public school to Peterborough Collegiate were Shirley Cruikshanks, Gary Ellison and June McNevan.

Seven newcomers entered the school section from other points: Lois, Marlene, Dianne, Wayne and Donald Webster, from Providence school, Otonabee, Michael Brown from Grove school, Lakefield, David Francis from Simcoe.

CBA PRESIDENT—John A. MacCauley, of Winnipeg, has been elected president of the Canadian Bar Association at the 35th annual meeting in Montreal. He succeeds Andre Taschereau, of Quebec.

READY FOR THE EXHIBITION—Both the pumpkin and young Karen Kitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kitney, R.R. 11, Peterborough, are ready to go to the exhibition which opens Tuesday. Karen will be among the thousands of youngsters on hand for children's day Tuesday. The pumpkin will be among the ranks of the many vegetables on display for the exhibition's full five days.

Ontario's First Tree Farm Established On Manitoulin

GORE BAY, Ont. (CP) — Ontario's first tree farm, and the second in Canada, will be formally established on Manitoulin island at a ceremony here next Wednesday.

The first Canadian tree farm to be formally certified was that at Windsor Mills, Que., last June. The new farm, on the privately-owned limits of the Ontario Paper Co. Ltd., covers 75,000 acres of forest land.

The certificate, issued by the recently-formed Canadian Tree Farm Committee, will be presented by Lands Minister Gemmell to Arthur A. Schmon, Ontario paper's president and general manager.

After the ceremony the students of the Gore Bay public and high school will be presented with a lease on 150 acres of forest land to be used as a demonstration area and a practical outdoor classroom for scientific studies.

Officials of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, Canadian Forestry Association, the Ontario lands and forests department and representatives of pulp and paper companies will attend the ceremony.

IMPROVE PROTECTION

The tree farm committee is composed of representatives of government, industry and the universities and its aim is to further standards of forest management and protection.

If a designated forest area meets the management and protection requirements of the committee, it may be certified as a tree farm. Then it is inspected regularly to ensure standards are maintained. Certification may be withdrawn should standards be allowed to lapse.

Ontario Paper began operations on Manitoulin island five years ago. It established a fire-protection system, a volunteer fire-warden patrol, an inventory of trees and new growth.

"Then began a forest - management program which has culminated five years later in this tree farm certification," said Mr. Schmon.

New Lions Club Holds Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — A dinner meeting of the new Campbellford Lions club was held at the Trent House here on Friday evening.

There were 14 charter members present, as well as about 10 members of the Norwood Lins club, who are sponsoring the local organization.

Dr. A. R. Atkinson, president of the Norwood club, presided.

Guest speaker was Stan Darling of Peterborough, international councillor of Lions International. He spoke on Lionism, outlining the aims and objects of the club. He said there were approximately 480,000 members of Lions clubs in 48 countries. During the past 10 years, a new club has been formed somewhere in the world every day.

The club has been invited to attend a charter night at Spruce Villa Lodge, Coboconk, September 18. Arrangements are being made for two carloads of members of the local club to attend.

The club hopes to have a membership of 25 before charter night is held about the first of the year.

Harold Peters, treasurer of the local club, is in Kingston General Hospital, progressing favorably following an operation.

The next meeting will be held September 16.

School Attendance Up

OTTAWA (CP) — The capital's public school population has swelled to a record 16,711, W. T. MacSkimming, chief inspector, said Friday. This is an increase of more than 1,000 over last year's enrolment of 15,644.

Auto Industry Leads Slowdown In U.S. Business

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—The booming United States auto industry applied the brakes this week, setting the pace for a moderate over-all slowdown in industrial output. Activity in many lines was curtailed by Labor Day.

Steel production dipped below 90 per cent of rated capacity for the first time in more than a year. Retail trade held below year-ago levels; wholesale buying of textiles slowed to a crawl. Stock prices tumbled to lows for the year.

But there were some important exceptions. Engineering contract awards moved up; money in circulation reached its highest point since January. Papermill production continued its upward climb, indicating sustained demand for wrapping paper and paperboard cartons. Such demand is usually a sign that food processors and other manufacturers of packaged goods are betting on good business.

CURTAILMENT CERTIFICATE

The auto production curtailments were significant because of their probable delayed-action effect.

Studebaker, which recently has been turning out some 5,000 cars and trucks a week, announced a one-third slash in production to level off dealer inventories.

Chrlyser blamed parts shortages for a scheduled one-week shutdown at two Detroit plants affecting 8,000 workers. Budd Co. said it has been laying off employees for some ttime because of a slowdown in the auto industry—most of the company's production consists of bodies, brake drums, hubs and wheels. The U. S. Army announced a slowdown in its truck procurement program which will cost Dodge and Willys $60,000,000 in cancelled orders.

There were no curtailments at Chevrolet and Ford.

The Studebaker announcement touched off a sharp break in stock prices. Rails and industrials joined motor shares on the downside and by week's end the market was at a low for the year.

Seek To Delay Split In High School Area

WARKWORTH (ENS)—Representatives from the Warkworth district will meet with officials of the department of education soon with a view to delaying the split in the Warkworth High School Area.

Decision was made at the September meeting of Percy township council, which was attended by representatives from Cramahe township and other districts affected. Wesley Down and Gordon McCubbin were chosen as a committee to interview the department.

Council passed a motion banning the use of the town hall for Saturday night dancing. William Johnston and Eric Merrill were named a committee to look after painting the fire escape.

It was decided to call for tenders for 100 chairs for the town hall, tenders to close Oct. 6.

CAN'T WAIT—Four youngsters try out the seats of the ferris wheel shortly after they arrived at the Peterborough Exhibition Friday. The boys, Phelander Rusaw, Roger Smith and Douglas Barnard, climbed up on top of the midway truck to have a look. They'll have to wait until Tuesday before they can have a ride when the Exhibition opens.

Pessimism Rules Stock Exchange Despite Reports Of High Activity

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Pessimism ruled the Toronto stock exchange this week despite reports of continuing high business activity.

Friday was the market's darkest session—a selling wave hit the New York exchange and Toronto followed. Western oils, base metals and golds dipped to record lows and industrials also headed downward. The loss for the week averaged 2.72 points on the Toronto exchange's indexes.

Prices dropped despite a report this week by the Purchasing Agents Association of Toronto which showed Canadian business booming along at a good pace. The association reported employment up two per cent over last year, wages and salaries up six per cent, retail trade up four per cent and manufacturing up 10 per cent.

Some observers suggested the decline was based partly on investors' belief that present prosperity is being financed by mortgaging the future. They noted a statement by A. C. Ashworth, vice-president of the Dominion Bank.

GREATER VULNERABILITY

He said in Toronto this week that the great increase in outstanding consumer credit is increasing the country's vulnerability to a collapse in consumer spending. His fear, roughly, was that consumers may be so busy paying off previous instalment purchases that they might have no money left to buy new goods.

Montreal traders appeared slightly more optimistic than those in Toronto. The only heavy loss on the week there appeared in papers which dropped six points on the market averages.

In contrast, bonds appeared slightly firmer this week. Short-term government of Canada issues steadied after a two-week decline. Dealers said the recovery was expected because short-term prices had dropped out of line with the general high-grade bond market. Prices of long-term issues, however, have been weakening through most of the year.

Western oils were the hardest hit at Toronto, losing 5.07 index points.

GAINS WIPED OUT

Industrials started this week with two days of rising prices, but losses Thursday and Friday more than wiped out early gains. Base metals also tried for a rise Tuesday and Wednesday, but by Friday's close had been driven down to their lowest index point since September, 1950.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto exchange indexes showed industrials down .92 at 305.33, golds down 2.15 at 72.87, base metals down 2.74 at 144.49 and western oils down 5.07 at 89.61.

In the Montreal averages banks were up .05 at 34.38, utilities down .3 at 94.3, industrials down 1.9 at 180.7, combined down 1.4 at 151.9, papers down 6 at 708.80 and golds up .79 at 54.84.

Of the New York market, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $2.50 at $101.30.

Post Office Investigation

Owing to the secretive attitude of Post Office authorities in Peterborough and Ottawa, wild surmises disturbed the city and district when it became known that an intensive and extensive investigation of the Peterborough office was being made. We commented editorially several weeks ago on the unfortunate result of this suppressive attitude and the resentment which a democratic people must feel when an Ottawa civil servant implies that the operation of a public office is none of their business. The Examiner's protests and inquiries have reached high offices in the capital and, happily, the air has been cleared by a statement given this newspaper by the Chief Executive Officer of the Post Office Department. A news report on this was published yesterday. It should restore public confidence in the operation and integrity of the Peterborough office and the postal service generally.

* * *

The conduct of a public service in a state which is democratic, not totalitarian, properly concerns the public. It has a right to information, and in this the Prime Minister concurs. Mr. St. Laurent said yesterday in a letter to us that he agreed with our contention: "As much information as possible should be made public about the operation of the Post Office Department generally and any specific Post Office itself." Such information has now been given the public.

* * *

Serious offences have been proved against a few Peterborough Post Office employees. Disciplinary action has been taken and Peterborough city and county people now have cause to feel sure that their interests are being safeguarded and the mails kept inviolate. Here in Peterborough there is a fondness for the Post Office, the dowdy dowager of Hunter Street whose slips occasionally show. The anxiety felt for her reputation and welfare can now be dispelled, and we look forward to the time when the office and its hard-working, courteous employees will be moved to the new Federal Building now under construction. The crowded, chaotic conditions in the old office have harried both customers and postal people for a whole generation. The new building will offer the opportunity for greater efficiency and a lustrous service.

Ontario Highlands

From time to time during the last year of Saturdays we have wandered editorially over various regions of this Province, mentioning their highlights, economic lowlands and the industry of the people who inhabit them. Today we cast an eye over the most thinly-populated region of southern Ontario, an area which Provincial economists call the Highland Region of Ontario. (Our view of these various "Regions" has been brought into focus by monthly bulletins called "Economic Review of Ontario", prepared by the Bureau of Statistics and Research.)

The Highlands Region consists of the territories—should one call them counties?—of Nipissing, Parry Sound, Muskoka and Haliburton, with the great chunk—2,700 square miles—of Algonquin Park included. The very names suggest tourists, trees and lakes, with more fish than people. In fact, in the entire area there are few more than 110,000 residents. This includes North Bay (the only city), Parry Sound, Sturgeon Falls, Huntsville, Mattawa, Gravenhurst and Bracebridge, as well as game wardens, forest rangers, lumbermen, settlers, miners and other people who like an open life. A quarter of the people in the region are of French racial origin. This is not surprising in view of the fact that its eastern boundary is Renfrew county and the Ottawa river. There are but 7½ persons in each square mile of the territory.

The tourist industry is the chief economic activity in the Highland Region. Odd to think of tourists as an economic activity, but we in these parts face the fact bravely and profitably. In the Highlands we presume that without tourists wild life would be the principal activity. Judging from reports of the early days and even relatively recent settlement, life can still be pretty wild there, and the Laurentian Shield abets, not diminishes it.

Algonquin Park needs a separate chapter; such chapters have frequently been given in the pages of this newspaper during the sixty years since the Park was established "as a public park and forest reservation, fish and game preserve, health resort and pleasure ground of the benefit, advantage and enjoyment of the people of the Province". Judging from the tourists, cars, hot dog stands, shanties, camps, litter, petting dears and pampered deer to be seen on the principal trails inside Algonquin Park this summer, the people of the Province and their tourist guests have been taking advantage of the legislative bequest of 1893 with full abandon. Perhaps the time has come to emphasize the place as a reservation for flora and fauna than as a resort for tourists and people who make money out of tourists.

Manufacturing is of small importance in the district. The per capita gross value of manufacturing production was only $355.70 in 1950. This is an indirect assessment of North Bay as an industrial centre. Actually, North Bay exists chiefly as the round-house for railways and TCA, since it is strategically situated on the neck of land separating Northern Ontario from Southern Ontario. Thirty-one per cent. of the labour force in the area is employed by the railways, most of them in North Bay. The CPR started North Bay, as a junction on its way to Sudbury.

The rural population of the district has increased very little in the last important decade—and the urban population only a little more. The chief reason for this is the decline in lumbering. Crown Lands have been heavily overcut. There is now difficulty in obtaining mature white and red pine of saw-log size, the basis of the lumbering business in the region. Since conifers require about a hundred years to mature, lumbering will continue to decline until the present growing stock becomes venerable.

Oddly enough, mining is of little significance despite the proximity of the region to the great mineral deposits of Northern Ontario. The most important mineral mined is mica, east of North Bay, yet mica mining employs only about eighty persons. Limestone is quarried in Haliburton and clay products are made in Muskoka.

Farming is as foreign to this region as hunting to George Street. The Highland Region has the lowest farm income, and the lowest for each farm, in the Province. Only two-tenths of one per cent. of the land is farmed. Farms have declined in number, after a flush of them following the clearance of timber from the land. It has long ago been discovered that you cannot always or usually make a corn stalk grow where once grew a pine. The soil is inferior, the climate unfavourable. Most of the farms lasted only ten years and then were mercifully abandoned. There are, however, some good farms in Nipissing and Parry Sound districts, where cattle flourish.

All in all, it is best to leave the Highland Region of Ontario to the tourists, fish, hunters and forests.

Architects Hold A Competition

Since we have advocated for years that the design of important new public buildings should be decided by competition, we are especially interested that the Toronto headquarters of the Ontario Association of Architects are to be built from plans chosen competitively. What is a good system for the architects themselves should be good for municipal, provincial and Federal authorities, too. A new library, a new city hall, a new Queen's Park establishment, a new post office or a new judicial building, is likely to be best if its design is selected by competent persons from several plans submitted in competition by individual architects or firms.

Here in Peterborough we have been chary of competitions. The feeling has been that it is safer to go to an established architect or a favourite firm and say, we want a new city hall or collegiate; design us one, or show us some of your stock plans. There is merit in this, because an established firm with a good name to maintain is not likely to make a bosh of the contract. On the other hand, is it necessarily going to provide the best possible design? Further, if only established architects are given important commissions, how are others to become established? The tendency to shun competitions and to award commissions out of hand is widespread throughout Canada and at all levels—municipal, provincial and federal.

The new headquarters for the Ontario architects, a remarkably modern building it appears from the plans, is one of the few important structures in the last score of years whose design has been decided by competition. Since the architects themselves have given a lead in this important matter, others may confidently follow. The Federal Government has also now indicated a predilection for competition; the plan for the National Library is to be chosen by contest.

Incidentally, Peterborough has not been unfortunate in its adherence to the old method of awarding contracts by faith rather than competition. All the schools erected by the Board of Education since the war were designed by the architectural firm which won the contest for designing the new architects' headquarters in Toronto. Yet we would like to see a return to the still older method of award: by competition. It was thus that some of the chief architectural glories of Renaissance Italy came into being.

SOVIET SURVEY

An Experiment With Time

By EDWARD CHRANKSHAW

UNNOTICED by the outside world, the Malenkov Government has started something which makes the great material projects of the Soviet regime look very small indeed; it has undertaken to change the Russian character by decree. At first sight it may seem a trivial and innocuous decree; but if it could be carried out, it would mean a revolution in the Russian way of life. Almost certainly it will not be carried out, but a determined attempt is being made, and, whatever the ultimate outcome, the immediate consequences will be rich in comedy.

* * *

THE GIST of this explosive edict is that from now on all Government officials will commence work punctually at nine a.m. or ten a.m. (according to their place in the hierarchy), take an hour off for lunch, and finish punctually at six p.m. or seven p.m. Just that.

* * *

ON THE FACE of it, this little decree is aimed at the traditional habit of arriving at the office round about midday, taking two or three hours off for a meal round about two o'clock, starting serious work about six or seven, and slogging on into the small hours. This is supposed to be hard on the junior office staff, who have to get there early, and are always kept late. In fact, the decree is an attempt to instil a sense of time into a people who have no sense of time.

* * *

IT COULD be argued that Stalin started the trouble because he liked to start work late and go on half the night. This meant that his colleagues and subordinates had to keep pace with him in the Kremlin. And that meant that their subordinates in the Government offices outside the Kremlin had to keep pace, too; and so on. It is a state of affairs which keeps junior staff hanging about in the mornings doing nothing, which makes it impossible for any visitor to receive proper attention until the late afternoon, which postpones decisions of every kind, and which accounts for the sudden call round about midnight to foreign missions who have been waiting all day and given up and gone to bed.

But the habit is older than Stalin.

* * *

IN RUSSIA, time is of little account; and although the Communists pride themselves on their bleak efficiency, they have no more sense of time than anyone else. This cannot be changed by attacking a single manifestation. For example, it is no good allowing Soviet officials only an hour for lunch when it is impossible to get served in any restaurant in less than two hours. It is no good expecting staff to arrive punctually at nine when the suburban transport is organised on the basis that time is no object and breakdowns are fun.

* * *

IT IS NO good expecting people to know when six o'clock has come when all they ask of life is to sit about talking and drinking tea and engaging in interminable discussions, until it suddenly dawns on them that if they don't do eight hours' work in two there is going to be serious trouble.

* * *

IT IS no good expecting people to go to bed punctually in order to get up punctually when there is no such thing as bedtime. The Russians do not go in for bedrooms in the Western sense. Bed for them is a couch behind a curtain in the living room where the individual can subside when he is too tired to go on talking or playing dominoes.

* * *

IT IS no good expecting regular hours from people who think nothing of calling on their friends on impulse for intellectual discussion, a gossip, or a glass of tea at one o'clock in the morning. And so on.

* * *

THE SOVIET leaders (do they intend to set an example? If so, it will not last long) may think that by imposing regular office hours they will be able to change the whole pattern of Russian life; but I doubt it. It will be interesting to see. It will also be sad if they succeed. For the eccentric working hours of the Russians are only an expression of the broad and easy-going Russian nature, which is three-quarters of the charm of Russia, and keeps the Communist State from becoming utterly inhuman.

* * *

SO FAR, no news has come about the effect of the decree—except that it immediately threw the Moscow suburban transport service into fits. The newspaper "Pravda" appears to be taking it very seriously indeed, so much so that one might almost believe the Russians really wanted to change their ways—until one realises that all the members of "Pravda's" staff are sitting pretty, and can happily write with their tongues in their cheeks. Nothing can touch them, because, as newspapermen, nothing can stop them working those late and irregular hours which seem to express so exactly the innermost cravings of the Russian temperament.

It is not hard to believe that "Pravda's" leader writer takes a malicious pleasure in telling his friends in the Government offices where they get off. "Abnormal organisation of hours of work," he writes smugly in the small hours, wreathed in tobacco smoke and surrounded by empty glasses which once contained tea, the chess board pushed temporarily to one side—"abnormal organisation of hours of work deprives staff of the necessary time for improving their cultural and political level and improving their qualifications. They are also unable to devote the necessary attention to their families and to the upbringing of their children."

* * *

IT IS three o'clock in the morning. There is no hurry, it does not matter whether the leader is printed tomorrow or the day after, but it is more pleasant to write it when the paper has gone to press than to turn up at some ungodly hour in the afternoon. The leader writer pauses a moment and adds: "It is also known that night work has a negative effect on health and lowers working capacity." That bit makes him laugh out loud, so that he wakes up a colleague snoring on the bench behind him. They both have a good laugh, and ring for more tea.

THAT'LL HELP HIM

Gerald was Aunt Matilda's favorite nephew and she was planning to send him a birthday gift.

"What did you give him last year?" asked her companion.

"A cheque," said auntie, "and poor boy, he told me he couldn't find words with which to thank me."

"And what are you giving him this year?"

"A dictionary!"

Taxpayers Foot Bills For Search

(SAULT STE. MARIE STAR)

LAST Wednesday two Michigan men started out in doubtful weather to fly to Michipicoten from Kinross airfield. Since then they have not been seen again, and an intense search has been conducted for five days.

It is understood that the pilot of the plane —equipped only with wheels— had not had a great deal of experience flying, and it is also thought that their intention was to navigate by following the power line to Michipicoten.

Since then the Canadian Government has spent thousands of dollars in the search for the two men— money which comes from the taxpayer's pocket and for which there is no visible return.

Two or three years ago the whole country followed the reports of the search being made for hockey star Bill Barilko, lost in the wastes of the James Bay area. The Government estimated the cost of that episode at around a quarter of a million dollars.

Last year's biggest search was for 4 Edmonton Grey Cup enthusiasts. Add to these the other air searches for lost holidaymakers and you have a sizeable sum of money being written off every year.

To the taxpayer this seems to be an intolerable state of affairs, and a matter eminently suited for appropriate legislation. One simple way in which this could be accomplished would be to make more of the regulations covering commercial flying applicable to private flying.

As things stand at the moment, there is apparently no way in which airfield officials can prevent a private plane from taking off in any weather for any destination. But, to cite one instance, the airline flying from the Sault to Wawa is not allowed to take off with less than a 3,000 foot ceiling. This would seem to be a sensible rule to apply to all planes.

Searches for commercial planes and regular bush pilots have sense to them. These are the people who are doing as much as anyone to open up the vast spaces of unpopulated Canada. To traverse the wastes and wildernesses is their job and if anything happens to them help must be sent.

But when private citizens can run up bills of hundreds of thousands of dollars to be footed by the Government, and, in the last analysis, by the non-flying public, it is certainly time that curbs were introduced to lessen the expense.

Under The High Roof

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

MR. FRANCIS A. HARDY has been addressing the conference of the Canadian Library Association in Ottawa. He was telling the audience how the Library of Parliament is being restored, after the fire and water damaged it seriously just a year ago this month.

While Mr. Hardy took satisfaction in the modern improvements that will be introduced such as the air conditioning and the new vaults he evidently took most satisfaction in the effort that is being made to preserve as much as possible the "Fathers of Confederation" atmosphere that has made the old Library of Parliament such a grand building, with its high roof, and its circular galleries of many-colored books, and its inlaid floor.

Mr. Hardy, as the Parliamentary Librarian, has spent a lifetime in the library's mellow interior. Many a visitor to the library, seeing its historic and dignified atmosphere, has been inclined to envy Mr. Hardy his satisfying work.

In a recent article by Madge Macbeth in The Dalhousie Review the story is told how Mr. Hardy came to join the library's staff. In those days the Librarian was Martin Joseph Griffin. He was of the old school, a prodigious scholar, formidable in manner.

When Mr. Hardy applied to Mr. Griffin for a post in the Parliamentary Library, the conversation went like this:

"A job here?" Mr. Griffin echoed. "Oh, no, young man! Don't bury yourself in the Civil Service."

"Just the same sir," protested Mr. Hardy his teeth chattering with nervousness. "I'd like a place in the library.

"But why?"

"Why-er-I suppose, sir— because I love books."

"Well," said Mr. Griffin, capitulating in characteristic manner, "you are very foolish, but I suppose it's all right. You look like a gentleman!"

Mr. Hardy got the job. In due course he succeeded Mr. Griffin. No one has appreciated more than he the charm of the old building. He will recall to visitors its historic lore — how a Fancy Dress Ball was held in the library when it was opened in 1876 by the Governor-General, Lord Dufferin, or how John A. Macdonald, weary with pressure of administration, would escape to one of the high galleries and browse unseen among the books.

Anyone who has had occasion to use the Parliamentary Library will pay tribute to Mr. Hardy not only for his courteous helpfulness but also as being that best type of librarian—one who was drawn to his work by the love of books.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God . . . For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. Letters To The Editor

BLAMES BOYS

Sir: Please allow me a little space to answer Mr. Taxpayer about garbage. A week ago Monday night between ten and ten thirty I was sitting on our verandah. Across the street is an apartment house. The janitor had the garbage out in a neat row just off the sidewalk and they have lids on too.

Three boys on bicycles riding on the sidewalk slowed up and ran their bikes into those garbage cans. There is a little slope on to the street. The tops came off and spilled the garbage.

I called to them but they went on. I just thought the dogs would get the blame. You can't expect the dog-catcher to be out chasing boys. They do as much damage around as the dogs. Boys should know better.

So, Mr. Taxpayer, get after the boys' parents and give the dogs a break

LOVER OF DOGS

Sir: At the last moment two (lacrosse players) have been told they are making the trip. Two are being left behind.

They are all signed players, have travelled with the team all year, got to their beds at three and four in the morning and lost time from work. All signed players should go West. There was a good enough team without taking along outside players who haven't done one thing to help the Trailermen get into the position they are in. Those games played with Maitlands were supposed to be practice games prior to going West. What happened?

In the following evening's write-up, three players were credited with having led the scoring parade. They didn't even go to the game. The four ex-juniors who did, and who did a good share of the scoring were not even mentioned in the line-up. Peterborough will never produce senior players until the present clique is broken up.

To be the only two left off a team is a bitter pill to swallow. They should not be discriminated against. The team should go intact. It is the only fair thing to do, but fairness is a word outside their vocabulary.

Thank you,

AN EX-LACROSSE FAN

(Ed. Note: Senior lacrosse is big professional business. Taking players to Victoria is expensive and the contest there is so financially important that no extra costs and no extra risks could be assumed. The businesslike Lacrosse Club management has taken to British Columbia the most dependable and best players it can get or is allowed to import. Our readers unfamiliar with details of the lacrosse team should realize, in considering the letter above, that two of the regular, imported top-ranking players may not be able to stay for the whole series of play-offs, because of other commitments. The club was permitted to choose two other outside men as supplements, stars of other Ontario teams. It did.)

Old School Ways, Inspectors, Teachers: And Some Old Local School Buildings

From Dr. Poole's History of Peterborough, 1867

A new Common School Act, passed by the Reform Government of the day, came into force in 1844, and Elias Burnham, Esq., was appointed Superintendent of Schools for the Colborne District, which included Peterborough, this county not being formed until 1849) in order effectually to carry out its provisions,—an office which he accepted rather from a desire to further the important interests of education, than from any emoluments belonging to the office, the salary attached to which during the period he held it, was at first £25 and then £50 per year, including travelling expenses.

Mr. Burnham discharged the arduous and laborious duties of this office, from this time up till the year 1850 with commendable zeal and ability, in doing so, travelling on horseback from six to eight hundred miles annually.

The following official report, which he submitted to the Council at the close of the year 1844, will be found interesting as an illustration of the position of the district at that date, in an educational point of view.

Report of the District Superintendent of Schools for the year 1844: To the Warden and Councillors of the Colborne District,

"Gentlemen: I beg to lay before you a report relating to the Common Schools of the Colborne District for the year 1844. I have visited all the schools during the past year, in operation at the time of my annual examination, except one in Verulam and Harvey, and one in Fenelon and Bexley. Circumstances have delayed my examination of these beyond the time prescribed. The character of the schools, generally, is satisfactory.

"It is to be regretted however, that in many of the school districts, particularly those in the townships of Ops and North Monaghan, the school houses are so very bad, amounting in some instances to a state of actual discomfort and unhealthiness; but I have invariably urged upon the people the necessity of their improvement, and I have reason to believe that they fully agree with me therein, and that they will remedy the evil as soon as possible.

"The attendance of children is good, averaging to each school about twenty-five, but I am sorry to see this number confined solely, or nearly so, to children of small age. Taking one school with another, there is a fair proportion of children who read and write.

"In no instances in my recollection, with one or two exceptions, have I seen the English grammar in use; very seldom geography, and no history, except occasionally in a reading book. The bible I found in general use.

"There is a great deficiency of books in very many of the schools.

"This, I was told, originated in the carelessness or poverty of the parents. I have, however, invariably urged upon them the necessity of supplying their children with proper books. The teachers frequently complain of this deficiency, and of their consequent inability to classify their scholars; which is prejudicial to their advancement.

SENSE AND THE ROD

"I have reason to believe that the teachers rely more upon reason and common sense in their instruction, than upon the rod; and I have invariably urged them to do so. I have also had to suggest the benefit of allowing the children a short relaxation during school hours. I have also made it known that intemperance in any teacher will be regarded by me as a good cause for his immediate removal, and that cruelty towards his scholars will be promptly put down.

"Upon the whole, I may say that, although there is much room for improvement in many of the schools, still there is no real cause for complaint, and I am satisfied that they will continue gradually to prosper, and that the teachers will be improving."

"I may further state that I made an application some time ago to the Governor General for the free grant of a lot in the Town of Peterborough, to Trustees, with the view of ultimately being able to build thereon a commodious school house, and establishing by private munificence a fund, the interest from which would be sufficient to supply free tuition to all who might choose to avail themselves of it, and to have a good library in connection therewith; and I have intended, if my exertions had been successful, to have devoted the entire of my salary, as Superintendent, for that purpose. But His Excellency did not condescend to notice my petition, and so the matter for the present has ended.

I have the honor to be, etc.,
E. Burnham,
County Superintendent of Schools for the Colborne District."

Peterborough, February 11, 1845.

THOS. BENSON

Thomas Benson, Esq., succeeded E. Burnham, Esq., in the office of County Superintendent—the salary being now raised to £130 per year. Mr. Benson was highly respected both for his intelligence and the urbanity of his manners. His was one of the many valuable lives lost in the terrible railroad disaster at the Desjardines Canal in 1857. He retained the office of County Superintendent only for one year. His letter of resignation is interesting, as portraying the arduous duties of that office, and the scant remuneration thus afforded for services so important. It is as follows:

"To the Warden and Municipal Councillors of the County of Peterborough; in Council Assembled:

"Gentlemen:— The period having arrived when it becomes necessary that you should provide for the superintendence of the Common Schools of the county for the ensuing year, it is proper that I should inform you that I do not intend to offer myself as a candidate for the situation you did me the honor to confer upon me at the commencement of the past year.

"If I here take occasion to refer to a few of the reasons which have induced me to come to this determination, it will be with the sole view of increasing the usefulness and efficiency of an office, the faithful discharge of the duties of which may do more to promote the social and moral advancement of the rural population of this county, than any other secular agency within your control. The first and most powerful motive which impels me to decline a reappointment to the office of superintendent of schools, is the conviction that the amount of labor which the faithful discharge of its duties would entail upon the incumbent, is more than any one person could possibly endure.

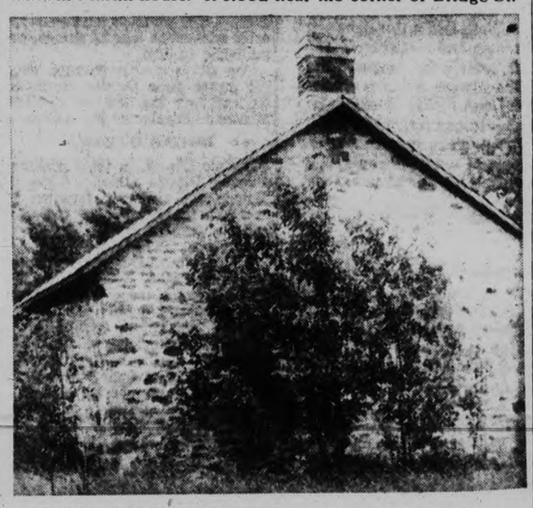
FIRST SCHOOLHOUSES WERE OF LOG and some remain in this district, though not in use, as reminders of first settlers' days and their children's schooling.

LITTLE RED SCHOOL HOUSE became a white clapboard schoolhouse in districts where brick was expensive and lumber cheap. Here is the Rockcroft school, on the Burleigh Falls-Bobcaygeon highway, and it was built only about 25 years ago.

FIRST SCHOOL in Campbellford—converted from the William Martin house. It stood near the corner of Bridge St.



STONE SCHOOLHOUSES are exceptional in this district, most being the familiar little red brick schoolhouse, or clapboard. Here is the old Cameron School, on the Cameron Line between Otonabee and Asphodel townships. It has been closed since before the war, the school section lacking pupils.

TYPICAL country schoolhouse, made of brick. The school is on the Chemong Road, now just across the street from Peterborough's city limits. This building is somewhat larger than many old rural schools. The date stone under the eaves reads: "S.S. No. 3, 1879"—the third school section, Smith Township. During the years a few changes have been made in the structure—for instance, the two front doors and the centre windows. Some remodelling was done a few weeks ago, as the piles of gravel show.

CENTRAL SCHOOL, Peterborough, was the town's first public school. This building, not the first school building in Peterborough, is the oldest in existence. It was two years abuilding, and completed in 1860, when this photograph was taken. Its predecessor was called the Union School. The building, described in 1885 by the Rev. C. P. Mulvaney as "truly an ornament to Peterborough . . . built in the Italian style with wide corridors and lofty class-rooms," cost $16,258. The Italianate tower was removed a decade ago. The lower, smaller school building standing just west of this, and part of Central now, was the Collegiate, which served until the original part of the present PCVS was built.

Your Garden:

Discouraged By Weeds? Mulch And Cultivate Often

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Weeds in the vegetable garden are most discouraging to the novice gardener who is inclined to be lazy at this time. He asks, "Why can't I use one of the weed killers so effective on dandelion and other lawn weeds?"

Unfortunately, there are no weed killers that may be applied to a mixed planting of vegetables or flowers that will single out the weeds to kill and not cultivated crops. So we must learn that frequent cultivation or mulching is the answer.

The following findings of the National Fertilizer Association support the opinion of the U. S. Department of Agricultre fertilizer officials.

"The American public was warned today to be on its guard against the fallacious claims being made by some manufacturers of liquid fertilizers designed for home garden use.

"The people should not be misled by the advertising now being blatantly and widely promoted. Commercial fertilizers, liquid or dry, are of great benefit toward improving the productivity and quality of vegetables and flowers raised by the home gardener, but many of the statements currently being made about some liquid fertilizers contain absolute misrepresentations of fact."

The following are two of the claims:

CLAIM: Liquid fertilizers are superior to the more common dry fertilizers in their effects on plant growth.

COMMENT: This is not necessarily true. Although the plant food contained in liquid fertilizers may become available to plants somewhat more quickly than the plant food in dry fertilizers, it has no greater relative merits under most circumstances.

CLAIM: Liquid fertilizers are more economical than other fertilizers.

COMMENT: Liquid fertilizers sold to the home gardener are generally the most expensive offered to the public.

Tomato blight is present in several areas, B. F. Janson, extension plant pathologist, warned growers today. Janson said low night temperatures and high humidity and dew make it easly for the disease to spread slowly.

Fermate, fixed copper, manzate, zineb or bordeaux mixture will control late blight.

Since it is hard for the home gardener to distinguish between blight and other diseases, it is good to dust or spray with Fermate now, and in 10 days use a fixed copper compound. Ten days later use Fermate and so on, alternating these fungicides until the end of the tomato season.

Using a good fertilizer plus a lot of hard work will rid garden of weeds.

Gardening Questions

Q—Do you recommend dwarf apples trees for the back-yard garden? If so, what varieties are best?

A—Dwarf apples are ideal for the home garden. Best among the dwarfs are Cortland, Delicious, McIntosh and Wealthy, the last named being essential to insure pollination.

Q—What are the large, round, brown, raised spots on the trunk and branches of our Soulange magnolia?

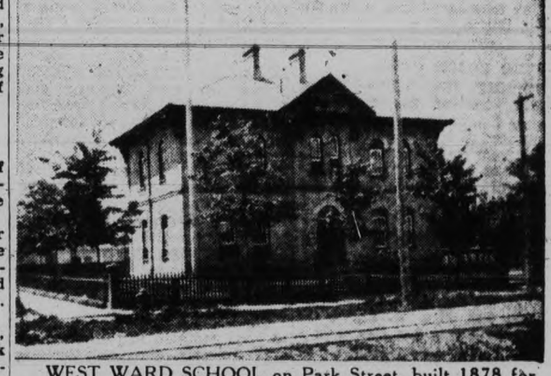
A—Magnolia scale, a sucking insect protecting itself with a wax covering, is sucking the sap from the magnolia. Partial control may be had now by spraying the bark with Parathion. On a warm day next March, before the buds swell, spray with lime sulfur, making certain to drench the entire bark.

Q—Mildew makes a yearly appearance on our lilac leaves. Is there any cure?

A—Dusting at five-to-seven-day intervals with sulfur should keep mildew under control. Next year start duting in late July, and continue through September.

Nick Nickel's Outdoor Column which appears on this Feature page each week, is discontinued for a fortnight while Mr. Nickels is on holiday.

SOUTH CENTRAL SCHOOL, corner of Sherbrooke and Rubidge Streets, second permanent school building in Peterborough, was built in 1874 at a cost of $5,797, and was in use until 1921 when the Prince of Wales School was opened. Thereafter it was used as administrative offices of the Board of Education, and for industrial arts and commercial classes supplemental to the Collegiate building. When the City Hall was opened, the Board moved its offices into it.

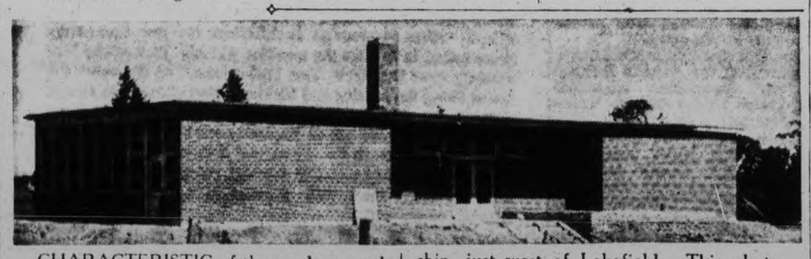


WEST WARD SCHOOL on Park Street, built 1878 for $3,433, was used until 1913 when the Queen Mary School was opened. The Albion Knitting Company thereafter bought and used the building.

Old Photographs

NOTE TO OUR READERS: The Examiner is always interested in seeing old photographs of Peterborough and district schools, streets, hospitals, church choirs, important events or people, sporting teams, steamboats —anything which has a reminiscent or historical flavour. If these are suitable for reproduction, The Examiner would be glad to have them on loan for a few days until copies can be made and the originals returned carefully and undamaged to their owner. Photographs prior to 1900 will be especially valued.

KEENE SCHOOL—S.S. No. 4, Otonabee, is a rural village school which has changed little for the better since it was built in the last century. In 1945, just after this photograph was taken, the shed and the woodpile were removed and the building painted by the pupils. Unusual for a schoolhouse in a long-settled and comfortably prosperous part of the countryside, it has no belfry.



CHARACTERISTIC of the modern rural schools is Ray's School, S.S. 6, Smith township, just west of Lakefield. This photograph was taken when it was built a year ago.

AND WHAT OF THE PUPILS? Here are the Entrance Classes—Grade 8, formerly called Senior Fourth—of (left) Queen Alexandra School and (right) King Edward School, in 1935. In those not-so-far-off days, the classes were known by the "Readers" they used. The Fourth Reader was used, first half, by Junior Fourth (Grade 7) and the second half by Senior Fourth. In those days, too, pupils had to write formal examinations in order to pass into the collegiate. Queen Alexandra School is the second oldest public school building in Peterborough now in use; King Edward the third oldest.

Orfuns Beat Toronto 25-15 In Lively Grid Struggle For Third Straight Victory

Downing Toronto Marauders 25-15 here last night in a good grid game, the local Orfuns racked up their third straight win in as many starts of their ORFU intermediate "A" schedule. The same clubs clash here again next Saturday afternoon in Riverside Park, it being the Toronto team's "home" game, since they have no field available in the Queen City. Orfuns led last night 5-0 in the first quarter, 14-5 at the half and 19-15 going into the fourth frame. They were guilty again of a lot of penalties that cost them much yardage, but it was a fairly open and interesting tilt before a fair-sized crowd.

A LONG PLUNGE — Flying wing Jimmy Conlin reeled off a 28-yard plunge in the third quarter here last night for one of the Orfuns' longest ground-gains of the evening as they trimmed Toronto Marauders 25-15 to stay atop their ORFU grouping.

TRIED 'EM OUT

Figuring he had the better team, Coach Tony Kotowski elected to experiment with some of his greener players in on most of the action. It paid off, as he won his game and gave the youngsters a lot of experience and confidence in good competition. Two graduates from St. Peter's High, Jerry O'Reilly and Carl Brioux, turned in a fine effort in this tilt. Kotowski was also shy several of his regulars through injuries or inability to be on deck for the duel. Other regulars sat on the bench a good part of the tussle, only seeing action when Marauders made it too close for comfort.

Hank Russelle, who played a fine game all through on plunges and runbacks, got the lone major in the first quarter after bucks by him, Jim Conlin, Reg Fowler and Carl Brioux. It was not converted. Jerry Forrester slowed a Toronto march up with a tackle for a loss. In the second quarter, Holman and Kirkwood were in on a tackle for a loss after Marauders gained two first downs. Al Beavis went off hurt just before Bud Obal bucked over for a touchdown, not converted. Thomson, Huntley and Jensen rolled up the field then and Huntley wound up with a try, which he converted. Brioux intercepted a pass and Groves twice got big gains on reverses to set up Huntley for a placement at the half.

HE INTERCEPTED

O'Reilly tackled for a loss in the third but Grizzelle grabbed a local pass attempt and they drove ahead with Tom Hickey finally going over for an unconverted major. Don McGillis took a Milligan pass but it was nullified by another penalty, and Jensen's end run was washed out as Orfuns were penalized again for rough stuff. Toronto partly blocked a kick to set them up for a major by Tom Hickey on a pass from Obal. Huntley, Thomson, Jensen and a Toronto penalty put Orfuns in close and Blair bucked over for a try, not converted.

In the fourth, O'Reilly again tackled for a loss and Hodson limped off hurt. Huntley got through for 25 yards and Thomson 10 before Fowler tramped through for a touchdown, Huntley converting. Brioux had a big plunge, Russelle got five and then Jim Conlin scampered for 25 yards, but penalties stopped them and Don Bark had to get away another of his hefty hoofs. Toronto opened up with some nice passing but were stopped near the local goal line on downs, and that was it.

LINE WAS GOOD

The visitors showed quite a bit of good football, but the Orfuns proved better, even experimenting, though they were worried at times. The local line was good, as was the kicking and passing, and the main backfielders could reel it off when needed. However, the younger players had a chance in stiff competition, and they gave their coach a good look. The Orfuns' ground attack was good, and they amassed no less than 20 first downs against four for the losers. There were a few fumbles, not too many passes, better kicking by Bark than Grizzelle—their passer and kicker—but far too many home penalties. Teams:

Orfuns: Thomson, Hope, Jensen, Hodson, Beatty, Huntley, Jim Conlin, Berry, Bark, Russelle, Holman, Kirkwood, Beavis, Ouellette, Fowler, Brioux, Howe, Newark, Milligan, Giardino, Trimm, Forrester, J. McGillis, Groves, D. McGillis, Berthelot, O'Reilly.

Toronto: Richardson, Donnelly, Ford, Christy, Boskasky, Garry, Morrison, Cowell, Hickey, Grizzelle, Barnes, Yeo, Morgan, Childerhouse, Macci, Harrison, Ovens, Stevens, Anco, Goodall, Patterson, Obal, Orr.

Officials, Mumford, Glover and Fry of Toronto.

Summary:

First Quarter
Orfuns 5—Russelle's try.
Second Quarter
Toronto 5—Obal's try.
Orfuns 5—Huntley's try.
Orfuns 1—Huntley's convert
Orfuns 3—Huntley's placement.

Toronto 5—Hickey's try.
Orfuns 5—Thomson's try.
Fourth Quarter
Orfuns 5—Fowler's try.
Orfuns 1—Huntley's convert.

Toronto Leafs Plan 7 Exhibition Games

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs will play seven exhibition games this fall in preparation for the National Hockey League season. The last one will be the annual Blues-Whites match at Maple Leaf Gardens Oct. 7.

The Leafs will meet their American Hockey League farmhands, Pittsburgh Hornets, three times and Cleveland Barons of the AHL twice.

The series opens Sept. 26 at the Leafs' training camp at St. Catharines with a game against the Hornets. They visit Brampton Sept. 28 and play Ottawa Senators of the Quebec League Sept. 30.

Leafs again play the Hornets Oct. 2 at Niagara Falls, Ont., and the Barons at St. Catharines, Oct. 3. The third Leaf-Baron match will be at Barrie Oct. 6.

NOTED COACH QUITS

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Mickey Roach, one of the best-known hockey figures in eastern Canada, announced Friday that he is retiring from active coaching duties. The Glace Bay Irishman, one-time coach of New York Americans, now is a customs official here. Last year he coached Franklin Sports Club to the Maritime junior hockey title.

KITCHENER BOWLERS WIN

STRATFORD (CP)—Mrs. H. C. McNab and Mrs. J. Matell of Kitchener scored top honors in a 36-rink women's lawn bowling tournament Friday, to capture the J. J. Crosier Trophy. Rinks in the doubles tournament were from Sarnia, London, Wingham, Goderich, Kitchener, Mitchell and Stratford.

Canadians Drop 2-0 Game To U.S. Players

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's Davis Cup tennis team, smarting under a 2-0 defeat at the hands of the powerful United States squad, today faces the Americans in the critical doubles match of the Canada-U.S. cup tie.

If the Americans, victors in six straight sets in Friday's singles matches, win the doubles, they will take the North American zone final and go on to meet the European finalists, Belgium, at Melbourne. Winner of that match gains the right to challenge Australia, present Davis Cup holder.

The United States captain, Lawrence Baker, put his two top men —Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia—into the singles. The competition proved too tough for Henri Rochon of Onto and Vancouver.

Trabert, U.S. national singles champion, defeated Rochon 6-2, 6-3, 8-6, while Seixas disposed of Main, Canada's No. 1 player, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

PLAYERS DID WELL

Laird Watt, Canada's non-playing captain, said after the matches he thought both his players had done well.

"I'm quite satisfied with the way they both played," he said. "They were up against some of the toughest competition in the world. They did as well as could be expected."

This afternoon, Main and Paul Willey of Vancouver face Trabert and Seixas in the doubles at the Mount Royal Tennis Club, unless there is a last-minute change of plans by Baker or Watt. The captains have until one hour before play to alter their line-up.

Later, Rochon and Bob Bedard Sherbrooke, Que. will meet Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., in an exhibition match.

MORE FORCING GAME

In Friday's matches, Seixas played a more forcing game than his team-mate, Trabert. The 1953 Wimbledon champion went out for a quick win and caught Main off balance with hard driving shots from the baseline and tricky-angled volleys from the net.

The 23-year-old Canadian found himself forced into errors by Seixas every time the American looked as though he were in danger of losing a game.

Main double faulted twice, both times in the third set, and was aced three times by Seixas in the second.

Hard-hit placements and good net coverage by Trabert accounted for the American's win against Rochon in the day's first match.

NEVER GOT CHANCE

Harassed by his powerful opponent, Rochon never really got a chance to use his drop shots and slices effectively. Even so the 29-year-old Montreal southpaw, a veteran of Davis Cup matches, gave the crowd a thrill when he broke Trabert's serve in the opening game of the match.

He also forced the former sailor into extra games in the deciding set, even though the American scored 19 placements against his two during the 14 games.

Rochon netted 30 times during the set, against 23 for Trabert, but had only 18 outs compared with 28 for the American. The Canadian double faulted six times; the chon once during the match.

WALKER TOP MANAGER

MONTREAL (CP)—Harry (The Hat) Walker, player-pilot of the pennant-winning Rochester Red Wings has been named by sports writers the International League manager of the year.

Vic Wall of the Springfield Union, president of the circuit's Baseball Writers' Association, announced the choice Friday through league headquarters here.

Walker gained the honor in a nip and tuck battle with Jack Tighe, Buffalo Bisons' manager. The final count gave Walker 12 votes and Tighe 11. Walter Alston, Montreal's manager, received five votes while Frank Skaff of Ottawa counted two to round out the balloting.

Walker, whose Wings won the playoffs and junior world series last season, has been managing for three years. Now 35, he broke into pro ball in 1937 and 10 years later batted .363 to win the National League batting championship.

SPONSOR WINGHAM TEAM

GUELPH (CP) — Guelph Biltmores Junior A hockey club of the Ontario Hockey Association announced Friday they will sponsor a junior C hockey team in Wingham this season. Coach Alf Pike of the Biltmores said he has invited more than 60 boys to a hockey school at the Wingham Arena.

✦ ✦ ✦

WINS STOCK CAR TROPHY

RIDGETOWN (CP) — Trip Trepanier of Copperhead captured the Kiwanis Ontario championship stock car race here Friday night at the Ridge Raceway and took the A. J. Sales Trophy in the 50-lap event. Runner up was Bill Daniels of Hickory Corners and third was Stan Earish, Windsor. Entries came from Detroit, Windsor, Toronto and Sarnia.

UNLUCKY BENEFIT

WATERBURY, Conn. (CP)—Dan O'Leary broke his right leg Friday night in a benefit softball game staged to help defray expenses for John Dugliecki who broke his leg in a game last week.

U.S. TENNIS STARS—The United States sends its first-string tennis team to Montreal to meet Canada in the North American zone finals of the Davis Cup. Lined up at the net, left to right: Tony Trabert, of Cincinnati, U.S. national singles champion, who started off by beating Rochon; Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, 1953 Wimbledon champion; Straight Clark, Pasadena, Calif., and southpaw Bernard Bartzen, San Angelino, Tex.

Petes' Trailermen take off this evening from Toronto's Malton Airport for Victoria and the Mann Cup finals, commencing Monday night. St. Kitts' scribe comments: 'Once they've become airborne you can bet the conversation veers toward whatever rules will exist for the national cup tests. Wherein canny Coach Thorpe will get all the lowdown on rules governing the Canadian classic. Rest assured, if the series is a tight one, he and his Petes can bank on the coast challengers utilizing every trick on boxla's calendar. If they don't and the cup title goes according to Hoyle, it will make history and be a first time the east-west ever played it truly on merit, without rhubarbs, protests and changing referees in midstream." Yes, indeedy.

Playing coach Arn Dugan and forward Jim Heffernan of this city recently concluded their senior lacrosse activities for the season out in Nanaimo, B.C. Both had a fine summer of it, Arn going strong as a defenceman and a clipping says: 'He has developed into one of the best in the league." He also scored his share of goals, Arn always being a shifty type on the attack. Heffernan, who was rookie of the year out there in '52, was well up with the league leaders in scoring, more than once clicking for half a dozen or more points a game. A clipping says: "Though one of the lightest players in B.C., he is in the top 10 scorers." Both are expected to perform out west again next year.

Horses, Horses, Horses

Harness horse races galore at the annual Exhibition here next week. They go afternoon and evening in the five-day meet for a grand total of $3,700 in prize money. No betting at this meet. Program calls for a Tuesday aft race for non-winners of $250, with a 2.19 go for trotters and pacers at night. Wednesday in daylight it's the 2.25 class while the evening sees the 2.18 and a special invitation race for $500 (with no entry fee) put on by the Peterborough Turf Club. Thursday aft it's the 2.24 and 2.20 while the evening race is for non-winners of $2,000. Friday afternoon sees non-winners of $400 in one dash and non-winners of $750 in another, the evening calling for the 2.22 event. And Saturday after lunch there's a race for non-winners in the 2.20, 2.22 and 2.24—horses out of the money. Also a 2.17 go. The free-for-all is at night for $500. Some of these events are full up already.

Switching to hockey, the Bruins' tryout camp for the junior "A" Generals is in Oshawa, starting Monday. Some 20 new prospects on deck, including several scouted by Bob McCabe here and by Bruins' Hal Cotton. There's Tommy Paranuik of Marmora who played in Havelock for the juves and TVL-ers. Lakefield lads with the IOOF of the city, who get a tryout, are: Gord Coyle and Bill Twist, as well as Kevin Heffernan. Latter made the Gens last year but was out with an injury most of the season. Local and district prospects try out shortly, too, with St. Mike's of Leafs' chain, and Hamilton of the Detroit system.

'Twas Tough on Wally

Orfuns' co-manager Wally Farr sweated blood for a time last eve when it looked like Toronto Maurauders might pull a grid upset and trim the Orfuns here. Coach Tony Kotowski was experimenting with some of his less experienced players, but it turned out okay. The local club swept to a 25-15 ORFU win, their third straight, to keep ahead of the pack. At that, the oddly-uniformed Marauders made it a game for a fair crowd, though they couldn't match first downs by any means with Orfuns' first-stringers. They did outscore the Petes 10-5 in the third quarter and opened it up with long passes in the fourth. However, Orfuns racked up no less than 20 first downs, used passes sparingly and had a margin on Don Bark's kicking.

* * * * * *

Jerry O'Reilly, Carl Brioux, Bev Groves, Jim Conlin, Hank Russelle and Reg Fowler all looked impressive on the attack. Also, the regular backfielders the few times they were called in to start the machine rolling. Pick of the Marauders were Bud Obal, Tom Hickey and Ted Grizzelle, the latter doing the passing and kicking. Carl Harris was strong defensively. They're transferring their other "home" game here next Saturday aft to Riverside Park, as Morrow will be in use next week for the annual Exhibition. This could be a pretty evenly matched football group, but Orfuns are off to a flying start and promise to maintain that pace through to playoffs.

Seeking Permission To Have Case Heard

OTTAWA (CP) — Cleveland Browns of the United States National Football League filed notice Friday that they will seek special permission to have their injunction case against John Kissell heard at the fall assizes.

The Ontario Supreme Court assizes open Monday, when the Browns' application for a special order will be heard. The normal deadline for entering the case on the assizes docket expired Sept. 4.

The Browns seek to prevent their star tackle from playing with Ottawa Rough Riders and claim he jumped a prior contract with them. Meanwhile Kissell has been playing with Ottawa.

The Cleveland club will base its request for special permission for an early hearing on the ground their contract with Kissell expires Nov. 30.

Red Wings Win 18th Straight, Blast Orioles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Red Wings have already been crowned 1953 International League champions and their pilot, Harry (The Hat) Walker, named manager of the year but they apparently are determined to show that their climb from third to first place was no fluke.

Friday night, the Wings ran their winning streak to 18 straight —an all-time Rochester record—as they stopped Baltimore Orioles 9-2 and 3-0. The previous longest Rochester win-streak was 14 games, established in 1901.

The club's double triumph over the fourth-place Orioles expanded its lead over the idle second-place Montreal Royals to 7½ games.

DOWNS OTTAWA

Buffalo Bisons, in third position, defeated Ottawa Athletics 6-2 in 10 innings and seriously threaten to overtake the Royals for the second-best playoff berth. The Herd is only a game behind the Royals.

A pair of righthanders, called up last week from Houston of the Texas League, were the big guns in Rochester's double win.

Floyd Wooldridge turned in a masterful five-hitter to beat the Orioles 9-2 in the twilight opener. Tommy Burgess gave him a hand by belting a grand-slam homer.

Al Papai unfurled a six-hitter that stopped the losers 3-0 in the second game. Home runs by Les Fusselman, with none on, and Eddie Mierkowicz, with one on, accounted for the Rochester runs.

Baltimore still needs one victory in the two doubleheaders remaining with Rochester, or a Toronto defeat, to clinch fourth place, the last playoff berth.

A four-run splurge in the 10th inning gave Buffalo the victory over the A's.

LAWN BOWLING

By BERB MARTIN

The invitation night sponsored by and played on the beautiful greens of the local lawn bowling club, on Friday evening, went over in grand style. Close to 100 bowlers and their friends came out and enjoyed an evening of real fun—and fun it was. Some had never been on greens before, let alone toss bowls up and down the greens, but they soon caught on. It was a mixed affair, and all played for about an hour and a half. At the conclusion of the games, refreshments were served by the ladies' social committee. It was a fine night.

LUCKY DRAW WINNERS

Ladies — Miss Viola Lee, Mrs. W. Bannon, Mrs. M. Ward, Miss Joanne Pierce, Mrs. Floyd.

Dodgers Triumph

Dodgers defeated East City in the first game of their best-of-five PMBA bantam finals by a 4-0 score. Pitchers Casey and Anthony on the rival mounds both hurled one-hit ball in the abbreviated tilt, owing to darkness, each walking two as Anthony fanned nine and Casey five in a fine game. East City were guilty of eight errors to ruin their cause as the winners booted but two.

Jerry Kimball and Bunny Dorrington each had one hit in three times to bat. The winners scored a run each in the first and fourth frames and two in the second, errors and walks figuring in all runs. The losers' lone hit was in the initial inning. Teams:

Dodgers: R. Rowe, 3b; Whitehill, cf; Griffin, lb; W. Rowe, lf; Kimball, c; Patterson, ss; Hayden, rf; Nice, rf; Morley, 2b; Casey, p.

East City: Meagher, cf; Greenly, cf; Dinsdale, 2b; Dorrington, ss; Tetlock, 1b; Crowder, lf; Lustic, c; Guerin, c; Driscoll, rf; Paul, 3b; Anthony, p.

Montreal Als Whitewash Mighty Ti-Cats In 17-0 Crushing Win

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Doug Peahead Walker of Montreal Alouettes termed the Als' crushing 17-0 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a Big Four tilt Friday night a victory over a "rudderless" team. After the Montrealers had finished pushing the league-leaders all over the field, Walker summed it up with: "Hamilton had no man at the helm." Stan Heath called the signals for three quarters for the losers and Bernie Custis acted as quarter in the last 15 minutes.

Heath was reported suffering from a sore arm and Custis, while supposedly in perfect shape, still could not pull the league leaders together.

It was the upset of the season, as the Tiger-Cats topped the league with two wins in as many starts. Montreal now has two wins in four starts.

SMART ATTACK

The Alouettes showed a smart passing and ground attack, while Hamilton was inept and poorly-led.

The Montreal line was rock-ribbed throughout and their power proved decisive.

Besides being the first defeat for the high-flying Tigers, it also maintained the home park record for the Big Four. No team in the league has yet lost on home grounds.

Ray Poole led Montreal to victory with 12 of the victors' 17 points.

Sam Etcheverry sent Montreal ahead in the first quarter when he carried the ball across from the Hamilton one-yard line for a major. Poole kicked the convert.

HEMMED IN

In the second quarter, Montreal continued to hem in the Tiger-Cats. Poole hoisted a field goal through the posts from the Hamilton seven-yard line and the 13,125 customers cheered.

In the third stanza, Poole kicked another three-pointer from the Hamilton 23-yard line.

By this time, the Tiger-Cats were overwhelmed and Custis replaced Heath at quarter in an attempt to pull the Tiger-Cats together.

Custis had no better luck than Heath, and Etcheverry moved the ball downfield on a series of passes to Red O'Quinn and Nub Smith and climaxed the march with a pass to Poole who went over. Poole failed to convert.

Pitching — Duane Pillette, St. Louis Browns, held Boston Red Sox to three singles in winning 2-0. Ted Williams went hitless.

Batting—Andy Pafko, Milwaukee Braves, hit two home runs, the second one with two out in the 10th inning to give the Braves a 9-8 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers.

Lindsay Boys Win

LINDSAY (ENS) — Walkwoods, after winning the first three games of the Tri-County eastern section finals series against Bobcaygeon, and dropping the next two ended the set with a 5-1 win over the Red Sox here last night.

Harold Williams won his third game in the series, and hit two singles to drive in the winning run in the fourth. Williams struck out nine in the six-inning tilt and walked only two.

Bobcaygeon managed only four hits, while their pitcher, Les Walker held the Walkwoods to five singles. Bobcaygeon's five errors accounted for most of the winners runs. Walkwoods now meet Stouffville, western section champions for the Tri-County League crown.

Out At The Kawartha

Business Girls — The BGs appeared to be back in full force Thursday evening and all those having matches still to play are trying to get them finished before the closing day, September 27.

The low net was won by Roma Brindle, who received a point, and Betty Middleton won the spoon. Low gross was given a point and Dorothy Harle won the spoon. The ringer competition closes on Thursday next, so cards for all good rounds must be in by that time. Captain Dorothy Harle said that a draw would be made for closing day and it will be posted a week previous, Sunday, September 20.

Ladies' Section—On Thursday afternoon, we had the pleasure of entertaining the ladies of the Peterborough Club. There was everything from wading in the pool for golf balls, to golf and tea. The competition was total putts for 18 holes and it was won by Mrs. Ed. Riley who was given a point, and Mrs. H. Allison won the silver spoon. Low net for the day was won by Mrs. Wm. Nash who received the golf ball.

In the nine-hole event, the competition was total on the first four holes, the winners being Mrs. J. Haldimand and Mrs. W. Griffin, each receiving a point. The silver spoon was won by Mrs. R. Peirson and the golf ball by Mrs. D. Clark.

We wish luck and fine weather for Saturday when the girls journey to Trenton for the tournament. This seems to be the last tournament of the season so a good Peterborough representation is expected.

Moe Norman Shoots Course Record Of 61

KITCHENER (CP)—Moe Norman, one of Ontario's top golfers, shot a course record of 61 from the back tees over the par-70 Kitchener Rockway layout Friday.

Preparing for the Gerry Kesselring field day today, Norman equalled a record made from the short tees by Lloyd Tucker in 1939.

On the back nine, Norman carded a seven-under-par 28.

Braves Beat Out Brooklyn In 9-8 Triumph

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

The hand-writing is on the wall, but all of a sudden Milwaukee Braves can't read. The stubborn Braves still seem to be operating on the theory that the National League pennant race is a two-team affair. And they're ready to smack down any one who says it isn't. Brooklyn Dodgers descended upon the brewing centre Friday prime to wrap up their second straight flag. They needed just one more victory. The celebration was arranged and the brass flew in from Brooklyn headquarters for the winging. They're still waiting for the party.

At Milwaukee's County Stadium Friday night Andy Pafko hit a home run with a man on base in the sixth inning and he won the game for the Braves with a 10th-inning homer after two were out. The score was 9-8.

With 13 games to play the Braves now trail the Dodgers by 12. They meet for the final time today.

The game was a thriller from the start as the Braves jumped away to a 5-0 lead. The Dodgers went ahead 6-5 after 5½ innings, trailed again after six when Pafko hit his first homer, then tied it again in the seventh. Milwaukee also scored in the seventh and Brooklyn knotted the count in the ninth, setting the stage for the extra inning excitement.

In the American League the top two teams both lost. New York Yankees bowed to Detroit 3-2 in 10 innings and Cleveland lost to Washington 6-4. Chicago kept its mathematical pennant chances alive with a 9-4 verdict over Philadelphia Athletics.

The Yankees lead the Indians by 10 games and the White Sox by 13. Any combination of six New York victories and Cleveland losses will give the Yankees their fifth straight pennant.

In other games Friday St. Louis Cardinals assured Pittsburgh of a last-place finish with a 5-3 decision, Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 6-5 and Chicago won its seventh straight 5-2 over New York Giants. The lowly St. Louis Browns stopped Boston 2-0.

Ted Gray pitched and batted the Tigers to victory over the Yankees. He scattered six hits and scored the winning run in the 10th when he tripled and rode home on a long fly by Harvey Kuenn. Yogi Berra and Joe Collins homered for the Yankee runs.

At Washington the Senators stymied Bob Lemon in his attempt to win his 20th game, wrapping up the decision with a three-run splurge in the eighth inning after the Indians had rallied to tie the score in the top of the eighth.

Duane Pillette blanked the Red Sox on three singles and held Ted Williams hitless for only the second time since the slugger returned to the regular lineup.

Virgil Trucks of the White Sox hung up his 19th victory and aided his own cause at Philadelphia by driving in three runs, two of them on a home run.

The Cubs pounded New York pitching for 11 hits and Bob Rush held the Giants to four safeties. The Cubs hadn't won seven in a row in seven years.

Robin Roberts of the Phils, who won his first 19 games breezing and has been struggling ever since was beaten again in his attempt to win his 22nd. A six-run Cincinnati uprising in the seventh inning kayoed him.

Eliminate Three Baseball Teams

TORONTO (CP)—Three teams were eliminated Friday in the five games played on the eve of the women's world championship softball finals at the Canadian National Exhibition. Three remain to battle it out in today's action.

Orange, Calif., Lionettes, world champions for the last three years, Friday night disposed of Toronto Gartens 1-0, snuffing out the last of Canada's three hopes.

In the other night game Fresno, Calif., Rockettes defeated Denver, Colo., Soopers 3-1 but the loss was the first for the Soopers, leaving them still in the race for the title. Fresno is the tournament's only undefeated team.

In afternoon play Orange ousted Phoenix, Ariz., Ramblers 2-0. The Ramblers were runners-up to the Lionettes in last year's finals. Stratford, Conn., Brakettes were put out when they ended up on the short ends of 3-0 and 4-1 decisions, to Fresno and Gartens respectively.

N. Tonawanda Man Wins Boat Racing

TORONTO (CP)—Fred Herbert of North Tonawanda, N.Y., 43-year-old aircraft plant worker who has been racing nine years, Friday won the first and second heats to take the C service championship in the Canadian National Exhibition's outboard motorboat championships.

In the D service event, Herbert's borrowed boat lost its steering wheel and he finished second behind Austin McKee of Stoney Creek. McKee also captured the second heat to win the D service crown.

Oldest of the 50 competitors was Jim Ellis of the Chatham Boat Club. He is 60 and has been racing for eight years.

No Notable Change In Chess Standings

WINNIPEG (CP)—There was no significant change in the standings in the Canadian championship chess tournament after three eighth-round games were completed Friday night.

The other eighth-round game, between Ross Siemms of Toronto and Frank Anderson of Toronto, was adjourned.

Abe Yanofsky, with an eighth-round bye, continued to lead with Anderson second. Other eighth-round results included: George Berner of Toronto over R. E. A. Doe of Calgary in 30 moves; Paul Vaitonis of Hamilton over Jack Taylor of Vancouver in 31 moves and Gerald Fielding of Saskatoon over Tauno Saila of Vancouver in 14 moves.

Aussies Win Cricket Match

LONDON (AP)—Ritchie Benaud, 22-year-old Sydney newspaper clerk rattled up 135 in just under two hours Friday to pave the way for a two-wicket victory by the Australians over T. N. Pearce's eleven, which included 10 England cricket test players.

The winning hit came off the fifth ball of the last over when, with the scores tied, Hill pulled England bowler Alec Bedser for six.

Scores: T. N. Pearce's eleven 320 and 216 for 8 declared; Australia 317 and 325 for 8.

The Commonwealth team defeated an England eleven by 177 runs in a match at Kingston-on-Thames.

Scores: Commonwealth eleven 319 and 206 for 9; England eleven 172 and 176.

Fred Perry of England won the U.S. men's tennis championship for the third time at Forest Hills, N.Y., 17 years ago today. The black-haired Briton, who later turned professional, had won in 1933 and 1934. In the 1936 final he beat Don Budge in a gruelling struggle, 2-6, 6-2, 8-6, 1-6, 10-8.

Roma Neundorf Now Junior Golf Champion

TORONTO (CP)—Roma Neundorf of the Toronto Cedar Brae Club Friday succeeded Marlene Stewart of Fonthill as Ontario junior girls' golf champion.

Playing at the Ladies' Golf and Tennis Club, she carded an 83, five strokes ahead of Noreen Laing of Toronto Mississaugua, who in turn, was two strokes better than Sheila Collins of Dundas Valley.

Miss Stewart, still within the age limit for the junior tournament, was among the spectators.

Argentina Leads Tuna Race

By KINGSLEY BROWN, Jr.

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP)—The 10th international tuna tournament entered its final round today with Argentina leading on the strength of a baby tuna caught less than two hours after the opening Thursday.

The 158-pounder reeled in by Pablo Bardin, team captain from Buenos Aires, was the only fish caught that day and the next. It gave Argentina a 558-point lead over nine other teams representing 12 countries.

A hurricane Monday ruined the fishing at this world's tuna capital as it did three years ago by stampeding schools of herring and mackerel from the turbulent Soldiers' Rip to clearer offshore waters.

When they left the Rip, the great bluefins chased them for food. The tournament, postponed one day because of this, is expected to be held in August next year instead of the hurricane month of September.

There were indications Friday that the tuna, capable of 60-mile-an-hour speeds and claimed to be most streamlined of fishes, were coming back. One made three passes at the herring-baited hook of Mexico's Miquel Barreneachea, but each time the scythe-like dorsal wavered and disappeared in a spray of water at the last second. Several others were sighted by other boats.

Commonwealth Countries Keep Individual Rights

QUEBEC (CP) — Canada's growth as a country which may make its own decisions was brought home to Canadian lawyers in separate speeches at the annual banquet of the Canadian Bar Association Friday night.

First, Lord Simonds, high chancellor of Great Britain, said no one could question that Canada was entitled to abolish appeals to the judicial committee of the Privy Council which he heads.

Second, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Commonwealth countries are not prepared to give up their right to their own separate decisions in world affairs.

The statements came on the next-to-closing day of the CBA's 35th annual convention attended by 800 lawyers from many parts of Canada.

VOTE ON RESOLUTIONS

Today, the delegates vote on a variety of resolutions prepared by committees earlier this week and later studied by the association council which decided whether or not they should be introduced at the plenary session.

Speaking of the abolition of appeals to the Privy Council, Lord Simonds expressed regret they were abolished because until 1949 the appeals had provided Canadian and British lawyers wide opportunity to form friendships.

Too, the appeals had been a link between the two countries, but since it now has gone, "let us find other links to take its place."

Mr. St. Laurent said Commonwealth nations believe any country, large or small, has a right to order its affairs in its own way, as long as it does not menace the freedom of its neighbors.

These ideals, based on understanding and co-operation, could be extended to the world with advantage to all nations, he said.

GREAT EVENT

Mr. St. Laurent said Britain's decision to extend equal partnership in the Commonwealth to India, Pakistan and Ceylon may some day be considered as "the greatest event in Commonwealth history."

That would be the case if the understanding now existing between Asia and the West were built up further to check Communist aims to stir up strife between the two.

Freedom and independence, he said, must be encouraged and supported if there is to be any hope of peace and security.

A good start has been made through the Colombo plan, the United Nations technical assistance program and resistance to aggression in Korea.

Lord Simonds, who received an honorary membership in the CBA from Mr. St. Laurent, the association's honorary life president, urged lawyers to "ensure the supremacy of law over arbitrary power."

Governor-General Massey, who attended, also was made an honorary member.

LAWYERS HAVE JOB

Lord Simonds said it was up to lawyers to solve the "eternal problem of the reconciliation of freedom with authority and of liberty with order."

People have to put up with some restraint to their freedom, but there should not be unquestioned obedience to laws. "That is the spirit of slaves."

"I believe," he said, "that it is the great work of legislators and lawyers to watch that delegated legislation is so controlled that it does not interfere with our liberties."

Shoot Prize Cattle

DETROIT (CP) — Two youths, tired of firing .22 rifles at pop bottles and cans, turned their sights on a herd of 13 prime dairy cattle Thursday. Result: One dead cow, two others which may have to be destroyed and the others suffering bullet wounds in the legs and flanks. One of the 16-year-olds is held for investigation, the other turned over to his parents.

When the Quints Were Babies: 5

They Loved to Act Out The Old Nursery Rhymes

WORLD © BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

LIKE ALL little girls, the Dionne quintuplets loved to dress up and act out nursery rhymes. That's the way to have fun on a rainy day when you can't play outside, and the quints had an advantage—there was a permanent cast of five.

One afternoon, for instance, they dressed Yvonne in a crown and robes and made a paper pie. Then, with Marie, Annette, Emilie and Cecile grouped around the "king" (left photo), they pulled blackbirds out of the pie as they acted out Sing a Song of Sixpence."

But the quints didn't need any script to make a merry show. Among their pictures just about the time they were three, you'll find the happy scene at right as they show how little girls feel about baskets of pretty May flowers.

Six Contestants Leading Beauty Trials

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The Miss America hopefuls went into the last day of the week-long contest today, as nervous as 52 bridesmaids waiting for someone to throw them a bouquet.

With the preliminaries over the girls wait out the day until the final judging tonight, when 10 finalists will be named and the elimination progresses until the winner of the $50,000 title is chosen.

Six contestants have a big jump on the field—their victories in talent and bathing suit preliminaries in the last three nights.

Friday night 21-year-old Miss Delaware, Lois Ann Alava of Wilmington won in the talent division by playing the cadenza from Grieg's piano concerto in A minor.

Miss California, Patricia Ann Johns, an 18-year-old beauty from Fresno, wore a white bathing suit well enough to win in that division Friday night.

The other bathing suit winners on earlier nights were Miss Wyoming (Elaine Lois Holkenbrink of Torrington) and Miss Pennsylvania (Evelyn Margaret Ay of Ephrata).

The other two girls with firsts in talent are Miss Virginia (Anne Lee Ceglis of Norfolk) and Miss South Dakota (Delores Jerde of Spearfish).

FIELD OPEN

But the girls also are judged on how well they look in an evening gown and on their personalities. Results of these preliminaries are not announced and add a large amount of uncertainty to any forecasts.

None of the girls won more than one preliminary and any one of the 52 entrants has a chance to be among the 10 finalists tonight. The number will be whittled to five and then Miss America of 1954 will be named to reign for a year.

Nineteen-year-old Miss Canada, Kathleen Archibald of Kelowna, B. C., has not placed among the preliminary winners.

Duck Hunting To Be Good Experts Say

OTTAWA (CP)—Duck hunters should find good hunting—weather permitting—when they take to the marshes this fall.

Prospects are brighter this year in British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes, W. W. Mair, chief of the Canadian wildlife service, said in an interview.

On the Prairies, the numbers of geese and ducks are down slightly from last year, when they were more numerous than in any year since records were begun, he said, but nimrods there can still expect "excellent hunting."

This year the shooting seasons have been lengthened in many areas and slightly larger daily bag limits and possession limits allowed for ducks under federal regulations on migratory birds which were published a month ago. There were no changes made in the daily and possession bag limits on geese.

Season bag limits were removed this year in those provinces where they have existed in recent years, due to the difficulty in enforcing them. Saskatchewan and Alberta, however, had no season bag limits for either ducks or geese, and Quebec and Ontario had no season bag limits for ducks.

OPENS SOON

The season on migratory birds opens in most of Canada during the next few weeks—the date varies by areas. In some areas such as Labrador and the northern parts of the Prairies and British Columbia hunting has already begun.

The duck population has been on the upswing in Canada in the last few years, Dr. Mair said, due chiefly to plentiful water for nesting, especially on the Prairies.

But whether hunters can get their daily bag limit still depends mainly on the weather.

"Warm, sunny weather is pleasant for the hunter," he said, "but it takes rain and wind to bring the ducks in from open water."

Repairs To Church Planned By WA

HARWOOD (ENS)—St. John's WA program consisted of readings by Mrs. Jack Patch, Mrs. Wallace Young and Mrs. R. S. Johnson. Mrs. Walter Johnston continued the study book.

Plans were made to attend the annual deanery meeting in Cobourg, Sept. 24, at St. Peter's Church.

Plans were also made to do repair work at the church. The annual Harvest Home will be held at a later date.

The next meeting will be October 14 at the home of Mrs. Thos. Bates.

Little Premature

MODENA, Italy (Reuters)—Amintore Fanfani, minister of the interior, slept soundly Friday night as telephone wires hummed for two hours with news of his death here. A car driven by another man with the same name crashed into a truck, killing him instantly. A document found on the body identified him as "Amintore Fanfani." The accident victim later proved to be unrelated to the government minister.

Killed By Horse

STRATHROY (CP) — Kicked down by a high-spirited horse at Strathroy Fair Friday, Alec Collins, 89, concession 10, Caradoc, received fatal injuries. He died in an ambulance en route to Victoria Hospital, London. Mr. Collins was a member of Caradoc township council for many years, serving as councillor, deputy-reeve and reeve.

Jail Ex-Police Chief

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP)—Jean-Paul St. Denis, 37-year-old former police chief of the Laurentian mountain town of St. Andre d'Argenteuil, was sentenced Friday to 23 months in jail after pleading guilty to several charges of theft and burglary.

COLDSPRINGS (ENS). On Thursday evening at the park, the parents, school section and senior boys' ball team were entertained at a weiner roast by the pupils of Coldsprings school and teacher, Mrs. E. Hebert, who is also coach of the junior boys' team. There were about 80 present.

A ball game was played at 6:30 p.m. when the senior boys defeated the juniors.

Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. P. Harris and Mrs. R. Timlin as song leaders. Mr. C. Willis supplied the public address system and was in charge of the lighting.

Hot dogs and drinks were served by Mrs. Hebert and some of the mothers.

Tillicum Class Plan Bazaar, Rummage Sale

KEENE (ENS)—The Tillicum class met at the home of Mrs. Percy Wilson, with 27 members present.

The worship service, prepared and conducted by Edith Eason, opened with a call to worship, followed by a hymn. Olga Gall read the scripture and Evelyn Anderson led in prayer. A poem was read by Edith Eason and a hymn was sung. A story was read by Mary Elmhirst.

Isobel Wismer chose a review of the book "Bells On Their Toes" for the topic.

The president, Marybelle Elmhirst, conducted the business meeting. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $105.41. It was decided to hold a bazaar later in the fall, at least three articles of sewing, knitting or fancy work to be contributed by each member, as well as one article of baking.

It was agreed to hold a rummage sale early in October, the committee in charge to be Evelyn Anderson, Edith Eason, Mary Elmhirst and Flora Stark. It was voted to send $10 to Korean children relief.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Edith McIntyre, Isobel Wismer and Bertha Wilson.

Discover Red Infiltration In Churches Great Success

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Testimony about a plot to infiltrate United States churches—"successful beyond even Communist expectations"—may provide the basis for further congressional probings for Reds in religion.

The House of Representatives un-American activities committee made public the detailed testimony Friday.

It came from former active Communist leaders and told of how the Reds, unable to destroy religion by frontal assaults, bored from within to seek their goal with the aid of unwitting dupes and pawns.

One witness, Manning Johnson of New York, said not even the Reds themselves expected to achieve the success he said they realized.

Another, Benjamin Gitlow of New York, testified: "In the infiltration of the Methodist Church, the Communists were highly successful."

RATHER EFFECTIVE

A third, Joseph Zack Kornfeder of New York, called the Red plan "rather effective."

Johnson was described as Communist from 1930 to 1940 and a member of the party's national committee from 1936 to 1938; Gitlow as a top U.S. Communist leader from 1919 to 1929, and Kornfeder as a Communist from 1919 to 1934.

They testified last July at closed-door committee meetings in New York called ostensibly to investigate communism in the New York area. However, the hearing transcript disclosed the subject of communism in religion was considered exclusively.

Kornfeder estimated there are 600 clergymen in the United States who are "secret" members of the Communist party. He said between three and four thousand others are "among the fellow-travelling category." Many more, he said, were duped into aiding Communist fronts, but "the temporary sympathizers will fade out."

The boring from within was not aimed at any particular church group, the witnesses said, and was spearheaded by unofficial movements which sought to identify themselves with churches.

AMONG LAYMEN

In the Catholic Church, Kornfeder said, the infiltration "is mainly among laymen."

Chairman William Jenner (Rep.-Ind.) of the Senate internal security sub-committee revealed Friday that his group had information of "an effort to establish a Communist cell in Catholic organizations."

Jenner cited testimony given here in June by two witnesses described as "active participants" in such an attempt. Senate sources indicated the try at Catholic subversion was made some 10 or 15 years ago and failed.

The two witnesses before Jenner's group were named as Harold King and Thomas Davin, both of New York City. King was listed as a high school teacher and Davin said he resigned as a magazine editor because "I considered that it gave scandal for me to be called before this committee."

Both men, asked whether they tried to penetrate Catholic groups in a Communist conspiracy, refused to answer on grounds the constitution guaranteed their right to avoid giving possibly self-incriminating testimony.

However, King testified he had been a member of the now defunct Catholic Committee for Human Rights.

LEADER OF PLAN

In testimony before the House group, Kornfeder named Harry F. Ward, former professor at Union Theological Seminary, New York, as leader of a plan to communize clergymen through the Methodist Federation for Social Service. This is an unofficial organization not connected with the Methodist Church.

In New York Friday night, Ward vehemently denied the testimony about him as "completely false."

Many of the clergymen named could not be reached for comment.

However, Dr. William B. Spofford was reached at Tunkhannock, Pa., and said: "I am trying to carry on the Christian religion and I am not a member nor have I ever been a member of any political party."

The 61-year-old clergyman, editor of the Episcopal national weekly "The Witness" for 30 years, said of the list: "That's a fine group of men and I'm glad to be included in their number."

Quebec Grey Winner At Horse Show

TORONTO (CP)—Kzar d'Esprit, a six-year-old gelding owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy of Ste. Marguerite, Que., Friday night won the knock-down-and-out stake, feature of the second day at the national horse show at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The big grey, ridden masterfully by veteran Jim Donaldson, topped a field of 21 jumpers, covering the nine-jump course without a miss.

Kokokabana, ridden by Jim Elder and owned by Robert Elder of Toronto, placed second and Flash Gordon, a post-entry owned by L. Ruby of Flash Farms, Toronto, and ridden by Jerry Daman, was third.

Kzar d'Esprit's victory gave the Cardys the Sam Harris Trophy, emblematic of supremacy in the "fault" or knock-down-and-out stake.

TRIPLE WINNER

W. S. Munro of Embro was a triple winner. Seaton Leader won the single heavy harness horse first-place ribbon and Brilliant Parader took the James Franceschini Challenge Trophy in the novice single heavy harness horse class.

The two horses together won the ribbon as best pair of heavy harness horses.

Results Friday included:

Pair of harness ponies: 1. Blue Bonnet Regent and Blue Bonnet Belle, owned by Dr. W. W. Bartlett and Son, Brampton; 2. Alasa Torchbearer and Alasa Tagalong, owned by H. S. Millar, Brantford.

$500 Canada-bred hunter stake: 1. Rocket, owned by Gordon and Tom Gayford, Toronto; 2, Heather, owned by J. Elliot Cottrelle, Toronto.

Shetlands, four-in-hand: 1. Entry of W. Elmer Johnston, Atwood; 2. Entry of A. Lorne Cousins and Son, Aurora.

Combination harness and saddle pony: 1. Little Polly Peavine, owned by Mary E. Welsh, Brantford; 2. Dress Parade, Mrs. G. A. M. Davison, Unionville.

Tandem harness ponies: 1. Alasa Torchbearer and Alasa Tagalong, owned by H. S. Millar, Brantford; 2. Blue Bonnet Regent and Blue Bonnet Belle, owned by Dr. W. W. Barlett and Son, Brampton.

Gig class, heavy harness horse: 1. Whitegate Princess, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McMillan, Georgetown; 2. Golden Charm, owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Barden, Hillsburgh; 3. Golden Glow, owned by Dr. E. E. Foster and Son, Galt.

Lady's saddle horse (three-gaited): 1. Hi-Ho, owned by Mahogany Farms, Ann Arbor, Mich.; 2. Knight's Rose, owned by H.S. Millar, Brantford.

2 Thieves Given 3 Years To Pay Back

BRANTFORD (CP)—Two convicted scrap thieves have three years and four months in which to make restitution of $406.50 and to pay court costs. They will pay off at the rate of $10 a month.

Magistrate R. J. Gillen, giving Richard Herriman of Ayr and Edmund Olsen of Paris a three-year suspended sentence each, said he did not want to impose conditions that would cause undue hardship to the men's families. Herriman is the father of seven children and Olsen the father of five.

The men were convicted of stealing $1,500 worth of scrap steel and iron moulds June 2 and 5.

180 Head Of Cattle Entered In Show

STRATHROY (CP)—Two county livestock shows were held at Strathroy Fair Friday with over 180 head of cattle entered. The two were the Middlesex county black and white show and the Middlesex Jersey parish show.

Grand champion male in the black and white show was Shore Count Rag Apple, owned jointly by Hardy Shore and Sons and H. C. Holtby, both of Glanworth. The animal was senior champion.

Brampton Peel Beacon, owned by Ronald Macfie, Appin, was grand champion and senior champion male in the Jersey Parish show.

Hunt Fire Bug

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Police are currently trying to catch a "fire bug" who during the last three weeks has been responsible for three garage fires in the 1000 block on Lillian St. Citizens living in the vicinity have asked for more police protection.

ARREST DOUKHOBORS—The RCMP arrested 148 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors from this tent village at Perry Siding near Nelson, B.C. They were charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency after parading rude in protest against sending their children to school. The Sons of Freedom formed the tent village after a wave of arson in the Kootenays.

Russian Salesmen Offer Oil To Western Nations

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON (AP) — Russian salesmen today are bidding for a share of the Western oil market. Their current campaign indicates the Soviet bloc is ready to export about 2,000,000 tons annually.

Soviet agents recently have concluded a deal with France for the sale of 400,000 tons of Russian and Romanian oil, and proposed others to Argentina, Iceland and Greece. Apart from regular deliveries to Finland which are expected to increase to about 650,000 tons in 1953, about 300,000 tons were exported westward in the first six months of this year.

Russian and Romanian oil has not been seen in such bulk on the world market since the 1940s.
